Rock Elm News

By Mrs. A. B. Lawton

The year 1951 has closed its record of success or failure, joy or sorrow and 1952 has come. What it holds for each, none can tell, nor what is in store for this nation. Another presidential campaign is already under way. What kind of leadership will we have for the next four years? Will we have leaders who will remember that "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord" or those who think that by their own wisdom they can make this nation so strong that it can not be overthrown? General MacArthur was right when he said what this nation needs is a spiritual revival.

The price of eggs has gone down low enough so it would seem everyone could have plenty but it is not so good for the produceres. The price of feed has gone up so he is left holding the bag.

In spite of so much snow the road through here has been kept open so that the mail carrier and the school buses up to the time the schools closed for the holidays made their regular runs.

Mr. Diller, owner of the Ellsworth box factory has purchased a stand of timber of Mr. Slough which he is taking out this winter.

Farm Bureau Dairy Feeds

Your co-operative purchasing organization, Farm Bureau Services, Inc., started its feed program more thnn 30 years ago in answer to a demand from farmers and poultrymen. Many commercial feeds were a mystery to the user. Farm Bureau feeds are OPEN FORMULA. Every bag carries a tag listing not only each ingredient but also the exact number of pounds of it in each ton.

FARM BUREAU MILKMAKER was the first feed put on the market by Farm Bureau. It was formulated by college authorities. Constant research in scientificially controlled laboratories and by careful on-the-farm experiments keeps Farm Bureau Milkmaker the best dairy feed concentrate embodying new developments in dairy animal nutrition.

For those dairymen who want a slightly different dairy concentrate, ask for FARM BUREAU 45% Dairy Supplement, or KAND-ILASS BUREAU LAS with 50% can molasses.

FARM BUREAU DAIRY FEEDS can't be beat for top milk production in the barn. Purchase several bags or a ton today. Ask your feed man how to use your own home-grown grains with these concentrates to do more in producing milk cheaply and effectively.

Mrs. Visser Has 78 Descendants

Five Generations in Family

Ellsworth — Five generations in one family.

That is the proud boast of Mrs. Peter Visser, 85, of Grand Rapids, mother of Mrs. James Heeres of Ellsworth.

The five generations represented in this family posed for pictures in Grand Rapids prior to the holidays when the family and relatives visited Mrs. Visser.

The great-great grandchild is tiny Judith Maria Pottar, four-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archia Potter of Charlevoix. Judith is the latest addition to Mrs. Visser's list of 78 living descendants.

Mrs. Visser was 21 when she came to this country from the Netherlands to wed her betrothed, the late Peter Visser, in Grand Rapids. First born of the couple, married in 1888, was Mrs. James Heeres of Ellsworth, who celebrated her 60th birthday Dec. 31.

ONE OF Mrs. Heeres' six children, is Henry Heeres, 40, of Ellsworth father of 18-year-old Mrs. Potter. Mrs. Potter is one of eight children. Judith Marie is her first child.

Mrs. Visser, herself, had nine daughters and three sons, 11 of whom are still living. In addition she has 30 grandchildren, 36 great-grandchildren and one great great-granddaughter.

Some of the descendants live in many communities in Michigan and one of the sans lives in California. Because of this the family seldom gets together at one time. And a recent illness prevented Mrs. Visser from traveling to Ellsworth for a reunion over the holidays.

Mrs. Visser with a housekeeper lives in the family home in Grand Rapids. Her husband who died in 1940 operated a gas station on Leonard street for many years.

Mrs. Courier Enjoys Holiday Tour in South

Mrs. Ethel Courier, fifth grade teacher, returned home last week from a ten-day Central Michigan College English tour through the south.

The tour started in Mt. Pleasant Dec. 22.

The Mammoth Caves in Kentucky marked the first stop and the next night was spent at Maxwell House in Nashville, Tenn., where they met and were addressed by Alfred Leland Crabb, author of the historical novels, "Supper at Maxwell House" and "Breakfast at the Heritage." They also received pieces of the original manuscript of both novels.

While at Nashville a trip was made to the Hermitage, home of Andrew Jackson, outside the city.

The group enjoyed a party in the historic Maxwell House on Christmas Eve, before going to Thomasville, Ala., on Christmas Day. Unable to purchase meals along the way that day, they held a picnic lunch enroute at noon and for the evening meal were led by a church group in Thomasville.

A visit to the old home of Judge Rowan where Stephen Foster is said to have received the inspiration for his "Old Kentucky Home" and to the shrine at the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln were also included.

A day was spent at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla., where they toured the station, went aboard the carrier, Monterey, and saw old Fort San Carlos on the station grounds.

Fort Morgan, which controls the entrance to Mobile Bay, Ala., was another interesting spot visited. The fort gained historical significance after it was bombarded by Admiral Farragut Aug. 5-23, 1864. The fort still has Michaelangelo arches which are among its main points of interest today.

The group crossed the Mississippi into Arkansas north of Vicksburg.

In all they visited eight states outside Michigan and all are ready to vouch for southern hospitality . . they really learned what the phrase meant during their trip which ended Dec. 31.

Cub Program May Be Abandoned In Charlevoix

The Cub Pack program in Charlevoix faces abandonment.

Lack of interest on the part of the public is the reason.

A final meeting to recruit several volunteer workers to work with the young boys will be held at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 15 in the high school cafeteria. If there is not enough public response, the Cub pack program will be discontinued.

All parents interested in the Cub program are urgently asked to attend. To date the Cub program has assisted a large number of boys in the last few years in becoming good scouts and better citizens.

Cub Master Uno Suomela cited the need for several den mothers and an assistant cubmaster to assure the continuance of the Cub Pack work.

The Cub Pack committee consists of Mr. Suomela, Versal Seymour, committee chairman; Glen Snider, advancement chairman; George Bergmann, activities chairman; Mrs. Ralph Hamilton and Mrs. James T. Coleman, den mothers.

The Kiwanis Club sponsors the scouting program here.

Ellsworth Cagers Seek Ninth Triumph

ELLSWORTH — A scoring spree in the final half enabled the undefeated Ellsworth high school cagers to post its eighth victory over a determined Alanson team, 58-44.

The losers held Ellsworth on even terms in the first half but the prospect of a loss sparked the winners into a furious last half.

The play of Stan Russ, John DeVries and Art Klooster was outstanding. The next game is Friday at Central Lake.

Odd Fellows Pile Up Big Cribbage Lead

The Odd Fellows were off to a flying start in the cribbage tournament Monday night by taking a lead of 1203 points over the Masons.

The Odd Fellows had one perfect score and three others missed it by two points. Frank Sneathen had the perfect score. Next Monday's round will be held at Masonic hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Phillips and family left Tuesday to spend the winter in Florida.

Pair Admit Taking Auto From Moore's

John Blitchock, 30, also known as John Davis of Grand Rapids, was acquitted late Tuesday of a morals charge involving a 21-year-old Petoskey woman.

The alleged crime took place in Melrose township Oct. 7. The jury deliberated 90 minutes.

Judge Charles L. Brown presided at the trail.

Harry Boak, 32, and Gerald J. Nanigos, 28, both of Charlevoix, pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile from the parking lot of the Moore garage Dec. 28. They later abandoned the car in a snowbank on US 31 north of Charlevoix.

The case was referred to the probation officer for investigation. They will be sentenced later this month. Both are held in the county jail.

Barbara Bodley To Leave for Warm Springs

A third Charlevoix county polio victim will leave soon for special treatment at the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, Mrs. Walter Davis, county polio chairman announced this week.

She is Barbara Bodley, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bodley of Hayes township.

She was stricken with polio while visiting in southern Michigan in August, 1950 and was in an iron lung at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor before being transferred to Munson Hospital at Traverse City.

She was discharged from the hospital late in July, 1951 and returned to school in a wheelchair this fall.

ACCOMPANIED by Mrs. Davis, Barbara will leave here by car Jan. 15 for Grand Rapids where they will board a plane for the trip to Atlanta, Ga.

All expenses of polio patients are being paid by the county chapter and the National Foundation for infantile paralysis.

There they will be met by Warm Springs Foundation representatives and taken to Warm Springs. After preliminary examinations she will start specialized treatments, be tutored in her school work and join the life at the polio capital.

The length of her stay will not be known for some time.

Baroara also has a complete new wardrobe for tha trip to Warm Springs. Each patient is given a list of necessities which would be quite a drain on any family. In this case tha Goldman Meyer fund purchased and marked the entire wardrobe for the trip.

Mrs. Davis will return from the south via train.

Other polio patients who have been treated at Warm Springs have been Paul Hansen of Ironton and Mrs. Albert Sinclair of East Jordan who will return there Feb. 24 for surgical treatment.

Edward Thompson, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thompson, sr. of East Jordan, who came here from Wayne county last February, will be returned to Warm Springs Jan. 6, for further treatment.

John Tompkins, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tompkins of Boyne City, is now being treated at Mary Free Bed in Grand Rapids.

March of Dimes Drive Started; Need $3,600

Charlevoix's March of Dunes to raise funds for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis got underway this week.

Heading the drive is Dallas Henry, assisted by Edward Halse, jr., James Willis, jr., Charlas Hamlin and Will Supernaw who will each work on a different phase of the month-long driva.

Mrs. Don Walsh and Mrs. Tom Carey, both polio victims, are in charge of the special Mother's Drive which will conclude the drive late this month.

MR. AND MRS. William Himebaugh are co-chairmen of graages and rural churches. Mrs. Himebaugh was hospitalized for treatment of polio last summer.

Coin cannisters have been placed in stores, restaurants, and schools. Solicitations will be made during the month, 'blanket' drives will be made at two basketball games, a dance with special entertainment will be held at the Argonne and other projects are being planned. Contributions may be made at either bank or to members of the committee.

Charlevoix county, in the past three years particularly, has had occasion to see tha need for funds.

Last year alone, Mr. Henry reports the county raised $3,600 in its most successful campaign. But because of the needs of the county, it was necessary to ask for a $10,000 grant from the National Foundation. This was necessary to care for the fivo new cases and two carry overs from 1949 and '50.

IN 1950 WITH 13 less serious cases to care for the county needed a grant of $9,700 in addition to the $2,460 raised in the county.

The story was much the same in 1949 when only $832 was raised and a national foundation grant of $9,600 was needed to care for the 11 patients who needed treatment.

Grim Draft Prospects

The word out of Washington is that 55,000 men will be drafted in February for the Army and Marine Corps.

While this represents a drop of 4,560 from the January total of 59,660, it brings to 849,330 the total number of men called up by Selective Service since July 10, 1950—just after the Korean war began.

Thus far, 782,000 men have gone to the Army and 67,330 to the Marine Corps. The Navy and Air Force have obtained enough men by enlistments.

The handwriting on the wall is that most able-bodied young men between the ages of 19 and 25 can count on getting greetings from Uncle Sam in 1952.

It's in the cards because the latest U. S. military decision is to add a half million more men to the armed services in the next 18 months.

The build-up will give the U. S. about four million men under arms—still a far cry from the World War II peak of around ten million.

The heavier draft will mean the rotation program can go on unless bigger war breaks out. Many of the men who join may see European service where forces are being built up rather than fall in line as a Korean war replacement. However, there's no assurance of this.

Volunteering will continue and is being encouraged by the armed services since enlistments run four years while draftees face only two years of service unless their term is extended by Congress.

However, quotas will be enforced so there will be a division of the intelligent youths between the ground combat services and the Navy and Air Force.

A youth, bent on serving in the Navy or Air Force, will have to get in line quickly as his draft time approaches. If he delays, he may get caught by draft orders before he can complete his enlistment papers. This is happening now, in some cases.

The individual prospects for military service appear to be shaping up about like this:

College students will be deferred as long as they make good grades. At graduation, they will be drafted unless they win commissions or fail physical exams.

Deferred men can expect a closer look at their "essential" status. They can expect a tougher attitude when they apply for an extension of their deferment.

Reservists who are not now serving probably won't be called although company grade officers are still being screened for possible duty.

Men already in service may start coming back in 1952—when their two-year terms of service expire. The same is true of National Guardsmen and reservists called up. Exception will be in case of a change in policy made necessary by a more critical world situation.

Youths, coming up for draft, may find processing faster than did those called up in the last year or so. They will not have much time to shop around for military opportunities.

In short, the military build-up is on and we'll really begin to feel it next year.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

To the Editor:

Reading the headlines "Hospital Board Chooses Trailer Site for New Hospital" while a blizzard was sweeping across the bay was a bit disconcerting when a glance out of the window proved the Trailer Park entirely obliterated by the wall of hard-driven snow. One sort of wonders how unanimous the vote of the board might have been had the fellows been facing that wind—surely only the most rugged would have been able to shout "yea" through their chattering teeth.

Seriously, however, it would seem that the site is a most expensive one both from the standpoint of construction cost and the continuing cost of maintenance. Granted that a building engineer can figure his co-efficients of heat loss and pile on the insulation and design an oversize heating plant and the road maintenance man can place snow fencing and keep a snow plow in constant service, yet the imponderables of Lake Michigan winter weather rolling across the bay and funneling up through the Trailer Park are almost more than the drawing boards and maintenance plans can reckon with.

We grant that the area is there, that the weather is wonderful in the summer and the site provides one of Charlevoix's incomparable views, all lending themselves well to architectural imagination and skill, but a hospital is built to best serve its patients and to attempt to keep on the black side of the ledger. A beautiful view is of questionable value to a patient mainly concerned about skilled and efficient treatment and leaving the hospital as soon as possible much less to Charlevoix county people who are blessed with beautiful views daily.

A community in part is advertised and remembered by its public and semi-public buildings and parks, and considering this it would seem that such a fine and valuable building as the projected hospital should be located in the most accessible place possible and one to highlight the beauty of the community to the greatest number of people possible—if town advertising has any value place an asset where it will be seen.

Unquestionably the Board has given liberally of their thought judgement and time. But from the undercurrent of dissent one wonders if the site most representative of the wish of the donors and residents was chosen.

Our democratic institutions of freedom of expression and decision by majority still prevail if people concerned will but make their voices loud enough.

Ted R. Miller
700 Park Avenue

As a donor, when your fieldman came around, I was instructed that there would be an election as to where the hospital site would be located.

We were given to understand that every contributor would be given a chance to vote on the site. That was not said once but many times during our intensive campaigning.

But what happens? The hospital board chooses a site at its board meeting. In all likelihood many of the contributors favor that site, too. But what happened to the word of the campaign leader. He said all who gave would be given a chance to vote.

The hospital has broken its word. Can't we break our word by failing to give if someone else can break their promise.

Remember, Mr. Board of Directors, you were put there to represent the community and not one individual.

Peter Winnick

In the past several years Charlevoix has advanced materially in inducing new business to locate here, we have contributed for and intend to build a new hospital, we have already voted for an addition to our school system. There are many who feel that Charlevoix will advance with the de-centralizing of industry from the larger cities and some who are just as sure that we retrogressing instead of advancing. It has long been my contention that Charlevoix should advance along municipal lines as well as resort and industrial. In other words create a type of government that is adaptable to advancing conditions.

At present Charlevoix is a fourth-class city and as such we are working under a law established in 1889. There are many disadvantages that a Charter Form of Government would correct. If the right Charter would be voted for by the electors. It would take considerable planning to place before the voters a Charter that would be acceptable to the majority.

It is my suggestion that a Planning Commission be appointed by the Mayor with confirmation of the City Council to explore the possibilities of instituting a Charter Form of Government for Charlevoix and that a small ballot be submitted to the voters in the General Election this spring for their decision as to whether the City should go to to the expense of planning, examining and voting for this type of government.

It is my firm conviction that a Charter Form of Government will obtain for the people better type of business administration then the law now provides possible.

A review of the assets of the City of Charlevoix certainly indicates that we are a large corporation and what Corporation would be successful under a fourth class city law.

ODDS 'N ENDS

Basketball's on again . . . and everyone turned out for the game last week . . . We decided after attending the game the other night that the Rayders would be assured of at least three ardent fans . . . come what may. They're Capt. William Fisher, Klaus Andersen and Rev. L. L. Lewis . . . we watched them watching the game and so help us . . . they made every play . . . In fact, if the refs had seen it we'd no doubt have been accused of having eight men on the floor . . . You Rayders are lucky to have such fine followers . . . and there are others too . . .

AND SPEAKING of basketball, Reserve teams everywhere that what the Charlevoix Reserves lack in talent they make up for in just plain scrapiness . . They're giving the public some good games and the referees a tough time . . . By that we mean they're making them earn their fee . . . before they even get started on the 'feature' game of the evening.

WASN'T IT wonderful seeing all the college kids around again during the holidays . . . along with all the servicemen who were home . . . Guess the old and the not so old basketball players held forth in the gym several days and really had themselves a time . . . It's one of the nicest things about holiday time . . . And we'll repeat something we've been saying for a long time . . . there's no place else in this world that has the swell bunch of young people that Charlevoix has . . . We wouldn't trade 'em for the world . . .

FROM TAMPA, FLA., a card from the George Meggisons who like the sunshine but who did admit there were a couple days when the fire was welcome . . . A grand letter from Mrs. George Jardine and Mrs. Charles Munyon who are wintering at the Tourist Hotel, Daytona Beach . . reporting the weather good and temperatures about 80 degrees most of the time . . . and, of course, having a grand time . . . We appreciate your thoughtfullness for writing . . . And from the Jerry Scudders in the same general area . . . a note saying the Charlevoix crowd was getting together for a big Christmas dinner . . . no one bothered to tell us who was there but guess it was just about everyone in and around Daytona . . . From Zephyrhill, a note from Chevy Seveik . . . To all of you in the south, how's about absorbing a little sunshine in our behalf . . .

IF THERE'S a doubt in your mind that the skating rink on the school grounds isn't worthwhile, stop by some night and see those kids . . . and a lot of grown-ups too . . . enjoying themselves . . . We happened to pass there one night last week when it was crisp and cold . . . the music was playing . . . the skates were singing as they cut their way over the ice and it was truly something to see . . . And it's amazing how those kids can skate . . .

Outstanding Program Planned for Soil District Meeting

To Present Awards to Five Farmers for Top Soil Practices

The fourth annual meeting of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District will be held at 8p.m. Thursday evening, Jan. 17 at East Jordan High School auditorium. Ed. Rebman, county agricultural agent and secretary of the soil district, announced.

This is an open meeting and all farmers who are cooperators with the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District and also those who as yet have not asked for assistance are urged to attend. Rebman said that everyone living in the city and towns are likewise urged to attend.

The business part of the program which will be under the direction of Clayton Healey, chairman of the board of directors, will be highlighted by the election of one director and presenting certificates to the five winning farmers in the district.

THE TERM of Carlton Smith of Charlevoix has expired. The nominating committee composed of Leslie Sheridan, Archie Murphy, George Johnson and William Korthase, jr. nominated Clyde Warner of Charlevoix and Joe Stutzman of Charlevoix for two candidates for this position.

Other nominations will be accepted from the floor. The election will be under the direction of this nominating committee.

The presenting of certificates to five winning farmers was started last year under the leadership of George Klooster, past director of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District. It was felt that the five farmers who have done the most towards completion of their farm plans as outlined by the farm planner and the farmers themselves should be awarded some certificate.

Last year the certificates were presented to the following farmers: Joe Leu, Clayton Healey, Peter Winnick, William Boss and Art Nicloy and Sons. The names of the five farmers who will receive these certificates will be announced during the annual meeting when the certificate will be presented.

ANOTHER FEATURE of the annual business meeting will be the presentation of the annual report. This report shows the accomplishments of the district for 1951. The report which was assembled by county agent Rebman was prepared by the five directors, the farm planner and the secretary of the board. Copies of this annual report will be available at the meeting.

Soils Meet Speaker

Melville Cohee

The main speaker will be Melville Cohee, Soil Conservation Service, Milwaukee, Wis. Cohee has been with the soil conservation service since 1934 and is well known in the five states served by the regional office.

In addition to the principal speaker, novelty acts and other entertainment will be presented. All farmers are again urged by Ed Rebman to be sure to attend this annual meeting.

Pollo Player

For eight years, a Chicago boy with a pollo-crippled body was told his case was hopeless. The boy begged his parents for an organ. He not only developed his limbs, but Joe Scott, now 13, is making professional appearances, playing the organ.

Annual Soils Meeting Set in County Jan. 10

Melville Cohee, of the soil conservation service, regional office, Milwaukee, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District Thursday, January 17 at East Jordan High School according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent and secretary of the district.

Mr. Cohee was raised on a north central Indiana grain and livestock farm and graduated from Purdue University in 1931 and received his mater's degree in 1932. Mr. Cohee worked in the research field at Purdue and at Wisconsin for two years.

Mr. Cohee joined the staff of soil conservation service in 1934 and the next year was stationed at the regional office in Milwaukee. From 1937 to 1946 he was in Washington, D. C. He returned to Milwaukee in 1946 and has been in this office since.

Mr. Cohee now owns a dairy farm in Wisconsin and has a soil and water conservation program completely installed including terraces, contour strips, improving crop rotation and pastures.

Uninvited Guest Costly to Farmer

Rats are a luxury that few farmers would admit they could afford if they knew the full cost and extent of their damage. The yearly "board and room" bill for each of these filthy, uninvited "guests" is estimated at two dollars for what they eat and at least ten times that for what they destroy.

Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, reports that many modern rodenticides containing warfarin are giving nearly 100 percent control of rats and mice.

However, a complete rat control program starts with the removal of trash from the farm. Unless areas around the farm are cleaned up and kept clean, rats will continue to find food and housing and breed for future generations.

Charlevoix Rayders Regain Victory Stride

Win Over Mancelona Strengthens Hold on Second Place in Loop

The Charlevoix Rayders secured a tighter hold on second place in the league Friday night by a 49-42 win over Mancelona on the home floor.

The starting line-up for the game saw Charles Krahnke taking over the pivot duties of Dean Boss who is out with a fractured left wrist received in the Petoskey game Dec. 21; Dean Davenport in the forward slot with Bobo Bennett for the first time this season and Bill Denemy shifted to the guard spot with Norm Ketchman.

Norm Wilks of Mancelona dropped in the first basket after the long rangy visiting five got the tip-off and worked the ball in for the score. Their lead was short-lived, however, Bennett scored on the next series of play to tie the score.

THE FIRST quarter saw the Rayders scoring little more than a basket a minute as Krahnke dropped four, Ketchman two, Denemy one and Bennett two plus a free throw, for a total of 19 points.

Mancelona in the meantime accounted for seven tallies and the period ended 19-14.

Action in the second period slowed down with the visitors scoring four baskets and two free throws while the Rayders had nine points on two field goals and a free throw by Krahnke with Davenport and Bud Barber each contributing one each as the hall ended 28-25.

The Rayders defense was at its best in the third period when they allowed the visitors only one field goal and two free shots while adding 11 points to their score on two f.g.s. by Davenport, one by Krahnke and two plus a gift shot by Denemy.

COACH DEL TERRILL substituted freely in the last half of the final quarter with Gerry Left, Bill Mosier, Jim Lewis, Jack Cross, Carl Foster and Frankie Lagerman all seeing action at various times. One basket each by Bennett and Mosier plus two by Denemy and free shots by Davenport and Lagerman gave the Rayders 10 points.

Mancelona scored 13 but the rally was not strong enough and the game ended 49-42. The Ironmen lost their top scorer, Johnny Holstad, who had 16 points, on fouls in the final minutes of the game. Coach Matt Jacobson also substituted with six additional Ironmen seeing action in the closing minutes.

FOR CHARLEVOIX team work was one of the outstanding points of the game with more players shooting than in previous games. Krahnke turned in a fine performance in the center spot he filled with the injury of Boss. The team was also up on the free shots, scoring on 8 out of 15 tries.

Gene Towsley, No. 14, with white shirt, loops a goal from the side court for the Rayders second team against Mancelona Reserves. The Rayders Reserves lost their second game of the season in bowing to Mancelona 29-26 but only after a hard-fought contest. The local Reserves won three in a row, after losing the opener against Gaylord. Coach Del Terrill has been using the entire second team squad in most of the games to date in an effort to give the players necessary game experience.

Reserves Lose To Mancelona In Close Tilt

The Little Rayders who opened the reserve game with an entire freshman line-up, bowed to the visiting Mancelona Ironmen by a three-point margin Friday night by a 29-26 score.

Taking the floor for the Rayders wera Tom Gibbons, Mike Seymour, John Connelly, Charles McDonald and Roger Pischner. They were relieved before the quarter was but a few minutes old by regulars Gordon Mol, Mark White, Dave Glassford, Don Smith and Tom LaBlance.

The visitors were in full command of the ball during the first period with the Rayders scoring only one point, a gift shot by Glassford while Mancelona rolled up an impressive 10-point lead.

The reserves, re-enforced by Joe McDermott, Duane Walker, Everett Pease, Jerry Albright and Gene Towsley came back with 12 points in the second period for a half-time score of 18-13, still five points behind. Pease and Towsley had two field goals each while White and Walker had one plus a free shot by the latter.

EACH TEAM added six points in the next period to make the third period score 24-20. Towsley had two f.g.s., White one and McDermott at free shot.

Six points in the last period, field goals by McDermott and LaBlance and gift shots by White and LaBlance were not enough as the little Ironmen tallied five points for 29 points and the game.

Mancelona floored a much taller and ranger team than the Rayders. This seemed to make the difference in the game.

Coach Del Terrill is making an effort to put each lad out for the Reserves in the starting throughout the season so from now on spectators will probably see in the starting five new names each week.

The inability to make their foul shots was also another deciding factor in the game. The Reserves made only six out of 25 tries.

Pellston Beats Harbor Springs For Fifth Win

Pellston retained its lead in the Northern Michigan Class C league Friday night by trouncing Harbor Springs 50-29 and adding win No. 5 to its already impressive list of victories.

Charlevoix, for tha time being, took over the No. 2 spot by defeating Mancelona 49-42 for its third win in four starts.

East Jordan which has been sharing second place honors with the Rayders was idle Friday as was Gaylord. The two teams were to meet Tuesday night. In a second game scheduled for Tuesday, Mancelona played at Grayling.

In a non-loop game Boyne City bowed to Petoskey in a rnugh and tumble game by a 42-29 score.

IN GAMES scheduled for this week, East Jordan will play at Boyne City, Gaylord will travel to Mancelona, Harbor Springs will be hosted by the Charlevoix Rayders and Pellston will entertain Rogers City in a nnn-league bnut.

Led by Keith Emerson with 20 points, the Pellston Hornets had no trouble with Harbor Springs Friday as they allowed the Rams only one free throw in the first period as they scored 18 points. In the second period it was equally as lop-sided as the half ended 32-9. The third period tally was 49-14. Vic Kishigo was high point man for the Rams with eight points.

AT PETOSKEY the Northmen had a one point lead as the first quarter ended five to four; at the half they were still ahead 17-13 and at the third period pulled away for a 28-18 lead. Bob Hitchmough had 11 points for Petoskey and Jess Erber 9 for Boyne City.

Petoskey was playing without Bill Steinbrecker who has been ill and Boyne was without the services nf Don Arner whn hurt his ankle Friday noon by slipping on the ice. The extent of the injury was not immediately determined. Jim Milbrandt, however.

Pellston Beats Harbor Springs

was back in the line-up, playing his exceptionally good type of ball.

Although the Charlevoix-Mancelona game was close at times, the Ironmen offered no great threat as the Rayders won 40-42.

This week will find Boyne City and East Jordan renewing an old feud when they meet on the Ramblers floor. The results of the East Jordan-Gaylord game will determine the Jordanites chances against an up and coming Boyne five. East Jordan re-enforced by returning veterans since the season started is finding its stride but the same can be said of the Ramblers so the game should be close.

Harbor Springs which seems to have fallen apart after getting off to a good start in its earlier games will be meeting the Rayders who have defeated Boyne City, Mancelona and Gaylord. The Rams in turn have been defeated by a two-point magin by Gaylord and won over Mancelona by two points in their first game. They have also been defeated by Pellston in league play. Unless the Rams make a come-back they should be fairly easy prey for the Rayders but still cannot be marked off the list for, like most teams, they will no doubt be up for the Charlevoix game.

GAYLORD which has shown increased strength since the opening of the regular season and Mancelona which will always remain a threat will clash this week on the Ironmen's floor, a fact which should give the hosts a slight advantage. The Blue Devils with plenty of height should be pretty evenly matched with the Ironmen who Friday surprised everyone who hadn't seen them before with the tallness of Wilks, Lucas and Lund who are all six feet or more. Because of these they manage to control the backboard a good part of the time and will give any team a good battle.

In the fourth game set for Friday, Pellston will be hosting Rogers City, a team the Hornets defeated 39-30 in their first meeting in November. On their own floor Pellston will have an edge on the visitors and will probably keep its win record intact.

It's Slim's For An "Honest" Meal

Most people thought Slim Benson would probably go bruke when he first started his system of letting customers figure out their own checks over at his big diner on the highway.

Slim trusts them to pay for as much as they eat—you simply tell Sally, his cashier, the amount of your bill. It works, too. Take the other day when Buck Harris told Sally his bill was 35¢.

Now I was right there with Buck and I knew all he had was coffee and pie which comes to a quarter. "How come thirty-five cents?" I asked Buck. "Had an extra cup of java the other day, Joe, and forgot all about it—'til now," he says.

From where I sit, most people are basically honest — and that goes for their opinions, too, even though they may be different than our own. I like a glass of beer with my dinner; you may prefer something else . . . but we all ought to be allowed to "figure it out" ourselves.

John Spoelman Re-elected Head Of Farmers Union

ELLSWORTH — The Charlevoix-Antrim county farmers union re-elected the same officers for 1952. John Spoelman of Ellsworth is starting his second year as chairman.

The Farm Union will again support Secretary Brannan's Agricultural plan, the St. Lawrence Waterway, National Health bill, Public Power Co-Op (REA) and a graduated land tax. We will continue to oppose universal military training.

On the state front we will support Gov. Williams in his tax plan and go along with labor on repealing the 1¼ cent gas tax.

For a more liberal and democratic state government we are in favor of reapportionment of representation.

Hope to End Controversy

Hospital Clarifies Decision On Choosing Hospital Site

The following is a statement of the hospital board in explaining their action on the Hospital site decision.

The hospital board wishes to clarify its decision regarding the site of the proposed hospital, and to apologize to the public at large for the fact that this was not done in the Dec. 20th issue of the Charlevoix Courier.

The dominating factor in coming to a decision on the site was that the granting of the state funds was in jeopardy unless a definite selection was made immediately.

The board had actually worked out olans for giving all facts about the choice of location and sending ballots to all contributors. However, time was so important that the members risked public criticism and selected the Trailer Park.

The reasons for the selection were many.

FIRST representatives of the State Office of Hospital Survey and Construction expressed the opinion that this was the only practical site, provided test borings indicated ground conditions were satisfactory for construction.

Second, the architects who have been engaged to build the hospital, as well as all other architects who competed for the job, also were of the opinion that this was the only practical location.

The basis for these conclusions will be given in the following paragraphs.

Sites on the north side of town were ruled out by all impartial experts after they were given the facts that the majority of the town's winter population lives on the south side and practically all people coming to the hospital from outside the city come from the southeast. East Jordan, Ellsworth, Atwood, etc. Very few people come in from the rural area north of town.

It was considered extremely important by the architects . . . and this opinion was backed up by the state . . . that sufficient grounds be available, that the site not be located close to noisy traffic or bright lights, and (although not quite as important) that it not be located close to a cemetery

The matter of locating the hospital so it could be readily seen by people driving into town was not considered by the experts to be the important factor . . . the number one consideration is the welfare of the patients. They did say that all things being equal, they would then choose the more conspicuous site.

The architects and the state pointed out that it is more important than appears on the surface that sufficient grounds surround the hospital to allow for expansion and for off-the-street parking, and to prevent other possibly undesirable buildings being located too close to it.

Since better than half a million dollars will be spent on this project, we should by all means, they believe choose a site which at no extra cost, allows for all these advantages. This will be one of the most important projects ever built in the town and deserves the best and most practical setting.

An important consideration in tbe sit is of course, the cost. The Hospital Association actually has two sites . . . the present location and the Trailer Park (for the cost of $1.00). All other sites would have to be purchased . . . unless, of course they were donated.

Battle Creek Newspaperman Buys Courier

With this issue the Charlevoix Courier takes on a new publisher. J. Clark Dolliver of Battle Creek has acquired the interests of Victor Spaniolo and Mrs. C. W. Lucas and will become a permanent resident of Charlevoix.

This is the latest chapter in a Charlevoix experience that began when Mr. Dolliver was a summer student at Lewis Reimann's boys camp at Ironton. He liked the town, which he has visited many times since, and he looks forward to a permanent residence here with great interest.

Mr. Dolliver is an experienced newspaper man. He started with the Battle Creek Moon-Journal and when it was combined with the Battle Creek Enquirer and News, he continued with the merged company. Then he went to the Manistee News-Advocate, where he remained until he bought the Moorhead (Minnesota) DailyNews and the Fargo (North Dakota) News.

Preferring to live in his native Michigan, he returned after disposing of his Minnesota-North Dakota property, and lately decided upon Charlevoix as the place in which he wished to live. He and Mrs. Dolliver, the former Frances Turner, are temporarily living at 304 Park Avenue. Mrs. Dolliver is a commercial artist, caricaturist, and portarit painter and some of her works will be exhibited in Charlevoix later.

Mr. Dolliver is continuing the policies and personnel of the Courier and Mr. Spaniolo will remain with him for a while to acquaint him with the new field. The Courier will expand its commercial printing department.

The front door of the Courier office will always be open to residents of the Charlevoix area who may want to drop in to see what the new publisher is like. He, on the other hand, is eager to meet the men and women with whom he and Mrs. Dolliver hope to cooperate in making a bigger and better Charlevoix.

Mr. Spaniolo and Mrs. Lucas have published the Courier since August, 1949 when Mr. Lucas, co-publisher of the Emmet County Graphic and the Courier died unexpectedly.

Mr. Spaniolo is contemplating the purchase of a county seat newspaper in southern Michigan.

Drive Starts To Obtain Plant For Charlevoix

At a meeting Tuesday night, 18 residents of Charlevoix pledged $5,200 toward obtaining a new industry for the city.

Mayor Knight contacted A. G. Ghysels of Detroit who is organizing a new manufacturing firm for making plastic pipe for the oil and coal industry. A total of $20,000 will have to be raised locally to attract the new industry here.

A committee will be formed to contact as many people as possible in the next two weeks to see if the goal can be obtained. Persons interested in investing money in the new firm are asked to contact S. E. Coleman or Knight.

To clear up a misunderstanding about the conditions of the stock offering, the terms are as follows: A person who invests $100, gets 10 shares of 5 percent preferred plus 100 shares of common stock.

Will Charlevoix Abandon Cub Scouting

Is Charlevoix going to permit its Cub Scouting to be abandoned?

The decision is in doubt. It's quite possible that a few parents will come to the rescue of the program which has been playing a prominent part in the character education of the boys between eight and eleven.

Several mothers of young boys are needed as den mothers and an assistant packmaster is necessary for the continuance of the program. So declares Uno Suomela, who is Cub Master.

There is little argument that the Cub program has done worlds of good for a goodly number of boys in the years that it has been organized here. Likewise there is little argument that such a program is needed.

Mr. Suomela reports that parents are sending their boys to Cub meetings and other activities but many parents decline for various reasons to serve as adult leaders.

The Cub program for the last few years has been in good hands. But these women whose boys have outgrown the Cub stage, are now occupied with other activities in the community.

Now is the time for other parents to step into the fold, serving as adult supervisors and guides for the boys.

The Cub program needs only a few leaders. But they need them now.

Certainly a community such as Charlevoix is not going to let its children down.

The work of the young scouting program here and elsewhere has long constituted one of the best character-building organizations in existence. Scouting teaches the boys to become useful citizens of tomorrow and provides outlet for their enthusiasm and interests.

Aren't there four or five mothers of young boys who want to help the Cub Scouts and their program?

Isn't there a father who has a boy in the Cub Scouting who would like to support this program?

Hospital Board Explains Decision

with the original purchase must also be considered the cost of running utilities to the site.

Assuming, therefore, that the hospital should be on the south side, and taking into consideration all factors of area and cost, four possible sites were developed:

The Trailer Park.

The present hospital site.

The area adjacent to May Street, across from the ball park.

An area bounded by U. S. 31 and Stover Road, across from the cemetery.

From the utility standpoint, the site of the present hospital and the location at May and Garfield would be the most satisfactory.

Provided the ground could be purchased for a hospital at the Stover Road location, it appears to be more of a problem to bring the sewers to this point than to the Trailer Park . . . although there has been some indication that sometime in the future sewers will be run out to the end of State Street. There has also been an indication in the past that sewers would be run out to the Trailer Park.

The architects strongly recommend that the hospital not be located on May Street as it would be close to busy highway and directly across from the ball park which is brightly lighted and very noisy all during the summer evenings. The state representative completely ruled out this site as unsatisfactory.

The architects also ruled out the location at Stover Road and U. S. 31 as it, too, is close to a main highway. They ruled out this site as entirely unsatisfactory, since they had found out through experience throughout the state that sites adjacent to cemeteries invariably arouse considerable criticism and controversy. Furthermore, it is the understanding of the board that the purchase price of this property would be prohibitive.

ALTHOUGH the present site would have sewers adjacent to it, all existing lines within the property would have to be replaced since they are not large enough.

However, after very thorough study, it has been pointed out that an adequate new hospital could not be built on the present site, even though the old hospital were to be torn down before the construction of the new building.

There is not sufficient room to provide parking space off the street. A new 42-bed hospital designed for future expansion will bring in new medical services and naturally bring in many more patients than the present overcrowded 28-bed hospital, and more parking space must be provided.

It is considered mandatory by all the experts that the new building be a one-floor-plan, not only for economy in construction but for economical operation.

It is very important that the new hospital operate with the lowest possible expense to the patients. Savings in the operation of the new hospital would be passed on to future patients through lower rates.

Even though the present hospital were torn down, the location would require a two-story building . . . and it would be impossible to tear down the old building before the new one is completed.

An accurate layout of the present grounds has had superimposed on it every conceivable layout of a one-story building. There is no practical solution without part of the new structure being built within a few feet of the street. This would necessitate blocking off the street and moving some of the houses across the street.

All the architects involved stated it would be absolutely impractical to construct a hospital in this location in this manner. This opinion was concurred in by the representative of the state. We understand that money cannot be obtained from the state for a building on the old site.

The Trailer park site has the proper topography and area for the new building. Although not of prime importance, it has a very satisfactory view. It is only 3/10 of a mile further from the center of town than the present hospital.

None of the sites could be finally approved until test borings were made. Since our agreement with the contributors called for the return of their donations unless we could raise our 45% of the total amount needed, the expense of test borings could not be taken on until our drive was concluded.

Therefore, the matter of test borings was held up until all other phases pertaining to the site were considered and preliminary test borings have now been made which indicate the Trailer Park site is satisfactory in this respect, according to the architects.

There is an indication of underground water; however, it is sufficiently below the surface to be well under the footings, since the proposed hospital does not have a basement and the ground condition is such that it is very stable.

THIS IS ANOTHER consideration in favor of the Trailer Park . . architectural cost and cost of operation indicate that a hospital of the size proposed should be all on one floor and that there should be no basement. The amount of going up and down stairs is an important factor in supervision and labor costs. Elevators to a second floor or to a basement are very expensive equipment. From the standpoint of safety, it is a great advantage not to have the boiler room, laundry and kitchen located beneath the wards. Furthermore, the boiler room alone requires a 14' ceiling. The topography of the Trailer Park allows for construction of the greatest safety and most efficient maintenance. A minimum amount of grading will be required; and there is ample room for parking within the grounds.

The estimated cost of a sewer line to the site is a very small amount compared to the savings or the cost of another site, were we to purchase it at going real estate values.

in building construction costs

WHILE WIND velocity does have an effect on heating costs, the architects indicate that it is not appreciable if the windows are placed so that they will not face into the northwest.

Further, it is their opinion that wind conditions would not be appreciably less on the May street or U. S. 31 locations. Fortunately, all sites were examined by the architects and the representative of the office of Hospital Survey and Construction on an extremely cold and windy day.

As to the matter of snow removal, anyone who observed the Trailer Park in winter will note that when the wind is blowing it keeps the area fairly clean.

From the standpoint of general maintenance around the area, this should be as satisfactory as any location.

As the city plows within a few hundred feet of the proposed site, it is inconceivable that the expense of plowing to the site and turning around would be anything but negligible.

The hospital building fund committee tried for more than two years to raise funds to match those tentatively allocated to us by the state early in the campaign. In desperation, when the actual possibility of losing the state funds became evident, they called in outside assistance and in the matter of a few short weeks did manage to complete our drive and obtain sufficient pledges to insure the state assistance.

As mentioned, the state had set these funds aside for the construction of our hospital at a much earlier date. They have continually warned us that time was running short and that even if funds were finally pledged, at this late date, the funds might no longer be available. If bids for the construction of the hospital were not let by the end of June, the funds would no longer be available from the present fiscal appropriation.

We were already behind time in going ahead with the architectural plans and the state strongly urged that no more time be lost, particularly since the Trailer Park site is the only one they have seen that would be considered satisfactory. They urged that the test borings be made and that the architects be allowed to go ahead with the plans . . . that a matter of one or two weeks might jeopardize the funds and that they might be allocated to one of the many other communities constantly clamoring for these funds.

IN LIGHT of all these facts, knowing that it would cause some adverse criticism of the board, the decision was made that was felt to be the best. We felt certain that the majority of our contributors knowing all the facts, would support our decision. We are, however, extremely sorry that these facts were not presented more adequately along with the announcement of the selection of the site.

At this time the board again wishes to invite all the members of the Hospital Association to the annual meeting early in the summer . . . which is always adequately announced well in advance in the paper.

A member of the Association is anyone who has contributed to the maintenance of the present hospital or to the funds for the new building through either direct or through such mediums as the Community Fund.

THE ANNUAL turnout is pitifully small. However, these meetings at which the members of the board are elected, are the only opportunity given the board to determine whether it has been serving satisfactorily. After their election, it is their responsibility to do what they feel is best for the public at large, and it is their earnest desire to serve to the best of their ability.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Mertin

In case you're interested we have a little modern George Washington in our midst . . . not because this lad didn't tell a lie but because he cut down a tree . . . Seems the youngsters in the George LaBlance family received a basketball . . . They played in the garage but things were not quite right, so Saturday Mr. L. put the backboard at a regulation heighth on the garage . . . Tommy, who has been playing bang-up ball for the Reserves figured he needed more room so . . . he took the axe to a mountain ash tree in the yard . . . We hope the coach appreciates his efforts . . . And incidently, he practices far after dark.

CONGRATULATIONS to our own U.S. representative, Charles Potter, who has been named as one of the most promising young men in the Republican party for 1952 by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce . . . It's good to know we have such an outstanding person representing us in Washington . . .

WE DON'T know if it's because Charlevoix is on the lake and the people here had some idea of what Capt. Kurt Carlsen was going through last week . . . but there sure was a lot of interest created by his attempt to stay with his ship . . . But everyone was asking for the latest bulletins every time you turned around . . . Or was it because everyone loves a guy who'll fight it out regardless of the odds against him . . . That Dane sure has what it takes . . . for our money . . .

Wasn't it good to see the almost-full moon and stars in a midnight blue sky Friday after so many dark nights . . . And such weather, cold but not windy . . . winter like this we don't mind . .

WE SAW something the other day we're sure you'd like . . . it was a picture, a pencil drawing, rather, received by Mrs. John Thompson, the former Donna Bennett . . . It's a work of art, truly lovely . . . a pencil drawing of Mrs. Thompson made into a 20x24 picture by a young Korean, from a wallet-size picture Sgt. Thompson carried in his pocket . . . It's so beautifully done it actually looks like a photograph rather than a drawing . . . the work is exquisite . . truly something to see . . .

TRAFFIC at the Ferry ave. beach was almost as heavy Sunday as it is in mid-summer . . . but for a different reason . . . Charlevoix skaters found the ice on Lake Charlevoix ideal for skating and were taking advantage of it by going to Ironton and up the lake almost to Boyne City . . . The younger fry just enjoyed the freedom of unlimited space . . . But this rain we've been having Monday and Tuesday will spoil all that . . .

WE UNDERSTAND Bill Ratigan's novel will start in the February issue of the Country Gentleman, a Curtis Publishing magazine . . . But don't try to buy it on the newsstand . . . it comes by subscription only we're told.

Have you seen the Heise children, Buddy and Ola Marie, feeding their pet, a big, fat gray squirrel near their State st. home . . . We heard about it from several people who watched them coax the squirrel to them with nuts . . . then he'd dash off to a safe distance and eat his reward.

THE MARCH OF DIMES to raise funds for the infantile paralysis fund gets underway here this week . . . It's a cause which is very close to our heart . . . as most humanitarian drives are . But this is something that everyone understands . . . from the youngest child in school to all you grown-ups . . Kids have seen their playmates stricken, parents have seen their children . . . and all of us have seen our friends and it isn't a pretty thing . . . And the funds being raised aren't being used for just treatment . . but for research . . a word which should be written in capital letters . . . for it's only through research that the scource of the dread disease can be found . . . and with that discovery, a drug, a serum, a 'something' to fight back with . . . So when you make your contribution, give generously and then give just a little more . . . it may be that extra something you give that will be the turning point against the battle of polio . Think how proud you'll be if that's the case . . . And if it isn't . . . you're still furthering a wonderful wonderful cause . . .

Voice of Our Readers

In last weeks Courier one of our Farm Organizations stated that they were in favor of reapportionment in our State. If this is done, and there is very grave danger that such a thing can happen, four counties will run our State.

The idea, the founders of the Constitution of the Republic was to have representation by area and population so that sparsely settled areas and minority groups would have a voice in our government.

Why any Farm Organization, especially in this part of the State, would be in favor of such a change is beyond my imagination.

Every farmer in Charlevoix county is urged to attend the annual meeting of the soils district at the East Jordan gymnasium tonight.

This is a very important meeting for farmers.

An outstanding program has been arranged by the farm planner and the county agent.

One of the nation's authorities on soils, Mel Cohee, will be the principal speaker.

Highlighting the program will be the recognition to five farmers who in the opinion of the judges have done the most outstanding job in soil conservation practices in Charlevoix county.

Because farmers are being asked to increase their production goals, it is vitally important that they utilize the latest information, designed to aid them in reaching their farm goals.

Be sure to attend and take your neighbor.

Mid-West Soils Authority To Talk at Top Notch Program

Clayton Healey, chairman of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation district, will preside at the annual meeting at 8 p.m. tonight at East Jordan High school. Everyone is invited. This includes town folks as well as farm folks, wives as well as husbands, and young as well as old.

The program wil start off with the showing of county movies taken by Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent and secretary of the soil district. These movies will show scenes of soil conservation, dairy, fruit, recreational areas, and other scenic views. When enough film is taken there will be a complete movie on each one of the above topics. People should see this movie as they might be in the picture.

Healey, chairman of the district, will open the meeting, the minutes of the last annual meeting will be read by Secretary Ed Rebman. One director will be elected. The term of Carlton Smith of Charlevoix expires, Mr. Smith is not a candidate for re-election. The nominating committee is as follows: Leslie Sheridan, chairman, Archie Murphy, George Johnson, and Bill Korthase. Clyde Warner and Joe Stutzman are candidates for director. Other nominations will be accepted. All land owners in the county are eligible to vote whether they are co-operators in the soil district or not. Women can vote too.

The annual report will be presented. Each director will report on the part that he has prepared. Healey, will report on state and regional meetings and on plans for 1952. Norval Korthase, vice-chairman, wil report on the marsh plow and co-operation with other agencies.

Carlton Smith, treasurer, will give the forestry and financial report. Bob Straw will talk about the Goodyear Contest. Harold Goebel will discuss the educational work with the advisory committee. Bill Grimm, farm planner, will tell about group planning activities and accomplishments of some co-operators. Ed Rebman, county agent, and secretary, will give a short history of the district and tell some high lights of the activities of the district.

Five farmers will receive certificates. These certificates will be presented by Carlton Smith. The names of the five farmers will be announced. These certificates are awarded to those farmers who have done the most on the completion of their farm plan.

The amount of conservation they have done for themselves is also taken into consideration. The farmers who received the certificates last year were Joe Leu, Clayton Healey, Peter Winnick, William Boss and Art Nicloy & Sons.

Now for some entertainment. A team of specialists have been obtained. Two acts will be presented; Casey at the Bat and a midget novelty. These acts and the team are good. Be sure to attend and watch this part of the program.

Melville Cohee, Soil Conservation Service from Milwaukee, will be the principal speaker. His talk will be on soil conservation. He was raised on a farm and at the present time owns a farm. He is a good speaker and will deliver a good message.

Make your plans. Everyone attend this fourth annual meeting of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District. Meet at the East Jordan High School Auditorium tonight. Be sure and be on time as the meeting will start promptly and adjourn at 10:30 p.m.

Much Work Done By District Since Start in 1948

Several years ago Charlevoix county turned down proposal to establish a soil conservation district.

Various reasons were given why farmers did not vote for this district. Probably the one most important was lack of education. In other words, they did not know too much about it and thus turned it down rather than take a chance on it.

Also land zoning was discussed and voted on at the same time which resulted in confusion of these two issues. This probably contributed somewhat to the trouble. Antrim county, however, voted in its district and the work being done there has helped create interest for the soil conservation district in Charlevoix county.

Also, every machinery ad in magazines and papers carried a theme of soil conservation. These two factors, together with others, again brought before the people the formation of a soil conservation district.

Throughout the summer and fall of 1947 the three farm or-

Income Tax Aid Offered Area Farmers

It's almost income tax time again and Everett Elwood, of the Michigan State College agricultural economics department, passes along some advise for farmers in figuring their tax under the Revenue Act of 1951 which was passed by congress in October.

Among the many changes, Elwood says, there are only five that effect farmers. All but one of them gives the farmer a break. The one exception is the increase in income tax rates for everyone. Elwood reports the average increase will amount to about 11 percent.

The first "break" the farmers get is the provision increasing the gross income of dependents from $500 to $600. That means "Junior" can earn up to $600 now without having to file a return or being lost as an exemption on dad's return.

The next break is on the ex-

Charlevoix Named Site For 'Little Farmers Week'

A condensed short course on new things in farming will be presented to Charlevoix county farmers the week of February 11, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent announced today.

Termed the "Little Farmer's Week" the program will bring nine extension specialists from Michigan State College here for afternoon meetings in the Court House at Charlevoix at 1:30 p.m. each day Monday through Friday of that week.

The speakers will bring the farmers up-to-date with new developments in crop production, insect control, farm management, animal disease control, poultry production, building construction, livestock production, weed and plant disease control.

The event is being made possible by the cooperation of the county agricultural agents in five Northern Michigan counties. Specialists from Michigan State College will spend a day in each county and rotate around the circuit of five meetings during the week. Cheboygan, Otsego, Charlevoix, Emmet and Presque Isle counties are cooperating in presenting the program.

"Each day's program will be different and farmers who cannot attend them all should select the ones in which they are most interested. These educational meetings are an answer to many requests for additional information in these fields," Rebman explained.

County Agent Rebman said the program for Charlevoix county for each day of the week would be: Poultry on Monday, Building and livestock on Tuesday, Weed Control and Plant Diseases on Wednesday, Crops and Insects on Thursday, and Livestock Health and Outlook on Friday.

We all agree that good land usage and soil conservation have been important factors in bringing our agricultural economy to it's present standard. There is another factor, electricity, bringing efficient and economical power to the farm.

More and more farmers of America look to electric power to ease their burdens and speed up their work. It is gratifying to know that we have contributed to the great progress in American agriculture.

CONTOURS And TERRACES

Boost Crop Yields

MORE than 30 per cent average increase in crop yields — that was the reward of 9,000 farmers recently checked on results of the soil conservation program. Terraces and contours were responsible for much of this extra yield. By holding rainfall, they provided "natural irrigation" for slopes.

Almost all crops will respond to better moisture control. If you have sloping fields, farming on the contour, terracing or strip cropping almost certainly will pay you a profit.

Terracing is no longer a job for engineers and heavy machinery.

You can build terraces successfully with your regular farm equipment. Allis-Chalmers has developed practical methods of terracing, strip cropping, and building grassed waterways with your farm tractor and tractor plow.

The Allis-Chalmers handbook "You Have What It Takes To Contour and Terrace" will show you where you need terraces and how to build them. Ask us for a copy . . . it's free.

ganizations in the county have asked questions regarding the formation of a district. They also had expressed their willingness to cooperate in the educational part of the program. Good cooperation was received from the Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis Clubs, Churches, and other organizations in the county.

Father Kupinski, pastor of the Boyne Falls church, aided this program considerably by helping with the educational part among the folks in the Boyne Falls area, who are of Polish descent. Approximately every local organization, Farm Bureau, Grange and Farm Union group asked and received help from Ed Rebman, county agent by giving illustrated lectures on soil conservation.

PETITIONS requesting a public hearing on the soil conservation district were placed with several individuals throughout the county during the early months of 1948. These petitions received slightly more than 300 signatures of farm folks who were interested in the program. A meeting was held with the steering committee composed of the following farmers: Leonard Babble, George Klooster, Clayton Healey, Peter Winnick, Harold Thomas, Claude Pearsall, Harry Bearringer. This committee ordered petitions requesting the hearing be turned over to the state committee. The date for hearing was set at this time, and petitions for directors included the following men: Lee Sneathen, jr., Peter Winnick, Carlton Smith, Carl Grutsch, jr., Albert Carlsen, Joe Leu, George Klooster, Leonard Babble, Clayton Healey, Harold Thomas, Joe Topolinski, Norval Korthase, and Harry Bearringer. Claude Pearsall was chosen as polling superintendent for the district.

The hearing for the proposed soil conservation district in the county was held June 16, 1948, in Boyne City. Farmers from every township in the county attended the hearing. The crowd was so large that people stood up at the back and sides of the room. Some people were standing outside, listening through the windows. A large number of farmers spoke for the district and no one spoke against it. With such a large turnout and with all the comments being favorable, the state committee graciously set the date for referendum for July 9, 1948.

The farm people in Charlevoix County cast a total of 343 votes in the referendum. Of this 343 votes, 329 were for the district, and 12 were against it, and the remaining 2 were invalid ballots. Carlton Smith received the highest number of votes for director, and was elected for a term of three years.

George Klooster received the second highest number of votes and was elected director for a two year term. Clayton Healey received the next highest number of votes and was elected director for a one year term. Peter Winnick and Norval Korthase were appointed for the remaining two directors. Results of the elections were as follows.

Soils District Proves Big Help To Many Farmers

Among the many functions of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation Districts, farm planning is considered one of the most important

To help carry out this part of the program the district has asked the Soil Conservation Service for technical assistance.

If and when a farmer becomes interested in applying conservation on his land he only has to submit an application to the district for assistance. If his application is approved and in order for the farmer to fully understand the districts program he is given 2 or 3 educational meetings. These meetings are designed to cover the interests of the farmer in all phases of conservation as they might affect him.

During these meetings the farmer receives a complete soil survey of his farm which will tend to show the farmer just what his land is capable of doing.

After the meeting an appointment is made with the farm planner. Bill Grimm, to go over the farmer's land and discuss the farmer's conservation program. The conservation plan developed is the farmers own thoughts and desires and at no time is anything put in the plan the farmer doesn't want to do. The position of the farm planner is to advise and assist the farmer in carrying out the technical phases of the farmer's program such as crop rotation, contour strips, contour orchards, open drains, tile drains, waterways, and etc.

There is no charge to this service and is not compulsory. The district believes every farmer should adapt a wise land use program and take advantage of the opportunities they have to offer.

change of residences or farms and buying another. Elwood says that farmers who sold or exchanged their residence during 1951 at a gain and within one year after the sale, purchased and occupied another residence, do not have to pay tax on that gain if the cost of the new residence equals or exceeds the sale price of the old residence.

The third ruling covers land used for farming, and held for more than 6 months. If this land is sold with an unharvested crop, that crop is to be considered property used in the farm business and therefore subject to the capital gain treatment, the same as the land.

And the fourth change, according to Elwood, provides that the capital gain treatment is extended through the sale of livestock held for draft, breeding, or daily purposes, if acquired at least 12 months prior to the date of sale.

These and other changes, along with detailed instructions for preparing farm income tax returns, are shown in the 1952 edition of Extenson Bulletin 257, "Farmers 1951 Income Tax". This bulletin is available from Ed Rebman, your county agricultural agent.

Charlevoix IN UNIFORM

A letter from William Barber, who is serving aboard the destroyer, Putnam, informs his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barber he has been promoted to seaman first class, from seaman apprentice.

The ship, on a Mediterranean trip with the Sixth fleet, docked at the French Riviera for Christmas.

A later letter said the fleet would visit Spain in the near future, the first time an American ship has visited that country since 1934.

Rayders Are Underdogs for Pellston Game

Charlevoix Must Play Top Brand of Ball to Beat Leaders

The Rayders will be distinct underdogs when they tangle with unbeaten Pellston Friday night in an out of town game.

Pellston, leading the NMCC league with five victories plus two non-loop affairs, will be gunning for Charlevoix, only team in the league it has not met.

Charlevoix occupies second place in the league with four wins and one loss (East Jordan). The Rayders will need all their fire power against Emerson, Drier et all this Friday.

The Rayders were unimpressive in their victory over Harbor Springs last Friday. The score was 35-22, the lowest scoring game of the season for the locals.

Meanwhile, the Pellston team took the measuro of Rogers City, a non-loop game, for the second time this season. The loss of Dean Boss in the Petoskey game continues to hurt Charlevoix's chances of taking over the league lead.

It is believed that Boss may be able to rejoin the team the latter part of February if all goes well with his fractured wrist.

HARBOR SPRINGS worked a tight defense against Charlevoix, holding the winners to the lowest point total of the season except the Petoskey game.

Charles Krahnke was high point man for the Rayders with 11 points, one more than Bobo Bennett.

The game, one of those low scoring affairs, dragged at many stages when both teams presented a good defense but little scoring.

The score was five all at the end of the first quarter. Bill Denemy sank a goal and Deano Davenport had a goal and a free throw for the Rayders.

Harbor Springs went ahead in the second quarter with 11 more points with Grandstra scoring five of them. Meantime Charlevoix hit for nine points with Krahnke scoring two goals a free toss, Denemy chipped in with two foul shots and Bennett did likewise.

LIKE THE second team which outscored its rival in the third period, the first team followed suit, scoring eight while holding Harbor to a basket and a free throw. In this period, Bennett had two goals, Denemy a goal and a free throw and Krahnke, a free toss.

In the last quarter, the winners came through with 13 points. Bennett dropped in two goals, Krahnke sank two goals and a free throw and Norm Ketchman and Bud Barber had a goal apiece.

Third Period Rally Sparks Reserve Win

A thrilling finish enabled the Rayder Reserves to snatch victory from Harbor Springs, 37-36 last Friday.

The second team added to its reputation as a crowd-pleaser against Harbor with its never say-die tactics. Joe McDermott was the gama's high point man with 18 points.

A furious rally in the third period when the Rayders scored 15 points, one less than they scored in all of the first half, greatly aided them in overcoming a Harbor Springs lead.

THE SCORE at the half was 20-16 in favor of Harbor. The game was tied at 8 all at the quarter mark and the Rayders led 31-29 at the end of the third period.

In the initial stanza, McDermott sank three field goals and Tom LaBlance and Bill Golden had a free throw each. The second quarter witnessed Albright singing a trio of goals and Marcus White chipped in with a field goal.

McDermott started things rolling in the third period when he sank two goals at the outset and then sank another plus two free throws. Towsley sank a bucket and Albright contributed five points.

Harbor was held to nine points in this period while Charlevoix rolled up 15 for its biggest point total of any period in the game.

In the last stanza, it was nip and tuck all the way.

McDermott chipped in with two more field goals and Pease added two more points. Harbor scored seven during the period and was on the verge of taking the victory on a number of occasions.

Each time the losers tied the game or went ahead, the Rayders rallied, finally getting the nod.

The Rayder Reserves now have won four games and dropped two.

East Jordan Presses Fight For 2nd Place

In games Friday night East Jordan emerged victors over traditional rivals, Boyne City, by a 43-38 score and Mancelona clipped Gaylord 48-44 as the winners took over the third and fourth place slots respectively in the northern Michigan Class C league standing.

In other games Charlevoix won over Harbor Springs 35-22 and Pellston defeated Rogers City 30-28 in a non-league meeting.

In the East Jordan-Boyne City the Ramblers got off to an impressive 16-9 lead at the first quarter but the Jordanites came back to tie the score 23 all as the half ended and to take a 35-29 lead at the third period.

DON WHITEFORD paced the victors wth 15 points and Art Kujawski had 12 for the Ramblers. Boyne City's top scorer, Don Arner, who is recovering from an ankle injury, was unable to play in the game.

The tall, rangy Mancelona Ironmen had no trouble with visiting Gaylord as the home team led 16-5 at the quarter, 28-16 at tha half and 33-26 at the third period. Norm Wilks of Mancelona and Jerry Hopkins of Gaylord shared scoring honors for their respective teams with 16 points each.

For the second time this year Pellston won over Class B Rogers City, this time by a 30-28 score. Keith Emerson scored 21 points as his team went ahead 7-5 at the quarter and as the Hurons tied the game 9-9 at the half. The Hornets managed a 20-18 lead at

Farmers Urged To Buy Spray Material Now

Farmers were urged today to sit down and figure out what they'll need next summer in the way of insect and disease control chemicals by Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

And he suggested that after the planning is done, you buy part of what you'll need right now . . as much as you can afford or store. Reason is that early buying by farmers will help manufacturers keep their production and distribution of chemical supplies for farmers on a year-round basis.

Storage becomes a big problem if the manufacturer has to hold all of his supply until the time the farmer needs it, the county agent explained. It may reach a point where production is slowed or halted because of lack of storage space.

If you don't have storage space on your farm, the county agricultural agent suggests that you place your order now for future deliveries of insecticides, fungicides and weed killers. Manufacturers can then better judge farm needs.

Another point in favor of early buying . . . prices of the chemicals have dipped down a bit between seasons in the past. So you may save some money by winter-time buying, too.

There was a missionary meeting Wednesday at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Diller.

Seminarian Harry G. Arnold of Grand Rapids conducted services Sunday at the Ellsworth Christian Reformed church.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward DeYoung and family of East Lansing visited here Sunday.

Edgar Boeve of Grand Rapids visited his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Edward Boeve.

Couple Returns Home From California Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elzinga returned home last week from a month's visit with relatives in California. The trip was a gift from their daughter, Capt. D. Iris Dodd of the Army Nurses Corps who has since left for overseas duty in Japan and Korea.

The couple left here early last month for the trip west aboard the El Capitain out of Chicago.

While in the west they visited Capt. Dodd and another daughter, Mignonette Dodd in Los Angeles, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Gadal at Huntington Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Elzinga's brother and sister-in-law, Leslie Beattie, who is now retired from the Navy, Mrs. Beattie and family at long Beach, Calif.

Capt. Dodd was on furlough during their stay and took them to visit many points of interest.

Take Steps Here to Switch to Dial Setup

The first step in the change over to the dial system in Charlevoix will be taken in February, C. L. Johnson, district manager for Michigan Bell Telephone Co., reported Wednesday.

He added that no definite date has been set by the company for the cut over to the dial system. It is expected to occur sometime next fall, he said.

the third period and went on to take the game by a two-point margin.

DAVE GOULETTE and Clayt Friederech had eight points each for Rogers City.

In games scheduled for this week, first place Pellston will host second place Charlevoix, Boyne City will travel to Harbor Springs and Mancelona will meet East Jordan on the latter's floor.

The supremacy of the league will be decided as Charlevoix with one loss to East Jordan by a two-point margin in five starts meets Pellston, top-team with five wins.

Pellston has not defeated the Rayders since 1944 when the Hornets took the league championship and have patiently awaited the day when they had a chance over the Charlevoix group.

Mancelona, with a win over Gaylord to their credit, will travel to East Jordan to meet the hot-and-cold team of the league, who defeated Boyne City last week. Mancelona with three lads six feet or more will be out to take the Jordanites and thus move into a third place tie with their opponents.

East Jordan, however, led by big Klem Klimkelwicz and Don Whiteford will be hard to atop as they climb toward the top in league standings. The game should be a close one.

Boyne City, still playing without Don Arner, will play at Harbor Springs. If the Rams play the slow, stalling type of ball as they did here, this week, Boyne will have to fight for the ball and the going might get rough. The Ramblers, however, should have a slight edge with a more experienced team although the score is bound to be close.

Gaylord will be idle Friday but Tuseday will meet their old rival, Grayling on the home floor.

WHEREAS, the year 1951 witnessed the fourth consecutive year to polio incidence, with more infantile paralysis cases being reported during that four year span than in the preceding decade and,

WHEREAS, only the fullest public support of the 1952 March of Dimes will enable that great humanitarian organization to continue it's vital programs of patient-care, scientific research, professional education and epidemic emergency aid, and,

WHEREAS, the March of Dimes will take place January 2 through the 31st in the city of Charlevoix, during which period every citizen will have the opportunity to participate in the fight against infantile paralysis.

SO THEREFORE, I, John Knight, Mayor of Charlevoix, do proclaim the weeks heretofore indicated, to be weeks dedicated to our mutual fight against polio, and do urge every resident of our city to join the March of Dimes with unbounded generosity.

An Editorial

The Charlevoix Courier, now in its 57th year, has added another publisher's name to its masthead. While we "took over" officially last week, this is really the first issue that we can really call our own "baby". For some reason you can't arrive in town late Tuesday evening, get settled and yet feel that you have much to do with publishing that week's paper.

Now we have had a week in which to become acclimated and have had a chance to meet many of our new fellow citizens. We deeply appreciate every courtesy that has been shown us and it is certainly to the credit of Charlevoix how soon you make a newcomer feel at home.

In making this start, we pay tribute to the service of our immediate predecessor, Victor G. Spaniolo, publisher for the past three years, and join all of Charlevoix in wishing him success and happiness in his future endeavor.

Judging from his efforts, we have come to feel in a short time that he was first, last and always working for Charlevoix and the Courier. He spent time and effort in obtaining conventions for Charlevoix. He labored on most of the civic projects during his stay here. He has consistently stood for anything that is good for Charlevoix.

In publishing the Courier, he has published an excellent newspaper. It has reflected the awareness of the community in attempting to get industry to move here as well as to promote the tourist and resort business. Few people here realize that last year the Courier was judged one of the five best weekly newspapers of its size in Michigan. He has taken seriously the Courier and the community.

In becoming a citizen of Charlevoix and taking over the reigns of the Courier it will be our goal to fulfill all of the obligations that good citizenship and ethical journalism involve. As the editor and publisher, our goal will be to render a genuine public service . . . recognizing, first our responsibility to our readers and in step with this, our responsibility to aid in the constructive efforts of our business, industrial and resort community . . . the people and the enterprises which make publication of a newspaper possible.

We probably will not agree with all of our readers on some issues through the years, but we hope to keep the Courier a true sounding board for Charlevoix county and surrounding territory. All of us, working together, will make the future history of Charlevoix . . . so let's make it good.

Long Illness Fatal to Harry Coblentz

Harry E. Coblentz, 88, pioneer resident of northern Michigan, died Sunday at his home at 117 East Garfield ave. after several months of failing health.

Funeral services were held at See Funeral Home Wednesday with the Rev. Gladys Haagaman of Harbor Springs officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Poland, Ohio, March 9, 1863, he came to northern Michigan with his parents at the age of two years. He often related how the boat which was to take them to Traverse City stopped at Northport and left them to find their own way to their destination. The family finally made the trip by ox team.

LIKE MANY pioneers his parents traveled widely before settling here. They made a trip to Nebraska and back by covered wagon before going to St. Joseph Island, Canada, for a year. The next year they traded a sewing machine and a cross-cut saw for two sailboats and started from Canada for Traverse City. At North point off Charlevoix they wrecked one boat and had to make three trips back for their possessions before settling at Elk Rapids for the winter. They also spent a year in southern Michigan, before settling here.

At the age of 18 years, Mr. Coblentz came to Ironton where he was foreman for the Pine Lake Iron Co. for the next 11 years. Later he was foreman at the Ellsworth Lumber Co. for a year.

He was married to Sadie Brock on May 1, 1895 and they settled on a farm near Sequanota where they lived for 33 years, 25 of which he was caretaker at the Sequanota club.

He moved to Charlevoix in 1929 and for the next few years operated a service station at the corner of State and Antrim streets. He retired about 15 years ago. Prior to his retirement he was an agent for the Bleaner Life Insurance Co. for 15 years and a secretary for the same company for 25 years. He was awarded a gold watch for his services when he retired.

Besides his wife he is survived by two sons, Freeman of Detroit and Clarence of Charlevoix; one grandson, Stanley of Detroit and a sister, Mrs. Eva Miller of Sparta. A third son, Clayton, died Aug. 9, 1923.

Robert J. Madill, 84, retired contractor and builder, died early Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Anna Eccleston, after a long illness.

Funeral services were held at S. Mary's church Saturday with the Rev. Leo Malinowski officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Born in Shelburn, Ont., Canada, Feb. 21, 1867, Mr. Madill came to Michigan with his family as a child, and settled at Kalamazoo. He was married to Sarah Ann O'Neill in southern Michigan and came to Charlevoix in 1895. She preceded him in death in 1939. He retired as a contractor and builder in 1938.

He was a member of St. Mary's church and past member of the Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus.

Besides Mrs. Eccleston with whom he had made his home for eight years he is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Alice McHugh of Birmingham a son, Robert G. Madill of Cortez, Fla.; 18 grandchildren and 33 great-grandchildren.

'Mac' Retires After 38 Years of Gov't Service

By Fran Martin

After 'hitches' in three government services including the Navy, the Lighthouse Service and the Coast Guard, totaling 38 years in all, J. C. McDonald, U. S. C. G., Chief Boatswain's Mate, will retire Jan. 31. He has one of the longest records of service in the Ninth Coast Guard district.

It must have been the love of the sea or promise of adventure which first induced McDonald, when barely more than a lad, to enlist in the Navy at Mare Island, Calif., March 18, 1912.

After boot training at the Mare Island base not far from his home at Navato, Calif., he served two enlistments in the Navy, sailing aboard cruisers in both the Atlantic and Pacific. During World War I he served aboard a troop transport and for the duration made countless trips across the Atlantic to France.

It was during these years that he experienced two of his narrowest escapes. The first came when his transport ship was fired upon by a German U-boat, a day off the coast of France on a return trip. Luck was with them, however, and they managed to escape.

Another time, he relates, the transport was caught in a storm of hurricane stength and for 20 days and four hours the ship wallowed through mountainous waves. The last twelve days his ship towed a disabled oil tanker. Many times the crew thought their ship would be lost but it finally limped into Bermuda, battered and many miles off course but safe.

AFTER SUCH experiences as these he did not chose to re-enlist following his second four year hitch but the tug of the sea was too much and for the next year and a half he sailed in the Merchant Marine aboard luxury liners of two well-known steamship lines to Hawaii, cargo ships to Italy and Africa, an oil tanker to Central America and an ore ship out of Baltimore.

The call of the service, however, was not to go unheard and in 1922 veteran McDonald re-enlisted—this time in the lighthouse service which was then in command of the Commerce Department. For the next four years

Drifts Prevent Busses from Making Trips

For the second time in six years, Charlevoix school buses did not make their regular trips Wednesday morning, Supt. Roy G Bennett reported.

Only two buses, the one which picks up children on the outskirts of town and the one which goes south to Norwood corners, left the garage.

Winds up to 35 miles an hour plus a heavy snowfall caused drifts which closed all roads.

The Charlevoix county road commission reported all but the main highways closed by the drifts. The commission devoted its efforts to keeping only trunk-lines open except in emergencies. No attempt will be made to open the roads until the storm subsides.

Mrs. Cooper's Father Dies

Theodore Kirchner, 94, father of Mrs. Clinton G. Cooper, died Thursday at his home in Saginaw after a brief illness.

Funeral services and burial were in Saginaw.

Mr. Kirchner was well known here, having visited here many times with his daughter, Mrs. Cooper, who went to Saginaw several years ago to stay with her parents.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Jay Niver of Escanaba, a son, Edward Kirchner of Saginaw and a grand-daughter, Mrs. Lyle Tooley of Boyne City.

Red Cross Drive Starts March 1

The Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross met last week at Charlevoix for its first meeting of 1952.

The 1952 fund drive which will open March 1 was the chief topic discussed. Mrs. Laytne Mielke of Boyne City who has been named 1952 fund chairman was introduced by chapter chairman, Mrs. Don Haig, also of Boyne City. She spoke briefly on the drive and outlined her plans for the campaign.

She also announced community chairmen named thus far. They include: Mrs. Charles Bellinger of Charlevoix, Mrs. Earl Clark of East Jordan, Mrs. Leo Jabolinski of Boyne Falls, Mrs. Heston Dyer of Horton's Bay. The names of other chairmen will be announced later. Anyone wishing to assist with the drive is asked to call Mrs. Mielke or Mrs. Haig in Boyne City.

Mrs. Roy G. Bennett of Charlevoix, chapter blood chairman, announced the dates of the annual blood procurement program as June 24-25. The clinic will be held in Charlevoix and East Jordan on those dates.

Mrs. J. P. Wilkins of East Jordan, whose husband was recently named Charlevoix county civilian defense chairman, addressed the group and spoke on Civilian Defense and what is expected of the county and the chapter in the program. The chapter went on record as being in accord with the program and assist in any way possible. The first program to be started as a part of the chapter's role in civilian defense is a First Aid course. Details will be announced as soon as the program is set up.

Treasurer's and secretary's reports and other chapter business concluded the meeting.

Representing Charlevoix at the meeting were Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Bellinger and Frances Martin. Mrs. Ross Alexander of Ironton was also present.

Three Injured in Car Mishap Saturday

Mrs. Frances McGhan, 55, of Marion township, was discharged from the Charlevoix Hospital Tuesday after being treated for a severe head laceration and bruises suffered in a two car collision Saturday.

Her husband, L. E. McGhan, 57, and Mrs. Ralph Hess, 44, drivers of the cars, suffered bruises but were not hospitalized.

The accident occurred during a snowstorm at 2:30 p.m. Saturday when the McGhan car headed north on Michigan ave. went out of control at the slippery highway at the end of Ainslee st. and hit the Hess car head-on.

Both cars were badly damaged.

Draft Board to Call 30 County Men for Physical

Thirty Charlevoix county draft registrants will be called for pre-induction physical examinations Feb. 4, the draft board announced this week.

The names of the men will be released later.

The new call is in addition to the 20 men who will leave here Wednesday for the Detroit induction center for pre-induction physicals.

Seven men will be called for induction into the armed services Feb. 26.

Band Members Will Attend Harbor Meet

The Charlevoix high school will send 32 of its band members to the Solo-Ensemble Festival to be held at Harbor Springs Saturday under the sponsorship of District 2 of the Michigan Band and Orchestra Association.

Adjudicators, or judges, of the festival will be Norman Dietz of Central Michigan College of Education and Rex Hewlitt, supervisor of instrumental music in the Mt. Pleasant public schools.

The festival marks the first time in the history of the district that a separate festival for solo and ensemble events has been held. Heretofore the solo-ensemble festival was combined with the regular band and orchestra festival both being held the same day. Increased interest in solos and ensembles caused the separa-

E. J. Edwards Named Director Of Savings Bank

Edward J. Edwards, manager of the Belvedere club, has been elected a director of the Charlevoix State Savings bank. Other directors elected at the annual meeting are H. A. Craig, P. D. Campbell, C. D. Geiken, and A. L. Livingston.

Officers elected are president, H. A. Craig; vice president and cashier, A. L. Livingston; assistant cashiers, Robert Livingston and Dorothy Dixon.

Urges Support Of Polio Drive In County

Charlevoix county residents were urged by Dr. A. F. Litzenburger, director of the District Health department, to contribute generously to the current polio drive for funds.

Calling attention to the fact that $12,000 has been spent by the National Foundation in the county during the last year in the care of polio sufferers, the health director said that he felt that the majority of people able to contribute will do so this month.

The county drive seeks to raise $3,600 or about the same goal as in 1951. This money raised last year represented less than one-quarter of what was spent in the county to fight polio.

After reviewing the statistics in regard to polio in our county during the past year the Health Department finds it difficult to find words to express its appreciation for the wonderful job your local chapter has done to alleviate the ravages of this disease.

Although the county had only five new cases reported for the year, it is heartening to note that all have received the very best treatment available, and this has been made possible only because of the untiring work of your chapter.

We find that your local chapter in cooperation with the National Foundation have expended over $12,000.00 in the county during the past year on the five new cases and two carried from previous years. Because of the severity of the effects of polio huge expenditures are necessary to do everything possible to rehabilitate these victims. We un-

Bellaire Offers City $80,000

Voters at the spring election in April will decide whether they want to sell the hydro plant at Bellaire.

The city council at a special meeting Thursday night voted to ask the residents to decide the issue.

The village of Bellaire made a tentative offer of $80,000 for the hydro plant which its officials believe is large enough to power their community.

The hydro plant has been used only by the city of Charlevoix to augment the electric current generated at the city's power plant here. The council reported that the hydro plant wanted by Bellaire has never been large enough to carry Charlevoix at its minimum load.

THE COUNCIL disclosed that a few years ago the hydro plant was needed to help the city at various times in the generation of power. It has been no secret among the aldermen that they believe the unit should be sold.

The council met with Bellaire officials who made the offer, some 24 hours after it met with J. B. Sims, of Grand Haven, electrical engineer who made an appraisal last year of the Bellaire hydro plant for Charlevoix.

He was of the opinion that the unit should be sold at a fair price as the city has less need of the hydro plant now than at any-time in recent years.

It was understood that a proviso of the sale is that the money obtained from Bellaire, if the vote is favorable for the sale, would be used to improve the present plant.

County Marriages Gain on Births During Past Year

The little lad with the bow and arrow, known as Cupid, had a busy time in Charlevoix county in 1951, but Mr. Stork was taking it easy, according to statistics released this week by County Clerk, Fenton R. Bulow.

According to the figures there were 13 more marriages in 1951 than the preceding year. In 1951 there were 118 marriages as compared to 105 in 1950.

The births in 1951 dropped to 184 from 224 in 1950.

Fewer divorces were started in 1951 than the year before but a larger percentage granted. 44 divorces were started in 1950, while the figure dropped to 31 last year. Of the number started in '50 only 18 were granted while 26 of the 31 started the following year were completed.

It's Time to Close Ranks

Persons who have disagreed with the hospital board in recent weeks over the decision to locate the new hospital at the former trailer park site, should not forget that an annual meeting is coming up in the near future.

At that time two persons will be elected to the hospital board. This is an opportunity for the dissenters to attend the meeting and tell the present board of their true feelings.

While we maintain that the hospital board should have kept the word of the campaign managers in saying that every contributor was going to be given a chance to vote on the site, we have to admit that the hospital board had many valid reasons why the promise could not be kept.

We have always maintained that it mattered little to us personally where the hospital was located. However, on the other hand the professional fund raisers instructed all campaign workers that a vote would be given all contributors. This was not done and the hospital board apologized to the general public in last week's Courier.

Now that the decision has been made to build the hospital at the trailer park site, it behooves all of us to close ranks and do our utmost to speed the construction project. It is an open secret that if the community does not have bids ready for letting by June 1, chances for a new hospital may go glimmering.

The struggle to raise funds has been long and difficult. It has required much sweat and toil.

No worthy project comes easy. And this hospital project is no exception. There has been a lot of feeling about the pros and cons of the hospital site.

But let's not lose sight of the fact that there is no city of Charlevoix's size in Michigan attempting to build a $600,000 hospital. Of this every person who has taken part in the project . . . everyone who has pledged or contributed money and the others who have worked so hard . . . can take pride in a splendid accomplishment.

But if persons still feel that they have a protest coming on the site, be sure to attend the annual hospital meeting. Last year less than 10 people attended. You have a right to protest but exercise your right at a public meeting. It is your privilege.

But you lose that privilege of protest when you think so little of an open meeting not to attend. Attending public meetings on civic affairs is your duty. It's up to you to use that privilege.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Editor's Note— This column is open to our readers that they may express their personal views about topics of public interest. Opinions expressed in any letters are not necessarily the opinion of the Charlevoix Courier.

In answer to the letter in last weeks Courier by my good friend L. F. McGhan I wish to state why I support the stand of the Farmer's Union on reapportioning representation in the congress and the state legislature.

First place is the fact that representation in the congress is fixed by the Federal Constitution to be according to population and population is constantly changing. If there had never been reapportionment the members of the House of Representatives would still be all coming from the original thirteen states on the Atlantic seaboard. Would anyone want that. The only way that any of us can expect to be treated fair is to be fair himself and I believe we are under moral obligation to reapportion whenever changes in the population indicate.

The second reason I think it wise to reapportion representation in the congress is because it will give a larger representation to the metropolitan Detroit area and a study of the congressional record will reveal that the only members of Michigan's delegation to congress who can be depended on to support progressive farm legislation are those elected from the Detroit area by the influence of organized labor. I will site an instance, the Rural Electric Administration.

In 1946 the political action committee of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (PAC-C10) charged that a large number of congressmen from the rural areas of Michigan were reactionary and voted against everything that organized labor stood for and called upon union members to defeat those men in the coming primary's and election.

The Michigan Farm Bureau immediately took up the challenge and called on its members to defend these congressmen because they were the farmer's friends and saying that their enemies, the labor bosses, were trying to send them down the river. The master of Michigan State Grange followed suit and Stanley Powell of Ionia, a high official of both Farm Bureau and Grange who writes a monthly column for Michigan Farmer, called on both Farm Bureau and Grange members to get out and vote to re-elect those congressmen. They were all re-elected. The following year at the annual meeting of the Top of Michigan Rural Electric Company, the manager reported that the R.E.A. appropriation for that year had been cut by 25 million dollars. The crippling amendment had past by a majority of six and 12 Michigan congressmen had voted for it and those 12 included everyone of those endorsed by the Farm Bureau and Grange. Two thirds of the congressmen opposing the cut were from Detroit. This is not surprising in view of the fact that the leaders of both the Michigan State Farm Bureau and the Michigan State Grange did their utmost to prevent the organization of farm owned electric cooperatives financed by R.E.A.

In the last session of congress history was repeated on a larger scale, the R.E.A. appropriation was cut not once but six times.

The following congressmen voted for those cuts, Potter of this district, Blackney, Crawford, Ford, Hoffman, Meader, Shafer, Thompson, Wolcott, Dondero and Bennett five times.

Against the cuts were Rabaut, O'Brien, Lesinski, Machrowicz and Dingell. I think it would be wise for every voter to look up the party affiliation of each of these men, where they are from and bear in mind that the R.E.A. was the only hope that Charlevoix farmers ever had of having high line electric service.

Sincerely Yours,
Archie M. Murphy

To the Editor:

We overheard John Doe and Richard Doe, Charlevoix Hospital Fund donors, talking this week:

"Say, John, what was your thoughtful reaction about the apology the Hospital Board put in the paper Thursday?"

"Well, Dick, you know I heard a fellow say once that if a dog bit you once that it was the dog's fault, but if he bit you twice that was your fault. Well, now, you know the Board are in no way vicious or anything like that. We all know that each and every one of them has given us free a whale of a lot of their husy time that they take from their own work and we hope that it is a public duty that they will be rewarded for somewhere. But we were led to believe that we would be given a chance to vote on the site where we considered our money would be best spent. Now we haven't gotten it yet and we know the Board had since the first of November to give us a chance to vote and now we hear about it the middle of January. Doesn't seem as if the Board was in such a hurry or that time was so important on that one. It is regrettable that the Board erred as they state but with their own problems on their minds maybe they shouldn't be critized too much if they slipped there. But that doesn't give us our vote.

Dick, I have spouted off a lot, now let's hear what you say."

"John, you are driving my nail, I agree with you. It makes me feel kind of crowded to think that the Board says in effect that there is no suitable place in the south part of Charlevoix but the Trailer Park that can be used as a site for the hospital. Suppose the Trailer Park wasn't there, then I guess we wouldn't have any spot to put one, or so the architects say. God bless their artistic souls. But who in tarnation is paying for the hospital, the architects or the donors? Don't get me wrong on architects tho, because it takes brains, and skill, and imagination to design a building. But I guess I still couldn't work at it unless you gave me a job. Dick, what is your slant on these sites the article spoke of?"

"Well, some talk was made about the winds and weather out at the Trailer Park against that on the inside of town. You hear about horse sense. Funny, but you know my father-in-law once had a horse named Dewey and one blowey day the kids wanted to go for a buggy ride. Old Dewey was grazing peaceable enough in the pasture out State Street way altho it was fairly windy. But anyway he was hitched up and out we drove toward Two-Mile Point. My father-in-law always drove Dewey with a real loose bit and you know when we came around that patch of woods just before you get to the Trailer Park and Old Dewey hit that breeze head on, he spit that bit right out of his mouth, circled around, and cut right back home before we could stop him.

There is no sewer or water or heavy enough electric line out there and it is going to take a good thousand feet of water line and a thousand feet or more of sewer, maybe a pump because it is questionable if the sewer on Newman Street is deep enough and in any event wouldn't be deep enough to allow a basement for the building. And certainly a hospital shouldn't be on what practically is a dead end street. So if Upright was continued thru and curved into the site there would be around a quarter mile of new road to build, and I guess that would come pretty high. What do you think of the old site, John."

"Well, it would seem the most logical if there was room enough and the utilities are there as the Board says. The present buildings are pretty much in the middle of the property and the Hospital doesn't own the lots back of the nurses home or to the west either. It would seem pretty complicated if you have to tear down part of the old buildings for the new and keep operating. Anyway the Board says the Federal funds are out as far as this site is concerned. Anyway, Dick, if it was necessary to buy a site do you think it out of line to pay a small per cent of the cost of a building for a site."

"No, not if you have a spot where the utilities and roads are already in; it would be a lot less than the cost of utilities and roads to the Trailer Park. When you talk $600,000 you are cooking with a lot of dollar bills. A man would be willing to pay $150 to build a $15,000 house on and that is only one percent. And talking of expansion, by cripes, you know by the time a one-floor, no basement building is put on the site with some grounds for a setting and parking space, and you take out the space occupied by the scenic drive next to the lake and the road on the south side, there isn't too much room left. I suppose a nurses home will have to be built too, and where will you put that; the west side of the land is kind of wet. Whats your idea of the open ground east of the city garage?"

"Water, roads, electricity, and sewer to the corner are there and it is a pretty nice spot with the Belvedere woods in the hack and all. The menace of the baseball field lights was mentioned as a bad hazard, but seems to me you can get shades that cut out the light, and I bet I could talk even a busy nurse into pulling the shades down for me. And as far as little cheering goes, I'd rather listen to that than listen to the blat of the fog horn coming directly across the bay out at the Trailer Park, especially if I was sick and wasn't used to it. I got so I could count 37 every time between blats when the siren first began. About the highway, this could be routed down to U.S. 31 on the south side of the ball field instead and you have a site a block off two highways, about an ideal distance I'd say. I think it important for a hospital to be readily accessable, and could be strangers and people from out-county could get lost trying to find the Trailer Park, a mile from the nearest highway. John, we've thrown a lot of heavy stuff here. Have we got anywhere?"

"Well, I would like to see what the donors have to say. Time is of the essence as they say, hut by golly, the board had since the first of November to let us hallot and 15 or 30 days isn't going to kill the deal if they get husy. I say the architects earn their money, hut if necessary, for the 5th they do get that they could pour on the coal and get plans out in time. I understand that midnight June 30 is the deadline to qualify for our Uncle Sam's money."

"John, the Board says the only place we can have a hospital is the Trailer Park but I feel the donors should tell the board whether they want to spend their money on that kind of a site. Let each donor have a vote and by that I mean a vote as an individual and not so many dollars so many votes as I have heard mentioned; a man with a $100 donation, say, would have ten votes and a man with a $1000 donation would have one hundred votes. Hec, it would hurt me more to give $100 than it would some to give $5000. I thought the day was past anyway when a fellow could buy votes on public issue.

Say, let's go over and see if the Courier will print this lingo of ours, maybe it will help to clarify the issue and I think that the people pulling together is mighty important.

Stevenson-Jolliffe Exchange Vows At Candlelight Service Here

Audrey Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stevenson of Detroit, became the bride of James Dale Jolliffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jolliffe sr. in a candlelight service solemnized at the Community Church of God Saturday evening.

The Rev. W. D. Wood performed the double ring service before an altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and carnations and ferns and tapers in candlehra.

Laura Jean Stevenson of Detroit, niece of the bride, sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied at the organ by Joyce Fiedler who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a gown of white satin trimmed with irredescent sequins and fashioned with a sweetheart neckline of bridal illusion, long tapered sleeves and a full skirt which extended into a cathedral-length train. Her veil of bridal illusion outlined with imported lace was held by a halo headdress of lace and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Winston Stevenson of Detroit, sister-in-law of the bride, as matron of honor selected a champagne-colored gown of net and satin brocade. She wore a matching net headdress trimmed with lilies of the valley and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Shirley Stevenson also of Detroit and sister of the bride as bridesmaid wore a gown of ice blue satin and net and a matching headdress of net and lillies of the valley. Her bouquet was of pink and white carnations.

Ruth Anne Stevenson of Detroit, was her sister's flower girl. She wore a baby blue floor-length gown and carried a basket of pink and white rose petals.

William Jolliffe, jr. was best man and Fred Jolliffe was groomsman. Both are brothers of the bridegroom.

Robert Jolliffe, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Norman Empey were ushers.

Mrs. Stevenson, selected a royal blue gown and pink accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Jolliffe, mother of the bridegroom, chose a purple gown and white accessories. Both had a corsage of white roses.

Immediately following the wedding a reception for 100 guests was held at Fellowship Hall. The refreshment table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with silver bells and a miniature bride and groom.

The couple left on a wedding trip through the east and after Feb. 1 will be at home at 7400 Fairview ave., Grand Rapids. For traveling the bride wore a navy suit and navy accessories.

Among those from away who were here for the wedding were Mrs. William Reed and daughter, Martha, Laura Jean Stevenson and guest and Mr. and Mrs. Winston Stevenson of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. John Wynsma, Betty and Barbara Jolliffe, Mary Jane Matson and Betty Warner of Grand Rapids.

Preceding the wedding Mr. and Mrs. William Jolliffe, sr. were hosts at a rehearsal dinner at their home Saturday afternoon.

Guests were the bridal couple, members of the wedding party, out of town guests and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Lord.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Stanley Lord, assisted by Mrs. Milton Richardson and Mrs. Harold Totten, entertained at a miscellanous shower honoring the bride-elect, Miss Stevenson.

The thirty guests present enjoyed games, refreshments and a social hour. The honoree was presented with many lovely gifts.

Crust of Ice On Small Lakes Appears Safe

LANSING—Safe crust of ice now covers practically all inland fishing waters in the state, the conservation department reports.

Ice should be checked as a matter of routine caution, however, particularly on lakes with springfed streams and during thaw periods at any location.

The department reminds winter fishermen that ice shanties must be plainly identified on the outside with owners name and address in two-inch or more insoluble letters.

New fishing licenses are required commencing January 1.

Hook and line fishing currently is legal, and spears also will be permitted on inland waters beginning January 1. Not more than two lines or two single rods and lines, utilizing any combination of not more thon four hooks, are allowed.

Spearing for northern pike, carp, suckers and other species can be tried in January and February in specially designated trout waters. Jack or artificial light is illegal.

Specifically closed in any type of spearing are Brevort lake, Mackinac county; Otsego lake, Otsego county; and Houghton lake, Roscommon county.

Nickel In Sour Oil Wells

Steels with about 5 to 9 per cent nickel have given excellent performance in sour oil wells in the form of tubing and as sucker rods

Deer Herd Control Up for Consideration

Deer herd management and the Horton Trespass law . . . major issues which the state conservation commission deferred action on this month . . . will be reconsidered at its January 0-7 meeting here, along with the 1952 beaver and otter seasons.

Indications are that one or more legislators will submit bills at the January legislative session designed to give the commission needed authority to more properly manage the deer herd.

What part conservation officers should take . . . along with the other law enforcement officers . . in enforcing the Horton-Trespass law will get further attention.

Although the upper peninsula beaver harvest was a record 12,844 animals last spring, game men believe the opening of both peninsulas again is possible.

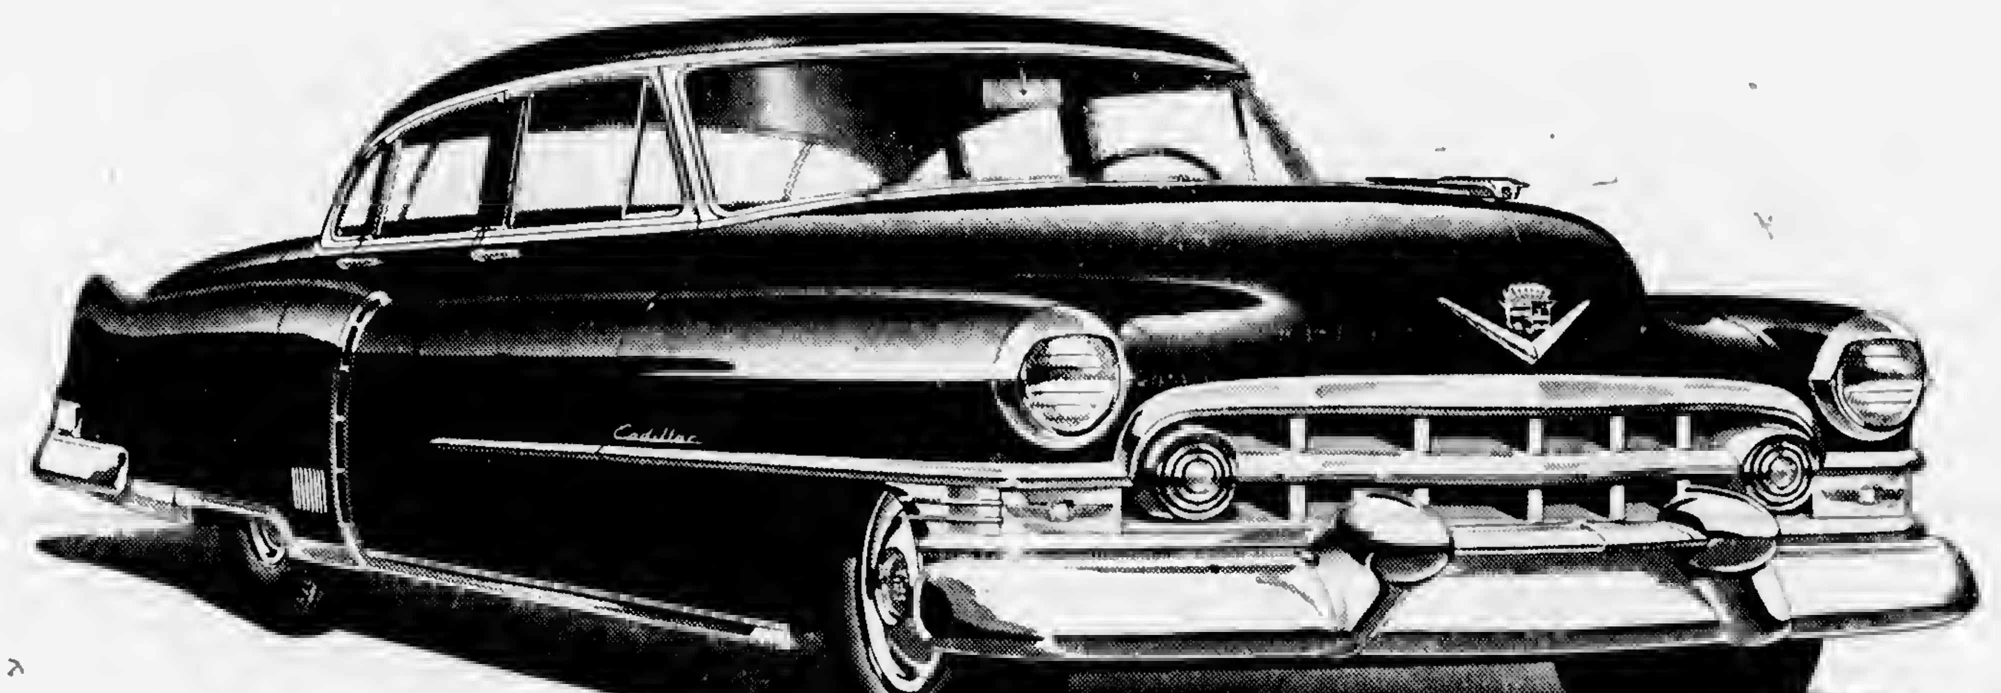
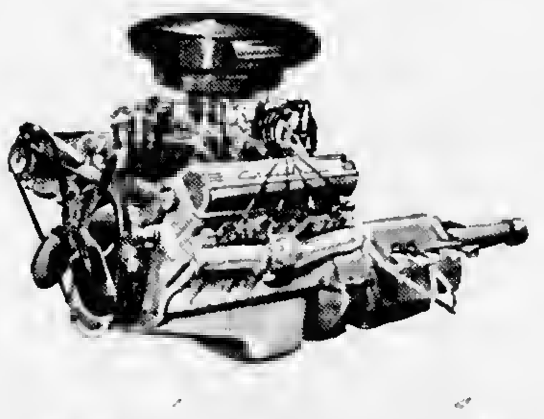
Announcing the Golden Anniversary—
Cadillac



...WITH THE FINEST PERFORMANCE OF ALL TIME !

Featuring 3 of Cadillac's Greatest Engineering Achievements!



THE NEW 190 H. P. CADILLAC ENGINE

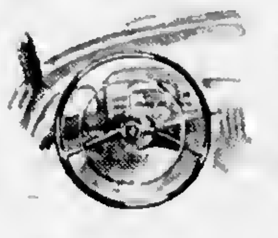
Here is the most powerful, the most durable, and the most efficient automotive engine ever offered in a Cadillac car. Its power increase alone is almost 20%—and its new four-throated carburetor, larger exhaust valves, wider exhaust ports and new dual exhaust system make this engine one of the most dynamic performers of all time.

Fifty years ago, the first Cadillac car made its bow to the public. Today, as a fitting climax to those fifty years of progress, we are presenting in our showrooms the Golden Anniversary Cadillac—by far the finest car ever to bear this distinguished name. . . . It is easily the most beautiful of all Cadillacs. Numerous changes have sharpened and smartened the exterior design—while the wholly-new interiors are a revelation in comfort and luxury. . . . Performance is the finest of all time. The great Cadillac engine has a power increase of almost twenty per cent—and is even smoother and quieter in its operation. . . . There's a new Hydra-Matic Drive that gives the proper power application for every need. At a flick of the finger, you can have extra power and acceleration for city traffic and mountain driving—or wonderfully smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. . . . And there's a new "power steering" mechanism, optional at extra cost, which reduces normal steering effort by as much as seventy-five per cent! . . . If ever it could be said of a car's performance that it is "out of this world," it can be said of the performance of the new Cadillac. The Golden Anniversary Cadillac is available in three series —the "Sixty-Two," the "Sixty Special" and the "Seventy-Five." . . . These new creations are now on display in our showrooms—and we invite you to see and inspect them at your earliest convenience.

THE NEW HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

By introducing an entirely new performance range, Cadillac's Hydra-Matic provides the proper power for every need . . . extra acceleration and responsiveness for city and mountain driving; smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. Optional at extra cost on Series 75. Standard equipment on all other models.

THE NEW CADILLAC POWER STEERING



This "power steering" mechanism eliminates as much as seventy-five per cent of all normal steering effort. It provides incredible handling ease, and yet does not interfere in any way with the driver's "road feel" or directional control. Available as an option at extra cost.

Many Activities Are Staged To Raise Funds in Polio Drive

The March of Dimes committee is continuing their plans for fund raising projects during the month of January.

Tuesday night a successful buffet supper and entertainment was held at the Airport Bar in charge of a committee headed by Edward Heise, jr. and James Willis, jr.

Friday afternoon will find Mrs. L. E. Grete opening her home for a March of Dimes tea and bake sale. A committee composed of Mrs. Grate, Mrs. Alfred Gill, jr., Mrs. Thomas Carey and Mrs. Don Walsh are in charge of the event.

Mrs. Grate has invited Mrs. F. F. McMillan and Mrs. Clarence Heise to preside at the tea table and Mrs. W. D. Wood and Mrs. Charles Pontius to take charge of the bake sale.

CAROL DUERR, Sue Gill, Angela Schroeder and Suzanne Grate will be at the contribution tables.

Anyone wishing to bring baked goods for sale at the tea are asked to do so. If possible donors are asked to call Mrs. Carey and tell her of their intentions.

The Girl Scout troop 5 are planning to do their bit for the March of Dimes by sponsoring a games party at the high school cafeteria at 8 p.m. next Tuesday evening. The 15 Scouts under the guidance of their leaders will serve refreshments and give prizes following the card games. Leaders of the group are Mrs. William Lusk, Mrs. Jack Mailhot and Mrs. Fred Senger.

A 'blanket pitch' will be held during the half-time at the Charlevoix-Gaylord game here Friday. The last one netted $100.81.

The Mothers March of Dimes Jan 31 will conclude the month-long drive for funds. Mothers in every block throughout the city will visit every home in the block and ask for a contribution on or before that date. Everyone is asked to have his contribution ready as there will be no call-backs for donations.

THE CRYING need for funds in this county is well-known. In the past three years $6,940 have been contributed in the county. Patients stricken with polio during that period, however, have had every care even though it has been necessary to ask for additional grants totaling $26,840. from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. No one stricken with polio has ever gone without proper care because of lack of funds. Now is your opportunity to give . . . someone close to you might have polio sometime and surely you would want him to have the best possible care.

Approximately 25 scouters from Petoskey, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City and Gaylord are attending.

Masons Cut Lead

Urge Support of Polio Drive

derstand that two patients have already been sent to Warm Springs and that one will be going in the near future to receive further treatment. Few individuals could afford this tremendous expense, and we hope that your untiring efforts will continue in this worthy cause.

With the amount of research in polio being conducted, which is made possible by funds provided by the National Foundation, the medical profession hopes that in the near future enough knowledge will be acquired to enable them to offer protection to the general public, and we strongly urge that the public respond graciously and generously to your appeal for funds to continue this very worthwhile work.

It must be remembered that when a patient is stricken with polio, the polio foundation immediately takes over and foots all bills for hospitalization and treatment as long as it might be necessary.

This care and treatment is expensive. The severity of the cases in recent years have accounted for the increase in cost of treatment.

Funds are also needed for research for this is the only way the cause of the disease can be hunted down and conquered.

So before you make your contribution think about it twice and then give twice as much. One never knows when someone close to him might need the help the National Foundation for Infantile Paraylsis offers all victims of polio.

Band to Attend Harbor Meet

tion of the festival.

Charlevoix is sending 16 different solo and ensembles including four solos and 12 ensembles ranging in size from duets, with two participants to the brass sextets with six instrumentalists taking part. Even though Charlevoix's entry is the largest of any school, those attending are not all that would have liked to attend if it had been possible to supervise any more groups. Next year promises even larger participation.

This festival is valuable in the training of high school musicians in that it enables small groups to work together, perfecting technique, tone, intonation and rhythm. It is the belief of C. A. Odmark, band director, that truly fine instrumental organizations can be perfected through the wide use of solos and ensembles within the group.

Those from the local band who will appear in solo performances are Barbara Smith, flute; Robert Richards, drums; James Bearss, clarinet and Becky Badger, oboe.

Members taking part in one or more of the ensembles include: flutes, Barbara Bice, Barbara Smith, Connie Oleksy and Connie Paul; oboe, Becky Badger, bassoon, Faye Meggison; clarinet, Carolyn Smith, Dorothy Allers, Leona Scott, Clara Miles, Joyce Fiedler, Debby Bergeon and Janet Krulik.

Attend Meeting

Frank Bird, president of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club, and Capt. H. E. Paddock were in southern Michigan over the weekend to attend the mid-winter meeting of the Michigan Kiwanis at Jackson. They returned Monday.

70 Enrolled in Adult Education

Enrollment in the Adult Education courses being offered at the Charlevoix high school jumped to more than 70 last week as registrants signed for various classes and one new class was added to those offered earlier.

The largest increase was in the men's recreation class given under the direction of Coach Terrill on Thursday night.

Mr. Terrill's square dancing class will be held at 9 p.m. Wednesday night. Typing classes are being given Tuesday night by W. L. Billings.

Further information may be obtained by calling the school office, 51-J.

he was stationed at Charleston, N. C., with the Sixth Lighthouse district.

In 1920 he transferred to the 12th district in the Great Lakes area and was stationed at Milwaukee, Wis., where among other duties he served as engineer aboard the Relief lightship which replaced ships at various reefs and shoals when it was necessary for them to go to port for repairs..

It was while on leave from his ship which was at one of the shoals northeast of Beaver Island that he first visited America's Emerald Isle. Here he met an Irish colleen, Mary Gallagher, whom he later married.

In 1935 he was assigned to the North Manitou Shoals lighthouse.

The Coast Guard, operating under the Treasury Department, assumed command of the Lighthouse Service from the Commerce Department in 1939 and eventually all lighthouse personnel was inducted into the Coast Guard. On July 3, 1941, McDonald joined his third government service.

HE ASSUMED the command of the South Manitou lifeboat station in 1944 and 18 months later was transferred to the Charlevoix lifeboat station where he has served as yeoman in the area office here.

"Mac", as he is familiarly called by most people who do not know his name is John Charles, says his retirement will give him an opportunity to do nothing but rest — he feels after 40 years he's earned that right. But those who know him best are betting he'll soon be back in the harness, perhaps as a marine engineer, a license he has held since 1918.

His wife and their son, Charles, reside at 314 Prospect ave. here.

X-Ray Findings

U.S. public health service experiences with mass x-rays shows that about 1.5 per cent of the 20,500,000 examined annually—or 307,500 persons—would be found in each of the first five years to have reinfection-type tuberculosis requiring further diagnosis

Predicts County To Have 25 Per Cent More People by '75

Charlevoix county farmers and their fellow food - producers throughout the nation have a big job ahead of them. In less than 25 years, this country probably will have 25 percent more people than now, and those people will want at least 25 percent more food.

Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, cited these figures and estimates made by the United States Department of Agriculture. Assuming that by 1975 the U. S. will have a population of 190 million, he pointed out that for every four quarts of milk farmers are producing now, another quart will be needed.

So far as milk is concerned, Rebman said that the needs a quarter-century from now will be equal to what is being produced now, plus as much more as the total present production of New York, Michigan and Wisconsin.

The prospective requirements indicate that people of the United States will need as many eggs as are produced in a year now, plus 15 billion more per year. It also means that all our present output of pork plus as much more as the entire pig crops of Iowa and Nebraska last year will be needed.

In order to fill that fifth plate at American tables in 1975, it would take about another 100 million acres of land, or about as much more land as the combined farming land of Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio.

The "new" land is about used up. So, county agent Rebman points out that it is high time we rebuild strength in the land we have, and conserve our water resources to provide more food for more people.

School Officials Attend Meet at MSC

Three members of the Charlevoix board of education, School Supt. Roy G. Bennett and County School Supt. Catherina Bergeon attended a school administrators conference in East Lansing Monday.

Attending were Fred Willis, Mrs. Kit Carson, Vernon Mathews, Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Bergeon.

Speakers included Dr. M. N. Reeder of the University of Illinois and Prof. Paul D. Bagwell of Michigan State college.

Believe It Or Not

How much pressure is exerted at the edge of a razor blade when it cuts off a whisker? The actual pressure is quite variable, depending upon the size and condition of the hair. However, the actual area of contact between the hair and blade edge is very small, so that the pressure per square inch is of the order of five tons

Antrims Top Class D Cagers to Meet

Ellsworth and Bellaire eagers are scheduled to meet in the East Jordan gym Thursday, Jan. 31 in a clash which may determine the Antrim county Class D championship. A victory for Ellsworth will give them 12 wins and no losses for the season and place them as the undisputed champions.

Victory for Bellaire with eight wins and two losses could make them contenders for high honors. The first time the two teams met this season Ellsworth won by a 50 to 40 score.

MacArthur Will Visit Michigan

LANSING — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur has accepted an invitation to address the Michigan legislature as a joint session in the House of Representatives chamber, State Capitol, on Thursday, May 15, it was announced Dec. 20 by Rep. William Broomfield of Royal Oak, chairman of a legislative committee on arrangements.

The address is planned for 8 p. m. with radio and television broadcasts.

General MacArthur, accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and members of his staff, will arrive by chartered four-motored airplane shortly before noon at the Capital City airport.

With an honor escort provided by Michigan State Police, the general will proceed to the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, East Lansing. A reception and "Welcome to Michigan Luncheon" will be held in the Center ballroom under joint auspices of the legislative committee and the Michigan Press Association, Inc., on behalf of its all daily and 300 weekly newspaper members.

"The general and his staff will be guests of the people of Michigan from the time they depart from New York City until they return," said Representative Broomfield as spokesman for the legislative committee. "All arrangements are being made without cost to taxpayers, as the committee has no appropriation. The newspapers through their state association have offered to help defray expenses by turning over all proceeds from the welcoming luncheon.

Winter Fish Kill Endangered by Snow

LANSING—"Winter Kill" of fish will be a more serious threat this year if the early winter season heavy snows continue, and blanket lake covers for any length of time, the conservation department points out.

Department found it necessary to open only a few lakes to emergency harvesting last year

ONE SPECK of RUST can stall your car

Even one speck of rust or corrosion can stall your motor by clogging one of the tiny carburetor jets.

Rust and corrosion form throughout your fuel system when you use ordinary gasoline. That's because your gasoline—and everybody else's — contains minute quantities of water, formed by moisture condensation.

Protect your car against rust and corrosion. Use new Anti-Rust Sinclair Gasolines regularly. They contain the miracle Anti-Rust Chemical, RD-119.

Coyote Chase Gives Hunters Lively Time

Beaver Island—Early Sunday started out so beautiful. Karl Keubler summoned John Burkeholder and Chuck Kleinhenz for a coyote hunt. The three men drove as far as they could on the road and then proceeded by foot down the trail road to Little Sand Bay with Karl's faithful dog, Trigger.

They were almost to the beach, when Karl spied some fresh tracks and put his dog on the tracks. The men didn't have enough time to separate any distance from one another when the dog started howling, Chuck happened to be in the best positian. Sharpshooting Chuck ended the morning hunt with one shot, and a fine dead coyote to his credit.

After the hunters had eaten their Sunday dinner and the news of the hunt had spread around town, the enthusiasm for another hunt was formulated and a few more hunters joined. The gang started for the West Side of the Island, in the vicinity of Font lake.

Karl's dog, the most enthusiastic of the gang, found a fresh trail and was off like a greyhound.

With his deep bass voice, he let the hunters know he had another coyote on the run. Karl had the first chance and put two shots in him and put him down but not for long.

By this tune he was pretty well surrounded by the gang and the hunters were anxious to outdo one another.

Bruce McDonough opened up with four shots. The coyote then wheeled and started up a fairly steep hill. He suddenly changed his mind and started back again.

His next movement was to head for the beach. He was limping badly. Young Pat LaFreniere was the closest to him so he was given the chance to finish him off. Pat was plenty nervous but did himself proud and after the second shot, he ended the afternoon hunt.

A little note of praise is due Karl's dog, Trigger, after getting two coyotes in one day. He already has five coyotes to his credit and he is not yet four years old.

There has been quite a few fox shot from his trailing also. The boys used to kid Karl about his Pink Ribbon dog, but now they are calling him his blue ribbon Trigger.

State Forest Fires Hit New Low in '51

LANSING—The conservation department discloses forest fires hit a new low in 1951, shattering the 1950 record prevention mark.

Continuation of the intensified prevention campaign paid off again with department forest firemen holding 671 fires to 4,317 acres damage as compared to 873 fires which burned over 5,600 acres in 1950. Prior to 1950, the best previous showing was in 1941 when 1,604 fires blackened 10,643 acres.

M. M. Bergman, head of the department's forest fire staff, says state forest firefighters received above average co-operation of the press, radio, television, theaters and magazines in bringing the fire warning to public attention during the year. For the second year in a row, over 300 dailies and weeklies printed special fire prevention reminders, with the Bay City Times given credit for the top individual newspaper job.

Ed Got Red In His Own "Hot Water"

Big Ed started a "Pay-Your-Bill" campaign last week and ended up with a slightly red face. Ed's been our Water Commissioner for ten years, and for ten years now he's been getting riled up over slow payments of bills.

So, he finally decided to do something drastic about it. Last week he sent notices that if the slackers didn't pay up by Friday, he'd shut off their water.

Naturally, some still didn't square accounts. Ed ordered their water turned off, and 14 homes went without all week end—the Commissioner's among them. Seems Ed forgot to pay his bill.

From where I sit, Ed's mistake is one we all make at times. We are too quick to accuse others while forgetting our own faults. Lots of us do it, for instance, over a difference in taste for a soft drink or a friendly glass of beer. Let's respect each other's preferences and we'll all stay out of "hot water."

Winter Is Giving Deer Herd A "Break"

Michigan deer have been getting a "break" so far this winter. The lower peninsula herd is ranging widely in Gaylord and Traverse City districts and to some extent in others. Maximum snow depth is one foot.

In the upper peninsula region the depth also is less than usual, running from nearly a foot to 1.3 feet in the eastern Lake Superior region Whitetails in Crystal Falls and Escanaba central region districts range freely. Deer in the Baraga and Newberry districts are in timber cuttings and yards.

Ice skating has been exceptionally good this week. Friday afternoon the high school students and the Dominican nuns had an ice skating party at Round Lake.

The weather this week has been very changeable. The earlier part of the week we had rain and sleet. Saturday it snowed and it looks as though it will stay for awhile.

Due to the lack of snow the coyote hunters have been having a rest. With the fresh snow they are again making plans for more hunts. Since deer season they have had about three weeks of good hunting. In those three weeks they have killed five coyotes and one fox.

Karl Keubler made it to the Beaver Head Light this week in his pickup truck. That is very unusual for this time of the year as the roads usually are drifted with snow.

The coyote hunters have announced that the bounty on the next kill of either coyote or fox will be given to the March of Dimes.

Soil is Key to Prosperity In World Today, Speaker Says

Soil conservation is the most important job facing the world today.

So declared Melville Cohee, mid-west soils expert, who addressed the annual soils district meeting Thursday night at East Jordan.

He said that despite the responsibility of the farm leaders and soils experts, the job of growing more food rests upon the farmers in Charlevoix county and other areas in the United States.

In the United States there are 50 to the square mile, including the people in the large cities, he said. Compare this with in Manchuria, China and Japan where 500 million of the people are trying to scratch an existence from 1,750,000 square miles—286 to the square mile.

IN THIS country we average 3,200 calories daily. In Japan they average less than 2,000 and before the war it was no more than 1400. "Our job is to protect our standard of living and we can do it by protecting the soils that we have left.

"In this country wa have three acres of crop land for every man, woman and child. This is all we have. It includes some land that is still in trees or that can be drained or irrigated but is suitablo for cultivation if needed.

Population increase alone in 10 years will shrink this three acres by 14 percent in the next decade, allowing nothing for the loss and decline of the land itself. France and Latin America have 1½ acres of cropland per person. Russia has nearly two acres per person and Germany and Italy have three-quarters of an acre. Europe as a whole has an acre per person."

But, Cohee said that 25 percent of the cropland in this country is being damaged by erosion at a rapid rate. This represents an area of 110 million acres of cropland. "The productive capacity of this highly vulnerable land will ba permanently damaged and some of ruined for further cultivation unless it is placed under sound conservation farming system within tho next 10 to 15 years.

Turning to the diet of the other nations, Cohee said: "Not only do they eat less but more of their diet comes from cereals. Fewer livestock products are eaten in other countries. In this country, the people obtain one-third of their food supply from cereals, in Europe it's about one-half and in Asia it's about three-fourths.

THE FARMERS have the answers to soil conservation and everyone must utilize the best practice if we are to exhaust our supply of cropland. There is no short-cut to soil conservation. It takes several years to complete a plan. What applies to one farm does not apply to another.

"The big problem is to bring together the talents of the scientists and the people who own and control the land, the farmers of the nation. We are convinced that the only democratic way to get the conservatios job done is to provide the technical assistance on their own land, through trained soil trained conservationists.

"The most effectiva way to use this leadersip is through localy organized and controlled soil districts such as tha Charlevoix district. Although thera is alreday a shortage of technical help, only a demand on the part of the farmers will bring tho needed help.

"The technician's job is with the solution of physical problems on the land. But there are certain things which the people themselves must decide. These decisions must be made by the farmers if we are to do the job and still retain the individual freedom which America holds so dear.

"That is why the soil districts is the best way for conservation. It provides the combination of local management and technical know-how that fits perfectly with our democratic way of life."

Mr. Cohee commended the leaders and farmers in the soil district in Charlevoix county, adding they have done a great job in the few years of operation. He predicted that a better job of soils conservation will be done here in the years to come.

Five County Farmers Receive Awards At Soils Meet

The Charlevoix Soil Conservation District held their fourth annual meeting last Thursday evening, January 17 in the East Jordan High school Auditorium according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent and secretary of the board. More than 200 farm and city folks atended a fine program and the entertainment which was under the direction of Clayton Healey, chairman of the board of directors.

The program started off with a showing of county movies. This was followed by the annual business meeting at which time Clyde Warner of Charlevoix was elected to replace Carlton Smith as a director for a three year term. The election was under the direction of Leslie Sheridan of East Jordan.

Next Followed the presentation of the annual report of the district which described in detail the activities that have been carried on during 1951. This report was given by Norval Korthase, Harold Goebel, Carlton Smith and Bill Grimm.

The highlight of the annual meeting was the presentation of certificates to five farmers in the Charlevoix district who have done the most towards the completion of their farm plan. Carlton Smith presented certificates to the following farmers: George Klouster, Harold Thomas, Lyle Peters, William Parsons and Kenneth Van Hoesen. Carlton Smith also presented a certificate to the Boyne City Cooperative Company for the assistance they have given to help in the program of soil conservation. This assistance was in the way of an affiliate membership to the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts. The certificate was accepted by Harry Smith, vice-president of the Boyne City Cooperative Company.

Entertainment for the meeting was furnished by Bill Grimm, farm planner and K. C. Festerling, district 4-H club agent. Two very nice acts were presented. One was Jimmy the Trained Flea the other Casey at the Bat. These two men did a very good job of supplying the entertainment.

Farmers' Week at Opens at MSC On January 29

The thirty-seventh annual farmer's week will be held at Michigan State College next week, January 29 through February 1 according to an announcement by Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. The program during Farmer's Week is so arranged that all members of the family can attend and take part in this program.

Many farmers in Charlevoix county in the past have attended this Farmers' Week program at Michigan State college. Farmers should make a good resolution to attend again this year. Especially since cost of production will be high and farmers must do their utmost to obtain high crop and livestock production. Information relative to the programs that this Farmers' Week event can be obtained from the County Extension office at Boyne City.

Charlevoix county will have its own Little Farmers' Week program for the first time this year. All of the farm meetings that are to be held this winter will be held during the week of February 11 in the afternoon starting at 1:30 p. m. Monday through Friday. Announcements of different programs and the speakers will be announced later.

Mobile unit grades apples in the orchard, boosts profits

Field tests have shown that mobile orchard graders increase the net income from apple crops, especially where fruit is stored orchard run or marketed in onfaced crates. Michigan State College Agricultural Experiment Station, in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, tested a grader that weighed about 450 pounds and was powered by a 1-hp gasoline motor. With it, 6 or 7 pickers and a sorting crew of 4 picked and sorted 7,852 bushels of apples in 135½ hours. Results of using the mobile grader were: less handling and bruising, no unnecessary handling of undergrade fruit, increased picker output, less packing-house space needed and longer storage life of apples. For more information, telephone, write or visit your County Agricultural Agent.

Rural telephone service steadily improves

In 1951 Michigan Bell added 9,000 more telephones in rural areas. It made service better for 1,000 others with new equipment that put fewer parties on their line or gave them better ringing. Nearly three of every four establishments in Michigan Bell rural territory have telephones now; most are on lines with eight telephones or less. Money for extending and improving service must come from people who invest their savings in the telephone business. Naturally they expect the business to earn a fair profit, to pay them a fair return for the use of their money.

GMC PRESENTS THE FIRST 2½-TON DIESEL

At last—Diesel economy and hill-leveling performance come to thousands of truckers who have never had any choice but gasoline power in the past!

TODAY America's foremost builder of Diesel trucks smashes the size-weight barrier that up to now has denied the many economies of Diesel power to haulers of medium-weight loads.

Today GMC offers users of equipment in the 19,500 GVW-35,000 GCW range a sensational new Diesel truck-tractor.

It is powered by the first welterweight Diesel truck engine—a smaller, more compact model of the famous General Motors 2-cycle engine that has made GMC America's first-choice Diesel truck.

More Miles per Gallon

Because it is Diesel-powered, this new GMC Model D450-37 will cost you far less to run per mile, far less to maintain per year than any other 2½-tonner you've ever owned. All Diesel experience proves that.

Because it is a 2-cycle Diesel, it is a fast-starting; quick-accelerating, highly responsive truck with plenty of snap in traffic—a truck that will maintain a steady "on time" schedule even on hilly runs.

Fuel economy is automatic thanks to GMC's famous Fuel Modulator. Regardless of throttle pressure this engine never gets more fuel than it needs and makes the most of what it gets. Smooth driving is assured by "easy-turn" recirculating ball-bearing steering—even electric shifting on two-speed axle models.

Nationwide Service

Equally important to the thousands of truckers who can now enjoy the benefits of Diesel power for the first time, this new GMC D450-37 is backed by the nation's largest network of Diesel service stations.

Before you buy another truck, you owe it to yourself to investigate these new GMC welterweight Diesels if you want to cut costs! We will be glad to give you facts and figures that will open your eyes. Why not come in today!

Where's the profit
When Hens Don't Lay
And Cows Don't Produce?

You'll agree that question faces many farmers this season of every year. Many farmers, however, have discovered how to reduce and even eliminate the losses incurred when faced with this situation. You, too can profit from their experience.

If you have cows or chickens that have the capacity to produce there are just two vitally important steps you must follow to get production. We can give you valuable assistance with the first step . . . that is in the selection and supplying of the proper feed rations necessary for production. Add the proper supplement to your grains for a balanced ration and you've taken the first step.

Good care is the second step and that's your job. Keep your cows or chickens comfortable, well-fed and happy and you'll be happy with the way they work for you.

Rayders Upset Pellston to Gain Tie for Lead

Charlevoix Plays Best Game of Year; Snap Pellston Streak

Pellston will have to wait some more before its basketball team can boast a victory over the Charlevoix Rayders.

They were favored to take the Rayders, who were occupying second spot in the Northern Michigan Class C conference before they went to Pellston which had an unbeaten string this season, having beaten each team in the loop except Charlevoix, plus two wins over Rogers City, a Class B outfit.

But the Rayders, losers to only Petoskey in non-loop play and East Jordan, got the jump on Pellston, bottled up the league's scoring leader, Keith Emerson and humbled Pellston 43-35 in a thriller for Rayder fans. Emerson was held to three points, the lowest point total for him in four years.

IT WAS Charlevoix's best performance to date this season. As a result, Charlevoix and Pellston now share the league lead. The Rayders oppose Gaylord, whom it defeated earlier in the season, here Friday night. Pellston has not defeated the Rayders since 1944 on the court.

One thing is certain, a ding dong battle looms for the league's leadership over the rest of the season. Coach Terrill praised the team for their fine showing.

Bobo Bennett had his best night of the season, sinking nine field goals for 18 points and high point honors for the Rayders, although Drier, Pellston's No. 2 shot grabbed the game's honors with 22 points on seven field goals and eight free throws

The Rayders led 10-6 at the first quarter mark and 24-22 at the half, 37-29 at the third quarter mark.

The silencing of Emerson, who was held without a single goal and only three free throws was the strategy key worked by the boys coached by Del Terrill. While Drier proved troublesome, in previous games it has been Emerson who really paced his team to its victory streak.

THE DEFENSE of the Rayders was much improved over Harbor Springs and the Charlevoix shooters had recovered their eyes. Charles Krahnke who dumped in 12 points played a stellar brand of ball on defense and offense. Bill Denemy, Norm Ketchman, Bud Barber and Deano Davenport performed creditably.

Bennett started things in tha opaning stanza wilh three goals and Bill Denamy and Krahnke chipped in with a goal each as Pellston was held to two goals and two free tossas.

In the second quarter, Denemy had two goals, as did Bennett and Krahnke. Ketchman added a goal, too. But Pellston outscored the Rayders, getting 16, mostly because Drier got hot and pumped in 10 points himself.

THE RAYDERS came back strong in the third period as Bennett picked up six points on three short shots and Krahnke added two goals. Denemy scored a goal and Davenport got a free throw. Meanwhile Pellston was held to seven points.

The defenses tightened in the last quarter as Charlevoix and Pellston split 12 points. In this stanza Bennett, Krahnke and Davenport added goals. The Rayders kept the losers from rallying in the final minutes and Charlevoix walked away the winners and a tie for the loop lead.

Reserves Beat Pellston In Close Tilt

—The Rayder Reserves kept pace with the varsity team by taking the measure of Pellston second team 43-39 in another one of those hard-fought contests so characteristic of this year's schedule.

Marcus White paced the Rayder Reserves with 18 points, 12 of them in the first half. Albright continued to show improvement as did several other Rayders. Albright scored 11 points.

The winners were off to a fast first quarter, scoring 11 points against their opponents four. White had three buckets and Joe McDermott, last week's scoring ace, shipped in with two goals and a free toss.

In the second quarter, the Rayders outscored Pellston 13-10 to pile up a 24-14 lead at the half. White again had three goals, Pease had a goal and Albright a goal and a free throw.

Pellston Reserves narrowed the gap in the third stanza by getting 16 points while holding Charlevoix to 10 on Albright's five points, Towsley's four points and Tommy LaBlance's free throw.

The teams each scored nine points in the last stanza. For Charlevoix's scoring it was White, four points, Albright, four points and Towsley, one. But Charlevoix's first half scoring was enough to enable the Rayders to win again.

East Jordan Sticks at Heels Of Leaders at Halfway Mark

Charlevoix went into a first place tie with Pellston Hornets as the first half of the Northern Michigan Class C basketball schedule ended Friday. Each team has a record of five wins and one loss.

East Jordan is now in second placa with four wins and two losses. Threa teams, Boyne City Gaylord and Mancelona are in a third place tie while Harbor Springs remains alone in the cellar.

Friday night saw Charlevoix win over Pellston 43-35; East Jordan roll over Mancelona by a 43-19 score and Boyne City defeat Harbor Springs 49-38.

The Jordanites' lopsided 43-19 win over Mancelona Friday put them in undisputed possession of second place. Mancelona which has shown great strength on occasion couldn't seem to get going as the Red Devils led 12-2 at the quarter, 22-4 at the half and 32-12 at the third period. Roman Klimkiekicz had no trouble dumping in 17 points to lead the scoring for the victors while Johnny Holstad made only six for the Ironmen.

AFTER GIVING the Rayders a a close call last week the Harbor Rams were handed a decisive 49-38 trimming by Boyne City. The Ramblers took an early lead with a 15-9 score at the quarter but the Rams came back and Boyne had only a three-point lead at the half, 24-21. The score was tied as the game went into the third period. The loss of Frank Granstra early in the third period with five fouls hurt the Rams.

Jim Milbrandt is finding his stride since his return to the team after the holidays and dropped 22 points for the Ramblers. Ray Swiss was high point man for Harbor Springs.

The Charlevoix Rayders played bang-up ball on Pellston's floor to hand the Hornets their first defeat in eight starts including two games with Rogers City. The score was 43-35.

This week will see Pellston hosting Boyne City, Mancelona at Harbor Springs, Gaylord at Charlevoix and East Jordan and

Christianity Is Growing Force

Work of Missionaries in Far East is 'Outstanding'

By Mrs. George Buttrick

We have had some exacting and difficult schedules but this in Thailand is super-super. The head of the whole mission in Thailand is immensely capable, a real statesman, and he thoroughly understands the problems of the country.

You will be interested in a tour that was planned for the last morning before we left Chiangmai. We were called at 5:15 and at dawn started in a launch for a two-hour trip up river and down several klongs, past the floating fruit market, watching the river and klong folks wake up and conduct their public morning ablutions in the brown and deadly water. We felt rudely prying, especially as the houses and the boats are completely open so that the most private life becomes public.

WE ARRIVED at the hotel at nine, had breakfast, visited two temples, the palace and throne room and so on until we tottered home with five minutes to prepare for a luncheon engagement.

At 3 p.m. I had to speak at a large girls' school, at 4 p.m. we were both given a tea at the school, then came dinner and at 8 p. m. the last lecture. Quite a day! Actually the lectures and all we did in Bankok were wonderfully received.

The wife of the Minister of Industry was the interpreter. They are members of one of the leading families of all Thailand. She has just spent two years at Northwestern and is now completing the thesis for her Ph. D. Her name is Anong Nimanheemindra. She also has a school of her own and hopes someday to be minister of education She is a Christian. Her husband is still Buddhist but wants to read George's book and attend some of the lectures.

INCIDENTLY, 50 percent of the population of Bankok is Chinese and there is quite a line drawn between the Chinese and Thai. This is one reason for the number of our appointments. The Chinese and the Thai Christians do not understand each others' languages as a rule and so have separate services. This is the beginning, though, of an international church and that was where the main lectures were held. We have had almost a better hearing here.

For instance, George spoke today at the Buddhist Sala and had one or two rows of Buddhist priests in the front and a total audience of 1000.

The Chaingmai schedule has actually been just as bad as that in Bankok except that we had the first morning partly free. That was when we saw the silver-making, etc.

ACTUALLY there is a great receptiveness and while Buddhism is part of the mores of the land and an economic burden, we realize more and more each day that only the Christian church is really alive: and that, though it is small, it has great influence. As we travel, we are more and more aware of the onenes of the Christian folk the world around. In spite of the difference of language and the differences of culture, we find an immediate understanding. Here is a tremendous unifying power, will we know how to use it.

It is now 10 p.m. and we have a number of things to do before returning by chartered plane to Bangkok so had better draw this to a close for now.

ZEKE HAS JUST come in from the last evening lecture and says it was a bigger crowd than ever. It is a satisfaction when he works as hard as he does.

You should have seen us yesterday at a tea given at the boys school. We were given Thai leis in a very formal ceremony and looked like the millenium dawn. George in his white linen suit looked particularly elegant especially as he is quite bronzed from the tropical sun.

It is much cooler here in this mountain neighborhood, at least it is each morning and evening. For the first time in weeks we are sleeping under a light cotton blanket Manila so far has been the hottest we have struck.

GEORGE takes over here: Agnes (Mrs. Buttrick) failed to tell you where to find Chaingmai on the map. It is almost 400 miles due north of Bangkok. The missionaries who first came to this land must have been wonderful folk. Dr Cort who has recently died was head of the hospital here for years, and was called "The other father", so much was he loved.

But he could not have done his work but for the first missionaries. We have tried to imagine them finding their way up these rivers and klongs, not knowing one word of the language, and almost as little of the way of life.

People who do not agree with them must admit that theirs was a high type of courage. The leprosy colony, as only one instance, is the fruit of their consecration. It is a study in democracy (they have self-rule, etc.) as well as a cure for the disease. Would any other faith have found them in this strange and far-away place?

WE ARE STILL alive but very weary. Three to four meeting a day is too much but it is hard to say "No". This morning I walked a mile through rice paddies, crossed a river by a boat looking something like a gondola rudely shaped from a huge teakwood tree, tramped a further distance and there in the brush found the village church; and there were 150 people waiting on a Saturday morning to hear the preacher from the fabulous city of New York. I spoke to one man about the Korean war, and found he had not heard of it!

On the way back we stopped at another church in the brush. they had sent a messenger to the first to say the congregation would be waiting. So a man should be willing to be tired. But sometimes we are more than tired. Yet next morning we are rested enough and go back to the job. Is there any other worldwide fellowship? I know none.

The schedule tomorrow includes two sermons before taking off for Bangkok to prepare for the journey to Djakarta.

Alpena Catholic Central in a non-league game in return games.

In their first meeting Pellston handed Boyne City a 40-33 defeat but since then the Ramblers have Milbrandt back in the line-up and with seven games behind them the Ramblers have gained much-needed ..experience. This should give them a better chance against the big Pellston five and even though they might not manage a win they will give the Hornets a tough game.

Harbor Springs' only win of the season was over Mancelona in their first meeting but the Ironmen should not have too much trouble with the cellar-dwelling Rams when they meet at Harbor Springs this week.

CHARLEVOIX gave Gaylord a 46-28 trouncing in their initial meeting but Gaylord has lost several close ones since then and can be depended on to give the Rayders a run when they meet here this week.

East Jordan bowed to Alpena Catholic Central by a 15 point margin in their first meeting but since then the Jordanites have had their team strengthened by the return of regular Norm McGeorge and several reserves and are now in second place in their league. Alpena, now a Class B team, is strong but the game should be close.

Gaylord played Class B Cheboygan in a non-loop meeting Tuesday.

For many years he had a boxing club in Dearborn and he is credited with starting Chuck Davoy, the Michigan State boxing star, who has turned professional and has a record of 27 victories in 28 professional bouts. Fairbanks promisos to bring in a team of at laast 12 from Cadillac to tho Petoskay Tournament.

Guy Huston of the Alpena Boys Club reports that he is not sure how many will be in shape at show time but that Alpena will be well represented at the Petoskey Golden Gloves.

Band Parents To Sponsor Bake Sale

The meeting of the Charlevoix Band Parents Association held Tuesday evening at the high school study hall was devoted to a discussion of the problems of the high school band and the planning of band activities for the remainder of the school year.

C. A. Odmark, band director, appeared before the group and discussed uniform problems and the various festivals in which he would like to have the band participate. He also made a plea for support of the community for the Northern Michigan Band Festival, one section of which will be held here early in May. He spoke of the need of public support for the massed band concert if Charlevoix is to be assured being given the festival again in the future.

With DeWitt Peters, president, presiding at the meeting, the association voted to pay the entry fees for the solo-ensemble entries participating in the festival at Harbor Springs Saturday and to purchase uniform trousers for the members of the senior band who do not have uniforms at this time. The trousers will be worn with a white shirt and maroon tie at the formal appearances of the band.

The group will also sponsor a bake sale at the Polly Kay shop Feb. 2 and a games party March 1 to raise funds for the band. Any further plans were postponed until the March 25 meeting.

Mrs. Robert Miles, treasurer, reported the band dinner given by the parents association in November under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walker Miles was one of the most successful events ever presented and netted a profit of more than $300.

Post Office Here Chosen For Survey

The Charlevoix post office has been named as one of three "guinea pig" offices in the state where a cost ascertation survey will be made, Peter H. Timmer, acting postmaster, has revealed.

He went on to explain that the purpose of the survey is to obtain facts and figures to support legislation for the administration and operation of the postal service. For this reason the post office department designates 540 of its 41,000 as 'typical' offices where they make surveys for information on revenue and expenditures regarding all classes of mail. The Charlevoix post office is a second class office.

The work will be conducted for one complete week every three months throughout the year. The first one to be conducted at this office will be the week of Feb. 4.

In addition data is also compiled relative to all special services offered by the post office such as money order, postal saving, U. S. bonds, special delivery, special handling, insurance, registry and C. O. D. services.

Representative offices in all four classes in which no unusual condition exists in either sending or receiving mail are chosen for the work. After the initial choice is made the ratings of such offices made by post office inspectors are carefully checked so the department has assurances that

Legion Post Urges Attending Services

The Leslie T. Shapton post, American Legion, urges veterans and their families to attend church Sunday in commemoration of the immortal chaplains who gave their lives when the U. S. Transport, Dorchester, was torpedoed in the North Atlantic.

At a recent convention of the American Legion, a resolution was passed calling for the recognition of the historic and inspiring event by observing it through greater church attendance.

It will be recalled that the four chaplains of different faiths gave their life jackets to others and joined one another in prayer as they sank beneath the Atlantic.

Father and Son Banquet Feb. 7

The Rev. George E. Whitten will be the speaker at the annual Father and Son banquet scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 7.

The banquet will be held at the Methodist church dining room at 6:30 p.m., Thursday under the sponsorship of the W.S.C.S. Mrs. Frank Bird, president of the organization, is general chairman.

The program which promises to be an interesting one s being arranged by the Methodist Men's club whose president is Kenneth Sweet.

Ticket sales for the event will be limited.

Band Groups Rank High in Harbor Festival

Five hundred percent is an excellent batting average in any league and that is the record set Saturday by Charlevoix's young musicians at the solo-ensemble qualifying festival at Harbor Springs. C. A. Odmark directs the group.

The festival was sponsored by District 2 of the Michigan Band and Orchestra Association.

Charlevoix's entries came home with ten of the 20 first division ratings given at the festival; of this number they had four of the seven in the solo class and six of the 13 in the ensemble classification.

All four of the local soloists were awarded top ratings. They were Becky Badger, oboe; James Bearss, clarinet; Robert Richards, drums; Barbara Smith, flute.

The ensembles had six first division and four second division ratings. Fifteen groups were entered but one was unclassified and played for criticism only.

Musicians who played in ensembles which placed in the top bracket were Carolyn Smith, Leona Scott, Dorothy Allars, Barbara Smith, Barbara Bice, Faye Meggison, Connie Oleksy, Connie Paul, Doris Nielsen, Charles Krahnke, Nancy Ikens, Jack Paul, Tom Bleha, Jerry Paul, Jon Henry, Marilyn Bulow and Becky Badger.

Norman Dietz of Central Michigan College and Rex Hewitt, supervisor of instrumental music in the Mt. Pleasant schools were adjudicators.

Other schools which took top ratings and the number they re-

Ellsworth Guns for 'Lucky 13th' Victory in Row in Bellaire Game

Ellsworth—The Ellsworth eagers, winners of 12 in a row this season, are anxious about that unlucky 13 when they face Bellaire at East Jordan in a feature game of the north

Called the highest scoring team in Michigan regardless of class, the Class D Ellsworth team, coached by Eugene Inman, take on Bellaire whom it has beaten once already this season by a 50 to 40 margin.

Last week the Ellsworth boys tuned up for Bellaire by vanquishing Indian River 83-35. Hank Klooster, six-foot four-inch son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Klooster of Atwood, was high point man with 25 points.

JIM SMITH, Ellsworth hot shot scoring ace, who has been favoring a sprained ankle for the last two weeks, should be back at his old spot against Bellaire, a team which has won nine games while losing to Ellsworth and Kingsley.

The smallest player on Ellsworth's starting team, Smith who stands only five foot and nine inches, has averaged 27 points a game for the first dozen games this season. His average was hurt last week when he scored only six points on a bad ankle.

Ellsworth gives promise of hoing the team to watch in the state Class D tournament in March. Composed of two juniors and three sophomores, the team has been showing improved style in each succeeding game.

Klooster who towers over his mates and others from his 6-4 vantage point, has shown improved form in controlling the backboards, has been a demon in intercepting the ball from the opposition. Klooster and Smith are juniors and Stan Ruis, who teams with Smith at guard, Allen Elzinga and Bob DeYoung are all sophomores.

Ellsworth has averaged 73 points per game so far this season, a shade back of St. Louis, which crept ahead last week with a 73.2 average. St. Louis leads the entire state in cage scoring regardless of class.

Last year Ellsworth boasted a 15 and 3 record but lost out to Bellaire in the regional tourney. Ellsworth has six more games before entering the qualifying tournaments.

THE TEAM IS ranked fourth in the state Class D race by the Associated Press. It has scored 878 points in 12 games while holding the opposition to 420 points.

Ellsworth's Smith shattered all state records for high school basketball when he pumped in 70 points against St. Charles of Cheboygan early in the season. In another game he dumped in 38 points to baffle his opponents. In six other games he has scored more than 22 points.

Siren to Signal Start of Mothers March for Polio Fund

Mayor John Knight has proclaimed today as "Mothers March on Polio" day throughout Charlevoix.

At 6:30 this evening the sounding of the fire siren will be the signal for more than 50 mothers and their helpers to start ringing door bells at every house in every block to solicit funds for the March of Dimes.

Elsewhere the drive is known as the 'porchlight' drive but in Charlevoix, where porchlights are always on, this method could not be used.

Mrs. Thomas Carey, general chairman of the Mothers' Drive stated that she hoped the Mother's drive would be successful and bolster the lagging city drive which Wednesday had raised only a little more than $600. Last year the city had its most successful year and contributed $1300. The report on the canvas of the business district and the schools were still to be reported.

Girl, 11 Escapes Serious Injury In Glass Mishap

Mary Margaret Schuchard, 11-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bergmann, narrowly escaped serious injury in a freak accident late Tuesday when she walked through a 6x12 ft. safety glass window at the Michigan Bell Telephone office on State st.

She was leaving the vestibule of the office when she pushed the glass, believing there was a double door to the front of the building. The impact carried her through the glass which was falling about her as she stepped out into the snow.

She was taken at once to the doctor's office for examination. She was at home Wednesday with a slight concussion, her mother reported. She was not cut by the glass.

Earl Miller to Retire After 30 Years' Service

Earl E. Miller, rural mail carrier in the Charlevoix post office for more than 30 years, has applied for retirement from the postal service, Peter H. Timmer, acting postmaster, revealed.

Mr. Miller started with the post office department as a temporary carrier Oct. 1, 1920 and as a regular carrier March 16, 1921. His retirement will be effective Dec. 31.

Mr. Miller started in the days when carrying mail was a nightmare. In winter the roads were unplowed and the 43 mile route through Norwood township and the western section of Marion township, known as Route 1, had to be traveled by horse and cutter in all kinds of weather. In the summer the roads were muddy or dusty, depending on the weather and the route was covered in an old model car.

SINCE THEN, however, roads have been improved, there are

Motor Failure Disrupts School Classes Here

Classes at the Charlevoix public schools were disrupted about an hour Wednesday morning when the motor on the heating system burned out.

The building had been heated at 7 a.m. when the accident occured. An emergency repair job put the motor in order so classes could be resumed later in the morning.

The kindergarten pupils who would have been returned to their homes at 11 a.m. were the only children sent home by the accident.

Cause of the trouble was not immediately found.

Council Approves State Proposal; Work May Start This Year

The city council gave the green light to plans for a four-lane highway on Petoskey avenue, gave its permission to the hospital board for hooking up with city lights, sewer and water services when the new hospital is constructed at the trailer park.

Meeting at 10 p.m. Monday, the council also appointed an election board for the Feb. 18 election and accepted the low bid of Roosevelt Oil company for 100,000 gallons of No. 4 fuel oil for the diesel engines at the light plant.

Tentative plans were discussed for a public meeting March 27 in the high school gymnasium to explain fully the proposal to sell the hydro plant at Bellaire to the village of Bellaire. Voters will decide the merits of the proposal April 7 during the spring election.

A resolution was unanimously adopted, to be forwarded to the state highway department, approving plans for the four-lane highway from Dixon and Bridge to the norther city limits of Petoskey avenue.

THE COST, Mayor Knight pointed out, would be $36,000 as the city's share of the project. This would provide four lanes of 11 feet each plus two-foot curbs and gutters. The city's share of the cost would be paid by the additional gas tax revenue being returned to the city under the gas tax increase.

It is generally understood, Knight said, that if the gas tax is ruled invalid, the project will not be started. However, it is believed that the gas tax increase will be held valid. The city receives between $7,000 and $8,000 each year from the increase.

The highway department said that the city could pay for its share of the highway costs in five annual payments of slightly over $7,000.

The issue of giving permission to the hospital board for hooking up to existing facilities came up when Fred Willis, member of the hospital board, asked the council to permission to comply with state requirements.

THE COUNCIL wanted it understood that it had no objection to the permission but that the hospital must bear the cost of building sewer and power facilities. City Attorney Norman Ance will draw up a resolution and present it to the hospital board.

The Roosevelt Oil Co., of Mt. Pleasant, present suppliers of oil to the city, had the low bid of four submitted to the council. The low bid was .922 cents per gallon. Other bids were: Osceola Refining Co., .932, Old Dutch Refining Co., .1035 and Leonard Refining Co., .1067.

While the council took no formal action on the social security for the city employes, it discussed the various groups of city employes to be covered by the social security. The city has been deducting and matching employes funds for social

The Buttricks Continue Travels

Indonesia Is Country of Many Problems

In the plane enroute to Calcutta, India.

Right now we are flying over the mountains of Burma and we can see why the airlines in the Orient fly by day. There does not seem to be a road or level spot anywhere at the moment, just mountain and jungle. We spent last night at a KLM hotel (i. e. one run by the Dutch airlines) just outside of Bangkok, went to bed, or rather crawled under the mosquito nets at 8:30 p. m. and were routed out at 3.50 a. m.

A random comment on language: it is amazing what varying sounds can come out of the human mouth and all mean something. I think I shall never get peace on earth until we discover an international language so that we can understand what we are trying to say to each other. English seems the nearest, but in Indonesia there is practically none of that. We really felt strangers in a strange land, except that as in every country, we have been welcomed by those of the Christian community. We knew we thought alike and we wanted to tell each other so. However, the old story of the tower of Babel certainly was a delightful way of explaining 'language.'

ANOTHER COMMENT: in Japan, mothers carried their babies strapped flat to their backs; in China, still on the back but in a looser way so that the child seems to be sitting on a hammock affair; in Thailand and Indonesia they are carried on the left hip. Another funny thing is the different ways in which people sit: in Japan on their heels, knees together; in Thailand and Indonesia, the feet are put flat on the ground, side by each, with the knees apart, and the owner thereof sitting almost on the ground in between. Try it when you go to bed tonight.

We have just flown over Rangoon with its famed Golden Pagoda gleaming bright in the morning sun. George is sitting with a map in his hands following every inch of the route, consulting from time to time with the pilots, and telling me to stop and look at this or that.

Our last letter, I think, was written on the plane coming down from Chiengmai to Bangkok eight days ago. The day was this morning, we were up at the crack of dawn and off for Djakarta in which part of the world it is so hot that the beds are made up without top sheets. The only way to get anything accomplished is to get up early and everyone does.

INDONESIA, IN some ways, was not a bit as I expected. It is an eager young republic only just over a year old. It is amazing what is has done, but it is faced with almost overwhelming problems.

It consists of a chain of islands longer than from New York to San Francisco containing 80 millions of people, over 800 to the square mile and in some parts 1,000.

It is filled with tensions and antagonisms: Indonesia against the Dutch who are finding it hard to give up magnanimously and who are stifling the country by certain trade agreements to continue after they leave government and military in December 1951. (The stark ruins of beautiful mansions and Dutch sugar factories all over the islands tell of the horrors of the revolution.)

Indonesia against the white man, lest again they might fall into the power of any other white race as they did to the Dutch (we met clear indications of this as we traveled for they need foreign help they would like to get it possibly from America but not at the cost of freedom, they would rather have our money to use as they wish than any American personnel).

Indonesia against Russia or rather communism (the country has recognized Peiping and so the Chinese in Indonesia, and there are two million of them. The traders, are free to propagandize only yesterday the president warned China of reprisals on their people in the country unless the propaganda ceased).

Small Package Sets Record for Postal Charge

"It couldn't have cost more if it had contained gold" was the comment made Monday at the Charlevoix post office on the postage and registry charge on a small parcel weighing only 7 pounds and 13 ounces, mailed by E. D. Hawley, treasurer of the Charlevoix Board of Education.

Postage and registry fee on the parcel which was sent to Paine & Weber, Grand Rapids bond company, was $40.14. This was in addition to a $23.40 insurance fee placed on the package at the Charlevoix County State Bank.

Investigation revealed the parcel contained not gold or precious stones but something equally as valuable to Charlevoix — $224,000 in negotiable school bonds purchased by the Grand Rapids company after the school district voted to bond for that amount to build two additions to the present school system.

The registry and first class parcel post fees were the largest placed on a package that size in the memory of present post office employees, Peter H. Timmer, acting postmaster said.

Considering the cost of the operation, why weren't they delivered in person? Because the company advises against it. The bonds are negotiable and anyone could cash them if they were lost or stolen.

What Is the Matter With Charlevoix

Editor's note: We realise that our readers will recognise the following editorial as one which they have read quite recently, since it ran in the January 3 edition of the Courier. Ordinarily a newspaper does not re-run copy, but in this case we feel that repetition might make our point doubly clear. On February 26 another group of county men leaves to serve their country. Will you be there to see them off?

That question was asked by more than one relative or friend of any of the young men who have left this county to enter the services of their country in recent months.

You want to know why that question was asked.

The last several times that young men have been at the bus station to leave for induction, less than five persons have been at the bus depot to say goodbye to the boys who are setting aside quiet lives at home and comforts of home for the uncertain life of military barracks.

Some of these boys may see combat service. Most of them will face danger of injury or the sacrifice of life in the next few months, particularly will this be true if the "police action" in Korea spreads to other points.

These boys can leave their loved ones, their homes, their everyday cares, their thoughts of an education or trade school. All this they must forget for the time being because their country needs them. Some are enlisting, others are being drafted. It makes no difference. But the important thing is that they are leaving all the things they love the most.

It certainly is not their choice that they lead a military life for two years or more . . . right in the prime of life when they were hoping to get started in adult life. If they were derelict in their duty to support their country, we would be the first to criticise them for their lack of patriotism.

BUT WHAT DO WE DO?

Nothing except present them with a little farewell gift . . . that from the Charlevoix Service Organization that encounters trouble raising a few dollars through voluntary donations to cover this expense and other incidentals connected with this project.

We don't even give them a thought when these boys come to our town from all over the county for transportation to the induction center.

While these young men . . . tomorrow's leaders . . . are leaving, we don't think enough of them to say goodbye by stopping in at the bus station for 10 or 15 minutes to wish them a quick return to their civilian chores.

Ask Ralph Hamilton about the turnout at the bus station. It used to be that only a handful attended the boys' leaving. The last month, only ONE person other than himself was there to say goodbye. Naturally this does not include members of the families of the young men, naturally they were there.

But where were so many others of us, myself included? We were going about our daily jobs without giving any thought to these lads who must be pretty forlorn at leaving all the nice things in life for the uncertain tomorrow of military life.

Certainly those of us who can spare 10 minutes from our terrifically busy day should make it a point to say farewell to these lads.

Where is the Kiwanis club, the Lions club and the other service organizations. They could do a great deal if they delegated a committee from within their membership to say goodbye to the men leaving for service.

Notices of the time of their leaving is carried in the Courier at least twice before they are scheduled to leave.

Can we do any less for these boys?

ODDS 'N ENDS

A 'well-done' to Mrs. L. E. Grate and the March of Dimes committee who staged the tea and bake sale at the Grate residence last week . . . And to all other groups who are working so hard for such a grand cause . . . And speaking of polio, Mrs. Walter Davis called recently to tell us that Barbara Bodley was well established at Warm Springs . . . but that she will probably be there for a long time so don't forget her . . . Come Valentine's Day, and send her a card and a note . . . Georgia's a long way from Michigan and she's going to be a lonely little girl even if her schedule keeps her busy every minute . . .

We know you've read lots of articles about Korea but the best we've seen in a long time is Anna Rosenberg's "This I saw in Korea" which appears in a recent issue of Collier's . . . To those of you who seem to have forgotten that there's a war on in Korea it will be an awakening . . . To those of you who have or have had someone there it will bring tears but make you proud . . . We think it's worth your while . . .

A ROBIN has been seen . . . whether its the last one or the first one no one seems to know but Mrs. Dan Gencit reports seeing it and even called in witnesses to varify her story . . . Seems she couldn't even trust her eyes . . . All this was after the storm last week but despite that he looked well-fed . . . With a robin here, can spring be far away . . . It's almost Feb. 1 . . . But let's face it . . . we've got two months of winter yet . . .

From the southland a letter from Mrs. Edwin Gregory who has been visiting the John Potters and the Robert Horns at Pensacola, Fla. . . . She plans to leave soon for Miami with a stop-over at Clearwater to see the Charlie Wiles and Al Morrow families . . . All this before returning north in the spring . . .

CONGRATULATIONS to our musicians who did themselves proud at the solo-ensemble festival . . . And to their director Clarence Odmark . . . And now to the qualifying festival for the band . . . It's just one mad merry-go-round . . . but those kids make it seem like such fun despite the work that we almost envy them . . .

And did you see those Rayders play ball Friday . . . If they can keep that sort of ball going . . . we're in . . . But don't forget tough old Boyne this week plus East Jordan plus Petoskey plus Pellston plus Harbor and Mancelona on their floors . . . And we thought the basketball season was just about over . . . What could we have been thinking of.

Michigan Mirror

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

by Gene Alleman

Michigan's whirlwind legislature still is hitting it at a fast trot. Lawmakers are crying for still more speed as the February 21 deadline for all bills other than appropriation measures draws ever closer.

Both chambers have jammed calendars full of early bills, and committees are burning midnight oil, something unprecedented in Michigan annals for this time of the year. The legislature is determined to meet its new early adjournment time.

Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) has promised to keep his taxation committee's nose to the grindstone in a search for the revenues needed to balance Michigan's red ink budget.

BUT WHILE the rush continues, politics are not forgotten and the steady whir of the hones can be heard in the background.

Republicans are thinking in terms of a $750,000 campaign budget, some 25 percent more than the loyal members came up with last year. But costs are up for politicians same as for anyone else. Postage, newspaper space, radio and television time have climbed in cost.

In Detroit, February 8, a $50 a plate birthday dinner will be held to raise funds for Williams. Mayor F. Joseph Flaugh of Benton Harbor, chairman of the dinner committee says, "Originally we intended to present the proceeds to the governor without any strings on their use." Now he says it has been decided to give Williams the money for such nonpartisan purposes as his radio report to the people, and specifically not for political campaign use. Flaugh says he is a Republican, but is supporting the governor for re-election.

SENATOR CHARLES Diggs (D-Detroit) has introduced a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment extending voting privileges to 18-year-olds. The resolution, if adopted, would submit the issue to voters in November.

Last time this issue came up an unofficial poll showed most 18-year-olds do not consider themselves mature enough to vote.

Michigan's field crop production last year was second highest on record. Combined production of corn for grain, wheat, oats, barley and rye totaled 3,600,000 tons, 11 percent more than in 1950 and higher than any other year except 1949.

IF A BILL introduced in the legislature by Rep. Lawrence Lindemer of Stockbridge is passed, Junior can cut Pop without a drop of the cup that cheers. His measure would prohibit liquor establishments from selling or furnishing liquor to any person when forbidden to do so by the husband, wife, parent, child, guardian, employer or township supervisor.

A LANSING man says he lost his job because of his religious beliefs. Lee Pruett, 41, lathe operator for a tool and the company said he refused to join the union, believing all men "should come to brotherhood without organizing or being affiliated with any natural force to which they must pay dues." He said he offered to contribute an amount equal to the union dues to any charitable organization, but was refused.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce figures it will cost every Michigan family another $248 in tax or federal debt burden if current spending plans are approved by congress. Total figure for the state: $460,000,000 more.

DR. LEE M. THURSTON, superintendent of public instruction, has asked legislature for $15,000 to conduct an engineering survey of the possibilities of setting up a statewide educational TV network. Michigan colleges are willing to assist with the survey.

Average life expectancy in Michigan has jumped from 49 years to 68 years in the last half-century. And it is expectel to keep on rising. In 1950 seven out of every 100 residents were over 65. In 1900 is was five out of 100.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Dear Editor:

After reading Mr. Murphy's tetter in last week's issue, I would like to congratulate Mr. Murphy on a splendid letter. Lets hope it does some good.

I also have a few gripes against the Farm Bureau myself.

As most of you know the Farm Bureau Federation puts out a cheap auto insurance. And I don't use the word cheap as an understatement. For I have had two auto accidents caused by people insured by the Farm Bureau Federation. In neither case did I get anywhere near the damage done to my car, in fact the second accident accured in December, 1951, and I haven't received a cent. But they were very generous, they offered me $25 on a $40 claim. My lawyer has other ideas.

I have one more gripe for Farm Bureau members. Did you know that last week the Farm Bureau Federation openly approved lifting the embargo on foreign butter into the United States. Remember what happened when the support price was taken from potatoes and then turkeys. Lets wake up Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Farmer, when European butter starts coming in here and underselling our good old Michigan made butter, you're going to get the biggest slap in the face you've had in years. Not that it would do much good, but lets write and show our Senators and Representatives we don't want such a thing to happen.

Two Area Cities Start Dialing February 21

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company today announced that new dial systems would be cut into service at Boyne City and East Jordan February 21.

At the time dial service is inaugurated in the two communities, all customers in both exchanges will have new telephone numbers. Directories listing the new numbers will be delivered prior to the changeover.

The new numbers for Boyne City users will carry the prefix, "JUnction" followed by five digits. A typical Boyne City number for example, would be shown thus, JUnction 2-7373. East Jordan numbers will have a LEnox prefix, followed by a five-digit number.

C. L. Johnson, manager for Michigan Bell, said the new numbering plan was "an intergral part of a modern dial telephone system," and that it would permit customers in Boyne City to dial direct all numbers in East Jordan, Walloon Lake, Petoskey, and the operator at Charlevoix for all telephones there. Customers in East Jordan will be able to dial all Boyne City numbers direct, in addition to the operator at Charlevoix.

Johnson said the numbering system used in Boyne City and East Jordan was part of a Bell System plan which will eventually make it possible for customers to dial their own long-distance calls to all parts of the country directly. The plan, he said, was already under way on an experimental basis in one New Jersey telephone exchange.

The dial system will be inaugurated in Charlevoix in the Fall.

STATE OF MICHIGAN

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX
IN CHANCERY

In the Matter of the Petition of John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery:

John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended.

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent; the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.00 for expenses all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays:

5. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

6. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

7. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands to said schedule, the said several parcels of land or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

8. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

Dated December 21, 1951.

JOHN B. MARTIN, JR.,
Auditor General of the State of Michigan for and in behalf of said State.

Sportsmen Have Conscience Too

Sin is really catching you-know-what.

Normally averaging about one "conscience fund" contribution a year, the conservation department already in January has received one personal call and three letters from persons who "have seen the light."

A Howell area resident, calling in person to make restitution for hunting without a license five years ago, made his payment and started to walk out the door only to remember another time when he had gone fishing without a permit.

A North Branch citizen, believing in correcting "these acts however small," mailed in a check to cover 1949 hunting and trapping license fees.

An Indiana resident, rabbit hunting in Michigan 18 years ago on a resident license, wrote "would you please send the cost of a non-resident license at the time?"

The latest is from a Traverse City man who purchased a resident hunting license five years ago when he actually was a resident of another state. As an aside, he added that "all this nation needs to clean up the awful crime sweeping the land is some real individual salvation of the genuine type."

Conservation department accountants note that others having these troubles are welcome to clear their consciences by making proper remittances at any time.

Fish Haul in Lakes Shows Slight Drop

Commercial fish haul from Michigan Great Lakes waters totaled 3,587,000 pounds in September and October, a slight decline fom the 3,636,000 pounds netted in the same two-month period last year.

Chubs continued to lead the harvest pace with 824,000 pounds as compared to over 573,000 pounds in the same netting period in 1950. All except 49,000 pounds were taken in Lake Michigan.

Heering catch again was second best with 717,000 pounds, an increase over the 525,000 pounds before. Lake Michigan produced about 493,000 pounds.

Lake trout proved to be the third best crop with nearly 470,000 pounds as compared to 481,000 pounds in the like stretch last year. Lake Superior accounted for all except about 36 pounds.

Two-month total including white suckers, yellow perch, carp, mullet, whitefish, pike-perch and other species from Michigan Great Lakes waters: Michigan, 1,689,000 pounds; Huron, 1,057,000; Superior, 619,000; and Erie, 222,000 pounds.

Card party at St. Mary's Hall on Feb. 6. Everyone welcome.

CHALLENGING NEW 125 HP HIGH-COMPRESSION V-8

Here's the new stepped-up successor to the engine which for two straight years won top class honors in official sponsored economy tests. This year even more efficiency, greater horsepower, and better power-to-weight ratio. It's high-compression V-8 power at its best by the company which has built more V-type engines than all others combined.

3 GREAT TRANSMISSIONS—Mercury offers you a choice of three dependable performance-proved drives, silent-ease standard transmission; thrifty Touch-O-Matic Overdrive*, and Merc-O-Matic*, greatest of all automatic drives.

Optional at extra cost.

FEAST your eyes on this, America. Mercury has done it—brought you a really new 1952 car that's far, far ahead . . . that stands as an even greater challenge to the motoring world than last year's Mercury, one of the most popular cars that ever came down the American Road.

But wait till you feel the stepped-up pace, the steady balance of this beauty. There's more power—125-horsepower high-compression V-8—greater pick-up, and even better efficiency. And that's saving plenty when you think of the prize-winning Mercury performance of recent years.

So hurry on down to our showroom. Be one of the first to see, drive, and own the car with the "future features" today . . . the challenging new 1952 Mercury [illegible] few days when the roads are impassable and carrying the mail has become a routine matter and no longer the hardship it once was.

Earl Miller Retires After 30 Years

Mr. Miller is now in Whitefish Bay, Wis., where he and Mrs. Miller have been visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Radle and family since mid-December. It is understood they plan to go to Florida before returning to their home here in the spring.

Carlton H. Smith has been serving the route since his departure and will continue until a successor has been named.

The appointment will come from the U. S. post office department in Washington.

MR. TIMMER explained the three ways the vacancy may be filled.

A present employee may request a transfer from the office to the rural route, a civil service examination may be called to fill the vacancy if a present employee does not ask for the post or the three present rural routes may be consolidated. If this should be feasible, the two present rural carriers would service the two newly-formed routes.

At the present time Route 1 which covers 43 miles is serviced by Mr. Smith. Route 2 which has 33 miles is served by Floyd Black and Route 3 north of Charlevoix has 39 miles and Harold Withers is the carrier.

Believe It Or Not

How much pressure is exerted at the edge of a razor blade when it cuts off a whisker? The actual pressure is quite variable, depending upon the size and condition of the hair. However, the actual area of contact between the hair and blade edge is very small, so that the pressure per square inch is of the order of five tons

Seagoing Beauty is Groomed for Debut

The giant liner United States, largest and fastest passenger ship ever built in this country, looms large against the winter sky at her outfitting dock in the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Company yard. This new superliner will join the America, present flagship of the United States Lines, in transatlantic service. The new vessel is now 85% completed, with interior installations well under way, and is scheduled to make her maiden voyage from New York to Southampton and Havre early next summer. Her peacetime capacity will be 2,000 passengers and a crew of 1,000, although in wartime she could carry a complete division of 14,000 men a distance of 10,000 miles without stopping for fuel, water or food.

Few Farmers Have Wills Survey Shows

Fewer than one out of five owners make wills providing for the distribution of their property. Yet most farmers are anxious that the home farm remain in the family and that a fair division of their property be made among their children.

The best way to accomplish this is to make a will, point out a nationally-circulated farm magazine. Unless plans are set forth in writing, it is difficult for one of several children to obtain the home farm without handicapping himself with an excessive mortgage.

"In planning for descent of property within the family, parents have three general choices open to them. They may transfer their farm during their lifetime to their children; parents may provide for the transfer of the farm at their deaths thru wills, trusts or similar arrangements, or they may do nothing. In the last case their farm will be distributed according to their state law which may or may not be in the best interest of their family."

Parents may find these points helpful in thinking thru their own farm transfer problems: 1. Make sure that both parents or the survivor will have a comfortable home and sufficient income for their remaining years.

2. Provide that the son or daughter remaining on the home farm will get full compensation for improvements made to the farm and home. Give equitable, rather than equal, treatment to the children.

3. Become familiar with the state laws of descent. Where state laws do not meet the needs, outline several alternative arrangements for carrying out the family's specific goals in the light of its particular situation.

4. Choose the best plan for your situation, then get a lawyer to help you work out the final details and have him put the plan into correct legal form.

5. Keep the will up to date. Times change, as does the family and value and kinds of property.

6. Get members of the family together and discuss with them the arrangements made. Then each member will know what to expect and what to plan for.

Record for Tunnels

On the San Diego & Arizona railroad, through the Carriso gorge, there are seventeen tunnels in eleven miles. This is most likely a world's record for a plurality of tunnels in a short distance. Another unusual feature of these tunnels is the fact that they are completely free of smoke and fumes because the natural action of air suction in the canyon acts as an air conditioner.

Completing Plans for First Little Farmers' Week in North

Announcement of a Charlevoix county Farmers' Week to be held in Charlevoix Feb. 11 to 15 has been met with enthusiasm by Charlevoix business men who are offering every assistance possible to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

The program for the week, as outlined by Rebman, will cover subjects of prime importance to the farmers of the county, such as poultry, buildings and livestock, weed control and plant diseases, crops and insects, livestock health and agricultural outlook. Discussions on these topics will be lead by specialists from the extension department of Michigan State college.

A Little Farmers' Week for northern Michigan is the first attempt of this kind to bring the highlights of the college Farmers' Week to an outstate area. Five counties are co-operating in the plan, making it possible for the extension specialists to participate in the program in each county.

IN THE PAST it has been the policy of the college extension workers to make periodic tours of the state to conduct programs in key localities. Agricultural agents in the five counties participating believe the plan being tried this year will enable them to offer better and more valuable programs to the farmers in northern Michigan. Distance and other conditions make it next to impossible for most farmers in this part of the state to attend Farmers' Week at Michigan State college.

Looking to the future, it is possible that a Little Farmers' Week for Northern Michigan can become second in importance and value to the event held at East Lansing. For some years various farm groups have discussed the feasibility of Farmers' Week in the north. With the co-operation of all farm organizations the trial plan this year may be the first step in establishing a permanant Little Farmers' Week for Northern Michigan.

Cdd Guns

For many years the old guns were valued chiefly as keepsakes or collector's items. Now that they have recaptured public interest, Kentucky rifles often bring high prices. And they still shoot true, though many are more than a century old.

Large Quantity Of Legume Seed Necessary Here

Michigan farmers need a fairly large quantity of northern grown adapted varieties of legume seed if they are to keep forage crop yields high. That's the statement from Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, after he looked over seed supply figures for the 1952 season.

He points out that Michigan has four out of every ten acres of cultivated land in hay or pasture, and that the best way to keep yields high is to keep the percentage of legume plants in the stand well over 50 percent. To keep this percentage, farmers need to plow up and reseed and refertilize the meadows frequently.

As for specific legume seed supplies, alfalfa seed is not too plentiful this year, with high quality, well adapted seed demanding a pretty good price. National and state supplies are less than a year ago, but the state carry-over may be slightly higher.

Red clover seed supplies are well over the ten year average. Alsike clover supplies are somewhat better than last year, but still below the ten year average. County agent, Rebman recommends alsike fo growers who have wet soils, not too well limed. Sweet clover, smooth brome grass and timothy seed will be in ample supply this spring.

Dairy Feeding Has Winter Problem

In planning the winter dairy feeding program, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, first consideration should be given to quantity and quality of roughage. It is most economical to feed roughage liberally and then provide a grain mixture made up of feeds to match the roughage quality.

Rainy weather came during the haying season, so hay was not cut when feeding value was highest. Cutting was delayed in hopes for better weather. If the hay is of medium quality, some high protein supplement such as soybean or linseed meal should be added to the grain mixture, especially for cows producing over 30 pounds of milk a day.

Most common farm grains have about the same composition. Therefore, oats, corn and barley will give about the same results. About one-fourth more shelled soft corn should be fed to equal No. 2 corn and about one half more soft corn and cob meal is needed to equal mature corn and cob meal.

Potatoes are about equal to corn silage and could be fed up to 30 pounds daily. In order to get more hay consumed, the potatoes should be limited.

Farm Group Fears High Land Prices

High land prices can endanger agriculture by leading to misuse of the soil and also become an obstacle to young men who want to start farming, in the opinion of the McGeach Creek Farm Bureau group which met last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neff. As an aid to the control of inflation the group came to the conculsion that farmers should seek help in expanding their credit when necessary.

Adonation of $10 was voted to the March of Dimes campaign.

Plan Feed Supplies For Best Results

Farmers with livestock breeding herds suffer or are blessed according to whims of the weather. However, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, points out that only a few of the farmer's losses are due directly to bad weather.

More often losses come because of failure to set aside enough feed reserves to meet extra needs caused by extreme weather conditions. Smart stockmen take into account the worst that the weatherman may offer.

Trouble may come in many forms, including summer droughts which reduce hay and pasture yields, heavy rains, long winters and late springs. Keeping the right number of breeding animals on hand safely makes it necessary to store enough feed reserves for the lean years, and make the best possible use of pasture feed.

Efficient, stable and profitable management of a breeding herd requires use of home grown feeds and concentrates in preference to purchased feeds as far as possible. If home grown feeds are of low quality, buy protein supplements for larger returns, the county agent advises. Always make sure your animals have enuogh salt and minerals, too.

Rock Phosphate Tests Planned by Experts

Extensive research into the value of rock phospate as compared with superphosphate has begun in several locations over the state, report Michigan State College research soil scientists.

A total of 192 test plots have been laid out in four Michigan counties. Tests include many combinations of crop rotations. Care was taken to select soils which are representative of important agricultural areas.

Experiments will enable the researchers to determine the value of rock phosphate and how it compares with other phosphate carriers. The tests are expected to run from 8 to 12 years.

Raise Thrifty Calves With Calf Feed

Calf feeding can be broken down into three periods.

FIRST PERIOD is when the calf best responds to whole milk or a real substitute. This period runs for five or six weeks. Your Farm Bureau dealer offers you Calf Milk Replacer to meet this need. Over 98% of its nutrients are from milk. The rest are vitamins necessary to make Calf Milk Replacer a true replacement for milk. Feed only where you ordinarily feed whole milk.

SECOND PERIOD begins before first is over . . . probably when calf is only a couple or three weeks old. Farm Bureau offers you Farm Bureau Calf Meal. It is high in protein, rich in vitamins . . . and carries proper mineral balance. It comes as a meal or pellets so you can feed the way you like. Most dairymen prefer pellets and Farm Bureau offers Calf Manna pellets in addition to Calf Meal pellets. Both are high qualify feeds and help develop sturdy calves. Calf Manna is especially effective where, or when, calves are out of condition or on the sick list. Follow instructions and any of these feeds will help you prosper.

THIRD PERIOD is when the calf goes onto a full diet of roughage and grain. A grain ration of 1 3 oats or barley, 1/3 corn, and 1/3 Calf Manna is a growth and health maker. Try it. Order these feeds here.

Charlevoix Defeats Gaylord by 48-40 Score

Rayders Combine Fast Passing Attack With Tight Defense to Win

The Charlevoix Rayders in a fast passing attack Friday night defeated Gaylord for the second time this season by a 48-40 score to add win No. 6 to their list of victories.

Charlevoix in quick succession racked up 13 points in the first period with forward Bill Denemy accounting for five field goals, Charles Krahnke for one end Bud Barber for one free shot as the Rayders controlled the ball and the back-board. Gaylord ended the quarter with only three points, free throws by Bud Jones, a transfer from southern Michigan who was in the line-up for the first time, Frank Karowski and Jerry Hopkins.

The play slowed down in the second period with the Rayders making only nine points while Gaylord came back with 15 to make the half-time score 22-18. Dean Davenport, Jim Lewis and Bill Mosier joined the line-up as Coach Del Terrill tried various combinations in an effort to give everyone an opportunity to play.

Denemy, Bennett and Krahnke scored three points each on a field goal and a free shot apiece as Hopkins got hot and dropped seven points, Karwoski five and Dick Riddle three.

THE RAYDERS' starting line-up went back in to open the third period and scored 22 points, as many as they had tallied the first half. Barber dropped four f.g.s. Ketchman, Bennett and Frank Lagerman two each while Krahnke added two gift shots. Four field goals and three free throws gave Gaylord 11 points.

With players coming and going in the line-up in the last quarter the Rayders added only four free throws, three by Krahnke and one by Bennett as the game ended. Gaylord again scored 11 points but not enough to cut down the Rayders lead and give the Blue Devils a chance.

A tight defanse as can be seen by the first quarter scoring by Gaylord and a passing attack which really clicked combined with outstanding performances by all 11 players marked one of the Rayders batter games. Carl Foster was out of tha lina-up with a back injury. The team's percentaga of freo throws, 10 out of 17 with Krahnke dropping six for six was up over parvious games.

Boyne City, whom the Rayders are meeting Friday, capitalized on the gift shots against Pellston last week and can be depended on to try the same thing against the 'Rayders.

Little Rayders Defeat Gaylord In Close Tilt

The Little Rayders avenged an earlier loss to the Gaylord Reserves by coming through with a 37-30 win over the visiting team Friday night.

In their first meeting the local five lost by three points.

A new combination took to the floor for the Rayders as a quintet composed of Clayt Walker, Gordon Mol, Dave Glassford, Jerry Albright and Tom LaBlance scored 12 points in the first period to eight for Gaylord. Walker and Glassford played outstanding ball as they tallied two field goals each and Mol added four on a field goal and two free throws.

Walker continued to hit in the second quarter with three buckets. LaBlance added two more and the half ended 22-15.

Mol came through with a field goal, LaBlance with a bucket and two foul shots and Albright and Glassford with one point each to make the third quarter score 30-24.

Walker scored his sixth field goal, Albright made three points, and Glassford and Bill Golden one point each to take the game 37-30. Roger Pischner joined the line-up in the last period.

At times the game got rough but the Rayders, determined to win, fought all the way to come through with a victory.

ALTHOUGH Boyne City has only two wins in seven starts, the traditional rivalry between the two teams will have a great deal to do with the scoring. Jim Milbrandt seems to be taking over where he left off at tournament time last spring. Art Kujawski, Don Arner and Jess Erber are also consistent scorers against every team although they have lacked the spark to win but by combining forces they can give the Rayders a hard time if the latter relaxes for one minute.

Mancelona Gains Third Spot As Other Standings Hold

Mancelona moved into third place in the northern Michigan Class C league Friday night with a 50-35 win over Harbor Springs while all other teams held their former standings.

Pellston and Charlevoix remained in a first placa tia by virtue of victorias over Boyne City and Gaylord raspectivaly. Tha Hornets defeated tha invading Ramblers by a 62-53 scora whila Charlevoix rolled up a 48-40 win over visiting Gaylord. East Jordan, in a non-loop game bowed to strong Alpena Catholic Cantral by a 52-40 scora.

Mancelona regained its stride Friday after a decisive defeat last week by East Jordan to lead the Harbor Rams 11-9 at the quarter; 27-15 at the half and 36-23 at the third period. Norm Wilks dropped 20 for the victors while Al Chingwa scored 10 for Harbor.

The Hornets, showing the power that has kept them in the top bracket in the league led Boyne City 13-0 at the quarter; 28-22 at the half and 48-35 at the third period. Keith Emerson continued his scoring spree with 24 points while Jim Milbrandt scored 18 points for the Ramblers on five f.g.s and 8 out of 10 free throws. Boyne City was short on field goals but came through in the free throw department with a 19 out of 23 average.

CHARLEVOIX, using a fast passing attack baffled the visiting Gaylord five and had little trouble as they defeated the visitors 48-40.

East Jordan managed to stay with the strong Class B Alpena Catholic Central quintet for the first half as the visitors led 15-14 at the quarter and 26-24 at the half but the loss of Roman Klimkewicz, who was benched by the flu, was felt as the invaders romped into a 44-30 lead at the third period. Jim Ayotte paced the scoring with 21 paints for Alpena and Don Whiteford scored 18 for the Jordanites.

The Alpena team, coached by Frank Curran, who is well known here, is a quintet to watch. Formed when Alpena's St. Anne's and St. Bernard's were consolidated into a Catholic Central, the school was in Class C last season and this year moved into Class B. They are said to have heighth, finnesse and plenty of basketball know-how and should go far in Class B circles.

Tha camera caught Bobo Bennett after firing a shot in tha Rayder victory over Gaylord last Friday. Bannatt looks like he is aboul to go in tha other direction but the shutter snapped him as he followed through his shot. Bill Denamy may be seen behind Gaylord's No. 8 and No. 14 is Bill Mosier.

Rayders Fast Attack Beats Gaylord Five

Next week's schedule will find Pellston playing at East Jordan, Harbor Springs traveling to Gaylord and the Rayders journeying to Boyne City for return games.

In thair first maeting at Pallston the Hornets defeated the Jordanites by a 39-28 score to give tho Red Davils one of their two lossas. The other was by Gaylord in an overtime. Since then, however, East Jordan has the services of one regular, Norm McGeorge, who was out et tha tima with a football injury as well as those of several lettermen. In addition they have been molded into a balanced team. Pellston with one loss, that to Charlevoix, a team which lost to tha Jordan five by two points, has remained in the league lead all season end will ba out to retain its first place standing despite East Jordan's threets. If Roman Klimklewics is back in the line-up the teams should be pretty evenly matched. Pellston will have the edge when it comes to heighth but East Jordan makes up in screppiness what it lacks in other dapartmants and the game should be a close one.

One of Gaylord's two wins this season was over Harbor Springs by a one-point margin in their first meeting. The two teams will meet again this week but Harbor Springs with only one win, a two-point victory over Mancelona, will be the underdog despite the return of Stan Pifer to the line-up after an absence of several weeks. Gaylord showed a lot of fight against the Rayders Friday and should have little trouble with the Rams who try but can't quite make it.

JIM MILBRANDT who returned to the Boyne City line-up since the holidays is back in the groove and doing a large percentage of the Ramblers scoring. His return has added strength to the Boyne five and they will be tough when they host the Rayders this week. With an earlier 55-42 defeat by the Rayders to avenge, the Ramblers will be out in force but if Charlevoix can continue the type of ball they have played the last two weeks they should come through. Pellston handed the Ramblers a nine point defeat a week after the Hornets were defeated by the Rayders so Charlevoix should have an edge on Boyne City.

Legion Women Meet With Mrs. Warner

The American Legion Auxiliary met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Jack Warner.

Mrs. Walstad, president, gave a report on the recent district meeting at East Jordan where the name of Mrs. Hilda Bathke of East Jordan was endorsed by the district for the post of national vice president. Attending the district meeting with Mrs. Walstad were Mrs. Leo Allard and Mrs. Harry Powers.

Feb. 3, the anniversary of the deaths of the four chaplains aboard the Dorchester during World War II has been designated by the national organization as "Go to church Sunday" and all Legionaires and auxiliary members are urged to attend the church of their choice this Sunday.

The group also voted to send, as their assignment for the year, a tablecloth to the American Legion billet at Otter Lake which is operated for children of veterans.

Ten members and three guests, Mrs. Fred Gill, Mrs. Ernest Warner and Mrs. Albert P. Taylor were present for the business meeting, social hour and refreshments.

County School Board Reviews 1951 Activities

At its regular meeting earlier this month the Charlevoix county board of education reviewed the programs it has sponsored and its activities in general during the past year. At the same time tentative plans were made for 1952.

The board has considered three requests for transferal of property. One of these, a transfer from the Charlevoix School district to the Murray school district, was granted with the approval of both districts.

Last spring, on their own time, board members toured the rural schools, inspecting buildings with the hope that they might help the district with suggestions for improving sub-standard features. They plan to repeat the tour of inspection this spring and plan to discuss their findings with the district boards at a general meeting to be scheduled later.

The Music Festival for children of rural schools held here in October was considered so much a success that thought will be given to a follow-up next year.

A COURSE in choral music by radio offered by the University of Michigan was approved by the county board and a number of rural schools are taking advantage of the program.

A county-wide testing program is being carried out during the present school year to evaluate achievement.

Visual education is progressing. The rural schools now own two projectors, two screens and a number of film strips toward a library.

The board went on record as being determined to do all possible to encourage and aid improvements that will equalize education for rural and urban children and better the educational program of the entire county.

Members of the county board of education are Mrs. Hazel Evers and William Parsons of Charlevoix, Ross Renwick of Walloon Lake, Howard Porter of East Jordan and James H. Gallagher of St. James. Mrs. Catherina C. Bergeon is county superintendent of schools.

Indonesia Has Many Problems

for some want a federation and not a republic. There is a great deal of robbery, banditry and guerilla warfare. We were not allowed outside the hotel in Djakarta after dark, and the same was true in Semarang. We took two long auto drives on the island of Java, but we had to go during the daylight hours, and not be on the road after five o'clock. It was an uncertain feeling.

THE HOTELS in which we stayed are built around an open courtyard with a guard at the one entrance; the main lobby (no windows) on one side, mostly one story rooms around the other sides. The rooms consist of a sort of porch with a small sleeping room behind all open and in no way screened. We waged a constant battle with mosquitos and a losing battle at that.

The bathrooms were in varied stages of primitiveness for, as I have told you before, there is no real plumbing in the Orient. In one bathroom the drain from the washbasin went to the floor and continued in a steady stream of refuse water across the floor. There was no plug in the basin. Hardly ever is the toilet flushed except from a pail. It is all fantastic.

I cannot imagine, as I have said before, why great epidemics do not constantly sweep these countries. Women wash their clothes and children and adults bathe, for instance, in the klongs of Thailand and in the canals of Djakarta, both little more than open sewers. Hardly anywhere in Indonesia could we drink the water and the cooking is done over little, round low charcoal stoves about the size of a galvanized pail. The women crouch down in front of them and it takes almost half a day to get a meal.

Ni-Hard

In the field of alloy cast irons an upward trend of use was observed in specialty products such as Ni-Hard in mining equipment. Following successful trials, Ni-Hard is being increasingly adopted for mill liners and grinding balls in the cement industry in Great Britain and elsewhere abroad security since Jan. 1, 1951.

Council Approves State Proposal

It is expected that all full time city employes including the city treasurer will come under the provisions of the federal law. The council, city clerk, city attorney and other officials of that order are not likely to be included. The council has the authority to include all part time employes earning at least $50 a quarter (three months) if it so desires.

On the issue of selling the hydro plant at Bellaire, the council will start an educational campaign to acquaint the voters with the merits of the proposal.

As it stands now, the city has an offer of $80,000 for the plant at Bellaire from the village of Bellaire which wants to use it as its power plant.

THE PLANT generates 150 kilowatts which is not enough to carry the city of Charlevoix at its lowest needs. At present the lowest need for the city's lighting requires 500 kilowatts.

J. B. Sims, consulting engineer, who appraised the Bellaire plant a few months ago, pointed out that using the Bellaire hydro plant to augment the Charlevoix power is an expensive proposition and has been for several years.

Under the proposal, if the city voters approved the sale of the hydro plant, officials would be required to use the money at the light plant. This will be part of the election proposal submitted to the voters.

This money could not be used for any other phase of city operation if the voters so decide.

Jack Armstrong, veteran light crew worker, was elevated to foreman of the crew. His wages were raised five cents an hour.

The council was given a list of the delinquent light bills, totaling $4,000 and water bills, amounting to $1700. The sewage disposal bills will be listed at the next meeting for possible action to reduce the delinquency

Ted Browe Moves Up

Courtesy Petoskey Evening News

Charlevoix's Ted Browe is shown here taking a blow off the glove of Jake Booth of Petoskey in the finals in the novice welterweight division of the Golden Gloves tournament at Petoskey Saturday night. Browe came back shortly and won the bout, the championship and the right to enter the Golden Gloves at Grand Rapids starting Feb. 12.

Will Represent Charlevoix At Grand Rapids

Ted Browe, 17, novice welterweight, will represent Charlevoix in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament at Grand Rapids next week after earning his title the hard way at Petoskey last week.

Browe worked his way to the finals by virtue of wins Wednesday and Thursday night only to find himself scheduled to take on two contenders in the Saturday night bouts.

He proved too much for both as he scored a technical knockout in the second round over John King of Petoskey in the semi-finals and later in the evening took on a second Petoskey boxer, Jake Booth and won by a unanimous decision to take the title.

He reached the semi-finals and finals after scoring a TKO over Dick Grant of Cadillac Wednesday and winning a unanimous decision over Clarence Bellmer of Petoskey Thursday.

Charlevoix's second entry, Coastguardsman Vic Pierce was defeated by a TKO in the second round at the hands of veteran Pat Dougherty of Boyne City, defending middleweight champion. This was the only open class fight in the tournament and Pierce's first appearance in a ring.

Charlevoix, with two entries, placed fourth in the tournament with nine points. Gaylord was first with 31 points; Cadillac in second with 24. Rogers City and Boyne City were in third with 10 points each. Petoskey followed Charlevoix with eight and the Cutter Mackinaw had seven.

This was Browe's second appearance in a Golden Gloves tournament. He is trained by Jack McDermott and entered in the novice welterweight class. He weighs 142 pounds and is 5 ft. 6 in.

McDermott, who has trained Browe for two years, says he is a fine counter-puncher and is in top physical condition, which is born out by his two wins Saturday night.

Despite the few entries, McDermott said Charlevoix has always had at least one winner in the past four years he has managed teams.

The Civic Auditorium will be the site of the Golden Gloves in Grand Rapids starting Feb. 12.

Frank F. Bird Installed As Kiwanis Head

Frank F. Bird was installed as president of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club to succeed Gordon L. Freedman at a recent meeting. Roy G. Bennett was in charge of the installation.

Other new officers are: first vice president, Capt. H. E. Paddock; second vice president, Leonard Burns; secretary-treasurer, Ralph S. Hamilton.

The Board of Directors is composed of Fred W. Willis, Rev. W. D. Wood, A. L. Livingston, Dr. F. W. Young, Cmdr. Edward K. Shanahan, Fred Bancroft, C. B. Meggison.

This week's program was devoted to scouting in observance of Boy Scout week. Kiwanis sponsors scouting in Charlevoix.

Robert C. Ashdon, scoutmaster, spoke to the group on the scout program and what it is doing for the boys of the community; Leonard Burns talked on the Explorer Scouts, the older age group, and "Slim" Rehm, of the Scenic Trail Council of which Charlevoix is a member, discussed the scouting program as whole and its role as a character builder.

Harry Crawford, of Saulte Ste. Marie, Lieutenant governor of Kiwanis district No. 9, presented a certificate of recognition to Gordon L. Freedman for his service as immediate past president.

Junior Class to Present Mystery

The Junior class of the Charlevoix high school has named its choice of Craig Rice's mystery-comedy, "Thursday Murders", as the class play to be presented in the spring.

Mrs Donna V. Stutt will direct the production. The tentative presentation date has been set for April 4.

The play is now being read by the class and the selection of a cast will be made soon.

Conservation Film Shown in Schools

The Conservation Department film, "The Web of Life," was shown at the Charlevoix public schools Wednesday by Wilbur T. Bull, of Roscommon, education consultant for the Michigan Department of Conservation.

The entire school enrollment saw the film.

High School Band to Give Concert Tuesday

The Charlevoix high school band will present its first formal concert of the present school year at the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12.

C. A. Odmark will direct the musical organization composed of 67 pieces, the largest in the school's history.

The band which is preparing for the annual district qualifying festival at Traverse City Feb. 23, will open the program with its 'festival group', selections which will be played during the festival. Included will be the warm-up march, "Hall of Fame", by Olivadoti, the Class C required number, "Spring Promenade" by Burns and the band's choice, "Gloriole" by Noble.

If suitable material can be found, a demonstration of sight reading will also be conducted.

Another feature of the concert will be the presentation of two soloists and an ensemble who were among the 10 Charlevoix entries to win top honors at the recent solo-ensemble festival at Harbor Springs.

Soloists will be Becky Badger, oboist, playing "Andante" by Mozart, and Robert Richards, snare drummer, playing "Drumming with Foster".

The cornet trio composed of Doris Nielsen, Marilyn Bulow and Jon Henry, will play "Holiday Polka" by Meretta. Accompanists for the two groups will be Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. Leonard Burns.

Another section of the program will be devoted to the "all-Senior" band, composed of members who will graduate in June. This group rehearses once weekly and plays a wide selection of material not possible with the entire band.

In addition to the above, the band will present a varied program of music designed to please all musical tastes, including such numbers as Rudolph Friml's famous "Will You Remember", the popular "Syncopated Clock," the rollicking square-dance tune, "Do-Si-Do" and several other popular selections and marches.

Tickets for this event may be purchased from a band member or from the Band Parents Association at popular prices.

The concert will begin promptly at 8 p.m. and conclude no later than 9:15 p.m.

King George Dies Suddenly

All the world is mourning the passing Wednesday of Great Britains King George VI. The beloved monarch of the British empire died in his sleep at 5:45 a.m. at Buckingham palace.

The cause of death was not immediately announced, although it is believed due to a blood clot. Although the king has been in poor health following a recent lung operation, there had been no indication that he was not on the road to complete recovery.

The death of King George brings to the throne the 25-year-old Princess Elizabeth, who received the news of her father while on what was supposed to be a five month tour of the British empire with her husband, Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

Until her expected arrival from Africa today England has been without a ruler.

Flags are flying at half staff and messages of condolence are being sent from all parts of the world to join England in mourning for her monarch.

Elizabeth will be England's first queen in 51 years.

Basketball Game To Aid Polio Fund

The Independent basketball teams of Charlevoix and Ellsworth will play ball at the Charlevoix high school gym at 8 p.m. Saturday night for the benefit of the March of Dimes, Dallas Henry, local campaign chairman announced Wednesday.

In revealing the details of the game Mr. Henry said "These boys came to me and offered to play a game for the March of Dimes. I feel that such generosity should be repaid by a good attendance at the game Saturday night."

No admission will be charged for the game which promises to be a good one, but a 'blanket pitch' will be held at half time to give the spectators an opportunity to contribute to the National Infantile Paralysis fund drive.

The Ellsworth five has not lost a road game in two years and will be playing for keeps to retain their fine record. Among the players in the Ellsworth line-up are Gene Inman, high school coach, the lofty Klooster brothers, Connie and Bob and Tom Wieland who combine their efforts with several other splendid players to round out a fine team.

The Charlevoix Independents will have in their line-up Bill Lusk, Johnny Swanson, Bernie Ward, jr., Bob Pearl, George Plumm, Bill Armstrong and Del Terrill, all familiar to basketball fans throughout the north.

It is the hope of the men who are playing in the game that their efforts will help raise Charlevoix's 1952 contributions far beyond the $1300 mark reached last year.

With the results of the business district canvas, the cannisters in the stores and several other benefit parties yet to be reported, the total raised to date is just under the $1300 figure.

Contributors will be gratified to know the Mothers March of Dimes staged for one hour last Thursday netted $524.85. Mrs. Thomas Carey, speaking for the March of Dimes committee, wishes to thank solicitors and contributors for their fine cooperation in this unusual drive. Others aiding in the drive who were not listed before were Mrs. Lawrence Skippergosh, Mrs. George Plumm and Mrs. Robert Zeitler.

The cannisters in the elementary showed $53.04 contributed by the children. Other contributors and amounts given are: Marion Center Grange, $82.00. A party at the Ray Cunningham residence, $15.00; McGeagh Farm Bureau, $10.00, Michigan Medical Auxiliary, $5.00.

Anyone caring to contribute to the March of Dimes may leave their contribution with Mr. Henry on Bridge st.

Michigan Amateur Slated to Return

The Michigan Amateur Golf tournament will be returned to the Belvedere Golf Club here this year, Charles Kendrick, director of the event, has announced.

That the Belvedere course is the most popular spot in the state is marked by the fact that a record 207 players turned out for the event here last summer.

Anticipating an equally large number for this year's event, which is set for July 9-13, a new program has been planned.

The qualifying round has been increased from 18 to 36 holes and will be held the first two days of the tournament. There will be 32 qualifiers for match play, which will be concluded with a 36-hole final instead of the previous 18-hole title match.

Chuck Kocsis of Detroit, who defeated Ted Kuzina of Jackson in the final here last July, is the defending state amateur champion, a title he has held for six years.

Greetings to the Farmer

This issue of the Courier is being sent to all Charlevoix county farmers as a special invitation and welcome for next week's Farm Program. We join the many merchants who are participating in this event in wishing you a highly successful and interesting week.

A full week of meetings for county farmers has been in the planning stage for many years, but something has always come up to make it impossible. Now that the dream has come true, let us hope that Farmers' Week becomes an old, cherished institution.

With the splendid program Ed Rebman's office and Michigan State college have arranged and the co-operation the citizens of Charlevoix have shown it should be a week that will make next year's meeting a matter of course.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fren Martin

Feb. 2, Groundhog's day, came and went and the little animal didn't see his shadow . . . which in this country, doesn't prove a thing as far as we can figure out . . . We're going to have just so much winter and regardless of the shadow business we're betting it's going to be more than six weeks . . .

We saw the Novak twins, Carl and Charles, for the first time Saturday . . . And are they husky-looking kids . . . long, lanky and cute . . . And the pride of their family . . . They're identical twins and twice Saturday Mrs. Novak caught Max feeding the wrong baby . . . after he assured her he knew them apart . .

OUR CONGRATULATIONS to J. C. 'Mac' McDonald on his retirement from the Coast Guard after 38 years . . . An enviable record . . . There have been few weeks since Mac came to the local lifeboat station that we haven't talked to him . . . He was the one who always gave us the 'weather', temperatures for the past week, on Wednesday morning . . . we're going to miss his inimitable comments on the weather and other topics of the day . . .

ONE OF THE calamities of the week: Lawrence Feindt had a bad case of laryngitis Saturday morning and found it quite impossible to talk . . . particularly about the basketball game . . .

THIS IS THE story of two little boys, kindergarten age, who didn't have a thing to do one balmy morning last week . . . When they saw a little black and white cat ambling down the street they decided to play with him . . . When he wouldn't play they stepped on his tail and when he snapped at them they kicked back . . . Results: two smelly, but smelly, youngsters who went home and gave their mothers a bad time . . . Their clothes went out the door and they went into the bath-tub filled with vinegar and water because someone said that would take the smell off . . . It was a hard lesson but everyone especially their mothers, hopes that Allan John and Ricki Miller will no longer play with stray kittens . . .

IN THE MAIL this week a folder and newspaper from Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico sent by the Lewis Brants who are enroute to California via New Orleans to visit Ted Gravelins at El Centro and the Herb Wilsons at San Bernadino, both former residents . In the newspaper dated Jan. 26 was a list of people who had visited the curverns that day and their home-town . . . Of course the Brants name was there and so was that of another Charlevoix couple on a western trip, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Edwards . . . Quite a co-incidence since we're sure neither knew the other was on such a trip . . . And from Oregon a card from the Lester Gallaghers who were visiting in the west . . . the card came from Otter Rock State Park, one of the many spots they visited . . . They arrived home earlier this week from the month-long trip . . .

WE'D like to repeat what we said last summer at the time of Harry Heilmann's death . . . It's too bad he couldn't have been named to baseball's Hall of Fame and enjoyed a little of the glory before he died . . . It would have been a small reward for all he gave to the game and the public . . . Last week he was named with Paul Waner of Pittsburgh by the baseball writers . . . Let's hope they don't make the same mistake again . . .

WERE YOU one of the lucky people to receive a Christmas greeting from the Ed Shanahans . . It's a bit late to mention Christmas but the greeting was late . . . it's about the cleverest thing we've seen and it's amazing what the stock at Birchwood Ranch can do . . . ferinstance, Agawam President 8th, boss of the herd , 'wrote' the message on the card . . .

WHEN you're addressing Valentines how about sending one to Barbara Bodley, our own little polio patient at Warm Springs, Ga. . . the only address you need is Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, Warm Springs . . . She's just a little girl a long way from home and we know she'd appreciate a card and a note from you . . .

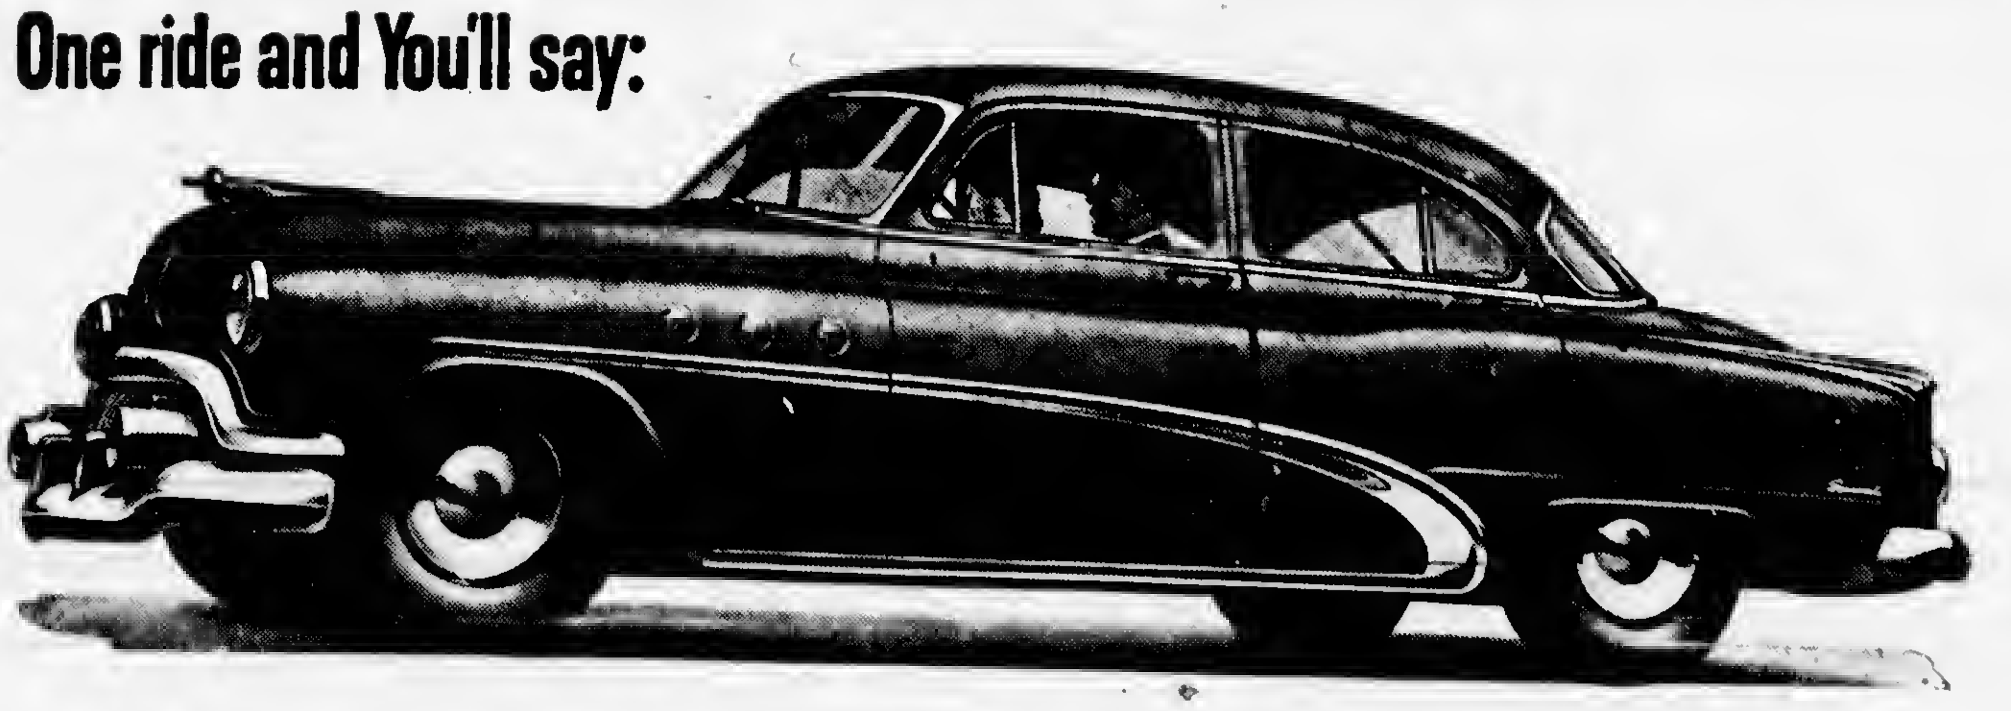
One ride and You'll say:



"That's the Smartest Million Dollars BUICK Ever Spent"

When we tell you that every 1952 Buick rides like a million dollars, we're not just slinging slang—we're talking real money—right-on-the-barrelhead cash.

A million dollars and more were poured into research and testing—design and tools—engineering, production and components—to team up the combination of ride features you'll find on a Buick—and on no other car in the world.

A million dollars and more was the price paid to work out control of end-sway and side-roll on curves—to double-check vertical "throw" with shock absorbers and big soft-acting coil springs for all four wheels—to V-brace the torque-tube keel and X-brace the frame—to cushion body and engine—and to silk out the whole operation with Dynaflow Drive.*

You may not care how the job was done, or what it cost. But we'll lay you this:

You're going to say "thanks a million" to Buick engineers once you get this spirited smoothie under your hands and haunches.

Old familiar roads take on a new smoothness. Gone are the weave and wander, the jitter and jounce that you've felt in lesser cars. You ride with road-hugging assurance and level ease.

All of which only begins to tell you what really great cars these 1952 Buicks turned out to be.

Never before have style and stamina—comfort and character—power, performance and price been brought together with such satisfying skill.

The obvious thing for you to do is come in and look them over. How about taking half an hour off to do that — today?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Ramblers Fail to Get Started As Charlevoix Clicks In All Phases

The Charlevoix Rayders invaded Boyne City Friday with the idea of winning but the game turned into a steamroller action by the Charlevoix quintet as they rolled up a 58-27 score with little effort.

The game had promised to be a fine show of competition since the Ramblers had been strengthened by the return of Jim Milbrandt, but the host team never got started.

The Rayders defense held the Boyne five to four gift shots in the first period as Charlevoix rolled up 22 points in quick succession on seven field goals and eight out of eight free shots and by the end of the quarter the entire starting line-up had accounted for at least one point.

Bill Denemy had nine points on two field goals and five free throws, Bill Bennett had two f.g.s and one free throw, as did Charles Krahnke. Norm Ketchman had two points on a field goal and Bud Barber had one point.

The line-up kept changing from the start of the second quarter on as the entire first team, 12 in all, saw action. Dean Davenport with three points and Jim Lewis with two joined the list of scorers as Charlevoix racked up another 14 points for a half time lead of 36-11. Denemy had an additional four and Krahnke five points in the second period.

THE RALLY Boyne City had hoped for in the second half failed to materialize and the Rayders rolled on with another 13 points as Gerry Left, Bill Mosier, Jack Cross, Frank Lagerman and Carl Foster joined the line-up.

The final quarter was a repetition of the first three periods as the Rayders scored another nine points.

That the Rayders defense was working is verified by the fact that Boyne City managed only six field goals during the entire game. Jess Erber, high point man for the Ramblers, had only one field goal and six free throws for the eight points. Milbrandt, who has been a consistent scorer since his return to the team, scored only two buckets and three free shots.

The Rayders will take on East Jordan Friday night. The Jordanites have put the only mark on the Rayders' near-perfect record of wins this season. In December the Red Devils handed the Rayders a two-point loss after Charlevoix had led all the way.

Since the loss the Rayders have looked forward to an opportunity to even the score. That chance, however, may be denied them for, with the loss of their top-scorers, Don Whiteford and Roman Klimkiewicz, the Jordanites will not be at their full strength. East Jordan, however, has brought up several men from the reserves to add depth to the shattered squad and the combination can be depended on to make up in scrapiness what it lacks in polish.

Loop Standings Remain Same As Leaders Win

There were no major changes in the northern Michigan Class C loop standings following Friday's games when Charlevoix over-ran Boyne City by a 58-27 score; Pellston defeated weakened East Jordan 51-25 and Gaylord won over Harbor Springs 52-41. Mancelona did not play Friday.

This week will find Charlevoix hosting East Jordan, Boyne City traveling to Gaylord, Pellston moving into Mancelona and Harbor Springs playing at Petoskey in a non-loop meeting.

Charlevoix had little trouble disposing of Boyne City as the Rayders came through with a lop-sided victory over the Ramblers who had been expected to put up a strong fight. The final score was 58-27.

Pellston had no difficulty at East Jordan as they rolled over the Red Devils 11-3 at the quarter; 24-10 at the half and 37-15 at the third period. Bill Drier paced the scoring with 27 points for the Hornets while big Keith Emerson was held to 14 points. Keith Evans had 14 points for East Jordan who were playing without the services of Roman Klimkiewicz who has been out for two weeks with the flu and a throat infection and Don Whiteford who has been benched for the treatment of a back injury. The pair has been doing the team's scoring.

GAYLORD who has been sharing fifth place with Boyne City, took over the spot after defeating Harbor Springs in a game which saw the Rams hold a 13-10 lead as the first quarter ended. Gaylord managed a one point lead, 20-19 at the half and a two-point margin, 33-31 at the third period. The Blue Devils hit their stride in the last period and racked up 19 points to take the game. Jerry Hopkins tallied 13 for the victors and center Jim Schreuer, back in the line-up after an absence of several weeks, had 11 points. Al Chingwa and Frank Granstra had eight points each for the Rams.

What might have been the top game of the week, the Charlevoix East Jordan meeting, now is a question mark since the Jordanites are uncertain about the return of Whiteford and Klimkiewicz. Whiteford was to return to Munson Hospital in Traverse City for further examination

Reserves Lose To Ramblers In Close Contest

The little Rayders were handed their third defeat of the present season Friday when Boyne City came through with a 29-26 win.

The Reserves, with Clayt Walker, Gordon Mol, Davo Glassford, Jerry Albright and Tom LaBlance in the starting line-up, got off to a good atart and were ahead at the quarter, 8-7 on two buckets by LaBlance, a basket and a gift shot by Glassford and a gift shot by Walker.

Boyne City took over in the second period, however, and rolled up eight points while Charlevoix five made only four points on a field goal by Walker and two free throws by LaBlance. The half ended 15-12.

LaBlance added two charity shots and Mark White a third as Boyne went ahead 24-15 at the third period ended.

The Charlevoix lads came back in the last period and were playing bang-up ball in an effort to get back in the game but their try came too late and they lost by a three point margin.

Glassford added two points, Albright and White four and Towsley one in the closing quarter.

Joe McDermott, Don Smith and Bill Golden also entered the line-up.

LaBlance led the scoring for the Rayders with eight points.

STATE OF MICHIGAN

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX
IN CHANCERY

In the Matter of the Petition of John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery:

John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 155 of the Public Acts of 1937, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off to the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.00 for expenses all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands to said schedule, the said several parcels of land or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

Dated December 24, 1951.

JOHN B. MARTIN, JR.,
Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State.

IRONTON

By Mary Carlson Phone 1012-W1

There isn't much news from around Eveline this week because one telephone line was temporarily out of order, perhaps because of the attempts to install the dial system. I hope we have more for you next week.

Last week when I listed the out-of-town guests attending the wedding of Martha Carlson and Don Eberhard, I didn't mention that Miss Betty Orvis or Flint was here.

Mrs. Datus Dean left Monday for Mt. Clemens, Mich. where she will spend a few days with her son and family, Corporal and Mrs. Stanley Dean and family. Datus Dean returned from Mt. Clemens last week.

Mrs. Ingma Pontious and son, Henry of Charlevoix were Wednesday evening supper guests of the Albert Carlsons.

Welcome home to Mr. and Mrs. John Knudsen, who have returned from their trip to Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Brock and family were Saturday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Brock and family. They celebrated the third birthday of Aaron Lou, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Brock's son.

William Walker of Ironton was among the Charlevoix County fellows who went to Detroit last Monday for their physicals.

Debby Friend of Petoskey spent a few days last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Werth called on Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meyers, Friday evening.

Our get well wishes to Mrs. Alice McClanagthan, who has been ill lately.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown and family of Petoskey and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Breakey and family of East Jordan were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sutliff called on Mr. and Mrs. August Erber of Boyne City, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Orvis received a letter from their son, Sam, saying that he was in Melbourne, Fla., with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Metz. He said they (he and the two fellows with him) had a very nice time on the way down. They went through Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia, North and South Carolina and Georgia. They stopped at Portsmuth, Va. to see Donald Mort, of Charlevoix, who is in a naval hospital there and Bruce Bolser of East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Saunders and Evelyn were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ward of Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Walker hope to be on their way to Florida by the time this paper reaches you. They plan to leave Wednesday. Good luck.

Shirley McClanagthan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim McClanagthan was a Sunday guest of Dagmer Brock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Brock.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Williams spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Whitti to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Williams, which was Sunday and Mrs. Whitti, which was Monday. Many happy returns of the day to both of you.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knudsen and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Plum of Charlevoix were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Knudsen.

Miss Anne Cunningham spent the past weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ole Nielsen.

The Will Johnsons called on Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Werth, Wednesday evening.

The 4-H baking class met for the first time last Saturday at Mrs. Anne Nasson's. Sherlan Brock and Adele Nasson were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Rick Russell left last Friday for Florida.

Miss Sharleen Brock, a student at Davenport Institute in Grand Rapids spent Thursday to Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brock.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Orvis were Mrs. Orvis's brother, Martin Halverson, their son, William Orvis and son, their daughter, Miss Betty Orvis, their granddaughter, Miss Ruth Schanick, and Dennis Dean, all of Flint.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Knudsen and family were Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Nasson.

Ladies Aid meets this Thursday with Mrs. Mary Bennett.

About 30 people attended the party last Wednesday at the Ironton school for the March of Dimes. Mrs. Art Geer brought cupcakes and ice cream on Thursday, Jan. 30, for Terry's birthday. The children enjoyed this very much. The little folks are going to visit the woods to see Mr. Bushytail. We are still carrying on our health check-up with good results. We are re-decorating our bulletin board with the children's best papers.

Fishing has been fairly good this past week. Many of the shantys were lighted, Saturday night. Many of the fishermen were rewarded with large catches, too.

Let's all try to raise the Sunday School attendance, at this rate they may have to close. It is at 1 p.m., church at 2.

Loop Standing Same As Leaders Win

Tuesday. Klimkiewicz is out for practice again after a two-weeks round with the flu bug and will be back in the center spot. If Whiteford remains on the bench Clint Clark, who has moved up from the reserves, will probably be in the line-up as forward against the Rayders, whose only defeat to date was handed them by the Red Devils in their first meeting.

Gaylord, in fourth place with two wins over Harbor Springs and one over East Jordan in an overtime will be meeting Boyne City, in fifth place with a win over Harbor and a second over Gaylord. The Blue Devils have been strengthened by the return of center Jim Schreuer to the line-up and the addition of Bud Jones, who became eligible with the second semester. Both have given Gaylord much needed heigth. Jim Milbrandt has done much to bolster the Ramblers and may be the deciding factor in the Friday meeting. A win by Gaylord would give them a stronger hold on fourth place while a win by Boyne City would put them in a tie for the position.

Pellston had a six-point win over Mancelona when the latter played at the northern city earlier in the season. Since then the Hornets have been defeated by the Rayders with whom they now share first place. Mancelona, in third place with three wins in seven starts will prove a threat to the top-bracket five, particularly on their own floor. The Ironmen have heigth, which is Pellston's chief stock, and it may be the thing that can stop the Hornets. Pellston is apt to find themselves playing one of their toughest games to date.

Harbor Springs will be playing a return game at Petoskey where they were defeated by a 50-36 score in December. Petoskey has been posting wins week after week and can be expected to add Harbor's scalp to the list.

Petoskey was to play at Boyne City and Mancelona at Kalkaska in non-loop games Tuesday night.

Winter Sprays Cheaper

Winter sprays are the cheapest and most convenient way to get rid of troublesome brush along drainage ditches, fence rows and in pastures.

Avoid Building Mistakes

You can avoid costly mistakes by planning your farm construction and improvements well in advance, say Michigan State college agricultural economists.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Experienced Hand Wanted

Cappy Miller's back from visiting relatives and tells about a big snow storm that knocked out the electric power for miles around.

Naturally, the local power company was doing everything possible to restore service but folks kept calling in and one woman gave them a new twist.

"I don't mind not having lights," she grumbled, "but I've got 20 cows in my barn and they all have to be milked by machine. Nobody around here knows how to milk a cow by hand any more."

From where I sit, it's only too easy to forget how to do something—even as simple as milking a cow—if we don't keep at it. And that goes for practicing tolerance, too. Like forgetting our neighbor has a right to decide for himself whether or not to enjoy a temperate glass of beer. If we don't keep the other fellow's point of view in mind we're all liable to get "snowed under" by intolerance.

Charlie Harlem Gallagher can well serve as a veterinarian if the occasion arises. The other evening his prize horse very suddenly became ill. Charlie decided that the best thing to do would be to warm the animal as much as possible. Over he goes to his nearest neighbor to see what he can scrape up in the line of warming fluid. He returns with a pint of gin and gives it to the horse. He then goes to town and buys a fifth of whiskey. He gives it to the horse along with two ounces of ginger. After wrapping the animal well in blankets he waited for the outcome. The result was — the horse is stepping around just as lively as he ever has.

Paul Kenwabikisee went to High Island and back Monday on foot. He reports that there is plenty of ice.

A Mr. Johnson and a Mr. Pasho of Cheboygan, Mich., flew in this week to do some fishing through the ice. The fishing hasn't been as good as we expected but is improving some.

Top Ag Specialists Head Program for Little Farmers' Week

Nine recognized authorities on agricultural subjects will co-operate with Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, in offering the farmers of Charlevoix county a "Little Farmers' Week" to be held in the Court House at Charlevoix beginning Monday and continuing through Friday of next week. Programs will begin promptly at 1:30 every afternoon with a different agricultural topic being covered each day.

Every agricultural subject to be presented and discussed has been selected because of its importance to farmers in this county and area. Topics will include poultry; farm building; beef cattle, hogs and sheep in northern Michigan; chemical weed control; plant diseases, control and prevention; crops and soils in this area; plant and animal insect control; antibiotic feeing, calf care, Bangs, and breeding problems; efficiency, cost cutting and the outlook for agriculture in the county.

There also is scheduled a little time each day for fun and relaxation. Charlevoix business men are contributing a sizeable number of gifts to be given away at every meeting (no strings attached, just be there). Total value of the gifts contributed to date is near the $500.00 mark and more are being offered every day.

Program Outline

George Sweet, MSC poultry extension specialist, will be here for the Monday, Feb. 11, meeting. He will offer pointers on broiler production, successful methods with layers, when and where to buy chicks, housing and disease problems. He also will report on present research work at the college.

Tuesday

The two topics Tuesday will be on farm buildings and livestock. Robert Maddex, extension specialist in agricultural engineering will tell of the latest developments in pen-type barns, trench silos, pole barns and report on the new self-feeding silos at MSC. He has offered to tackle questions raised by farmers at the 1:30 p.m. session. Second half of this meeting will be taken over by Wilton L. Finley, animal husbandry specialist. His talk will cover a beef program for northern Michigan, possibilites of growing more hogs from local crops, and the future of the sheep industry in this area.

Wednesday

Wednesday's meeting will be devoted to weed control and plant diseases. Methods of weed control will be presented by Dr. Buford H. Grigsby of the MSC department of botany at MSC. He is a pioneer in the field of chemical weed control and is qualified to offer valuable advice on this modern method of fighting weeds in all types of crops. The second phase of the crop problem will be handled by Edward A. Andrews, specialist in plant diseases. He will discuss methods of control and prevention and report on the newest fungicides for 1952.

Thursday

The Thursday meeting covers soils, crops and insects. Dennie L. Clanahao, farm crops specialist, will discuss and answer questions on soils and crops in northern Michigan and report on trial plot experiments conducted in this part of the state. New insecticides and their uses will be covered by Ray L. Janes, entomologist specialist. His subject matter will include control of bugs in legumes grown for seed and hay and control of livestock insects.

Friday

Closing the program Friday afternoon will be Dr. Glen W. Reed, extension specialist in animal pathology, covering such subjects as antibiotics in feeding, mastitis, care of calves, control of Bangs, and breeding problems. To close the final session, Everett M. Elwood, farm management specialist, will review the outlook for various farm enterprises in 1952, along with efficiency and cost cutting methods.

PROMOTION of a "Little Farmers' Week" marks the first attempt of this kind to bring a resume of the material offered at Michigan State college Farmers' Week within the reach of all farmers in the northern five counties of the lower peninsula. While conditions prohibit the extension demonstrations and exhibits offered at State, the program here will give farmers an opportunity to get first hand the most advanced knowledge about the wide range of farming subjects to be presented.

All meetings are open to the public and Rebman especially urges all farmers in the county and adjacent areas to attend any or all meetings. He states that the value of the information to be presented cannot help but result in more efficient farming and more profits to the farmer.

Farm Outlook for 1951 Is Topic For Friday Session

The outlook for different farming enterprises for 1952 will be one of the features of the "Little Farmers' Week" programs at the Court House in Charlevoix, Friday afternoon, February 15, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Cutting labor costs by efficiency in doing chores and a discussion of why farmers should continue dairying is in the schedule for Everett M. Elwood, extension specialist in farm management at Michigan State college, who is program speaker.

EVERETT M. ELWOOD

Elwood is familiar with farming conditions and problems in Michigan. He is a native of Lenawee county and has worked with farmers and farm groups in solving their business problems. He attended Michigan State college and the University of Illinois, and served as a farm management specialist with the Farm Security Administration from 1935 to 1942.

Elwood has planned his afternoon program especially for farmers of the county and has offered to tackle special problems presented by farmers.

Bossy May Get More Phosphorus Than Necessary

Some Michigan dairy cows may be getting more phosphorus than they need. Feeding phosphorus above the cow's actual needs won't hurt her but it does cost money . . . probably about $1.50 a year.

A recent survey made by the dairy extension department at Michigan State College, and reported by extension dairyman, J. G. Hays, indicates that about half of the leading dairy farmers feed their cows steamed bone meal to supply phosphorus.

Chances are that not all these herds need bone meal because good dairymen feed legume hay which is a fair source of phosphorus. They feed corn and oats which equal alfalfa in phosphorus content. They feed soybean oil meal which runs three-fourths of a pound of phosphorus to a hundred pounds, or cottonseed meal which runs a pound a hundred, or bran which runs a pound and a quarter a hundred.

Dr. C. F. Huffman, dairy researcher at the college, says that cows probably don't need extra phosphorus if they are fed mainly alfalfa for roughage. The same thing holds true if the grain ration contains at least one-sixth of a concentrate like soybean oil meal.

One of the best ways to supply phosphorus if you think it is needed is to let the cows help herself to a mixture of three parts of salt and one part of bone meal. Or you can self-feed the salt and bone meal side by side and let the cow decide if she wants some.

Losing one hog to cholera costs as much as vaccinating many young pigs.

Soils, Crop Problems Topic for Thursday

Dennie L. Clenahan, extension specialist in Farm Crops at Michigan State college, will be one of the speakers at the Little Farmers' Week" program the week of February 11 in Charlevoix county.

D. L. CLANAHAN

Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, reports that the crops authority will speak and answer questions of farmers on Thursday afternoon, February 14 at a meeting to begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Court House at Charlevoix.

The Michigan State college speaker is familiar with crops and soils problems in northern Michigan. He served for 20 years as crops specialist in the upper peninsula and for the last two years in the northern part of the lower peninsula.

The county agricultural agent invites farmers to attend the session at which Clanahan will discuss varieties of small grains, corn and alfalfa suitable for this area. Results of trail plots in the area and seed production problems will also be outlined.

Stock Piling of Logs Is Suggested for Future Need

If you need a new barn, house, tool shed, poultry house or milk house you'd better start thinking about the cost, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

There is no cheaper source of lumber available to Michigan farmers than from their own woodlots, Rebman contends. Such species as hemlock, red, white and jack pine, red elm, red oak and aspen are all very good woods for farm construction.

At a time like this when lumber prices are high the material to construct farm buildings can be obtained from the woodlot at a cost of $25 to $40 for a thousand board feet. This is approximately one-third the price of regular retail lumber.

County agent Rebman points out that logs can be cut, skidded, and hauled to the mill this winter and the lumber sawed out well in advance of the actual building job. It takes from 6 to 10 months to season or dry the lumber before it is used.

The practice of seasoning wood in the log should not be followed. Logs should be sawed into lumber as soon after they are cut as possible. If left during the spring and early summer the wood will stain and early stages of decay will act in. Some species such as red, white and jack pine will not only stain badly but are also very susceptible to damage by insects such as wood borers.

Instructions for the proper air seasoning of lumber are available in the Michigan State college Extension Folder F-114 entitled, "Seasoning of Home Grown Lumber". These folders are available at all county agricultural agents' offices.

Lowering Seeding Cost

Seed cleaning, testing and treating are good farm practices every year. They are especially important this year with increased costs of putting that seed in the soil.

Cites Precautions to Stop Spread Of Vicious Hog Cholera

Hog cholera is still a vicious swine killer and it can be stopped only through strict precautions, sanitary measures and vaccination, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, reminded farmers this week.

He said that there is no known cure once an animal is stricken with hog cholera. With hog profits depending largely on reducing death loss it doesn't pay to take chances.

Truck tires and farmers' shoes can spread hog cholera and other acute swine diseases. The county agricultural agent pointed out three ways for exposing the swine herd to disease outbreaks.

One is to visit hog lots where swine diseases are known to exist. Germs may stick to shoes or clothing and when the farmer returns to his own hog lot, he may bring sickness with him

Another way is to drive trucks into livestock lots. The driver's shoes, the truck tires or the truck bed may be infected. Trucks should be disinfected between loads if they go where stock is quartered.

The third method of spreading disease mentioned by the county agent is by rendering company trucks which have hauled dead animals. They may be sources of disease exposure if allowed in livestock yards.

Dairy Cow Grain Ration Determined By Milk Production

A dairy cow that's giving 10 pounds a milking needs less then a pound of grain at a feeding if she is eating all the good roughage she can hold. The same cow on the same roughage diet needs four times as much grain if she gives twice as much milk.

These facts have been pointed out by Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. He says that dairymen must weigh or measure the feed given to every cow and keep a record of milk production if top profits are to be realized.

Rebman advises farmers to try more or less grain per cow to see what effect it has on her milk production. If additional grain results in additional milk that's worth more than the cost of the grain, you're profiting from the additional grain feeding.

"Wash basins, scoop shovels and old derby hats are out as satisfactory ways of measuring grain," Rebman says, because they aren't accurate enough. Either weigh the grain or use a measure that is accurate, like a straight-sided pail. Of course you won't have time to measure every feeding exactly but you can come close without much extra trouble.

Keeping a record of the amount of grain fed to your cows is important if you want to avoid wasting grain. Another reason is that the cow's appetite is no safe guide as to the amount of grain she can profitably use in her business.

If you want further information on how much grain to feed your cows, ask your county agricultural agent for "Feeding the Dairy Cow in the Non-Pasture Season." The real test is to figure whether additional grain will result in enough more milk to more than pay for itself. That's the key to figuring profits.

Here's to Better Farming!

Yes, we're all interested in better farming.

You as farm producers and we as dairy operators are interested in obtaining the top prices for your produce. Starting with the soil, the job of increasing dairy products' yield is a hard one.

And yet farming in Charlevoix county and surrounding areas has undergone great changes in recent years thanks to the co-operation of the farmers, farm agent and others of us interested in this section of the state.

You as dairy producers are interested in learning how to improve your production. If you prosper in your farm program, all of us will gain from it.

Keeping Up With The Times

The latest step of the Jordan Valley Co-Operative Creamery in buying fluid milk was started to answer the demand of many farmers who wanted an outlet for their fluid milk.

While the fluid milk program was only started by Your Co-Operative Creamery a few months ago, indications are to the point that it is gaining more and more acceptance.

The Creamery in marketing butterfat in this area met with many obstacles but all were overcome. Through the years, the butterfat program has resulted in greater dividends and a better product for the individual dairy producer.

Likewise the fluid milk program is aiming to help the dairy farmers in the district have an accepted outlet for their fluid milk.

We promise you that we will continue to work diligently for the benefit of Your Co-Operative Creamery and for you.

Keeping Fields And Crops Well Is Wednesday Topic

Keeping field and vegetable crops from getting sick will be easier for farmers who are at the Court House in Charlevoix at 1:30 p.m., Wednesday afternoon, February 13, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Edward A. Andrews, extension specialist in plant diseases at Michigan State college, will be there as one of the "Little Farmers' Week" program speakers. Andrews will give pointers on preventing rust and smut in small grain, blight in tomatoes and potatoes, and legume diseases. He also will tell farmers about new fungicides for use in 1952.

EDWARD A. ANDREWS

Andrews is one of several Michigan State college speakers who will be on hand for meetings in the county every afternoon at 1:30 p.m., during the week of February 11. They all will discuss practical problems of today's agriculture and answer special questions raised by farmers.

Farmers to Learn Best Chemical Weed Control

One of the pioneers in chemical weed control, Dr. Buford H. Grigsby, of the department of botany at Michigan State college, will be at the Court House in Charlevoix county as one of the "Little Farmers' Week" speakers, Wednesday afternoon, February 13.

The meeting will start at 1:30 p.m., according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, and similar meetings will be held every afternoon of the week of February 11.

Dr. Buford H. Grigsby

Grigsby will give tips on chemical weed control for such pests as mustard, wild carrot, quack grass and thistle. Controlling weeds in pastures, crops and lawns from the standpoint of dollars and cents will be discussed. Farmers who have particular weed control problems will have a chance to get help with them at the meeting, Rebman said.

Overheated Iron Harmful to Rayon

There are times in life when we do not strike when the iron is hot. One of those times is when we iron rayons, says a Michigan State college clothing specialist.

On a rayon blouse or slip the fusing together of two thicknesses, or the shiny patches around buttons and shoulder seams are sure indications that the iron was too hot, reports Josephine Martin of the textiles clothing and related arts department at MSC.

All rayons must be given cool-iron treatment, she says, but special care should be taken with acetate rayon that tends to wilt and shine more readily than another common rayon, viscose. The trouble is, there is no real means of identifying acetate or viscose from the fabric itself unless the garment is labeled.

So best be safe with a cool iron for all rayons. By "cool" she means 300 degrees or less.

Janes to Reveal Newest Methods of Insect Control

Charlevoix county farmers will learn about new insecticides and their uses at a meeting in the Court House at Charlevoix, Thursday afternoon, February 14, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Ray L. Janes, extension specialist in entomology, at Michigan State college will be the source of that information. The event will be the "Little Farmers' Week" with special programs every afternoon during the week of February 11. Initiated this year by Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent and other county agents in this area, the "Little Farmers' Week" brings specialists from Michigan State college in several different fields to the county.

Among other subjects to be discussed by Janes will be bug control in legumes grown for seed and hay, and control of livestock insects. And farmers with special insect control problems can get help from Janes during the question period, the county agent said.

Control Brush With Chemicals

Brush growing in or along drainage ditches may now be controlled with winter application of brush killer sprays applied to the bark just above the ground line.

This treatment permits the use of hand equipment and the work may be done at any time of the year. Now is a good time to do it when other farm work isn't so pressing. Keith C. Barrons, Midland agronomist with the Dow Chemical Company, told Farmers' Week visitors at Michigan State College last week.

The agronomist urged farmers to control brush and tall-growing weeds in and along the sides of drainage ditches to keep them flowing properly. A little maintenance each year or two will eliminate costly cleaning later on, he pointed out.

Higher Production Costs Calls for Increased Poundage Per Animal

Beef cattle producers who are interested in making the most profit in the face of higher farm land values and higher lador, feed and machinery costs will have to produce more beef from every animal they feed.

In order to do this, two principles are of top importance, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. They are selection of breeding stock to produce fast-prowing animals that go to market yielding desirable carcasses and culling low producers from both commercial and purebred herds.

Selection of good breeding stock is not a simple procedure. Herd sires must be chosen on the basis of type, size, growth ability and ability to sire fast-gaining calves. Cows should be picked for their size and type too, plus lifetime production and milk-producing ability.

Pick animals that grow fast and reach high mature weights at an early age for your herd. Cows as well as sires, should be selected from cow families that have good milk production, because the mother's milk is one of the most important factors in determining the calf's weight at weaning time.

Commercial cattlemen are asking for a factual record of performance for each individual animal or group of animals they buy. They are becoming much more critical because they recognize the importance of selecting stock on a more reliable basis than appearance alone, Rebman said. And they're culling their low producers more rigidly because of high costs of boarding them.

Cites Low Cost of Minerals for Cows

Fifty cents a year will provide the needed cobalt and iodine for a Michigan dairy cow, according to James A. Hays, Michigan State college extension dairyman.

He arrives at this figure by calculating the extra cost of a trace mineralized salt which contains enough cobalt and iodine for the cow's needs, if self-fed. A cow needs 75 to 100 pounds of salt a year. Salt with trace minerals included costs about 50 cents more than common salt—hence the half-dollar figure.

Reed to Speak on Cattle Diseases, Breeding Problems

Effect of antibiotics in feeding, suggestions for mastitis care, calf care, control of Bangs disease and how to deal with breeding problems will be topics discussed by Dr. Glen W. Reed, extension specialist in animal pathology at Michigan State college, at the "Little Farmers' Week" program in Charlevoix county, Friday afternoon, February 15.

GLEN W. REED

Dr. Reed is one of the speakers from MSC who will be on hand for discussions with farmers in the county every afternoon at 1:30 Monday through Friday during the week of February 11, at the Court House at Charlevoix.

After receiving his bachelor's degree from Manchester College in Manchester, Indiana, Dr. Reed went to Michigan State college for a degree in veterinary medicine, which he received in 1939. He practiced as a veterinarian at Constantine before joining the College staff in 1947.

Dr. Reed will answer questions of farmers at the "Little Farmers' Week" program and will aim his talk to help answer questions being considered by many farmers today.

Soil Building

Grass and legumes in rotation with other crops help build soils. Soil fertility and productive capacity has been declined at an alarming rate in past year.

Early Treatment For Spittle Bugs Gets Best Results

"You can get best returns from spittle bug treatments of legumes grown for hay if you treat early while the spittle bugs are young and before the legume crop is too old," Ray L. Janes, extension entomologist at Michigan State college, told Farmers' Week visitors this week.

Another angle to early treating is that it avoids the possibility of having undersirable poisonous residues on the crop at harvest time. Successful and safe treating of legumes for spittle bug control can only be done early before the plants are five inches high.

Janes told the campus visitors that the only way to tell whether or not treatment will pay is to examine fields in late April aad early May. "The orange-colored young bugs will first be found in tiny specks of foam or froth in the crown or on other parts of the growing plant. Treatments should not be delayed later than about 10 days after the first eggs hatch or not later than when the plants are five inches high. If there is less than one spittle mass to the plant it is questionable whether or not it will pay to treat.

He warned against treating within 35 to 40 days of harvest time for the crop. Pasturing should be avoided for the same length of time after spraying.

One spray treatment calls for use of benzene hexachloride or lindane at the rate of two-tenths of a pound of gamma isomer to the acre in 100 gallons of water. This would amount to either 4 pounds of 5 percent; three and three-tenths pounds of 6 percent; or 2 pounds of the 10 percent wettable gamma benzene hexachloride per acre in 100 gallons of water. If you prefer lindane, use eight-tenths of a pound of the 25 percent wettable lindane powder to 100 gallons of water.

Toxaphene may be used at the rate of one and a half pounds to the acre. Either the liquid concentrate or the wettable powder can be used. Toxaphene may be more dangerous from the poisonous residue standpoint than either benzene hexachloride or lindane Therefore it should not be used later than when the plants are 4 inches high or 40 days before harvest.

Dust may be used, too. Janes recommends either a one percent lindane or a one percent gamma isomer benzene hexachloride dust at the rate of 25 to 30 pounds to the acre.

Plan Garden Early

Now is the time to start planning your 1952 garden, according to Michigan State College specialists. They remind that fresh vegetables and fruits from your garden will cut living costs and improve the family diet.

Poultry Day Topics Planned to Cover Problems of County Farmers

Answers to a wide variety of poultry questions will be available to farmers of Charlevoix county Monday afternoon, February 11 when George Sweet, Michigan State College poultry extension specialist, appears on the "Little Farmers' Week" program at Court House in Charlevoix.

At the meeting due to start at 1:30 p.m., Sweet will give farmers pointers on broiler production, a successful laying flock program, and some reports on the research work being done at the college. He also will discuss baby chicks, what kind, when and where to buy. He will talk about housing, deep litter, cannibalism, and diseases of poultry at the meeting too.

Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, helped to arrange for Sweet and other college authorities to be on the programs every afternoon of the week of February 11. The county agent listed topics that would be of most value to farmers of the county. Sweet has agreed to meet these needs and answer any more particular questions raised by farmers attending the meeting.

Hens Want Water In Liquid Form

Laying hens need lots of water in their business but they prefer it in the liquid form, not ice. William A. Aho, extension poultryman at Michigan State college said that a few changes can make a watering system more effective in winter.

If water freezes in your laying house, Aho suggests using a galvanized metal box with a 50-watt bulb placed underneath the water pan. That will give off enough heat to keep water from freezing in the house and is inexpensive to make.

A fully automatic system can be made with drain pipes, float valves and heating cable. Poultry raisers can save themselves trouble, time and money if they check with their power company farm service man for pointers on proper installation.

You will agree that frozen foods are delicious, economical and convenient to have when they are properly prepared. But too often improper processing results in less appetizing food and considerable waste.

This is especially true with meats. Unless the home processor has adequate facilities for proper cooling and is an experienced meat cutter the results may be loss of meat and a poor quality product.

The full week of meetings for Charlevoix county farmers has been dreamed of for many, many years. But always there was some obstacle.

The co-operation of Ed Rebman's office, the college, the farmers and others whose livelihood depends on successful farming, should be close enough that continuance of the farmers week, started here this year, will be a matter of record. Let's continue the program in years to come . . .

Hit and Miss Farming

THERE WAS A DAY when most farmers worked on a "hit and miss" basis. There were many "ifs" that made or ruined a crop, and the main objective was to raise enough food for the family and a little livestock. For cash the farmer worked in the woods, teamed, or took any job available during the winter months.

NOW the picture has changed and farming is operated on a business basis with an eye toward a cash profit in addition to a good living for the family. This change and the success attained today has been accomplished by more "know-how" — education, experiment and exchange of experience.

TODAY our agriculture has reached a level never heretofore attained in the history of the world — and there's a reason. One of the forces that has lead to our achievement is the untiring efforts of our county agricultural agents in co-operation with our agricultural colleges and their extension specialists.

NOW ANOTHER BIG STEP in the dissemination of the latest in agricultural "know-how" — a Little Farmers' Week in Northern Michigan. This one-week program, arranged to meet the particular problems of the farmers in this area, ties in with our efforts to improve our agriculture. Take the "hit and miss" out of farming and replace it with more "know-how" and we can all profit by a better agriculture.

World in Review

THE MOST dramatic news of week was the announcement from London of the death of King George VI, which occurred at 5:45 a.m. Wednesday. The whole world was saddened by the passing of this monarch, who had endeared himself to more than just the hearts of his British empire, which he has ruled for the past fifteen years. Funeral services are being planned for Friday, February 15.

The new Queen, Elizabeth II, arrived in London last Friday and immediately assumed the duties of the British empire.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN made a surprise decision this week when he announced that he would keep his name in the New Hampshire presidential preference primary election March 11. This action promises to be an intense "popularity contest" between Truman and Tennessee's Senator Kefauver (D.) The White House doesn't believe Mr. Truman's action is any indication that he will run for re-election.

School Project Plans Will Be Available Soon

Working plans for the construction of Charlevoix's $225,000 school project are expected to be available by March 1, following the announcement that priorities have been authorized for the allotment of controlled materials, Supt. Roy G. Bennett announced Wednesday.

The Warren S. Holmes Co. of Lansing, architects for the new structures, notified the Charlevoix Board of Education last week that scarce materials such as steel will be made available by the National Production Authority after April 1.

The school will advertise for bids as soon as the plans are approved by the local board of Education.

The plans call for the addition of four rooms to the present elementary school and the construction of a new high school unit to house music and industrial arts.

Patrol Gets Set for Klondike Derby

The Apache patrol of Boy Scout Troop 11 receive some pointers from Scout master Robert C. Ashdon as they make repairs on their Klondike sled prior to entering the second northern Michigan Derby at Boyne City Sunday. Tony Ashdon is patrol leader. The unit is one of five local patrols which are participating in the Derbys in observation of National Boy Scout week.

City Council Approves Hydro Plant Vote

Two major resolutions discussed earlier by the city council were adopted at the regular council meeting Monday night.

The first was to place before the qualified voters of the City a proposal to sell the Bellaire hydro-plant. The issue will appear on the ballot in the April General election.

The city, which has used the Bellaire plant to supplement the local supply of electricity has received an offer of $80,000 for the plant as it stands from the village of Bellaire. If the Bellaire plant is sold the council intends to use the funds received for the betterment of the Charlevoix plant.

Tentative plans were also made for a public meeting late in March to acquaint the public with the proposal. At that time J. B. Sims, consulting engineer for the city of Charlevoix and an engineer representing the village of Bellaire would address the public and explain the proposal.

The council also formally adopted a resolution granting permission to the Charlevoix hospital board to connect the proposed hospital with city electric, sewage and water utility lines and mains and to furnish utilities at the proposed Trailer Park site or any other site selected by the Charlevoix hospital board, provided the cost of extending and connecting the utilities are paid by the hospital board.

Father-Son Banquet Attended by 200

Two hundred hungry fathers and sons gathered at the Methodist church dining room Thursday evening for the annual Father-Son banquet.

An entertaining program including an address by Dr. G. E. Whitten, music under the direction of C. A. Odmark, with Roy G. Bennett serving as toastmaster was enjoyed by the guests.

Five Charlevoix Boy Scout patrols joined with the Scouts of 11 other northern Michigan communities Sunday in a Klondike Derby staged at Petoskey as a part of Boy Scout week activities.

Charlevoix's entries were Apache patrol with Tony Ashdon as patrol leader; Cobra patrol, Kit Carson; Black Panther, patrol, Charles Dennis; Beaver patrol, Ernie Smith, all members of Boy Scout troop 11 and Explorer Scout Bear patrol with Larry Burns as patrol leader. They are members of Explorer Scout troop 211. Robert C. Ashdon, scout master, and Leonard Burns, post advisor, accompanied the boys.

Three of Charlevoix's entries placed among the top ten with the other two listed among the next ten for a "good" rating. They were among 27 patrols from 12 communities.

The boys will have another opportunity to show their ability this Sunday when they go to Boyne City to participate in another Klondike Derby at the Boyne City airport. The event will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Pellston, Epsilon and Carp Lake took the first three spots in the Petoskey event which was held at the Winter Sports park.

During the 1½ hour trek each patrol was called upon to perform knot-tying, observation, fire-building, pacing and first aid along a half-mile course.

Charlevoix has more than 50 boys in the scouting program, which is sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

Boy Scout troop 11 has 35 boys in four patrols. The Explorer scouts, composed of boys in the older age group, has 22 members in four patrols.

The younger boys in the cubbing program will observe the tenth anniversary of cubbing in Charlevoix at the annual Blue and Gold banquet at the high school cafeteria Feb. 19.

At that time cubbers, numbering 28 in three dens, their den mothers, parents and cub master, will meet for the banquet and program.

Uno Suomela is cub master and Toni Coxe is assistant cub master.

Buttricks Find Indonesia Land of Varied Problems

Our visit to Indonesia was the first of its kind to be made by an American churchman; and, in view of the feeling against a white face, everyone had a certain amount of hesitation, before we came. But everything went excellently and we believe that better understanding is the result of our efforts. But we wish we could have been there longer.

The religion and customs of the country reflects its history as the islands wereenvied and conquered by one set of traders after another. Basically animists, and still strongly so, the people have adopted the religion of their conquerors and superimposed it on animism. We happened to be standing beside a sacred cannon the other day (left by the Portugese) and watched a little Moslem drop some incense into a small fire, beat his hand over the fire and put it on the end of the cannon (which strangely had a castiron hand there) and, as his wife stood by said: "My wife is with child, you enter into her and see that she brings forth a male child". That is animism.

Hinduism is still found in scattered spots, particularly in Bali, but mostly all you can see are the ruins of one time temples.

Mohammedanism is the faith of the majority in the islands, brought by traders in the 13th and 14th centuries, but it is not a fanatic variety. Catholic Christianity was brought by the Portuguese, but has never been very strong. The Dutch brought the Protestant faith, and have left a fine church—strong in influence rather than in numbers. There are about two million Protest-

Business Group Discusses Area Development

More than 20 northern businessmen and women, including Mayor John Knight, members of Northwestern Michigan Development Association, met at the city hall Tuesday afternoon with Ben Clark of the Department of Economic Development in Lansing. They discussed ways to encourage small industry to locate in northern Michigan and the possibility of securing the services of a part time agent to promote the cause.

At a dinner held at the Argonne following the meeting, Mr. Clark spoke briefly, telling the group to stress such advantages as water supply, lack of state corporation tax and labor.

The next meeting will be held at the Dilworth Hotel in Boyne City March 4. The group represents 10 northern counties.

Concert Draws Good Attendance

C. A. Odmark, director of the Charlevoix high school band, presented the musical group in a concert at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening.

A good crowd heard a program of music which will be played at the Band and Orchestra Qualifying Festival at Traverse City next week, as well as selections by the all-senior band and soloist and ensemble groups who won top ratings at the solo-ensemble festival at Harbor Springs recently.

A program of popular selections and marches by the entire band were also well received.

Draft Board Lists Seven Men to Report

Three Charlevoix men will be among the seven from the county who have been called for induction into the armed forces in February.

The men have been ordered to report at the city hall here at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 26, for transportation to the Detroit induction center.

The local men who have been called are Edwin C. Mann, who will leave from here; John R. Gallagher who now lives at Saulte Ste. Marie and will leave from there and Arthur Christ, jr., now of Lansing who will leave from the southern Michigan city.

Other men from elsewhere in the county are: Merle L. Hammontree of Boyne City; Richard J. Kleinschrodt of Boyne Falls; Donald L. Trojanek and Raymond R. Romback of East Jordan.

Ten men will be called for induction and 30 men for pre-induction physicals in March. The dates of the calls will be announced later.

Max Novak of the Veterans Institute here was in Lansing Monday to participate in a panel discussion regarding the veterans farm program.

Local School To Be Host For Visitation Day

Charlevoix will be host to students from other schools in the Northern Michigan Class C conference when they gather here Monday for the second annual Visitation Day.

Purpose of the event is to further acquaint the students of the schools with the manner in which various events are conducted in neighboring schools. The visitors will attend classes, discuss student activities, meet for a conference and panel discussion and attend a luncheon.

The Charlevoix student council and H. E. Bingham, high school principal, are planning the program.

Invitations have been issued to Boyne City, who was host to the conference last year, East Jordan, Gaylord, Mancelona, Pellston and Harbor Springs to send representatives to the council.

Hospital Board To Hear New Site Proposal

A proposition to acquire a site on Garfield st. for the new Charlevoix hospital will be heard by the Hospital Board at a special meeting Thursday evening, according to Fred Willis, president of the board.

This special meeting has been called at the request of Ted Miller and Pete Winnick who have been campaigning to get the hospital board to use the Garfield street location for the new hospital. Miller and Winnick have indicated they have an option on this property and that they have made arrangements to give the property to the board for a hospital site. It is expected Miller and Winnick will present complete details of their offer at the Thursday meeting.

Willis states that the calling of this special meeting has been unavoidably delayed because heretofore there have not been enough board members available at one time for a quorum. It is his opinion the board should be well represented at a meeting of this kind.

Reports of the survey recently made at the proposed trailer park site are now being analyzed by the board, according to Willis, but estimates of utility construction angles have not been completed he says.

The deadline for requesting bids on the new hospital is June 1, according to Willis.

Lions to Stage White Cane Dance

The Charlevoix Lions club has announced that it will stage a White Cane dance to be held at the Argonne, Thursday evening, Feb. 21. Purpose of the party is to raise funds with which the local chapter of the organization can help in the national program in giving aid to the blind.

Entertainment, and novelty dances, including a White Cane dance, will be featured during the evening, according to Wayne Belding, chairman of the committee, who will be assisted by Bill Matsinger and Herman Theiry.

Music will be furnished by the Wayne Belding Trio, which includes Belding, "Tip" Riley and Joe Hanna. Tickets may be had from any member of the Lions club.

Voters To Decide Contests Monday

Contests in the first and third wards are expected to bring out a large vote in the city Primary Election Monday, February 18.

Voters in the first ward will go to the polls to select an alderman and supervisor while third ward voters will choose an aderman.

Mayor John Knight, treasurer Nelle A. Hammond and city clerk Hugh Mayne, are unopposed on the ballot for their respective offices.

First ward voters will find the names of Drew Young incumbent, and Donald Herrick for the aldermanic post.

Young was appointed in October to fill the unexpired term of William Heering who resigned because of ill health. He had previously served as second ward alderman and in 1951 was a candidate for mayor.

Herrick, who is assosiated with the Campbell Boot Shop, is a newcomer to city politics and is seeking his first office.

George O. Haggard, incumbent first ward supervisor, is a slip candidate for re-election to the office after failing to file his petition at the designated time. He will find opposition in Kit Carson, local lumber dealer and merchant.

Ralph S. Hamilton, incumbent, and Dean Davenport have entered the aldermanic race in the third ward. Hamilton is seeking re-election after serving one term. Dean Davenport is running for a city office for the first time.

C. B. Meggison, veteran third ward supervisor, is unopposed.

Another new name, that of Ray L. Kipke, will appear on the second ward ballot for the office of alderman. He is unopposed. Incumbent Carl F. Kohler cannot seek re-election since he has moved from the ward.

Arthur Bergeon is unopposed for the second ward supervisor's post.

Charlevoix has approximately 1755 registered voters with 322 in the first ward, 811 in the second ward and 622 in the third ward.

The polls at the city hall will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the Primary election Monday.

You Can't Beat A Good Story, True or Not

This is the story of a story . . . a beaver Island story, that is.

Lumber contractor Joseph McNamee came off the island one day last week with the tale of an island resident, Mrs. Frances Mooney, strangling a coyote when it attacked her after her 14-year-old son, Adonis, had wounded it at their farm 2½ miles out of St. James.

Such bravery should not go unheralded, he felt, so he was telling everyone about it.

But when the story was checked it was found there was a coyote . . . and from there on it was another story. Mr. Mooney and two of the boys shot the animal a quarter of a mile from their home on Barney's Lake where a trio of the animals were feeding.

Mrs. Mooney brought the animal to town Monday to claim the bounty, someone took it from her sleigh, showed it to McNamee . . . and the story was born.

Leona Scott Selected For D.A.R. Award

Leona Scott, a Charlevoix high school senior, has been selected to receive the Good Citizenship award offered annually by the Michigan Society Daughters of the American Revolution.

The announcement was made by Mrs. Earl A. Young, local member of the Pe-to-se-ga chapter D.A.R. of Petoskey, which sponsored the selection.

The award carries with it the presentation of a D.A.R. Good Citizenship pin and the privilege of becoming a candidate for the state award of a $100.00 U. S. Government Bond.

Leona plans to make the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Pilgrimmage to Detroit March 21 where the state award winner will be chosen at a luncheon.

The selection of the award winner is made on the basis of a

Get Out The Vote

Vote now or don't complain later has always been our theory. We realize that in next Monday's Primary there are not too many contests, but where there are opponents for an office, each of our readers probably has a definite preference.

You may feel that this is "just a Primary" so why vote? The answer is that this is an ELECTION YEAR and therefore a good time to get into the habit of voting. Too often the good citizens of a city such as Charlevoix say "Let the other fellow vote" and then, when the election results don't please them, they start complaining. If they have not bothered to vote, whether it be on a local, state or national scale, they have no right to complain later that their government is not conducted in a proper manner.

Voting is not only a privilege which goes with a Democracy, it is also a duty which conscientious citizens must perform to help that system of government intact which has us the position of the leader in World affairs.

Exercise your privilege and your duty — GET THE VOTING HABIT.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Dear Editor:

In reply to friend Archie Murphy's write up in the Courier two weeks ago. I will not try to go back into the past to find something our representatives have or haven't done but would like to come up to the present Session and refer you to House Bill No. 34 introduced by Walter T McMahon of Hazel Park covering the motor vehicle code which would require farmers to pay a $5 registration fee on their tractors with a 35c per hundred weight added, and according to the bill, that would not give you a right to use them on the road. I can't see where that shows that our urban representatives are too concerned about our welfare.

In reply to Mr. Pearsall's trouble with Farm Bureau Insurance I believe that he can pay that extra $15 out of what he has been able to save in reduced premiums he has had to pay since Farm Bureau has been in the insurance business, but it seems he must have insurance in one of the so-called cheap companies or they would be fighting his case for him and he wouldn't be hiring his own lawyer.

If he read last Friday's Grand Rapids Press he would have seen that it was Mr. Truman and not the Farm Bureau that pleaded with the Senate to loosen controls on foreign cheese and butter. The Senate turned it down by a vote of 47 to 39.

L. E. McGhan, Charlevoix

Dear Editor:

After hearing both sides of the hospital site question, we, the officers of the Barnard Farm Bureau and fellow solicitors feel that we should voice our opinion about this matter.

In the first place, we who acted as solicitors were definitely told that every donor would have a chance to vote as to the location of said hospital. This question came up many times while soliciting and the action of the hospital board is in discord in this respect.

The fact that many of the pledges are on a three year plan should be considered. The donors, if not given a chance to vote on the hospital site as promised may not pay the balance of the pledges.

The new location site seems to be 100% okay with all those we have contacted. It is our opinion that every effort should be made to see if this offer of a site along Garfield Street could be accepted.

Very truly yours,

Signed by:

Frances M. Boss, chairman; John L. Boss, district leader, Sanford Matchett, acting committeeman, Dorothy M. Stoel, secretary; Mrs. Richard Potter, Carlton H. Smith, and Ray Cunningham, solicitors.

OUR COUNTY Clerk, Pete Bulow, was in the process of breaking a record so he thought . . . the month of January was nearly over when he suddenly realized there hadn't been a law suit of any kind started . . . THIS WE LIKE . . . it appeared in a recent NEA Journal which not too many see and we thought you might enjoy it . . . It is 10-year-old Susan's attempt to define citizenship: . . .

Citizenship is something that happens every day, all the time, to everybody. It's just there, like your arm or leg or eye, maybe . . Some people think it's just voting or saying what you like. That's not right. It's always . . . If you won't of had it, you won't of knew how important it is. Some people don't know they have it. Or they forget . . . If you won't of had it, it would make you know what to do . . . Citizenship is being bigger than you are by yourself all alone" . . . Susan's explanation may be difficult to follow, in spots, but maybe more citizens should learn to follow her concepts . . .

CHARLEVOIX had more than a little interest in the selection of the Prince and Princess at Petoskey this year . . . The Princess little Julie Ann Racignol is the niece of the Irv Racignols here and the prince, Tommy Beattie is the son of the Pete Beatties, former residents . . . Incidently, a storm kept Fred Alger from getting here to crown the queen so Joe Clark, a Detroit photographer, was asked to pinch-hit for him and did a bang-up job . . .

THE KING is dead . . . Long live the Queen" has been heard again and again this past week . . . And everyone seems to feel the significance of the saying . . Whether it's because the king and Queen had visited this country, whether the world is attracted to the new Queen because of her youth it's hard to determine . . . But one thing is certain, Everyone is interested . . . and a little sad . . . at the loss of a man loved by his people and at the thought of someone so young accepting the responsibilities of a queen . .

The Girl Scouts have returned to their former 'home' at the city hall.

At the present time the Girl Scout Council is planning several things to make the meeting place more attractive.

A new record changer has been purchased by the council which is now thinking of making draperies.

There is also need for a storage cupboard or bookcase in which to store materials. If anyone has such a piece of furniture and would like to give it to the Scouts they may call a member of the council.

Mrs. John Schroeder has been named Girl Scout cookie chairman for 1952.

The annual cookie sale will be on only three days this year, Feb. 26-27-28.

This sale is of great importance to the local Scouts because it is through the sale of these cookies they help earn funds for camping and other Scout activities.

Troop 8

Nineteen girls are now registered for troop 8 which is meeting at the city hall.

All members are working on their Winter Sports badges. Last Sunday the entire troop went on a hike to Mt. McSauba as part of the requirements for the badge.

Female Turtles

Female sea turtles lay their eggs at night in holes they scoop out in sunwarmed sand a short distance inland from high tides. They may deposit 200 or more eggs of golf-ball size with leathery shells. With the laying, their responsibility ends. Man is but one of many predators that hunt out the eggs for food, or feast on the newly hatched young.

IN ORDINARY FUEL OIL this steel rod is rusted after only a few days in prescribed laboratory test where small proportion of water is added as part of test method. The inside of your steel storage tank rusts the same way because all fuel oil contains minute quantities of water, resulting from moisture condensation.

IN NEW ANTI-RUST SINCLAIR FUEL OIL this steel rod stays clean and rust-free in laboratory test under identical conditions as test at left. That's because RD-119 in the fuel oil prevents rust from forming. RD-119 stops rust in your storage tank, tank trucks and pipe lines in the same way.

Stops Rust that clogs burner nozzles and strainers

Due to the injection of RD-119 at the refinery, Sinclair SuperFlame Fuel Oil now comes to you cleaner and purer than ever. Charlevoix Rayders Continue Victory Stride

Defeats East Jordan By 41-28 Score To Avenge Earlier Loss

The Charlevoix Rayders added another victory in the string which may lead to the Northern Michigan Class C conference championship as they defeated East Jordan 41-28 on the local hardwoods Friday night.

The win by the Rayders avenged an earlier loss to the Jordanites by a two-point margin.

Charlevoix has yet to get past Mancelona, Harbor Springs and Pellston, the latter tied for first place with the Rayders, before the season ends. Both Mancelona and Harbor Springs are a threat, especially on their own floors, while Pellston, gunning for its first league championship is going to be the team to beat between now and March 1.

The Rayders wil host Petoskey Friday but the game will have no bearing on league standings although the Rayders are anticipating a chance to avenge an earlier loss to the Northmen.

The Rayders defense as well as their passing keynoted the Charlevoix victory over the Jordanites as the former went ahead 13-6 in the opening period on two field goals and a pair of free throws by Bill Bennett, a free shot and a field goal by Bill Denemy end Charles Krahnke and Norm Ketchman. Bud Barber was the fifth player in the starting line-up.

Don Whiteford was back in East Jordan's line-up and scored one field goal while Keith Evans at the forward slot scored four points on a field goal and two free throws.

Roman Klinkiewicz, East Jordan center, who is recovering from the flu and a throat infection was not in the line-up.

In the second period the Rayders added another 13 points on four free shots and a bucket by Bennett, a basket and a free throw by Ketchman and two-pointers from the floor by Denemy and Barber. The Red Devils added eight points and the half ended 26-14.

Krahnke with three personal fouls was replaced by Bill Mosier and Evans of East Jordan with four was replaced by Bob Danforth early in the second period.

THE GAME slowed down in the third quarter as the local quintet tallied only eight points on f.g.s by Krahnke who re-entered the game mid-way in the period, a field goal and two gift shots by Bennett and two free throws by Denemy.

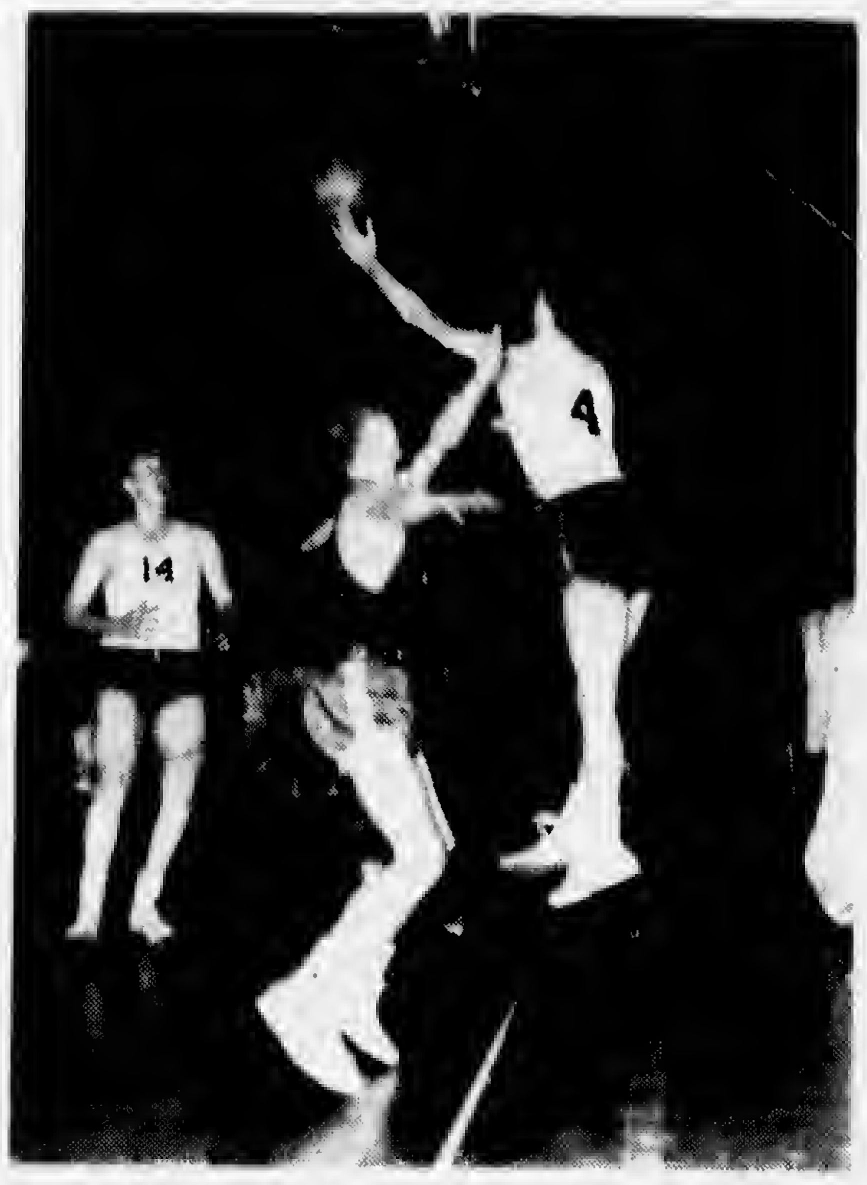
Before the period ended Dean Davenport had replaced Krahnke, who had added a fourth personal foul. East Jordan scored six points and the third period ended 32-20.

Denemy and Bennett each tallied three points on a field goal end free throw apiece end Jim Lewis added a free throw for seven points as the game ended 41-28. East Jordan hed their best quarter with eight points. Frank Lagermen and Gerry Left also joined the Reyder line-up.

Clint Clark, Ray Gee and Larry Chanda were in the game for East Jordan.

That Charlevoix's defense was strong is shown by the fact that all but one of East Jordan's 11 field goals were long shots scored over the Rayders defense circle. Charlevoix had 13 field goals and scored on 15 of their 21 free throws.

Charlevoix's reserve strength is improving also, as could be seen in the work of the substitutes who came into the game. This depth will add much to the Rayders chances for a championship.



Bennett (4) dodges an East Jordan guard to drop one in for the Rayders. Mosher (14) readies himself to recover the ball if there's a miss.

Reserves Defeat East Jordan In Fast Tilt

Charlevoix's Little Rayedrs, playing good ball after a three-point loss to Boyne City last week, came back Friday to take a 33-26 game from East Jordan.

Jerry Albright scored the first point for the Rayders on a gift shot as the local team went ahead 6-4 at the quarter on a field goal by Tom LaBlance as the period ended. Albright had two gift shots and Dave Glassford and LaBlance one each for the six points.

Others in the starting line-up were Mark White and Gene Towsley.

East Jordan, however, took over in the second period and tallied eight points to four for the Rayders for a half-time lead of 12-10. White had two free throws and Towsley and Clayt Walker one each.

Third period saw the Reserves start to hit and from there on in the game was interesting as White and Gordon Mol dropped two field goals each. LaBlance added one and Walker a gift shot for a 21-20 lead as the third period ended. Joe McDermott joined the line-up in this period.

Two field goals each by Albright and Walker, a fifth by Mol and two charity shots by LaBlance gave Charlevoix 12 points in the closing quarter and the game. Bill Golden and Tom Gibbons entered the line-up in the closing minutes of the game.

Gaylord Moves Into Third With Win Over Boyne City

The race for the Northern Michigan Class C championship continued this week after Charlevoix and Pellston, tied for first place, chalked up wins over East Jordan and Mancelona Friday night.

Despite their loss East Jordan held on to second place; Gaylord moved into third with a win over Boyne City who dropped into fifth place. Mancelona is in fourth while Harbor remained in the league basement.

This will find Gaylord traveling to Pellston; Boyne City hosting Mancelona; East Jordan invading Harbor Springs and Charlevoix entertaining Class B Petoskey in a non-loop game.

High Scoring Keith Emerson and Bill Drior of Pellston accounted for 55 of the Hornets points as their team led 22-10 at the quarter; 43-30 at the half and 58-45 at the third period to take Mancelona by a 71-53 score. Mancolona's only threat came early in the last period when thoy came within seven points of Pollston, who then pulled away to take the game by an 18 point margin. Emerson had 28 and Drier 27 for the Hornets while Johnny Holstad had 15 and Dick Derrer 14 points for Mancelona.

At Gaylord Boyne City got off to a 15-9 lead at the first quarter but Gaylord came back to tie the game 28-all at the helf and to take a 50-42 lead at the third period. With four minutes to go the Blue Devils held a nine point lead but Boyne City rallied to tie the game 56-all with less than a minute to go. A basket by Jim Milbrandt tied the score. With 45 seconds left Boyne City chose to take the ball outside on a foul and lost possesion of it to Gaylord when they failed to score from the floor. Gaylord's Jerry Hopkins dropped the winning bucket with secnnds to go to take the game. Jim Schrener rolled up the game. Jim Schreuer rolled up Kujawski led the scoring for Boyne City with 17 points.

THE CHARLEVOIX Rayders led all the way as they avenged an earlier loss to East Jordan by taking the visitnrs 41-28.

Petoskey took an early lead over visiting Harbor Springs, 14-3 at the quarter and 24-8 at the half. Coach Ace Zagraphos substitued freely in the last half as the Northmen led 34-20 at the third period. Bill Steinbrecker scored 9 and Bob Hitchmough 8 points for the victors. Five players tallied four points each for the Rams. They were Al Chingwa, Vic Kishigo, Frank Granstra, Ray Swiss and Stan Pifer.

Pellston will be hosting Gaylord this week, a team they defeated by two points in an overtime in the first meeting. Since then the Hornets have continued to top the league while Gaylord has four wins out of nine starts. With Jim Schreuer back in the line-up, Gaylord could be a threat to any team, particularly after their two-point win over Boyne City last week. Pellston, however, with their eight win and one loss record will continued to be the favorite.

Mancelona had a two-point win over Boyne City when the Ramblers moved onto the Ironmen's floor. Since then Mancelona with three wins in eight starts had taken over fourth place while Boyne is in fifth with two wins and seven losses. If Boyne City continues to play as they did against Gaylord the game could be close. If Mancelona can play as they did for a few minutes in the fourth quarter against Pellston they could take the game with little effort. The outcome, however, will be e toss-up.

East Jordan, fresh from a loss to the Rayders, will be invading Harbor Springs with a win in mind. If Big Roman Klinkiewicz, Jordan center, is expected back in the line-up this week. This should give the Red Devils

A piano solo was offered by Marilyn Sitzema, entitled "Fairy Wedding." An instrumental duet was given by George Jake Drenth with the harmonica, and John Kooyer with the guitar. Rev. Diller gave a very interesting talk on "Build the Home Christian." A solo was then sung by Allie Klooster accompanied by Jay Kuiper. Rev. Goodyke offered the closing prayer.

Ellsworth's Towering Dutchmen (average height six feet, one inch) continued their winning streak Friday night at Elk Rapids with a 48-36 victory. The Dutchmen had the game well under control at all times but fell way below par in making their shots. They scored only 27 per cent of their attempts while their opponets scored on 40 per cent of their shots.

Ellsworth is scheduled to meet Kingsley squad on the East Jordan floor Friday night. This will be the first contest between these two teams. Ellsworth is confident with its fingers crossed. Coach Parker of Kingsley turned out two Class D championship teams at Brimley before going to Kingsley.

This season to date has been the most successful in the history of Ellsworth high school basketball. The team has won all 14 games by sizeable margins, scoring 963 points while holding their opponents to 492. This brings their scoring average to nearly 70 points per game.

Past performance indicates the team is consistant and the defense is sound in all five places. Team work is apparent at all times with a scoring average of more than 40 per cent of the shots. Team height enables the players to recover most of the shots on a rebound and the boys are deadly on free throws.

Coach Eugene Inman, in his first year of coaching, says the team is a coaches dream and feels that he is extremely fortunate in being at the helm of such a fine group of boys.

Donaldson-Kienzle Vows Exchanged In Ellsworth

Ellsworth Pilgrim Holiness church was the scene Saturday of the marriage of Miss Barbara Donaldson and Fredrick Kienzle, jr. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Donaldson of Ellsworth. Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Kienzle, sr., of Ann Arbor are the groom's parents.

Rev. Herbert Hiller officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with bouquets of pink and white gladolis and candelabra. Miss Golda Sack provided the traditional wedding music and also accompanied for the soloist, Mrs. Charles Mascho, while she sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a gown of white bridal satin featuring a scalloped yoke of net, and a fitted lace bodice which buttoned down the back. Long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and a full gathered lace overskirt ending in satin terminated in a long train. Her finger tip length veil of illusion was held in place by a lace cloche. Completing her ensemble was a bouquet of six white roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Donna Donaldson was her sisters maid of honor. She was attired in an ice blue satin formal gown and a matching fitted jacket with tiny covered buttons down the front. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and wore a wreath of matching flowers in her hair.

Flower girl was Sandra Donaldson, sister of the bride. She wore a floor length orchid gown and white carnations in her hair. In her basket she carried white and pink carnations. Terry Donaldson was ring bearer.

Allen Donaldson, the bride's brother, was best man. Ushering were Ronald and Jack Donaldson.

The brides mother wore a navy dress with matching accessories and a red rose corsage.

The groom's mother selected a navy street-length dress and a red rose corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Community Hall. The bridal table was decorated with a four tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

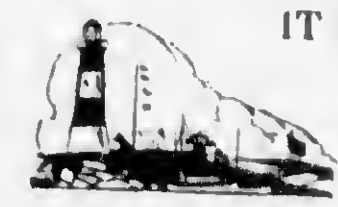
Out of town guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Kienzle, sr., and daughter, Elsie of Ann Arbor, Miss Bernice Smally of Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Art Nickols of Torch Lake, Mrs. Frost of East Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Donaldson of East Jordan, Mrs. William Kiser and daughter of Kewadin.

When the couple left for a week's wedding trip the bride was wearing a light gray suit with matching accessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Kienzle will reside in Ann Arbor, where Mr. Kienzle is produce manager of the Kroger store.

School Officials Attend Conference

Several Charlevoix school officials were in Mt. Pleasant Tuesday to attend a one-day conference on Safety and Civil Defense under the sponsorship of Central Michigan College where the meeting was held, the Department of Public Instructions, Michigan State Safety Commission and the Michigan Office of Civil Defense.

Attending were Supt. Roy G. Bennett, Vernon Mathews of the Board of Education and Mrs. Catherine C. Bergeon, county superintendent of schools.



IT HAPPENED ON . . . . BEAVER ISLAND

Mary LaFreniere

Don Burke is in Detroit visiting relatives.

Mrs. Anna Left and children were in Gaylord this week.

Joe McNamee of Boyne City was here this week on business.

Monday evening Donald McCafferty killed a coyote in the orchard at his home. The coyotes lately are being seen in the orchards as they are eating what is left of the apple crop. A short time ago Mary Margaret Greene shot at one in their orchard.

James H. Gallagher returned Sunday from his trip to Omaha, Nebraska. He attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Mae Schebeat at Petoskey before returning here. Others from here who attended the funeral were Mrs. James H. Gallagher and Joe Gallagher. A note may be added here that the island mourns Mrs. Schebrat's death. Being a trained nurse she had helped a good many of us in time of sickness.

Rogers Carlisle increased the number of fox killed by two this week. Armed with a high powered rifle with a scope on it he has proven himself to be a crack shot. According to his companions both shots were really something to see.

Word came this week that Captain and Mrs. Forest Pratt are enjoying the sunshine at Miami, Florida while Mr. and Mrs. John McDonough are vacationing at Phoenix, Arizona.

Mrs. C. J. Jones and son, Ray, left for Grand Haven where they will make their home.

The Beaver Island Transit Company held its annual meeting and election Monday afternoon at the Parish Hall. Vernon LaFreniere was elected to replace Fred Spalding on the Board of Directors. The other directors remained the same. That evening a dinner was held at the Beaver Lodge. This was followed by a dance at the hall.

Open water can be seen from the village. This is a sight we all enjoy, especially at this time of the year.

Mrs. Catherine Bergeon, County Superintendent of Schools, of Charlevoix was here this week to visit our schools. During her stay she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon LaFreniere.

Donald Cole, Lawrence McDonough and Matt Melville have gone to Ludington on business.

An Altar Society meeting was held Sunday afternoon at the Parish Hall. A pantry shower for the Dominican nuns was planned. Plans were also made for the St. Patricks Party.

Revivalist

Rev. Roy Hilton of Quebec, Canada, will hold a series of special meetings in the Assembly of God church, 203 E. Upright, beginning Tuesday, Feb. 19 at 8 p.m. and continuing until Sunday, every night except Saturday. He has been holding successful evangelistic revivals throughout Michigan.

Mrs. Rabach Joins Michigan Bell Service Staff

Mrs. Marie Rabach has joined the staff of the Michigan Bell business office as service representative.

She succeeds Mrs. Ione Howe who has transferred to the Royal Oak business office.

Mrs. Rabach has been with the traffic department of Michigan Bell for seven years prior to her transfer to the business office. She received three weeks extensive training at Cadillac before assuming the position.

Mrs. Howe was guest of honor at a dinner at the Dilworth Hotel before leaving. Members of the Charlevoix and Petoskey business offices were present and presented her with a gift.

Buttricks Cope With Varied Problems

ants. Of the 200 members of Parliament 30 and four of the 18 cabinet members are Christian.

The illiteracy in the land is 90 percent and the schools are very sub-standard as a rule. The seminaries, for instance, take men after four years schooling and have a two-year course for evangelists (to send to the villages) which demands nothing except that the man enrolling must be able to read.

THE WORST lack of all was in medicine. There are just 1000 doctors for a population of 80 million and the majority of these are in the cities. We found one hospital of 500 beds in Jagjakarta which only had two doctors. The buildings were excellent, built by the Dutch, but there was not a sheet in the place. The babies lie on rubber sheets; and everyone else on a straw mat put on a mattress, wearing their own daytime dresses. We have got to do something about it. I am going to see what the MAPC can manage to send. It is the worst ease of need we have seen.

Our program in Indonesia involved a lot of traveling. We spent the first two nights in Djarkarta then took a morning plane to Jagjakarta, the old capital and really the cultural center.

The Moslems are just starting a university there and the Christian folk talked a lot to us about a small university to prepare for Christian leadership in all fields.

One of the big problems, we found, was the necessity for outside help (because of the poverty of the land and the lack of trained Indonese) and the antagonism toward the white race due to the period of Dutch rule. That they would have to have our money and some of our trained leadership (a word which was like a red flag to a bull) was, as they said in one discussion, "a cross they would have to bear".

The National Council of Churches in America sent a wonderful man to the islands three months ago, Dr. Winburn Thomas (he has a charming, highly educated Nissl wife) to observe, make friends and see how far it is possible for the American churches to fill the vacuum left left by the withdrawal of the Dutch. He was our guide and mentor, and treveled with us throughout the week. He has great wisdom.

We loved Jagjakarta. It was a charming mixture of old and new. Like all the cities, most of its buildings seemed quite modern, and so different from the rest of the Orient— substantial houses of stucco with red-tiled roofs. It looked so pretty from the air nestled down among the palm trees and the feathery bamboo.

Parts of all Indonesian cities looked like American suburbia, and the business houses two or three stories high and white were quite un-oriental. I suspect the Indonesians wish they were more indigenous. Even in the villages you see this same red tile on low white houses. The tile is manufactured in the Islands and now seems part of the landscape. But mixed in are many bamboo huts and thatched roofs.

THE STREETS of Jagjakarta are filled with bullock carts, wonderful ones with rounded bamboo tops and sides painted in lovely colors. Almost always there were two harnessed bullocks tinkling bells as they moved. The gay red "betjahs", the same sort of tricycle two seater little cars we saw and used in Thailand, also have jingly bells, and so do the tiny carriages drawn by ponies. You should have seen George and me and Mr. Thomas plus the driver all in one.

The town has lovely walled areas and beautiful gateways which are quite Spanish in type and the inevitable markets; and people selling everything under the sun.

The people dress quite differently; the women wear long wrap around skirts of batik in every imaginable color, with coat blouses of some different fabric and always with long sleeves. In the heat too! We went to see the batik made by hand and heard silversmiths chanting strange songs as they hammered.

The men often wear the same kind of skirts with coats or shirts not tucked in above. But many are taking to western or slacks with loose shirts. Children and young people are more and more western. Babies are on the left hip on a kind of sling.

I don't thing anywhere have we seen folk carry heavier burdens. We will never forget the early morning ride from Jagjarkarta to Semerang—75 miles from south to north of Java. We started at 5 a. m., almost the only car on the road the whole way, but we wound through a continuous line of dim figures. Many had walked all night. All were going to market. All shoeless, some rose, as we passed, from a brief rest by the side of the road, others were coming out of tiny lanes to join the main throng. All were carrying burdens on their backs or their heads: great baskets of vegetables, a heavy roll of woven bamboo at least 10 ft. long designed for a ceiling or wall of a house, two or three great bamboo poles balancing it on the head of a man. A mother was there with a child on her hip and a load on her back, another with a child tagging behind. It seemed a picture of Asia walking in the dawn: In contrast, are the streets of the busy cities and alert young people on bicycles.

Credits Many With Success Of Farm Week

"Our greatest Farmers' Week in history can be credited to many people and things" remarked E. L. Anthony, Michigan State college's dean of agriculture at the close of the mid-winter event at East Lansing early this month.

"Our newspapers, radio stations and the farm press were largely responsible for getting us a record-breaking crowd of approximately 40,000 people. The good-weather and ice and snow-free roads were something we have not normally had during this week. But the way farmers and homemakers showed interest in our educational meetings was most pleasing to all of us," the dean concluded.

Finding better ways to meet the increased demands for higher production of food and fiber in the face of less labor and possibly less fertilizer and equipment seemed to be the aim of most visitors. Dean Anthony said staff members were highly pleased with the deep interest shown in gaining practical information to save labor and operating costs, and to improve living conditions.

"Each year we get more farmers participating in our programs to tell of success with new research ideas as they are being applied in actual practice on the land. We learn from farmers as they learn from us. They let us know their problems and in turn we attempt to apply our technical knowledge to help them to reach a solution", the dean concluded.

Good Land Use Boasted By Presque Isle County

Presque Isle County, located as a rather large triangle along the shores of Lake Huron in Northeastern Michigan has a history of exceptionally good land use according to Jack Brown, county agricultural agent. It was first settled in the 1870's and 80's by a few Polish immigrants and German immigrants. These good farmers brought with them a love for the soil that has done much to maintain the agricultural land of the county in a high state of fertility.

The land area of the county, comprising 678 square miles, is approximately 35 percent agricultural land. The soils are either good farm land, or they are definitely not good. The land in agriculture is of three principal types, the Onaway and Posen types are a rather heavy clay loam carrying an abundance of limestone. The third soil type is a deep alluvial silt of very high productivity.

The agriculture is generally a hay, pasture, small-grain, livestock type of farming, with considerable potato production as the principal cash crop. Production of small fruit is increasing while poultry, alfalfa and clover seed production, and farm forestry remain as more or less minor enterprise. The number of farms in the county has declined from a high in 1920 of 1056 farms, to a low in 1950 to 937. Acres of farm land in production however has increased during the same period by more than 36,000 acres.

Two other large industries in the county are the Michigan Limestone and Chemical Company at Rogers City, shipping about fourteen million tons of high calcium limestone each year for steel production, cement and agricultural lime; and the tourist and resort business. This industry has lagged way behind the tourist and resort business in the Western part of the state but during the past ten years has developed rather rapidly.

The livestock of the county are about equally divided between beef type and dairy animals. New markets developing for dairy products plus an active artificial dairy breeding program may encourage a swing toward more dairy animals. The Extension program is at present aimed at a better forage and feeding program on the farms of the county, and probably will continue to stress more and better forage for a better agriculture.

Selling farm scrap metal is a good farm management practice and helps increase production of new steel.

Conservation Group Elects Mrs. C. Healey

Mrs. Clayton Healey of East Jordan was elected alternate member of the executive board of a new Women's Auxiliary of the Michigan Association of Soil Conservation District Directors organized during Farmers Week at East Lansing.

The purpose of the new organization is to promote interest in Soil conservation among women. It is the first state-wide organization of this nature east of the Mississippi river.

Other officers are: president, Mrs. Elmer Warner, of Leelanau county; vice-president, Mrs. Frank Green, of Allen; secretary-treasurer, of Mendon and program chairman, Mrs. L. R. Schoenmann, East Lansing.

Lance Neff Describes Joys of Gulf Fishing

Fishermen friends of Lance Neff will read with envy his account of a recent fishing trip in the Gulf of Mexico off Clearwater, Fla., with a friend, Carl Johnson of Bear Lake.

The letter, sent to his sons, Robert and Gordon, follows in part:

"I left St. Petersburg this morning at 5:30 to meet Carl for the trip to Clearwater where we arrived at 7:30 a. m. We purchased our tickets and boarded the boat, the 65 ft. Miss Buckeye II, which leaves Clearwater every day, weather permitting.

At first we thought we were the only passengers but as it neared 8 a. m. the boat was filled. 64 passengers in all, in every type of garb from shorts to overalls. We were glad we'd arrived early and had a good seat.

Just before we left the crew came aboard with a tub of fish which looked like ciscoes and I told Carl they would probably try to sell them to us if we didn't make a catch.

The sun was out, not a cloud in the sky and the Gulf like a mirror when we cast off at 8 a. m. and headed straight out to sea.

It was the fastest boat I'd ever been on and we kept going out of the sight of land until about 10 a. m.

We had been told the boat would provide lines but we didn't see any and thought we were being tricked, but we finally noticed a big box filled with lines for everyone.

THE LINES, however, were not the fine kind you are accustomed to, but were made of seaman's twine, an eighth of an inch through, making them heavy and coarse. Each had a one pound sinker and a three-inch hook fastened by a coarse wire about a foot above the sinker.

As we neared the spot where we were to fish, the crew started cutting up the fish we'd seen put aboard and we found it was to be used for bait. Each fisherman was given about half a pail along with his line fastened to a board which laid on the deck. After several soundings, the boat stopped and "bang" in went the 64 lines for everyone who wanted to get the first fish.

The lines were about 60 ft. long and were dropped into 40 to 50 ft. of water. First you'd find bottom, give the line a little slack, tie it to the pin rail and pull up until you could feel the sinker resting on the bottom. Then you'd hold your breath until you got the first bite.

Then the yell, "Get the gaff" and the excitement was on, as everyone started pulling in the fish. Carl had four in succession and I was beginning to feel bad.

About then the Captain hollered, "Pull in your lines. Nothing doing here" and we headed for better fishing grounds. He selected another place, after several soundings and in went the lines, but not before he yelled "Didn't I tell you not to drop your lines until the engines are stopped. Do you want to walk home?"

It's hard to control an uneducated bunch of fishermen, but the Captain only laughed and so did the crew. Remember there were 64 people fishing.

The Captain was interested in everyone, no exceptions. The more fish you'd get the better advertisement for him. He was so free with any information that would help you catch fish.

THERE WERE only a couple who had stringers for their fish. I was one and my catch hung over the side on a long stringer made by Capt. Nels Palmer (a former resident of Charlevoix). You can imagine what the deck was like with everyone's fish laying around. One man got a 19 lb. 14 oz. fish and that was put in a barrel of water on the deck.

Life was really worth living on the Gulf. I forgot I had a home, in fact, I forgot everything. It was a pleasure seeing everyone so happy and catching so many fish.

Around 2 p. m. the Captain decided we needed even better fishing grounds so off we went again.

I saw a boat a few miles away and it looked like Christopher Columbus' ship. I thought I could see old Christopher himself. We stopped near this boat and that's where we got most of the fish, especially the big ones. Carl got one that weighed 10 or 12 lbs and was he thrilled.

That morning when we'd left the dock one of the crew started a jackpot but Carl and I didn't know what it was so didn't get in it. Were we disappointed when we found we could have won with our fish.

At five minutes to three the Captain told us we had five more minutes to fish. He kept

That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.00 for expenses all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

Dated: December 24, 1951.

JOHN B. MARTIN, JR.,
Auditor General of the State of Michigan for and in behalf of said State.

a definite edge over last place Harbor Springs who have only one win, a two-point victory over Mancelona, to their credit.

Petoskey, with nine wins in 10 games to their credit including an earlier victory over the Rayders will be invading Charlevoix Friday with an eye to taking the Rayders for the second time. When the Northmen won in December it was their first win over Charlevoix since the 1045 season. They would like to make it two in a row.

Charlevoix has continued to hold first place in the Class C loop with Pellston while Petoskey has remained on top with two wins over Harbor Springs, Boyne City and Rogers City, the latter beaten twice by Pellston plus victories over Charlevoix and Manistee. They were defeated by Traverse City in their first game.

Charlevoix on the other hand has eight wins in nine starts. The Rayders since their first meeting with Petoskey has played some outstanding ball and if they are hitting are capable of taking the Northmen. The game will no doubt be close.

Neff Describes Gulf Fishing

calling the time but no one wanted to quit, so we left our lines 'til the last minute. At one minute to three he started the motors and you should have seen the lines come up. Thus ended a perfect day.

The trip home was a happy one, a merry bunch, the sun still high and hot and a cool breeze blowing.

On the way back we saw a martin or a tarpon, I don't remember which, I sure wished he'd been on my line.

WE DOCKED at five sharp and it was great seeing all the people ou the dock waiting to see what kind of catch we'd had. I'll bet there were a thousand people, asking questions and looking at our fish.

The sun was still high and we took a couple pictures. I hope they are good.

No one could believe the catches we had. After supper Capt. Palmer and I cleaned mine and now the ice box is full. My biggest one weighed between 4½ and 5 lbs and the rest were smaller. Anyway, I had all I could carry. Never saw so many fish in my life, everybody had 'em.

This trip cost just $4.00 and it was well worth the money if you never fished at all."

Polio Fund Drive Sets New Record

The Charlevoix community has completed its most successful drive for funds for the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, Dallas Henry, local chairman announced Wednesday.

The total to date, as a result of the March of Dimes, is $1,715.65, more than $400 over the amount raised last year.

Latest additions made to the fund included $36.50 from the Charlevoix Independent - Ellsworth Independent basketball game Saturday night which was won by the local quintet; Inwood Ladies Aid, $5.00; Pythian Sisters, $5.00; B.F.W. Auxiliary, $5.00; Beaver Island, $57.00; the remaining $300.00 came through contributions from the business district and individuals.

The Mothers March of Dimes in the county resulted in contributions amounting to $950.00, Mr. Henry revealed. Charlevoix's contribution to the total was $524.85.

Mr. Henry, in announcing the results of the drive, added his thanks to all those who gave so generously of their time and efforts and those who contributed so generously to make the drive a success.

Mrs. Walter Davis, county chairman, will announce the results of the drive in the county as soon as the figures are available.

Mrs. Vernon LaFreniere served as chairman on Beaver Island.

Isolated Couple Gets Surprise

Martin Elzinga is still telling of the surprised looks on the faces of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Butteliere, when he dropped in for a brief visit at their South Manitou Island home Sunday.

Isolated as they are, the visit was most unexpected until he explained he'd made the trip via plane with Vernon Mathews. After staying for dinner, they made a few runs over the island to have a better look and headed for home, accompanied by Carol Ann Butteliere, who will make an extended visit with her grandparents.

Special Program Will Mark K. of P. Founders Day

The Pine Lake lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias and the Charlevoix Temple No. 149, Pythian Sisters, will join with other members of the organization throughout the country in the observance of the "Greatest Founders Day Celebration in Pythian History," Sunday, Feb. 17, Harold Dutcher and Mrs. Dutcher, heads of the two orders here announced this week.

The day will mark the eighty-eighth birthday of the order.

A feature of the celebration will be a Coast to Coast broadcast over the Liberty Broadcasting System from Washington, D. C., where the order was established Feb. 19, 1864.

Because few radios here pick up stations of the Liberty Broadcasting System, a special radio will be installed at the K. P. hall where members will gather for the half-hour broadcast beginning at 4 p.m. EST.

Participating in the program which will tell the story of the order will be Supreme Chancellor Earle N. Genzberger of Butte, Mont., other national officers and nationally known Pythians.

The Charlevoix Pythian lodge was instituted 62 years ago and the Pythian Sisters re-instituted in 1947.

A Fisherman's Dream

Bernie Ward, jr., (laft) and Pete Zeitler hold the catch of 14 whita fish caught during a three-hour period on Torch Lake Friday afternoon. The catch weighed an estimated 42 pounds.

Countless large catches were made on the lake late last week when fishermen skaters scouted the lake, picked up a school of fish through the thin clear ice, and 'herded' them into an area where holes were cut in the ice. The fish were then guided, one by one, to a hole and speared.

On Saturday Ward and Zeitler, accompanied by three other fishermen, caught 26 fish in the same manner.

Hospital Board Reaffirms Original Building Plans

A decision to continue with the original plans to construct the new hospital on the Lake Michigan site was announced at a meeting Monday night by the board of directors of the Charlevoix Hospital association. The announcement climaxes two special meetings of the board held to consider an alternate site on Garfield ave. proposed by Ted Miller and Pete Winnick.

At the request of Miller and Winnick the board called a meeting last Thursday evening to hear the proposal and consider the feasibility of the alternate location. Following Miller's presentation the board held a closed meeting to study the proposition. A second special meeting was necessary Monday evening to complete the investigation.

The decision of the board was announced at the close of the meeting by a letter to Miller and Winnick thanking them for their offer, which the board found necessary to reject. The following statement was also released to the newspapers:

"At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Charlevoix Hospital association held Feb. 14, the board listened to the proposal of Messrs. Miller and Winnick, that the new hospital should be located at a site on Garfield avenue. The proposed site and the offer to donate the land for the new hospital was considered pro and con by the board and the meeting was finally adjourned to meet again Monday, Feb. 18, in order that additional data might be secured relative to the Garfield site.

"The board appreciated the interest and offer of the Garfield site but following their meeting Monday night, announced that it was their unanimous decision that no change in the previously selected site would be made and that the new hospital would be erected in accordance with their original decision.

"The board's decision was influenced by a number of dominating factors, all of which favored the Lake Michigan site. They are convinced that from every practical angle the Lake Michigan site is tha logical choice. This opinion is shared by the architects and by a majority of tha substantial donors to the project. A number of such donors have written confirming the selection of the Lake Michigan site and expressing concern over any further delay.

"Board members, as well as the Hospital Building Fund committee, feel that further delay may well prove disastrous to the entire project and that the variation in the cost of utilities which might exist between the two sites is more than offset by the greater advantages of the site first

Rev. W. D. Wood Resigns to Take New Pastorate

The Rev. W. D. Wood, pastor of the Community Church of God here for the past nine years, Sunday announced his resignation as pastor of the church to become effective in mid-April.

He plans to go to Kalamazoo where he has accepted the pastorate of the Rose Street Church of God, an old and well established church.

In announcing his resignation, Rev. Wood said he was leaving his present pastorate out of choice and that his only regret was that he could not have contributed more to the community during his stay here.

Rev. W. D. Wood

He has been an active pastor and during the years hero has done much to improve the church. The mortgage has been paid, the new Fellowship Hall constructed and nearly paid for, a new Hammond organ installed in the church and many other improvements made.

In addition he has served the community in many capacities. He is a past president of the local Kiwanis club and past lieutenant governor of the state organization. He is a member of the board of directors of the Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross and has served as fund chairman for the chapter. In 1950 he was a candidate for mayor.

A graduate of Anderson, Ind. College and Theological Seminary he served a church at Joliet, Ill., for 6½ years before coming here in October 1942.

Mrs. Wood and their two children will accompany him to Kalamazoo.

The Rev. Wilbur Kirby of Belding will speak at the morning service as a candidate for the vacancy left by Rev. Wood's resignation.

Youth's Responsibilities

Rights and responsibilities go hand in hand. There is no better place to learn this than in youth. The New York State Youth Commission has distributed among parents a "Children's Bill of Rights" emphasizing the moral right of children to affection, physical care, religious guidance, education, construction discipline, and wholesome community life. More recently the commission has placed in schools throughout the state a "Children's Bill of Responsibilities" containing these injunctions:

Grow in character and ability as I grow in size.

Be honest with myself and others in what I say and do.

Learn and practice my religion.

Honor my parents, my elders, and my teachers.

Develop high moral principles and the courage to live by them.

Strive for health in body, mind, and spirit.

Respect the rights of others.

Set a good example so that others may enjoy and profit by my company.

Give honest effort to my work.

Regard my education as preparation for the future.

Obey our laws so that we may live more happily together.

Preserve and strengthen our American way of life and government.

These precepts, absorbed and observed by boys and girls, will contribute much to their happiness, achievement, sense of balance, and good citizenship.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

by Gene Alleman

Michigan began reverberating last week to the thump of Eisenhower drums as various backers in the state trotted out a likeness of the general, began tightening organizations and belts and collecting pledges for funds.

Taft has made a quick visit to the state and Kefauver dropped in to say a brief hello. But this will be the first really full scale drive in Michigan. It is in the hands of Arthur H. Vandenberg, jr., son of the late senator and now organizing director of the Eisenhower movement.

In Grand Rapids, Arthur's bailiwick, he met with leaders of the statewide Eisenhower committee members and they worked out details. By now the Grand Rapids procedure is being repeated all over the state to collect enough endorsements to tip the scales against Taft, who has been doing rather well in the midwest.

Now there comes speculation on whether Ike will return to this country to campaign. If he doesn't, according to more than one source, he won't stand a chance against Taft. And if Taft doesn't win the nomination on the first vote, predicts these same sources, Grey Horse MacArthur may get it.

A NEW TWIST on an old story. Michigan each year is cheated out of from $500,000 to $1,000,000 in cigaret taxes by bootleggers operating between Detroit and St. Louis, Mo. Michigan has a three-cents per package tax. St. Louis has none.

Department of revenue says bootlegging cigarets is being held to a standstill, at least, through increased activity of its workers and making the offense a felony. Prior to last June offenders usually were given 60 to 90 days in jail. Two men recently sentenced pulled prison terms of five months to five years and nine months to five years.

The revenue department is afraid of the cigaret bootlegging potential. Cigarets are more profitable ($5,000 per load and two loads a week) and more easier to handle than liquor was during prohibition.

Sen. Alpheus P. Decker of Deckerville sat the chamber back on its heels when he blasted Detroit as a "hotbed of un-American thinking" while opposing legislation to reapportion the state on a strict population basis. "Perhaps it was a pretty strong statement just at this time," the senator said later. He says now he thinks there have been improvement in Detroit since 1930.

Michigan's mental hospitals are overflowing and inadequate, a fact generally known. But the latest figures from the department of health says they are 22 percent overcrowded. Some 30,000 patients are under state care.

Detroit is battling over a proposal to substitute the medical examiner system for the coroner set-up now in effect. New York, which has the medical examiner program, says a complete medical investigation of a case costs only $5 and saves the state thousands of dollars in rechecking cases, witness fees and prolonged criminal investigations.

THE FEDERAL Civil defense administration warns Michigan citizens against being taken in by racketeers who sell guaranteed "radiation proof overalls" and the like. FODA says that even if genuinely protective clothing would be devised probably no one would be wearing it at the right time.

Michigan's birth rate is playing hob with its schools. Some 170,000 babies were born last year as compared with 00,000 in 1040. School officials say they will get 109,000 new pupils next fall while seats are needed already for 108,000 now in overcrowded facilities.

After vowing to the press a few weeks ago that he had been cured of the "politics bug" Eugene C. Keyes has turned his back on his pious resolutions and declared himself in the U. S. senate race. On what ticket? Why the independent-progressive-Republican slate, of course. Keyes' last billboard campaign fizzled miserably.

MICHIGAN taxpayers last year payed out $4,909,900,000 in federal state and local taxes. This compared with $3,434,010 in 1050, the largest increase in history, according to the department of revenue. The tax load in Michigan has increased 10-fold since 1030.

The emergency commission on defense contracts has moved on Washington in an effort to alleviate the jobless situation in Michigan's industrial areas. Current aims are to set up plans to establish industrial subcommittees to help plants get contracts. All major employers have been asked to submit quarterly estimates on projected employment so the commission and its subcommittees can work ahead to forestall future crises.

Conservation Subject For Kiwanis Program

Conservation was the subject of the Kiwanis program at the regular meeting of the club Monday evening. Edward Starback of Boyne City, conservation officer, and Charles Welsh of Roscommon, of the Education division of the department, spoke on the subject and presented a conservation film, Web of Life. Leo Berg was program chairman.

In his talk Welsh defined the work of the conservation department. He said it was the impression of many people that work of the department was to provide more game and fish for more people. That, he added is not true, for the aim of the department is to manage the natural resources of the state so that more people can enjoy what they have to offer.

Through the co-operation of the public, he went on, the northernmost 34 counties of the lower peninsula had only 329 forest fires reported last year and these were confined to 1200 acres. This was one of the finest fire-prevention records in the country.

He also spoke briefly on the deer and fish problems in the state and what is being done to correct them.

Plans were also announced for an inter-club meeting of the local Kiwanis club with the Rotary clubs of Boyne City and East Jordan at East Jordan March 11.

Little Rayders Defeat Petoskey Juniors, 41-37

The Charlevoix Reserves made it two in a row this year over Petoskey Junior Varsity as they came from behind Friday night to win 41-37.

In the first game played at Petoskey Charlevoix won 37-34. Petoskey got off to a fast start and scored 11 points to Charlevoix's nine on two field goals by Joe McDermott, one field goal each by Dave Glassford and Clayt Walker, and a free shot by Mark White.

The little Rayders' starting line-up included White, Glassford, Gordon Mol, Jerry Albright and Tom LaBlance.

The local five tallied six points in the second period on one field goal and one free throw by McDermott and two free shots by White as Petoskey still led at the half 24-15.

The Charlevoix five came back in the third period to chalk up 17 points in the next eight minutes for the best quarter of the game and a one-point lead as the quarter ended, 32-31.

White and Glassford had four points each, McDermott three, Mol, Albright and LaBlanee two to pot the Rayders ahead.

Charlevoix out-played the visitors 9-5 in the closing bracket as Mol and McDermott scored three points each, Walker two and Glassford one. Gene Towsley also entered the Charlevoix line-up.

Charlevoix lost White via the foul route while Petoskey lost Doug Piehl and Bob Ance in the same manner.

Charlevoix had a total of 14 goals and 13 free shots to 15 f.g.s and seven gift shots for the visitors.

Outranked in the height department, the little Rayders depended entirely on speed and tight defense to take the game.

Juniors Hold Valentine Ball At St. James

The Queen of Hearts, Rosemary Nackerman, and her king, Richard O'Donnell, reigned over the Valentine Ball at Holy Cross parish hall Friday evening. The party was given by the Junior Class of the St. James high school.

Other royalty were the duke, Peter Greene; the duchess, Marilyn Kinney; pages, Elizabeth Gallagher and Gary McDonough; the earl, John LaFreniere who presided at the coronation ceremony.

Queen Rosemary, who was escorted to her throne by her king, wore a gown which carried out the heart motif. It was white and was decorated with red satin and lace hearts and a long red satin train. A large silver heart against a red background formed the setting for the coronation ceremony.

Following the grand march led by the royal couple, Queen Rosemary placed a bouquet of red roses at the foot of the statue of "Our Lady of Fatima" and the group sang "Lady of Good Council."

Dancing followed during the evening. Prizes were awarded to Alice Dobril for the best decorated Valentine gown; to Glenn McDonoogh for the heart-sewing contest and to Kathleen Gatliff.

Proceeds of the ball will be used for the Junior-Senior banquet. Bernadette Malloy is president of the Junior class and Ellen Nackerman, secretary-treasurer.

Dick Derrer lead the scoring for Mancelona with 16 points.

Dial Systems Underway Today In Area Cities

As we went to press this week, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company was making final preparations to cut dial telephone systems into service at East Jordan and Boyne City.

Brief ceremonies, at which Mayor Leo Sunmerville, of East Jordan, and Mayor Harry Tomkins, of Boyne City, are to signal the changeover from the old manual system to dial operation, are set in both communities for 1 p.m.

After the inauguration of dial service, all telephone numbers in East Jordan will bear the prefix "LEnox," followed by a five-digit number. Boyne City subscribers have been assigned numbers with the prefix "JUnction," also followed by five digits.

New directories showing the new numbers have been distributed in both communities and in Charlevoix.

C. L. Johnson, manager here for Michigan Bell, cautioned Charlevoix subscribers who call Boyne City or East Jordan to be sure to check the new directory for the telephone number of the party they wish to reach before placing a call.

Debby Bergeon Wins Award for School Paper

An article entitled "Youth versus TB", written by Debby Bergeon for the Charlevoix high school newspaper, "Crimson Flash", has won a certificate of honor for the local high school. The article appeared in the Dec. 21 issue of the publication.

The certificate of honor is one of 16 awarded in the 15th annual tuberculosis press project, an educational part of the Christmas Seal Sale by the National Tuberculosis Association, the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

The project attracted 99 entries, which were judged under the direction of A. A. Applegate, of Michigan State College Department of Journalism. The article was commended as containing "a good deal of compact information."

Scoring tuberculosis as a costly and needless disease enemy, the article said in part: "It takes money to wage any war and the stronger and more persistent the enemy, the greater the cost. That is why, in addition to the government appropriations, the tuberculosis association each year campaigns for additional funds . . A strong nation is a well nation and America, to hold her place in the world, must overcome the enemies within, one of the strongest of which is tuberculosis."

Debby is a junior student in the local high school and has served as editor of the "Crimson Flash" since early fall. William Billings is faculty advisor for the newspaper.

Ellsworth Auxiliary Entertains Legion Post

Members of the ladies auxiliary of the Jansen-Richardson Post No. 488, the American Legion, entertained the Post members and guests at a Valentine Day dinner party the evening of February 14 at the Ellsworth Community Hall.

Mrs. Dora Edson and Mrs. Goldie Chillis headed the auxiliary committee in charge of the arrangements and the program.

Commander Richard Dennis acted as toastmaster introducing guests. Members of the Ellsworth Chamber of Commerce attended the dinner.

The speaker for the evening was past district commander J. H. Gilman who combined the local Post's membership drive and the American Legion's famed Americanism program as the subject for his talk.

"Communists and their fellow travelers hate and fear the American Legion because they recognize it as the one unyielding bulwark of genuine Americanism," Gilman said, urging that veterans of World Wars I and II join with the American Legion in its fight for the free American way of life.

Some of the methods used by subversive groups were discussed by past commander Gilman. He reminded his fellow legionnaires that the American Legion is No. 1 Public Enemy of Communism in the United States.

Gilman declared that if the American Legion fails, America fails and closed with a quotation from Abraham Lincoln. "We shall nobly save or meanly lose the last, best hope of earth."

Following the dinner meeting a social hour was enjoyed by all.

decided and agreed upon.

"Architects plans have been submitted for federal approval and will be sufficiently advanced to request bids by late spring. Construction will commence immediately following the submission and acceptance of bids."

Signed:

Board of Directors
Charlevoix Hospital Ass'n

Miller's proposal at the Thursday meeting requested a vote of the donors to select a hospital site; provided the hospital board with options on a plot of ground up to 10 acres located on the south side of Garfield ave. east from May st., offered $2,700.00, now in escrow at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, to be used for the purchase of the property described in the options. The option price is $350 an acre. He also furnished the board with copies of an engineer's estimate of the utility costs at the Lake Michigan site and with a topographical map of the Garfield location.

The request for a ballot specified that the vote be conducted by any three of the following five local residents, vis., Jos. Bekkering, W. D. Wood, Charles Whitten, Hubert Paddock and Ralph S. Hamilton. It further specified that each donor have one vote.

Two options were secured on the Garfield property from Erving Hallet of Detroit, owner of a 20 acre plot bordering on Garfield and May streets. The first option is for five acres on the south side of Garfield and the second option is for from one to five acres, depending on the amount needed.

The escrow agreements presented to the board were signed by Miller. He told the board he had two other agreements which he failed to bring to the meeting. He did not specify the amounts.

After learning Tuesday of the board's action Miller informed the Courier that he would make an announcement in the near future regarding further action.

Indian Brooms

Early American housewives used brooms made and sold by the Indians. The broom handles were usually sticks of birch, ash or similar material. The brush part was made up of thin strips cut into a block of wood. Softer than such "splinter brooms" were those of husks, twigs, and rushes.

Forest Products Still Available

Supply of multiflora rose is good, and jack pine and ponderosa pine are still available at the Michigan State college forest nursery at East Lansing. A fair supply of black locust also is available.

According to Ira Bull, of the MSC forest nursery, multiflora rose is used mainly for planting "living fences" or for use as wildlife feeding areas. Jack and ponderosa pine are good for planting on deep, dry sandy soils or blow sand to aid in soil conservation. The stata conservation service nursery also has a supply of jack pine, he said.

Blanks for ordering trees are available at the county extension office. Demand for trees is shown by the fact that Michigan ranked second only to New York in tree planting activity in 1951 with 33,097 acres.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

It Isn't the Heat— It's the Hide!

Big discussion after the Grange meeting Friday night. Tik Anderson was arguing that hogs were lots more affected by the hot weather than cattle. Skeeter Morgan declared that it wasn't so—that he never saw any hogs bothered by the hot sun like his cows were.

I was glad when Rusty Robinson stepped in.

"Boys," he says, "don't get so riled up. It all depends on what color the livestock are. Hogs or cattle, the ones with light-colored coats absorb less heat from the sun's rays then animals with dark coats. So you're both right!"

From where I sit, so many useless argoments could be avoided if a person would remember he doesn't have all the right on his side. Reminds me of folks who insist that coffee, for instance, is the only drink, forgetting that other people have a right to a glass of beer now and then. If we wouldn't get so "het up" about our prejudices—we'd all be better off!

Charlevoix Defeats Petoskey In Thriller

Rayders Avenge Selves By Winning In Final Seconds By 42-41 Score

The Charlevoix Rayders avenged an earlier loss and broke the Petoskey Northmen's nine-game winning streak Friday night as they defeated the visitors 42-41 in a game which was literally won in the closing seconds.

When the game seemed almost a sure win for Petoskey, the inspired Rayders closed a seven-point gap and dropped the winning basket almost as the final horn sounded.

Under pressure all the way, the entire Rayder squad played terrific ball but it was Charles Krahnke who came through to drop the last two baskets for the last-second win.

No one player, however, could be singled out for outstanding play. The Petoskey defense, which has stopped other teams, was penetrated by the entire starting line-up. The scoring was well divided as Bill Bennett and Norm Ketchman accounted for four field goals each, Charles Krahnke and Bill Denemy, three apiece and Bill Barber two. Dean Davenport, who substituted first for Ketchman, and later for Barber, had one point.

This also marks the first time the guards are coming through with a fair share of field goals.

The opening quarter got off to a slow start and gave no indication of the action which was to follow. Two minutes elapsed before Petoskey scored and another four before the Rayders found the basket and tallied five points on a field goal each by Barber and Ketchman, both guards, and a free shot by center Krahnke. Petoskey had racked up four field goals for an 8-5 quarter lead.

The Rayders came back in the second period, however, to outscore the Northmen 11-7 for a 16-15 half-time lead.

The forwards got their first chance to score in this period and Denemy came through with two fairly long shots from the floor and Bennett added one plus a free throw while Barber and Ketchman again tallied one two-pointer apiece. The Rayders' defense was again working and the visitors had only one field goal but dropped five charity shots. Midway in the period Ketchman collected his fourth personal foul and was replaced by Davenport.

Following the half-time Petoskey came back with a vengeance and outscored the Rayders 17-9 on seven f.g.s and three free throws.

THE RAYDERS nine points were scored on one field goal each by Bennett and Ketchman and five gift shots collected by Denemy, Bennett, Ketchman and Davenport.

Petoskey held a seven-point lead as the period ended 32-25.

The Northmen continued to hold the lead as first one team and then the other scored with a field goal or a free shot. With only three minutes to go the score-board still showed Petoskey ahead 37-30.

It was then the Rayders started closing in and in the next minute shortened the lead to 39-35.

A basket by Bennett plus a free shot after he was fouled made the score 39-38 but Hitchmough came back on the next play to put Petoskey three points ahead. He was fouled on the play and chose to take the ball outside. The Northmen then started a stalling routine which was short-lived as Krahnke took the ball and scored to cut their lead to one point. As Petoskey took the ball back down the floor, three Rayders converged on the ball-handler, Krahnke again emerged with the ball and tore for the Charlevoix basket, scoring as the final horn sounded.

Charlevoix had scored 17 points to take the game from the visitors who tallied only nine points.

All five members of the starting line-up had done their bit toward winning the game as the score book showed Krahnke with six points on three field goals, Bennett with the same number on two field goals and two gift shots, Denemy and Ketchman with one field goal each and Barber who left the game on fouls in the last two minutes had one point. Davenport had replaced him.

Each team had scored 16 field goals, each team had 18 personal fouls but Charlevoix had scored 10 points on free throws and Petoskey scored 9 points on gift shots.

Pellston In Half-Game Lead By Defeating Gaylord

Pellston led the Northern Michigan Class C league by half a game following its 62-59 win over Gaylord Friday night while Charlevoix, which has been sharing the lead dropped back when they went outside the league to defeat Petoskey 42-41 in a non-loop thriller.

In other league games Boyne City racked up a 68-47 win over Mancelona and East Jordan clipped Harbor Springs 51-31.

Elsewhere in the Courier will be found the account of the games played Tuesday night when Charlevoix played at Mancelona, Harbor Springs traveled to Pellston and East Jordan hosted Gaylord.

Pellston had a close call Friday when fourth place Gaylord held a 19-10 lead at the quarter and a 39-23 lead at half-time. The Hornets came back in the third period, however, and with 26 points went ahead by one point as the period ended 49-48. Gaylord tied the score 55-all with four minutes to go but Pellston dropped seven points to the Blue Devils' four for the game.

Keith Emerson with 20 and Bill Drier with 18 paced the scoring for Pellston. Jerry Hopkins had 17 and Jim Schreuer 16 points for Gaylord.

Boyne City had no trouble with Mancelona as the Ramblers led 11-8 at the quarter; 27-26 at the half and 47-33 at the third period. Don Arner with 19 points and Jim Milbrandt with 18 points led Boyne's scoring attack while Dick Lucas had 15 for the Ironmen.

East Jordan, with Roman Klimkiewicz back in the line-up after an absence of three weeks, took a 15-7 quarter lead and went ahead 29-19 at the half and 40-23 at the third period. Don Whiteford accounted for 17 of the Jordanites points while Vic Kishigo and Frank Granstra with seven points each shared scoring honors for the Rams. Harbor Springs lost Granstra and Ray Swiss early in the last quarter and Al Chingwa and Kishigo midway in the period via the foul route.

STATE OF MICHIGAN

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX
IN CHANCERY

In the Matter of the Petition of John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery:

John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1913, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.00 for expenses all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses as extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

Dated December 24, 1951.

Pellston in Lead By Defeating Gaylord

Petoskey by taking a thriller from the visitors by a one-point margin, 42-41.

In games scheduled for Friday Pellston goes outside the league to play at Mackinaw City after playing Harbor Springs Tuesday night. They should have no trouble with either team for Harbor Springs in the league basement has had little to offer and Mackinaw City, although a good team in the Class D league, does not measure up to the Hornets.

Charlevoix will meet the Mancelona Ironmen Tuesday and journey to Harbor Springs Friday. The Ironmen could give the Rayders a good game but Charlevoix is expected to have little trouble with the Rams, although they gave the Rayders a close game during the first half when they played here.

Gaylord will be playing at East Jordan Tuesday and after the close call they gave Pellston could defeat the Red Devils again. Gaylord won the first game by a 43-41 overtime score. Later in the week Gaylord will host Mancelona, a team which defeated the Blue Devils 48-44 in a first meeting.

Boyne City was idle Tuesday but will meet East Jordan on the latter's floor Friday. The Jordanites defeated the Ramblers 43-38 in the first game but Boyne City is coming back in strength and may give their hosts a close game.

Congregational Church Holds Family Night

Members of the Congregational church and their families, numbering more than a hundred, gathered at the church Thursday evening for the first 'family night' supper in the newly-decorated church basement.

The program which followed the potluck supper featured the theme, "Appreciation", as each church circle thanked the men of the group for the many hours of donated labor given to the installation of new ceiling tile, floor tile, the painting of walls and other projects.

Each member who had worked on the remodeling and redecorating projects was awarded a special 'diploma' entitling him to "special consideration as a skilled workman in any Congregational church in Michigan, in the United States and the world." The 'diplomas' were awarded by Mrs. Kit Carson, president of the Woman's Fellowship.

Special thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman who donated the floor tile for the entire basement; to Mrs. G. B. Saltonstall for the donation of a lavatory and to Mrs. Earl A. Young for the material for the drapes.

County's First 'Little Farmers Week' Proclaimed Success

Latest in Agricultural Methods Reported By Extension Specialists

More than 600 farmers visited Charlevoix last week to attend the series of agricultural meetings offered at the first "Little Farmers' Week" ever staged in the county Attendance and interest were well worth the venture, said Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, who planned the week in co-operation with the extension department of Michigan State college.

Subject matter for the meeting was selected to meet the particular needs of this area of the state. Emphasis was placed on an agricultural program of grass, livestock and poultry farming. Extension specialists brought to the farmers of this area the latest information available through experiments and tests. Each program included a question period permitting farmers to present their individual problems.

The success of this first attempt to hold a Little Farmers' Week indicatad the event can become an annual affair, says Rebman. The proposition was presented at each group meeting and brought an enthusiastic response of approval from both the farmer and the extension men from State college.

Following is a resume of the subjects covered during the week, as reported by the county agent.

Poultry Raising

Poultry farmers in Charlevoix county should plan on getting their chicks in January or February in order that they may sell eggs on the high price market, George Sweet, poultry specialist said at the poultry meeting Monday. It takes more fuel, time and space and a greater need for good management to raise early chicks. However, the chicks have a more uniform growth, make more economic use of farm labor and will net more profit to the producer.

The best source to obtain baby chicks is from a reliable local hatchery, he advised. Usually the birds are in better health and the farmer obtains better service. Be sure you obtain the kind of birds you want, that is, either the egg laying strain or the meat producing strain.

A stationary brnoder house is required for early chicks. Growers should allow ½ square foot for every chicken they start. Growers were urged to prepare for the chicks early. Start the stove two days before they arrive. Baby chicks require one inch of feeder space for each bird and one-half inch on the waterers. The litter must be the most absorbent material obtainable and the starter mash should contain from 18 to 20 percent protein. The birds should be put on clean range when they are put out of doors.

Poultry raisers are urged to adopt many labor saving practices. These include water under pressure, built up litter, community nests and proper arrangement of equipment. Feed the laying hens plenty of water, a good mash of 15 to 16 percent total protein, plenty of gril aod oyster shells. Growers should cull their flocks regularly. Control lice by nicotine sulfate, and mites by soap, water and lye. Keep the feed hopper only one-half full in order to reduce wasting of feed.

Finally to maintain egg quality the producers should gather the eggs about three times daily using a wire basket. Store these eggs from 50 to 60 degrees temperature. Use dry litter so the eggs will be clean and have soft clean nest material in the community nest. Finally, market these eggs often so the quality may be maintained.

Poultry Diseases

Some poltry diseases are still on the increase in Michigan, warned Dr. Howard Dunn, veterinarian from Michigan State College. Comparing the number of birds taken to the laboratory in 1951 with those taken in 1950, for diagnosis, some diseases are on the increase while others are on the decrease.

Range paralysis, also known as big liver, gray eyes, and big bone disease is on the increase. This disease starts in the baby chicks 30 days or less of age but takes sometimes a year or so before the disease will effect the old chickens. There is not much a grower can do about the range paralysis except to buy good clean chicks. Newcastle disease is still with the poultrymen. At the present time there is no treatment for newcastle. Vaccination is the only safe thing to do when there is newcastle in the neighborhood.

Coccidiosis is a disease that many poltrymen are aquainted with. Dry litter is the best prevention that poultrymen can use as the organism needs wet, damp conditions to grow. Some of the sulfa drugs will control coccidiosis.

Pullorum disease is carried from the egg to the young chicken. Only by obtaining good clean stock can one escape pullorum.

Pullet disease, also known as blue comb, is the disease that always starts about the time the pullets are put into the laying house. The treatment is simple with the use of potassium diacromate in water. Infectious broncitis is aiso on the increase. Along with newcastle, there is no cure for infectinus broncitis. Buying good clean chicks and sanitation are the best control measures yet found.

Building and Machinery

Pen barns, milk houses and machinery costs were the subject discussed by Bob Maddox, agricultural engineer at the Tuesday program.

The most important things to look at in planning the pen barn were to have separate areas for feeding, lounging and for milking. These areas must be so arranged that the lounge area will be clean and dry and the feeding area arranged so that the animals may be fed with the least amount of labor. Pole barns are another way that farmers can reduce the cost of barn construction.

Milk houses should be approximately 12-14 as one that is too large will be too hard to heat. Proper arrangement of equipment and proper location of the milk house should be planned before construction is started. Locate the milk house as close to the barn as possible to insure maximum usefulness. Use as much home grown material as possible to reduce the cost of construction.

Machinery costs are a big question these days. Many farmers are undecided whether or not to buy that field chopper, hay baler, or combine. The main point to consider is the number of hours per year that the machine will be operated. Normally and on a general rule, a machine must be operated over 100 hours annually to bring the cost down so that a farmer can afford to own the machine. If you can't get 100 hours out of the machine with your own use and custom work then the farmer should plan on hiring it done.

Livestock Program

Planning the farm program was the main theme of William Finley, livestock specialist of Michigan State College. Farmers must fit their program to the production of their farm. Also the program must be planned for the interest of the farmer. In other words he should have the kind of livestock and crops that he

Emmet County Dairy Council Elects Officers

The Emmet County Dairy Council held its third annual meeting recently to make plans for 1952, according to R. S. Lincoln, county agricultural agent. The council is composed of 35 members representing the various dairy organizations, farm organizations, federal agencies and business. They hold two meetings each year to plan and assist in carrying out a program designed to strengthen and expand the dairy enterprise in Emmet county. The Council has set as its goal "double the number of cows numbers by 1964."

At the meeting Ben Bochniak of Petoskey was elected as chairman of the council, Arthur Fettig of Petoskey was named vice-chairman and R. S. Lincoln, county agricultural agent, secretary-treasurer.

The Council discussed Grass Day, which will be held in the county on June 23. A committee was named to assist with the over-all planning of the event. The Council endorsed the idea of a 4-H club and adult dairy judging day to be held June 10. The possibility of having some tours as in past years was discussed. The Council will sponsor another county-wide dairy banquet in 1953. The matter of a district sale for surplus dairy cattle was discussed.

The ten-point program adopted by the Council for 1952 was: (1) Stress improvement of hay quality, (2) stress pasture improvement, (3) encourage dairying with youth, (4) assist in the grass day program, (5) stress importance of better breeding, (6) improve milk and cream quality, (7) stress disease and parasite control, (8) endorse the idea and help promote a county 4-H community building at the fairgrounds, (9) promote the 4-H club and adult judging day, (10) sponsor the county dairy banquet.

Antibiotics and Research

Research on antibiotics for poultry go to prove that, with a fundamentally sound mash, a gram of Procaine Penicillin Produces excellent gains in growth while promoting health and vigor.

MERMASHES (using 400 lbs. of M.V.P. to a ton) already rich in B12 and associated B Complex vitamins, carry a gram of Penicillin Procaine plus some Terramycin, Aureomycin and Streptomycin.

Feed made with Farm Bureau High N-R-G Broiler maker 40% protein for Broiler Mash and our new Chick Starter carry over 2 grams of Procaine Penicillin plus the other antibiotics. We believe there is no mash on the market better equipped to deliver all the heritage of the chick and the managerial 'know how' of the owner will permit.

Farm Bureau Turkey Ration carries 25% more antibiotics than regular Mermashes. This seems to answer all ordinary demands for full, fast, and vigorous growth in poults.

For hogs, we believe our antibiotic premix, rich in Terramycin — but aided and abetted by Aureomycin, Penicillin Procaine and Streptomycin — is what a smart, conscientious 'doctor' would order. It is doing the job that farmers like to see done.

A beef breeding herd is the type of program usually used in this area. This program is definitely a pasture and roughage program and farmers should plan on having a herd of 20 or more beef cows. Also beef cows fit well with existing farm enterprises. Calves from the beef herd should be dropped about this time of the year, and sold late in the fall as feeder cattle to go into feed lots in southern Michigan.

The long time outlook on sheep is good. At present, lamb and wool prices are at almost record high levels. Internal parasites which once were a headache to all sheepmen no longer will be a serious problem. Farmers should plan on from 20 to 40 good ewes. A swine program should be one of raising a few feed pigs to supply the pigs in your area.

A good livestock program is a challenge to farmers to improve their hay and pasture program. Farmers should plan to stay at the particular livestock enterprise they are in and should not be continually jumping from one enterprise to another. Finally, whenever you buy or sell livestock, weigh the animals, don't guess.

Weed Controls

A weed is any plant growing where you don't want it, Dr. Grigsby, specialist from Michigan State college said in discussing weed control. A large number of weeds can now be controlled by the use of selective chemicals, however, good cultural practices such as rotations, clipping of pastures and so forth should be continued.

Mustard, including yellow rocket, may now be controlled very easy. In grain, 2,4-D may be used. If there is a legume seeding in the grain, dinitrophenal may be used. Both of these sprays must be put on when the oats are small. In corn, use 2,4-D at the time the corn is emerging.

Wild carrot can be controlled in September and October with 2,4-D. Spotted knap weed and thistle may also be controlled in the rosette state of growth either with a fall or early spring application of 2,4-D. Mechanical weed control in potatoes is usually cheaper than chemicals.

Quack grass can be controlled with a compound known as TCA. The expense is great when the entire field is treated. The best recommendation is to treat small patches of quack grass with TCA.

Whether or not chemical weed control pays depends on the situation and the crop concerned. For lawns, road sides, pastures and small grains, chemicals are the cheapest control. In most other crops good management practices are most economical. For more information on chemical weed control, contact Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent at Boyne City.

Crop Diseases

Farmers can help control some crop diseases while others are beyond their power, according to Ed Andrews, specialist from Michigan State College. Stem, leaf rust and crown rust of oats are two diseases that farmers must leave to the plant breeder and let them develop rust resistant varieties. The smut however, can be controlled by the farmers. For loose smut use the hot water treatment and for the stinking smut use chemicals.

Scab of wheat, barley and oats and yellow spot of wheat can be controlled by chemicals, but rotations are important. Farmers with scab or yellow spot should not top dress their wheat fields with manure.

Bacterial wilt may be a serious problem. If this is the case, use an alfalfa known as ranger. It is wilt resistant. Ranger alfalfa, however, is neither as good a yielder nor as winter hardy as the older alfalfa varieties. Another disease, yellow patch of ladino, may show up quite bad one year but the next year the pasture field will be satisfactory.

Potato growers should assume that they have late blight in their potato planting stock and they should plan on spraying accordingly. Make sure the potato tops are dead before harvesting and spray with straight copper ahead of the digger. Ring rot, wilt and yellow dwarf are controlled by the use of certified seed and rotations. Late blight of tomatoes may be controlled the same as potatoes.

Hay and Pastures

The yield of hay in Charlevoix county is only 1.2 tons per acre, according to D. L. Clanahan, crops specialist from Michigan State college.

First, hay and pasture are crops. Don't put them on the back field where nothing else will grow, he warns. Create the right kind of soil conditions by testing and adding lime if necessary and by fertilizing two crops. Next prepare a good seed bed with quack grass under control. Then make use of good seed of adapted crops. Alfalfa and other seeds should be treated and inoculated to aid the growth of nitrogen fixation bacteria. The seeds should be planted shallow.

When farmers are through combining, the straw should be removed from the hay fields. Don't pasture or cut the alfalfa hay during September. Farmers have the choice of three methods of making hay, one is field curing which grandfather always did, second, is now drying and the third is grass silage. Farmers are able to get more feed out of hay when put into grass silage, but the farmer's cow still needs some dry roughage.

Farmers who are starting to make grass silage for the first time should use red clover as this is easy to make. Ladino and first year alfalfa may be too wet. Use a short cut and get a good pack.

Insect Control

Farmers now have a control program for spittle bugs in their hay fields, stated Ray Janes, entomologist from Michigan State college. The control program is either benzene hexachloride or lindane used in small amounts when the alfalfa plants are very small. There are two reasons for the small amounts and the early treatments. One is the amount of residue that will be left. If this will be used 40 days before alfalfa is pastured there will be no damage. However, farmers should look at their alfalfa fields and unless there is one spittle bug for each alfalfa plant it will not pay to treat. Spittle bugs on strawberries may be con-

Here's hoping that the Farmers Week for Charlevoix County becomes an old, cherished institution . . .

The full week of meetings for Charlevoix county farmers has been dreamed of for many, many years. But always there was some obstacle.

Now that Michigan State college has agreed to sending a battery of experts on various farm problems into the county during a week's period, it should make it easier for farmers to obtain at first hand the knowledge and results of experiments.

The co-operation of Ed Rebman's office, the college, the farmers and others whose livelihood depends on successful farming, should be close enough that continuance of the farmers week, started here this year, will be a matter of record. Let's continue the program in years to come . . .

trolled with a fall treatment of lindane and then in the spring using material that will not leave a residue on the friut.

Growers who are raising alfalfa seed may want to use a DDT treatment to increase the seed production. However, one should first have a good stand of alfalfa. The soil must be high in fertility, plenty of water and young colonies of bees are needed. If the above conditions are met growers may expect a good increase in seed production and also they will obtain a better quality of seed by having less shrunken seeds when they spray.

Methoxychlor is a chemical that farmers are allowed to use on their cattle and in the dairy barn for the control of horn flies and lice. Lindane may also be used in the barn but must not be used on the dairy cattle. To control grubs rotenone should be used when the grubs are in the warble stage. Farmers can have good hopes because Mr. Janes closed his talk by stating that grasshoppers may not be a serious pest in Charlevoix county during 1952.

Farm Outlook

Farmers can expect about 5 percent increase in prices received and paid for 1952, according to Everett Elwood, agricultural economist from Michigan State college. This asumption is based on the condition we continue the semi state of war that we have at the present time. Labor income on farm accounting farms will be about the same for this year as it was during 1951. Dairy product prices will increase somewhat this year while potatoes will be as profitable in 1952, as they were in 1951, said Everett.

The dollar and cents of grass land farming was the topic that drew great interest. Increasing the amount of grass on a farm will demand more roughage consuming livestock. If roughage consuming livestock is dairy cattle there will be an increase in the amount of labor that is needed to operate the farm. There also will be an increase in the total investment of the farm and there will be an increase in the net farm income.

Farmers who plan on using beef cattle for the roughage consuming livestock will find a somewhat different picture. There will be a decrease in the amount of labor to operate the enterprise when one goes from less grass to more grass. There will be an increase in investment but a decrease in the net farm income. In the final analysis management is the most important factor in grass land farming. There is no one best percentage of grass that fits all farmers. This percentage of grass is determined by the capabilities of the soil, size of the farm and the experience and know-how of the farmer.

Antibiotics for some classes of livestock have done wonders, according to Dr. Glen Reed, veterinarian who discussed livestock and diseases. Antibiotics on runty pigs enables them to make excellent gains. Poor calves fed antibiotics will also make nice gains. Cows, however, because they have four stomachs, can not make use of antibiotics.

Breeding troubles of dairy cattle have become more pronounced since artificial breeding began. this trouble is tied directly to the potency level of both the cow and the bull. Factors that effect this potency level are inheritance nutrition, disease and care and management.

Many farmers are loosing too many calves. With a few simple rules, farmers could save a lot of these calves. In the first place they should raise the calves up off the floor and feed them at least three times daily with warm milk. Calves require one pound of milk to 10 pounds of body weight daily. Divide the weight of the calf by three and you will have the amount for feeding. Use a clean nipple pale which will slow down the calf while drinking his milk.

Mastitis is the number one problem for dairymen. It reduces production, quality of milk, the life of the cow and the sale value of the animal. Mastitis is divided into two classes, the infectious type and the non-infectious type. To control mastitis develop a program of proper milking, proper stableing of the cow and furnish plenty of good bedding.

Check Calf Weight Before Culling

Check the weight of calves when deciding which beef cowa to cull and which to keep in the herd, Michigan State college beef specialists advised State beef producers this week.

They point out that the cows you keep in your herd should wean marketable calves and the calves should show satisfactory weight for their age if the cows are doing the kind of a job they should. Otherwise it may pay you to cull the low producing cows and replace them with ones that will make more money.

The MSC animal husbandmen also cite research results that show that a cow's period of highest calf production is between the ages of four and eight years. When cows get to be nine or ten years old they usually drop down to the production levels of two- and three-year-olds. So it's a good idea to closely check the calf yields of these older cows for possible culling.

Losing one hog to cholera costs as much as vaccinating many young pigs.

No More Hit and Miss Farming

THERE WAS A DAY when most farmers worked on a "hit and miss" basis. There were many "ifs" that made or ruined a crop, and the main objective was to raise enough food for the family and a little livestock. For cash the farmer worked in the woods, teamed, or took any job available during the winter months.

NOW the picture has changed and farming is operated on a business basis with an eye toward a cash profit in addition to a good living for the family. This change and the success attained today has been accomplished by more "know-how" — education, experiment and exchange of experience.

TODAY our agriculture has reached a level never heretofore attained in the history of the world — and there's a reason. One of the forces that has lead to our achievement is the untiring efforts of our county agricultural agents in co-operation with our agricultural colleges and their extension specialists.

NOW ANOTHER BIG STEP in the dissemination of the latest in agricultural "know-how" — a Little Farmers' Week in Northern Michigan. This one-week program, arranged to meet the particular problems of the farmers in this area, ties in with our efforts to improve our agriculture. Take the "hit and miss" out of farming and replace it with more "know-how" and we can all profit by a better agriculture.

Good Repair Lumber

A farmer who doesn't keep a stack of home-grown, custom-sawn boards often pays a high price for good repair lumber. Usually cheaper boards would serve the purpose and save him money. The man who cuts his low grade logs and hauls them to the mill for custom sawing gets his repair lumber for about one-third of the cash cost of the same lumber purchased outright. He adds that there are few wet weather jobs around the farm that will pay more money.

City Seeking State Aid For Harbor Repairs

Local Delegation "Crashes" Waterways Commission Meeting

Charlevoix was represented Saturday at a special meeting of the Michigan Waterways Commission held at Traverse City, but apparently not by invitation. Don Campbell learned about the meeting and informed Mayor John Knight, who immediately appointed Campbell as a member of the Charlevoix Marine club and Ed Shanahan as a member of the Board of Commerce, to represent the city at the meeting.

Purpose of the meeting was to hear reports and consider requests for aid by cities suffering from water erosion and high water damage. Sixty-five persons appeared at the hearing, representing communities from Cross Village to South Haven. hell asked for permission

The Charlevoix delegates were not asked to present their problems until Campbell asked for permission to speak for his community, the delegates reported to the city council Monday evening. They drew a rebuke from Robert Robb, chairman and director of the Waterways Commission, who charged that Charlevoix officials had shown little disposition to co-operate with the commission in collection of boat and gasoline taxes.

Stressing the importance of Charlevoix as a harbor of refuge and calling attention to the fact that 503 boats visited the harbor last season in addition to 200 locally owned boats, the delegates pointed out to the commission that the city urgently needed help to cope with the condition caused by the high water.

Campbell explained to the council that he was unable to give more than a general summary of the harbor needs because he had no time to assemble definite data. He said he did, however, put in a request for a portion of the $100,000 the commission has to spend in aiding communities experiencing water damage.

The delegates suggested the council appoint a committee to 8:45 p.m. Saturday.

Leap-Year Congratulations

There's a date coming up this week that won't be seen again for another four years. It's Leap year's extra day, February 29.

It also marks the birthday anniversaries of two Charlevoix residents, Jeanette Novak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Novak, who will be either two or eight years, depending on how a Leap Year baby counts her birthdays, and Mrs. Ada Golden, who is observing her eleventh birthday anniversary.

Since they are two of Charlevoix's Leap Year birthday celebrants, they always make a point of exchanging greetings.

Pictured is Jeanette stopping on her way home from school to wish Mrs. Golden a "Happy Birthday" at the Charlevoix County State Bank, where the latter is assistant cashier.

Mrs. Golden is the former Ada Yettaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Yettaw.

County Red Cross Fund Drive To Get Under Way Next Week

Charlevoix county, like other communities across the land, is preparing for the annual Red Cross fund campaign.

H. W. Patrick of Boyne City has been named county chairman of the fund drive, which is to open Monday, March 3.

The 1952 quota for the drive has been set at $3350, some $200 less than last year, Mr. Patrick said.

Quotas for the various communities are $1000.00 each for Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan. The quotas remain the same as last year but will include the rural area around each of the cities.

The others are: Walloon Lake $150, Boyne Falls, $100; St. James, Beaver Island and Ironton, $50 each.

Mrs. Charles Bellinger will serve as chairman of the local drive.

The Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross is sponsoring the drive to raise funds to carry on the services offered here.

Among those offered residents of the community are: services to servicemen and veterans; national blood program, which secures blood not only for the fighting men in Korea but plasma for use of its residents; disaster service which is confined to fires and other accidents in the area; safety service which includes first aid and water safety and Junior Red Cross.

Buttricks Compare Indian Cities, Find Vast Differences

Here we are in Calcutta and at a down-at-the-heel hotel if ever there is one . . but Calcutta is much the same wherever one looks and we are immuned now to most anything. George says he would give a lot to see Grandmother's reaction to some of our situations.

Our first impression of Calcutta—or at least mine—is of black legs, the grubbiest of what should be white clothes, and cows, cows everywhere. What a milk supply if it were only organized. There must be a million cows as well as six million inhabitants of the city.

Madras, India

We mailed our last letter from Calcutta and are now here.

How to describe India I do not know. Of course we have seen only a tiny segment: two and a half days in Calcutta and six days here and, as usual, we got here in a grasshopper-kind of jump by plane, so we have not seen much of the country in between.

As for the two cities, they are as different as they can be. Calcutta is shabby beyond imagination. Oh, yes, it has a fine central park and governors palace with its marble halls (we know because we were invited to a half-hour audience--incidently, the governor is a grand person. Christian, who cares mightily for the people and their need), and some impressive government buildings, but the city as a whole gives an impression of decay.

Madras is entirely different. It is a beautiful city on the ocean front, built around a wide river, with great open spaces of park or meadow, (a place for the cows) with fine wide thoroughfares and handsome colleges, churches and government buildings. We have rarely seen anywhere more beautiful mansions—much like many in California—but, in contrast, the abject poverty of lower castes. In a field between two mansions you may see a village of low, one-room mud huts with thatched roofs and one small doorway—no windows.

In the rain we have been having these villages are almost under water, so that the mud floors inside the huts must be nearly as bad as the mud outside. Somewhere in the village will be a communal wall which is the only convenience anyone had:

Day of Prayer To Be Observed

The sixty-fifth annual "World Day of Prayer" will be observed at the Congregational church here at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

"Christ Our Hope" will be the theme of the 1952 day of prayer, which will be observed in 18,000 communities in the United States and 104 other countries.

The women of the community are urged to attend the services. This is one contribution that everyone can make if he sincerely desires "Peace in our time."

MSC Coaches Head List To Honor Careys

Coach Clarence "Biggie" Munn, head coach at Michigan State College, and his coaching staff have been among the first to accept invitations to the Carey Day activities here March 28 honoring Bob Carey, Charlevoix's first all-American football player and his brother, Bill, also a Spartan star.

Several southern Michigan newspapers have also accepted the invitation in behalf of their sports department and will send representatives to Charlevoix for the event.

Various committees are planning events for the day, which will be climaxed by a banquet in the high school gymnasium.

Persons desiring to contribute to the fund for Carey Day are urged to leave their offering at State Bank or the Charlevoix either the Charlevoix County State Savings bank. It is pointed out by the committee that the fund must be available in advance of Carey Day.

The committee suggests that many small contributions will have much more significance than a few sizeable contributions. The fund is to be used to buy a suitable gift to be presented to Bob who "Biggie" Munn, head football coach at State has proclaimed "one of the grestest athletes we have ever had here at Michigan State for all time."

Board Approves Plans For New School Project

The Charlevoix Board of Education Monday night approved the plans for the new school project here and authorized the architect to complete the plans and advertise for bids, Supt. Roy G. Bennett has announced.

The board of education met with Malcolm Williams, a representative of the Warren S. Holmes Co. of Lansing, school architects. Final specifications were discussed and incorporated into the plans which the board then authorized the company to complete. They also authorized the company to advertise for bids on the $225,000 project.

The plans call for the addition of four rooms to the present elementary school building. The addition will be added to the north end of the present building and will be two stories high and 31 ft. 5 in. x 67 ft. 4 in.

The new unit, which will house the industrial arts and music departments, will be 140 ft. 8 in. x 70 ft. 4 in. at its widest point. All rooms will be one story with a balcony drafting room in the industrial arts department.

School Band Qualifies For State Festival

The Charlevoix high school band and its director, C. A. Odmark, returned from the District 2 Band and Orchestra Festival in Traverse City Saturday, full of plans for participation in the State Festival at East Lansing May 3.

The local musical organization qualified for participation in the state festival by winning a first division rating in the district festival, its sixth in as many years.

The second annual games party sponsored by the Band Parents association will be held at the high school Saturday evening at eight o'clock. The Saturday evening party will include games, door prizes and refreshments, it is announced by Dewit Peters, president of the association. He requests those attending the party to bring their own card tables and extends an invitation to everybody.

With the band eligible to participate in the state festival at East Lansing, the association is making every effort to raise sufficient funds to help finance the trip.

Only three other bands out of the 15 entered received top ratings. They were East Jordan in Class C and Petoskey and Traverse City in Class B.

The band was awarded first divisions ratings by the three concert judges and the one sight-reading judge.

Most of the comments were highly technical, but a few were in praise of the band.

Leonard Falcone of Michigan State College wrote of the group: "The band sounds very well. It plays with a good solid and sonorous tone and a great deal of vitality. For the greatest part it plays well in tune. Above all, it plays musically and cleanly."

The other concert judges spoke equally as well about the group and their performance. J. D. Jackson, also of Michigan State, wrote "A very nice job" and

NATO Moves Foreward

The defense of Europe appears to be going forward rapidly . . . on paper. The North Atlantic council, meeting in Lisbon, has approved a 43-division international European army ,including 12 West German divisions.

Probably it is necessary, if anything is to be accomplished, to go ahead as if nothing stood in the way of accomplishment. Yet in just the past week the whole NATO plan for defending western Europe almost foundered on French-German distrust and was saved only by the thin thread of diplomatic compromise.

The thread still could be snapped by the people behind the diplomats, the Germans behind Chancellor Adensuer and the French behind Foreign Minister Schuman. There is yet no certainty that the Bundestag and the French parliament will accept the compromises their spokesmen have negotiated.

It is well to hold no false hopes about the ultimate integration of a western Europe disturbed by a resurgent Germany and a fearful France. But realism requires recognition of the fact that as NATO gets past each succeeding crisis something has been gained toward the objective.

The basic structure of NATO remains intact. It continues as a functioning and progressive organization. And that is the main thing, despite the difficult and trying problems, to keep going ahead toward the objective of unity and strength against Communism.

Welfare Publicity . . .

People on relief need not fear that their names will be published in any newspaper, or that any listing of names will be made for general circulation.

Congress lifted the veil of secrecy on relief in order that records could be searched to find and to attempt to remove chiselers. No man or woman who needs relief and is entitled to it will be embarrassed by publicity.

Case workers on welfare staffs are as honest as any other group of public employees. They are as capable. Yet it stands to reason that when so many millions of dollars are poured out under the name of relief that some of it goes to the wrong people, or some people get more than they need. What goes to the wrong people, or what goes out in overpayments, leaves just that much less for those who need relief most.

Lifting of the secrecy provisions was not done to publicize relief scandals. It should work just the opposite —it should prevent them from developing. That's because secrecy in the spending of any public funds is a bad policy. Taxpayers have a right to know where their money goes and the right to check up to see that it doesn't go to the wrong people.

INTERPRATING THE NEWS

by Gene Alleman

A showdown is coming soon on the legislature solution of Republican leaders at Lansing for the state's financial dilemma.

Here is the story in a nutshell.

Governor G. Mennen Williams advocates a corporation privilege tax on corporation profits rather than "new taxes upon the things they (the voters) must buy and use in their daily lives." By diverting a share of corporation profits to the state treasury, the governor holds up a magical and almost painless solution to the deepening treasury deficit. Revenues fall short around $20 millions annually of covering financial needs.

A CITIZEN'S Tax Study Committee, headed by Alan L. Gornick of the Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, would raise a total of $66.7 millions by adjustment of present taxes. The committee program has much to commend itself as a nation-wide survey of state governments recently showed that Governor Williams, in advocating the corporation profits tax, was the only Governor in the country to propose new taxes in 1952.

The Republican-inspired legislative program to alleviate the financial crisis has incurred opposition of local governments. The program calls for recapturing of some state funds now being diverted to local government units. For example, the State Senate reversed itself last week when it approved a house bill cutting local government's share of liquor license fees from 85 to 50 percent. Reconsideration by three Republican senators, who previously had voted against such reduction of state aid, turned the tide. The bill would put an additional $1,293,000 in the state general fund now beset by red ink.

ANOTHER BILL in the Republican program, obviously designed to meet the challenge of the governor, would eliminate the 3 percent sales tax on liquor sales and would substitute a new specific tax of 3 percent whereby $3,500,000 would be added to the state general fund. Since both municipalities and public schools benefit now from sales tax rebates, the recapturing of revenue in this fashion is bound to incur opposition from local governments so effected.

Another proposal by Senator Elmer R. Porter would divert $3 million from the gas and weight tax revenues to help support the State Police highway patrol. Since municipalities share in gas and weight tax revenues, such recapturing also is bound to be unpopular in some quarters.

IT IS CONCEDED that in a period of rising inflation whereby prices constantly spiral upward there is a consequent need for additional revenues if present public services are to be maintained adequately. Sound evidence exists that the 1951 inflation, benefitting union organized workers primarily, left a large section of the citizens adversely affected by rising prices which they were unable to write off through higher incomes. The predicament is both collective in governments and individual in taxpayers.

If Republican leaders can hold the line by inducing legislators to favor recapture of present state aid now going to local governments, a solution could be found to the treasury deficit and an answer could be thus provided to the challenge by the governor for a tax corporation profits. However this is asking for quite a lot.

MICHIGAN corporations have not been such bad employers despite the proverbial onus of "big business."

It is significant that Michigan, recognized nationally as the nation's leading industrial state in 1950, paid more wages to production workers in average annual earnings than any other state in the nation. In no other state are factory payrolls as important to the economy of an area. Michigan factory workers in 1950 received an average annual earnings of $3,660 for a total of $3.1 billions.

HOW DOES Michigan compare with Ohio? Ohio production workers received $3,260 average in 1950. Thus Michigan leads Ohio by 11.2 percent and exceeded the national average by 34.7 percent.

As compared with factory earnings of workers in North Carolina, Michigan was 70 percent higher.

The Detroit Board of Commerce recently pointed out that manufacturing was Michigan's greatest resource and that through it, 41 percent of the people obtained their livlihood.

It was the conclusion of the Citizen Tax Study Committee that a state levy on corporation profits would merely shift additional cost to the consumer in the form ultimately of higher prices. We quote: "In small business as well as big business it is necessary to adjust pricing to tax cost as well as labor and material. In the long run all taxes are born by the ultimate consumer as part of the cost of goods and services he buys."

Business leaders conclude that a state levy on corporation profits might be the act of killing the goose to get the golden egg. Michigan's distinction of record high wages adds emphasis to this sound logic.

A POSSIBLE solution to the financing of tuberculosis sanitoriums from state aid has come up in the Legislature. Rep. Reobert E. Faulkner, Coloma Republican, introduced a bill asking a $750,000 grant to finance a $1,500,000 75-bed tuberculosis hospital in Benton Harbor, on a 50-50 basis, whereby Berrien county would match state funds. If local governments elsewhere offered to match state funds, reconsideration of the entire construction program might be ordered.

A SLIM PEACH crop in 1952 has been predicted for Michigan. A drop of 25 percent below the 10-year normal was attributed to the winter kill of a year ago.

CONTROL of collegiate television by law in Michigan, proposing to require MSC and U. of M. to televise sports programs has been given little support in the present session of the legislature. The legislators defeated a bill to require the colleges to make games available throughout the state, while Attorney General Frank G. Millard has ruled favorable to the colleges running their own affairs as constitutional bodies.

ANTI-RUST FUEL OIL

CONTAINS RD-119 — New Sinclair Scientific Discovery that Stops Rust.

IN ORDINARY FUEL OIL this steel rod is rusted after only a few days in prescribed laboratory test where small proportion of water is added as part of test method. That's because the inside of your steel storage tank rusts the same way because all fuel oil contains minute quantities of water, resulting from moisture condensation.

IN NEW ANTI-RUST SINCLAIR FUEL OIL this steel rod stays clean and rust-free in laboratory test under identical conditions as test at left. That's because RD-119 in the fuel oil prevents rust from forming. RD-119 stops rust in your storage tank, tank trucks and pipe lines in the same way.

Stops Rust that clogs burner nozzles and strainers

Due to the injection of RD-119 at the refinery, Sinclair SuperFlame Fuel Oil now comes to you cleaner and purer than ever. RD-119 stops rust all the way from the refinery to your furnace —— helps prevent the rust particles that clog burner nozzles and strainers. Chances are 1 out of 4 you will face hospital bills in the next 12 months!

Here's a wonderful way to protect your hard-earned savings against hospital and medical bills, and to afford the best medical care.

THERE IS NO ESCAPE from hospital-confining accident or sickness for one out of four families in Michigan during 1952. It is estimated that about 425,000 Michigan families will suffer this experience in the next 12 months.

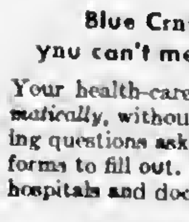
But there is a way to escape the hospital and medical bills that follow accident and sickness. At little cost, you can get health-care protection sponsored by Michigan hospitals and doctors.

Blue Cross - Blue Shield provides big benefits . . . and a lot of them!

In the 12 years since Michigan hospitals and doctors started BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD, these plans have paid out over 220 million dollars in benefits for subscribers. They have provided hospital and surgical benefits totalling as much as $8,054 for one person in a single case.

BLUE CROSS Comprehensive Group Hospital Plan provides up to 120 days care in ward or semi-private room, according to the service for which you enroll, in any of the 192 participating hospitals in Michigan. There's no cash limit on the certificate benefits covered, no matter how high the total bill!

BLUE SHIELD Medical-Surgical Plan pays generous amounts for specific procedures and provides substantial payments towards your doctor's visits to the hospital in non-surgical cases.



"Blue Cross is more than worth the little it costs just to know that if anything does happen to you, all the hospital care needed is yours without worrying about how to pay the bill. This year alone, Blue Cross has paid over $1,000.00 in hospital benefits for Mrs. Ludwig and me. Without Blue Cross, I would have had to go into debt to meet this expense.

"Believe me, anybody who is working, should have Blue Cross - Blue Shield."

Mr. Joseph A. Ludwig

Blue Cross - Blue Shield benefits you can't measure in dollars and cents!

Your health-care benefits are taken care of automatically, without red tape . . . with no embarrassing questions asked . . . with no complicated claim forms to fill out. BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD pays hospitals and doctors directly.

The best possible protection at the lowest possible cost!

Several BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD plans are available. The average cost is about 9 cents per person per day.

Wholly non-profit operation makes these low costs possible. Every penny received above nominal expense, is earmarked for benefits that go back to the members. BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD plans are a public service and a public trust conducted truly and purely "for the people" of Michigan by the hospitals and doctors themselves.

"Blue Cross has been wonderful. It was a great relief to know I was receiving the care needed to get well without worrying about the cost. When I saw the bill for $2,400 which Blue Cross paid, I realized just how fine Blue Cross service 'benefits' really are. Why, without Blue Cross, we would have had to sell our home to pay that kind of a bill!"

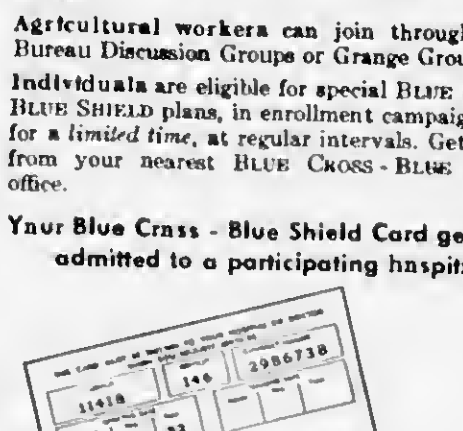
Mrs. Irene Motousek

Who is eligible for Blue Cross - Blue Shield protection? If your firm employs 5 or more people, it may be eligible for BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD Comprehensive Group health-care protection.

Agricultural workers can join through Farm Bureau Discussion Groups or Grange Groups.

Individuals are eligible for special BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD plans, in enrollment campaigns held for a limited time, at regular intervals. Get details from your nearest BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD office.

Your Blue Cross - Blue Shield Card gets you admitted to a participating hospital!



THIS IS YOUR TICKET TO WORRY-FREE RECOVERY

No red tape when you enter the hospital . . . no claims to file when you leave!

This membership card is all you need to be admitted to a participating hospital. Simply show it to your doctor and to the admitting clerk. And when you leave, there are no claims to file because BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD pays the hospital and doctor directly.

Charlevoix Defeats Harbor Springs 61-40

Rayders Have Scoring Spree In Backing Up Victory

Charlevoix went back into a first place tie with Pellston after Fridays win over Harbor Springs thus making the meeting of the Rayders and Hornets here next Friday the game in which the Northern Michigan Class C league championship will be settled.

Until a week ago the two teams had been in a neck and neck race for the league lead. Charlevoix dropped a few percentage points behind Pellston last week when the Rayders went outside the league to take a game from Petoskey.

It is believed this is the first time in the history of the league that the championship will be determined in the last game of the season.

This week's game will be marked by the meeting of the two teams which have a 10 win and one loss record for the season. Charlevoix's only loss was to East Jordan by a 43-41 score. Pellston's only defeat was at the hands of the Rayders last month by a 43-35 score.

Pellston's hopes that the Rayders would be defeated Friday at Harbor Springs were shattered when Charlevoix won by a 61-40 score.

The Charlevoix-Harbor Springs game had little to offer in the way of excitement as the Rayders racked up a 17-3 quarter lead on three field goals by center Charles Krahnke, two each by forwards, Bill Denemy and Bill Bennett and a field goal and one gift shot by Bud Barber. Norm Ketchman was the second starting guard.

Harbor Springs' points were scored on three free throws.

The second quarter was marked by the return of center Dean Boss to the line-up for the first time since Dec. 21 when he received a fractured wrist in the Charlevoix-Petoskey game.

The Rayders ran up another 12 points for a 29-11 lead as the half ended. Denemy had scored six points on three field goals, Krahnke had added four points on two f.g.s and Barber added two points on one shot from the floor.

Davenport also joined the line-up midway in the period.

Both teams had their highest scoring sprees in the third period. Charlevoix tallied 21 while the Rams added 17 to make the third period score 50-28.

Krahnke went on a scoring rampage and chalked up four field goals and one free throw for nine points, Bennett had five points on two field goals and a free shot, Barber had two field goals, Denemy added two gift shots and Ketchman had one free throw. Jim Lewis, Gerry Left, Bill Mosier, Frank Lagerman, Carl Foster and Jack Cross joined the line-up in the third period for a short time and returned again in the last quarter.

Harbor Springs outscored the Rayders 10-9 in the last period but it wasn't enough to serve as a threat as Bennett scored four points on one field goal and two free throws, Denemy and Davenport scored two points each from the floor and Barber added a free shot.

Krahnke led the scoring with 19 points on nine field goals and one gift shot. Stan Pifer and Ray Swiss had nine points each for the Rams.

Charlevoix's Red Rayders 1951-52

Rayders, Pelston Tied As Season Nears Close

All interest in the Northern Michigan Class C league is now focused on Charlevoix and Pellston as the Rayders moved back into a first place tie with the Hornets following Friday's victory over Harbor Springs.

In a virtual tie with Pellston since Jan. 18 when they defeated the Hornets 43-35, the Rayders fell a few percentage points behind the Pellston five recently when Charlevoix went outside the league to meet Petoskey while Pellston filled a loop assignment with Gaylord.

The conference championship will be decided in the game Friday, which will also mark the close of the current season.

In other games played Friday Gaylord ended its season in third place after defeating Mancelona 66-52; East Jordan retained its second place standing by winning over Boyne City 46-38 and Pellston trounced Class D Mackinaw City 61-31 in a non-loop game.

Gaylord annexed third place in the conference as the Blue Devils completed their regular schedule for the season by a win over Mancelona. The Gaylord five took an early lead and were ahead 15-10 at the quarter, 33-25 at the half and 46-38 at the third quarter mark. Jerry Hopkins scored 25 and Jim Schreuer 21 for Gaylord while Dick Lucas had 14 for the Ironmen, who were

Little Rayders Defeated By Harbor Springs

The Charlevoix Reserves went down to defeat Friday night when Harbor Springs' second squad won 32-26 after the little Rayder five had held a 15-8 lead at the half.

The loss marks the first since they were defeated by Boyne City early this month. It was their fourth loss for the season.

The starting line-up of Gordon Mol, Mark White, Dave Glassford, Joe McDermott and Jerry Albright had only four points at the end of the first period as it ended four-all. White had scored one field goal and Glassford had dropped two free throws.

The Rayders chalked up 11 points in the second quarter for their best period of the game on three f.g.s by White, a field goal and two free throws by Tom LaBlance and a gift shot by Albright.

The half ended 15-8.

Harbor Springs, however, was not to be scratched without a fight as they came back in the third period to pour in 16 points for a 24-20 third quarter lead. The little Rayders had tallied five points on a field goal and gift shot by Albright and one gift shot each by Glassford and LaBlance.

Charlevoix failed to make a strong comeback in the last quarter as the Rams again outscored them 6-6, for a 32-26 win.

The Rayders six points were scored on field goals by McDermott and Albright and two free throws by Duane Walker.

Gene Towsley was also in the Rayder line-up.

White scored eight points, Albright six, LaBlance five, Glassford three and McDermott and Walker two each.

Charlevoix scored eight field goals and 10 out of possible 19 free throws while Harbor Springs had 13 field goals and six out of 20 free shots.

Marion Couple Observe 41st Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, Marion township residents, celebradted their forty-first wedding anniversary at a party given Thursday evening at the Barnard Methodist church by their children.

Mr. Smith, a native of Barnard and the former Vera Vance of East Jordan, were married at Barnard Feb. 21, 1911, and have always lived on the farm they still call home. Mr. Smith, at the time of his marriage, was a lumberman and farmer. Mrs. Smith was a teacher and was teaching at the Mitchell school near Central Lake when she was married.

The couple has six children, four daughters, Mrs. Arthur Stoel, Mrs. Jasper Warner and Mrs. Harley Warner, all of Charlevoix and Mrs. Charles Smith of Alden; two sons, Carlton and Clayton, also of Charlevoix and 14 grandchildren.

The program which preceded the reception featured a play which portrayed some of the highlights of the couple's years together. The first scene showed Mrs. Smith, then Miss Vance (played by Mrs. Harley Warner) in her schoolroom the day of her wedding followed by another showing the bridegroom., (played by Carlton Smith) preparing for the wedding.

The next scene showed the wedding itself, the bridal couple, the attendants played by Arthur Stoel and Carolyn Stoel with John L. Boss as the minister., All were dressed in the fashion of the day.

The last scene brought the family up to date with the couple, enjoying a quiet evening at home with the youngest grandchild, Stanley Warner. As a surprise all the grandchildren come to wish them a happy anniversary. They concluded the program with the singing of the couple's favorite song, I'm looking over a four-leaf clover.

The program also included the singing of the hymn, I found a friend, with Mrs. George Block at the piano as she was the first time Mrs. Smith attended the church; the singing of "Always" and "I Love You Truly" by Mrs. Boss accompanied by Mrs. Clayton Smith; original poems fitting the occasion written and read by Mrs. Harley Warner and Mr. Boss and the singing of several songs and hymns, favorites of the couple. Clayton Smith was master of ceremonies.

Seventy - five relatives and friends, many of them old neighbors, were present for the program and reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were seated at a table which was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. Two tiered wedding cakes, one topped by a minature bridal couple and made by Mrs. Carlton Smith and the other topped with flowers and made by Mrs. Harley Warner, flanked the centerpiece.

Mrs. Smith chose a navy dress with white trim, matching accessories and a corsage of Picardy and white gladioli for the occasion.

The couple received many good wishes as well as cards, flowers and other gifts in honor of the occasion.

Vast Difference In Indian Cities

of crude shelters (nothing but a roof and four uprights) about five feet high on the back and three on the front—in all about four by six feet. Each shelter was a home, and by each a woman crouched, trying to prepare the one scant meal a day.

There are some in Madras who realize that something must be done, and soon, if the country is to be saved from communism, and who are proposing that all who can contribute land which can be allotted a piece to each family. The problem is so mammoth, it looks well-nigh insolable.

Here the people are at least in open spaces and can go to the river to wash their clothes, but Calcutta is indescribable.

Six million, and many of them refugees from East Pakistan, fill every cranny. You are overwhelmed by masses of humanity and a million, at least, have no home but the sidewalk.

As we drove to the airport at 5 a. m. pitiful bundles lay everywhere on the sidewalks—some on pads but the majority on the cold stones—rolled up head and all in filthy brownish-white garments.

By day we can hardly move on the streets without being beseeched by beggars who defy description, all crying for alms. We were told not to give to them because only if folk refuse will the thing be stopped. But if you could see them, you would be torn as are we—and you would give. We hear that moslems earn extra 'merit' by their charity and this is one reason for the beggar.

But again, if you could see the poverty of the masses you would feel there is a deeper reason. One meal a day and often not that. For instance, in one province 60 percent of 50 million people have only one small meal a day; and in another, half the people have 60 'no meal' days a year.

Then the cows—George is greatly amused because I talk of "what a potential": I have discovered that there is one cow for every two persons in all India. But the poor things wandering city streets so much of the time yield only 1/11th of the milk a cow would yield in Denmark. So what a potential!

THE MEDLEY of clothes is another impression of our brief stay in India. In these two cities we have seen almost no western dress on the women. They all wear the sari—six yards of material wound in this, that or the other approved fashion. Some of the material is perfectly exquisite and in lovely silks. The better class woman, except in the evening will wear a shortish, tight-fitting blouse and drape the sari around it. The poor woman dispenses with the blouse and wears cotton, usually in dark colors.

The men are almost as varied: some western, perhaps one-fourth, the rest in white dhotis or shoud I say "white" according to their opportunity to get them washed. The poorer the man the dirtier is his dhoti and the briefer. Some of the dhoti are worn as a long tight shirt just as if you took a single bed sheet, two yards long, and wrapped it round you from the waist down, just gathering the last few inches together and tucking them in. Perhaps even more wear them around and through the legs like a short, loose bag on each leg. Workers may have a very short dhoti, something like 'briefs', usually very grubby-looking or map reduce their clothing to nothing but a loin strap, and you can see this right in the middle of a busy city.

I thought last night as I came out of the lecture and looked down the busiest street in Madras, how completely foreign it looked . . almost no women and almost every man in white and mostly draped cotton or a kind of cheesecloth. Here and there the mass of white is broken by a colored American shirt hanging over the dhoti or even a short linen coat. It is a strange land.

And now on to Vellore.

Inexpensive, waterproof water cement paints, properly applied and cured, will help to keep the interior of your basement walls dry, according to Michigan State college agricultural engineers.

X-Ray Findings

U.S. public health service experiences with mass x-rays shows that about 1.5 per cent of the 20,500,000 examined annually—or 307,500 persons—would be found in each of the first five years to have reinfection-type tuberculosis requiring further diagnosis.

Electrical scientists report that uranium, key element in the development of atomic energy, led a dull life a decade ago in such odds and ends jobs as coloring of glass and china. They point out that it was discarded as a useless by-product of radium in World War 1.

County's Draft Quota for March Short 7 Men

For the first time since Selective Service was re-activated in Aug. 1950, following the outbreak of the Korean conflict, Charlevoix county will not be filling its draft quota, the Charlevoix county draft board announced earlier this week.

The county's quota for March had been set at ten men but only three men are available for induction March 4.

The reason, according to Mrs. Cornelia Barber, draft board clerk, is the failure of Selective Services headquarters to return files on men who were in Detroit in January and early February for pre-induction physicals thus leaving the county without qualified men to be called.

It will be remembered that 50 men were called for pre-induction physicals between Jan. 30 and Feb. 4.

Even if the papers were returned now the draft registrants on the list could not be called for induction on March 4 for they must be notified that they have passed the examination 21 days before induction.

The three men who have been called for induction next month are: Duanne C. Thomson of Ironton, John W. Harris of Boyne City and Ralph E. Harmon of Boyne Falls.

The men will report at the city hall here at 10 a.m. Tuesday, March 4, for transportation to the Detroit induction center for induction into the armed services.

He has been hospitalized for the past ten days for treatment of an arm injury suffered in a recent fall. Following the accident, x-rays revealed a break and a small growth on the bone. Doctors set the break, removed the growth and repaired the bone with bone grafts from both legs before allowing him to return home.

His condition is good and spirits fine now that he's allowed to be home.

study the situation in Charlevoix and prepare a plan covering needs and costs to be presented to the commission. Mayor Knight appointed a citizens committee consisting of Aldred Brow, Joseph Howard, S. E. Coleman, P. D. Campbell, Edward Shanahan, Franklin Ochs and Kit Carson to work with Charles Bellinger, Harry Gebeau and Drew Young of the city parks and waterfront committee.

The Waterways Commission told the delegates that communities wanting help from the state in combatting erosion and other damage from high water must take the initiative in working out the solution to their problems. Financial help from the state must be matched by local funds.

Minimizing the commission charges that Charlevoix officials would not co-operate in tax collection, Jay Harbaugh of the state sales tax division, told the city council that on two different occasions his department had been charged with the collection of the boat tax. He said on the few occasions he had to serve warrants to collect the tax he had received satisfactory co-operation from local officials.

The Michigan Waterways Commission fund is provided through a tax on boats and a marine gasoline tax. It was pointed out to the council that Charlevoix contributes a sizeable amount through this tax and should be entitled to its just share to meet the local conditions.

Fishing, Hunting Licenses Set Record in 1951

Michigan had a record number of resident fishermen last year and possibly a record-size deer hunting army, according to latest but still incomplete license agent returns to the conservation department

Tally to February 1 shows 830,161 licensed resident anglers in 1951 as compared to the previous all-time high of 819,702 in 1949.

For the first time, in monthly agent reports, deer license sales figures are running slightly ahead of those in 1951 comparative periods. Total is 355,524 resident licenses as compared to 355,000 of the 1950 licenses on the books last year at this time. The 1050 final total of 379,375 proved to be a record.

Department preseason deer hunting forecast last fall indicated possibly a few more hunters would be out, but field reports during the actual November season, and after it, suggested the opposite.

Kiwanis Club Sees Farm Film

Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, presented the movie "Farm Scenes" at the Kiwanis meeting Monday evening. The film portrayed farm life in the county, scenes at the county fair, contour and strip farming and other pictures related to farming. He also gave a very interesting commentary with the film. The program was planned by Leo Berg, program chairman.

Two guests were present. They were Malcolm Williams of the Warren S. Holmes Co. of Lansing and Ralph Steincheomb of Michigan City, Ind.

The department was able to report a record 1951 bow hunting force a month ago. Latest tabulation has pushed the record up to 18,659 resident bowmen and 1,067 nonresidest Robinhoods. The previous high, in 1950, was 14,781 residents and 740 nonresidents.

Annual non-resident angling license permits total 138,707 or more than the 1950 record final of 130,359. However, nonresidents have not purchased as many temporary permits, 138,193 as compared to 172,833 in 1947.

State Park Rules Remain Unchanged

No essential change has been made by the conservation commission in state park rules which have been renewed effective next May 1 for a 10-year period.

Because of a possible precedent setting threat to free public access of fishing waters might outweight the danger to bathers from refuse left on the beach, the commission has decided against a proposed rule prohibiting fishing through the ice over bathing beaches. However, the commission at its February meeting did recommend signs be erected in beach areas as a prominent reminder to anglers that dumping cans, bottles and other debris in the water or on the ice already is an unlawful act

A party was given at the Jim McClanagthan home last Friday evening to celebrate the 75th birthday of Mrs. Frank Brock. Nine of the eleven children were present, including Mr. and Mrs. William ZanPolen of Marlon. Many happy returns of the day, Mrs. Brock.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Saunders have received word that their daughter and new son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sudman have arrived in Maryland. They stopped to see her sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sibinic of Ypsilanti on their way East.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Zitka called on Mr. and Mrs. John Knudsen Saturday evening.

We would like to add our congratulations to the Charlevoix and East Jordan bands. Both earned number one ratings at the festival in Traverse City last Saturday. Mr. Acitelli, the East Jordan band leader, told your reporter that Charlevoix really had a swell sounding band.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nielsen attended the band festival last Saturday. Among those from Ironton who played in the Charlevoix band were Doris Nielsen, Carolyn Vanderwall and Milford Saunders.

The Farm Home Administration had its annual meeting last Tuesday at the Rock Elm grange. They had a potluck luncheon.

H. L. Barnam of Lake City and Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Barnam and son of Arlington, Va. were Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander.

Fishing was good last week, especially Friday night, but Saturday night the tables turned. They didn't pull them in so fast that night.

Once before I made the mistake of naming Barbara Nielsen as the school reporter when it was actually Donna Boyer. Well, Barbara is the reporter now. She is taking Donna's place. One hundred percent on the health check-up were Donna Boyer, Joan Geer, Barbara Nielsen, Ronny Anderson, Ralph Brock, Douglas Burgis, Larry Boyer, Terry Nielsen, Patty Thierry, Jerry Walker, Jerry Anderson, Terry Geer, Dagmer Brock, Orin Sutton, Marion Boyer, and Peter Brock. (A very good record, to my estimation) Terry Nielsen was the head of the check-up. We are glad to have Ronny and Jerry Anderson back in school with us. (They returned from Arizonia with their parents last week.) We are sorry to hear that Jerry Vanderwall has had the measles. We had cake and jello for hot lunch Friday because it was George Washington's birthday.

There will be a "bee" at the church next Thursday, March 6, to do some work on the ceiling in part of the basement. There will be a potluck lunch for the men and the women can work on the quilt at Mrs. Saunders' in the afternoon.

Fish Spearing Closes Tomorrow

LANSING, Feb. 28— Fish spearing season on inland lakes and waters closes February 29 but the sport continues on Great Lakes and connecting waters under conservation departmet restrictions.

Spears are legal only as long as spearing can be done through the ice on the connecting waters, Detroit, St. Clair and St. Marys rivers and Lake St. Clair.

Spears are allowed on the Great Lakes whether ice exists or not, except that commercial fish species may not be speared during any commercial closed season. Only commercial closed season affecting spearers during March is that on walleyes and northern pike. However, on Lake Huron, walleyes may be speared for personal use only, during the closed season.

Biggest sturgeon reported recently, a 173-pound one netted by Big Bay De Noc commercial fisherman George Boudreau, is second only to the 310-pound giant caught by Gordon Peters on Lake Michigan shore north of Benton Harbor in 1943. Largest reported taken by a sport fisherman in the winter season was a 110-pounder speared in Mullet Lake.

Sport fishing for sturgeon has been legal only in recent years and commercial fishing was legal last year for the first time in 22 years.

St. Cecelia's Music Club Gives Program

The St. Cecelia's Music Club, which is under the direction of Mrs. Russell Palmer, presented a program Friday afternoon at the Beaver Lodge.

The program opened with a reading on St. Cecelia's life by Mrs. John Gallagher. The club then sang several numbers, including "A Dream is a Wish".

Other selections were "America" by Karen Pischner; "April Showers" by Mrs. Willard Pischner; "Sweet Bunch of Daisies" by Mrs. John Gallagher; "Rock-a-bye Baby" by Mary Elizabeth Gallagher; and "The Tulip Song" by Susan Johnston.

A reading on the life of George Washington was made by Mrs. Palmer. Rosemary McDonough recited Abau Ben Adem. After the program a luncheon was served.

Buy More Chicks Economists Advises

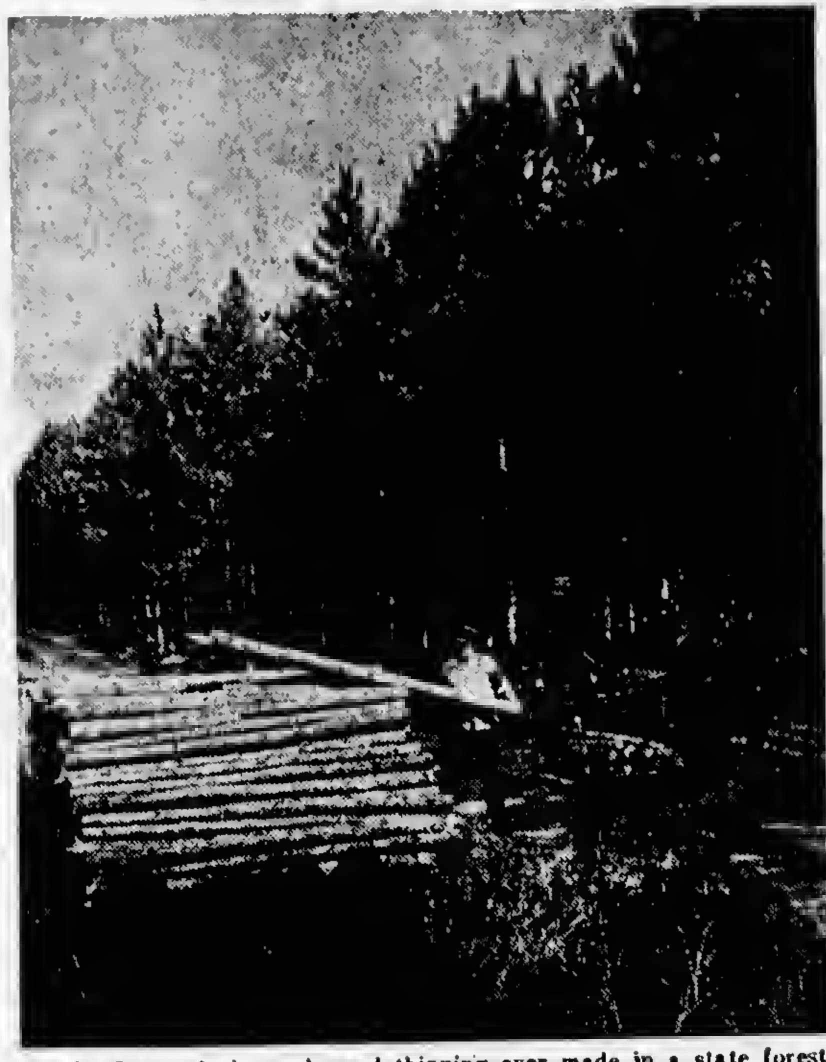
Although it might not look logical to farmers now who are looking at their egg checks, Henry Larzlere, poultry economist at Michigan State College, says that it should pay Michigan farmers to buy more baby chicks than they had planned on this year.

Larzelere explains that economists have been predicting for the past several months that unfavorable prices would discourage farmers about raising chicks this year. The crop report just out indicates that farmers now intend to buy 10 percent fewer chicks than a year ago. This lower number of chicks will mean fewer pullets next fall, fewer eggs and higher prices.

By having a good pullet flock coming into production next fall, farmers will be able to take advantage of the good fall prices. And prices in the winter and spring of 1953 will be higher than this year.

In any case, start the chicks as early as possible for greatest profits, Larzelere advises.

Planted 37 Years Ago



The first red pine pulpwood thinning ever made in a state forest has started in Crawford county, marking a significant milestone in Michigan reforestation history. This Higgins Lake forest stand was planted in 1914, about the time the state's reforestation of denuded acreage began gaining momentum. Since 1902 some 206,000,000 mainly red, white and jack pine have been planted in state forests. First actual cutting of planted trees of any type started with jack pine to the Alpena state forest seven years ago. Here, Frank Allen and son, Roscommon, use horse and dray rather than tractor for more efficient harvesting of an early, closely spaced plantation.

Pheasants Are Having Maneuvering Troubles

Pheasants are no "souped-up" fliers even at 25-35 miles per hour but Fairgrove area ringnecks appear to be having as much maneuvering difficulty as P-38 pilots of World War II.

In the strangest wildlife story of the young year, conservation department game men are picking up dead pheasants with broken necks, head wounds and other front-part-of-the-body injuries. Toll so far is estimated at as high as 50 birds.

Only logical explanation, Earl Gordinier, game cover specialist, is that the birds take off in flock formation from their roosting alfalfa field, only for some to crack-up against a telephone cable and wire in their attempt to reach the standing corn field across the road. "Ceiling zero" and other bad weather may or may not have played a part in the inability of the birds to dodge the cable on one side of the road and the wire on the other.

Harold Tubbs, Caro district game manager, says dead ringnecks were first observed in early January on and along side the county road two miles northwest of Fairgrove. A few have continued to be found ever since.

Game men have not actually observed these collisions but from time to time they have found carcasses in the road ditches, especially on the side with cable over head. First theories were that the birds were victims of hawks, poison, disease or cars. Autopsies since performed indicate all deaths have been due only to collision-type injuries—with damage exclusively to the front parts of the heads and bodies.

This area is one of the best pheasant concentration areas in the choice Thumb ringneck belt.

P-38 pursuit planes were considered exceptionally fast at the time, but not too maneuverable.

IT HAPPENED ON . . . .
BEAVER ISLAND
Mary LaFreniere

A party for Bruce McDonough who expects to leave soon for the service, was held Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Connaghan.

Beverly Moody celebrated her birthday Saturday afternoon at a party in her honor at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Edythe Kleinhenz.

Mr. Rodgers Carlisle was in Petoskey this week.

Vernon LaFreniere spent the weekend in Charlevoix and Petoskey.

Stanley Burns flew in from Detroit Sunday afternoon to visit Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bonner. He returned to Detroit Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Riekgers are the parents of a daughter, Mary Anne, born February 17.

The coyote hunters were able to revine their spirit this week with a kill of three. Thursday afternoon Archie LaFreniere got one on the road in front of Lawrence McDonough's farm. Saturday morning Don Burke and Anthony Greene reported seeing coyotes in Greene's orchard to the hunters. The men went out there and it wasn't long till Rodgers Carlisle killed one. Shortly after that Alvin LaFreniere, nine year old son of Archie, took a shot at another one. He didn't kill it but Karl Keubler did. A note may be added that Archie's coyote was a female and the only one killed to date.

Mid-West Group Elects Penfold As Director

Percy Penfold, manager of the Jordan Valley Co-Operative Creamery, East Jordan, was re-elected a director of the Mid-West Producers Creameries, Inc., at the 19th annual meeting of the regional dairy group held at South Bend, Ind., Feb. 21-22.

The Mid-West includes 20 co-operatively owned dairy plants located in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Tennessee, with general offices at South Bend. Their products are marketed under the Valley Lea trade name.

Jordan Valley delegates to the meeting were William Parsons, president of the board, Francis Our, director from Cheboygan and Penfold. Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Penfold accompanied their husbands to South Bend. Approximately 250 delegates from member organizations attended the meeting.

Among the resolutions adopted, the dairymen opposed subsidies and roll-backs on agricultural products in any new legislation.

Other problems receiving the attention of the delegates were:

1. A revision of the present designation of grades of butter.
2. The dairy farm man-power shortage.
3. More effective enforcement of federal and state laws governing the manufacture, sale and advertising of substitutes for dairy products.

The 20 member creameries in the Mid-West organization were urged to develop a stronger advertising and sales promotion program for their dairy products and to participate more actively in the program of the American Dairy association and the American Dairy council.

Mid-West reported sales last year totaling $9,182,746.00 from products produced by the member creameries. Total products produced by the member creameries had a sales value of nearly 22 million dollars.

Jordan Valley Co-Operative Creamery is one of the largest farm co-operatives in northern Michigan, having more than 1400 stockholder members. The company was organized as a market for butterfat produced by farmers in this area of Michigan. Last year facilities were enlarged to buy fluid milk for manufacturing purposes.

Editors to Study Rural Community

All Michigan newspaper editors will be invited to join in studying the rural community and how its newspaper can further the growth and development of country life in the state at an Editors' Country Life Conference at Michigan State College, next October 10 and 11.

The Michigan Press Association and the college will co-sponsor the event according to Gene Alleman, MPA secretary-manager, and Ernest L. Anthony, MSC dean of agriculture.

Soil Conservation District Officers

Clayton Healy Re-Elected Chairman of Soils District

Clayton Healey of East Jordan was re-elected chairman of the board of directors of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District at the organization meeting of the board of directors this month. Mr. Healey has been a director since the soil conservation district started in 1948. This is his second term as chairman of the board of directors. George Klooster, also of East Jordan, served as chairman of the board for its first three years of operation.

Norval Korthase of Boyne City was re-elected vice-chairman at the board meeting. Robert Straw of Charlevoix was elected treasurer, replacing Carlton Smith, who, at his request, was not re-elected as a director. Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, was re-elected secretary to the board.

The Charlevoix Soil Conservation District has planned several tours, demonstrations and field trips for the farmers during 1952. Some of these will include constructing terraces, laying diversion ditches, tree planting and hay and pasture tours. The district will also cooperate with the Cooperative Extension Service in putting on a tillage demonstration April 29. The location of this tillage demonstration has not as yet been set.

The district will soon obtain its supply of trees for spring planting. These will include mainly red pine with some scotch pine, white pine, jack pine and some multiflora rose. Cooperators who are interested in receiving some of these trees should notify the board of directors, Bill Grimm, farm planner; or Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, so that orders may be taken.

Multiflora rose is still in the experimental stage in Charlevoix county. According to Guy Springer, district conservationist of the soil conservation service, this multiflora rose is growing wild on Beaver Island. Experiments in Charlevoix county have not been too successful. Carlton Smith, south of Charlevoix, has planted multiflora rose for two or three years. Clayton Healey has a three year old planting. The recommendations at the present time are still to use multiflora rose on a trial basis.

Bill Grimm, farm planner, has been making the rounds of all the group meetings. These are local neighborhood groups who have gotten together with a common interest in soil and water conservation. The purpose of these groups is this it's just as easy to discuss an educational program with 6, 8 or 10 farmers as it is with one farmer and also, this saves considerable amount of time. Farmers who are interested in joining the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District should first try to get together with two or more other farmers and form a group and then ask for an application blank.

Even though you cannot form a group, farmers may still become a cooperator in the soil conservation district and should ask for an application blank from any one of the directors, farm planner or the county agricultural agent.

First Sign of Spring Shows in Trout Play

First sign of spring for Hunt Creek station fish technicians is the appearance of wild brook trout fry coming out of the gravel.

Restless trout fishermen can take some comfort from the conservation field report of active feeding starting in silty stream backwaters. Fry are from eggs laid down by wild trout about deer season time last year.

Dehorn your calves when they're 7 to 10 days old. All you'll need then is a commercial paste or liquid or a caustic stick.

Control Program Checks Mastitis

A planed mastitis control program will enable you to rid your herd of this costly disease, says Charles Little, Michigan State college extension dairyman.

First, test and examine carefully all dairy cows to find their exact status, Little says. Separate infected cows from clean, healthy ones. Dispose of all badly infected cows or those with severly damaged udders.

To insure sanitation, the dairyman advises cleaning and disinfecting stalls where cows with any form mastitis have lived before healthy animals enter. Use superphosphate or lime generously on all stable floors.

All replacement cows should be examined before purchase. Raise heifer calves to prevent udder injury and prevent udder sucking so teat seals are not broken.

Cows should be stabled in well-bedded stalls, properly constructed to prevent udder injuries. See that all udder and teat injuries are promptly and properly treated.

A good milking procedure is important, Little says. Before milking, every cow's udder should be wiped with a cloth moistened with a chlorine solution. Your county agricultural agent can tell you how to make this solution. Discard the foremilk into a strip can.

Dip teat cups into two separate pails of chlorine solution before milking each cow when milking by machine. If hand milking, wash hands before milking each cow.

Good herd management, prompt and definte diagnosis with early treatment, will save most cases of mastitis, Little says.

Lower feeding costs, better prices received and smaller death losses mean higher earnings for your dairy herd, say MSC extension dairymen.

Winter is machinery check-up time. Don't wait to repair machines until the rush of spring season, Michigan State college extension service specialists advise

STATE OF MICHIGAN

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX IN CHANCERY

In the Matter of the Petition of John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery:

John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 125 of the Public Acts of 1932, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.00 for expenses all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained,

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment as ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

Dated December 21, 1951.

JOHN B. MARTIN, JR.,
Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State.

Syrup Meeting Planned For Next Thursday

A maple syrup meeting has been planned for Thursday morning, March 0 in the basement of the Boyne City Library according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. This meeting will start promptly at 10:00 a.m. P. W. Robbins, associate professor of forestry of Michigan State college, will be on hand.

Farmers who are producing or who are interested in producing maple syrup will see a model maple syrup evaporator together with all the equipment necessary for all of the steps from tapping the trees to collecting the sap. Mr. Robbins will also have with him a complete set of colored slides showing the evaporator tapping the trees, collecting and boiling the sap down to the finished maple syrup.

The Extension Service realizes that a morning meeting is not the best time for farmers to get together, however, Mr. Robbins' schedule is such that he must cover two counties in one day, therefore, the meeting for Charlevoix county will be Thursday morning, March 6 at 10:00 a.m. in the basement of the Boyne City Library.

Rayders Tie Pellston for Lead

playing without Norm Wilks who was ill with the flu.

East Jordan retained second place behind Charleviox and Pellaton with a decisive win over Boyne City. The Jordanites took an 11-8 quarter lead and held it 27-22 at the half and 36-31 at the third period. Don Whiteford led the scoring with 17 points for East Jordan and Art Kujawski had 0 for the Ramblers.

Pellston ran over Mackinaw City 10-0 at the quarter, 27-13 at the half and 43-17 at the third period in a non-loop game. Bill Drier led the scoring with 21 points. Tom Martin had seven for Mackinaw.

Charlevoix scored a decisive win over the Harbor Rams 01-40.

THE CHARLEVOIX-Pellston game here heads the schedule for this Friday's games as Harbor Springs plays at Boyne City; East Jordan travels to Mancelona and Gaylord plays a return game with Class B Cheboygan on the latter's floor.

Two teams who have headed the league since the beginning of the season will be meeting here Friday. To date Charlevoix's only loss was to East Jordan Dec. 14 by a 43-41 score. Pellston's only loss was to Charlevoix by a 43-35 score when the Rayders played there Jan. 18.

The two teams have been matched during the entire season. In 11 conference games Charlevoix scored a total of 537 points for a game average of just under 49 points per game while holding their opponents to 390 points for the season or a game average of 38 points.

Pellston, on the other hand has scored 573 points for a game average of 52. Their opponents have tallied 464, or a game average of 42 points.

The Hornets' line-up boasts the two top scorers of the league, Keith Emerson and Bill Drier. The former has an impressive total of 207 points for 11 games while his teammate has 195 points for 70 percent of their team's total points. In the Charlevoix game there the Rayders held Emerson, who has an average better than 20 points per game, to three free throws.

Charlevoix's scoring is more scattered with Bill Bennett scoring 137 points, Bill Denemy 129 and Charles Krahnke 98 for 68 percent of the total points for the season.

Dean Boss, who was well on his way to be a top scorer before he received a fractured wrist in the Charlevoix-Petoskey game Dec. 21, is also back in the lineup. His return to the line-up will add depth to the center spot so ably filled by Krahnke since Boss was injured.

Pellston has a little edge on the Rayders when it comes to height, but did not seem to stop the latter when the two teams clashed last month.

Pellston will have much at stake when they come here next Friday. Within their reach for the first time since they joined the Northern Michigan Class C conference in 1945 is a league championship. Charlevoix, on the other hand, is the defending champion and held league supremacy in 1946, '47 and '48.

PLAYING the type of ball they are capable of playing, the Rayders may well have another Northern Michigan Class C trophy after Friday's game, but not without a struggle.

Other games scheduled for Friday will have little bearing on the final league standings.

East Jordan will travel to Mancelona to take on the Ironmen, who have been weakened by continued attacks of the flu. East Jordan is assured of a spot behind Charlevoix and Pellston regardless of the outcome, while a win by Mancelona could put the Ironmen in fifth place behind Gaylord, which has completed its schedule.

Boyne City will be hosting Harbor Springs, a team they defeated by 11 points in their first meeting. A win by the Ramblers would put them into either a tie with Mancelona, should the Ironmen win, or in fifth place behind Gaylord.

The Gaylord Blue Devils, who have completed their regular league schedule, will travel to Cheboygan for a return game with the Class B squad.

The bison is the largest of American mammals, and at one time was the most important game mammal as well.

The puma is a cat in all physical respects, but twenty times as big and powerful.

WHEREAS, the Village of Bellaire, a municipal corporation, of Antrim County, Michigan, has offered to purchase the said "Bellaire Hydro-electric Generating Plant"; and

WHEREAS, an appraisal of the value of said plant and a survey of its production costs and generating capacity has been made by Mr. J. Antrim Class D Champs Play Here Tonight

The Ellsworth high school basketball team, winners of the Antrim county Class D championship, will meet their traditional rivals, Central Lake, in the Charlevoix Gym tonight. The reserves will play at 7:30 and the regulars at 8:45. A feature of the evening will be the presentation of the Antrim county Class D championship trophy to the Ellsworth squad.

Ellsworth rolled up a 06-44 victory Tuesday night over Williamsburg in their 17th game of the season.

A battle of scores marked the first meeting of these two teams this year, with Ellsworth winning 87 to 69. While the results were a decisive victory for Ellsworth, the records show that Central Lake scored 25 more points on the Banks township boys than any other team this season.

Ellsworth has 17 victories and no losses to its credit this year and most dopsters concede them the game with Central Lake, despite the fact that Central scored heavily on them in their last contest.

Tonights game will afford many Charlevoix fans their first opportunity to see the Ellsworth boys in action.

Rose Brothers Gain Prominence On West Coast

Two former Charlevoix residents have gained prominence on the west coast, according to news received here recently.

They are John S. Rose, a reporter on the Los Angles, Calif., Examiner, and his brother, Dr. Mason H. Rose IV, Hollywood consulting psychologist.

They are the grandsons of Mrs. S. M. Rose of this city and the late Capt. Rose and the sons of Mrs. Catherine Deibel Rose and the late Mason H. Rose III.

John S. Rose recently was elected chairman of the Board of Directors of the Greater Los Angeles Press Club. As chairman he heads a board of 15 persons and more than 1400 club members from every phase of journalism, government, business, society and civic groups.

He is a founding member of the GLAPC and is also a director of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity.

He resides with his wife, Peggy and five children, John II, Robert, Donald, Barbara and Lawrence, in Glendale, Calif.

Dr. Rose has gained fame in another field. He has become known as Hollywood's eminent psychologist and one of filmland's most respected citizens. An article written by him will be found in a recent issue of a Hollywood publication, Filmland. With the article is a picture of Dr. Rose and popular screen star, Lucille Ball.

A third brother, Hal, is an examiner for the Farmers' Insurance Exchange in Los Angeles.

casion to call on the Red Cross for aid but others have had to and know that it is always there.

For instance, Beaver Island had not had to ask for aid in more than two years. Last fall within five weeks, the local chapter cared for three cases, all emergencies where time was at a premium.

Many of the cases handled by the local chapter are of a personal nature and cannot be publicized. The chapter files do show, however, that in the second six-months period of 1951 the chapter handled 37 service cases, eight civilian cases and aid was given to 42 other cases which were not included in the above.

During the drive efforts will be made to show the public the aid given to servicemen, veterans, their families and others in the county.

Engineer Gives Information On Proposed Hydro Plant Sale

The Charlevoix City Council recently adopted a resolution to place before the voters of the city a proposal to sell the Bellaire hydro-plant.

The resolution, which appeared in the Feb. 28 issue of the Charlevoix Courier, was adopted unanimously by the council following an offer of $80,000.00 for the hydro-plant by the village of Bellaire where the plant is located.

The Council feels that if the hydro-plant is to be sold, now is the time to consider Bellaire's offer.

Because Mayor John Knight and the Council wanted to present to the voters an unbiased picture of the proposal and what it involves, they asked J. B. Sims of Grand Haven, who has been serving Charlevoix as a consulting engineer, to write a letter defining various phases of the project and what it means to the city.

In the next few weeks preceding the general election when the proposal will be presented to the voters, an effort will be made to familiarize the public with the situation so they might have a better knowledge of what is involved before going to the polls April 7.

A public meeting is being planned now for April 3 in tbe high school auditorium. Mr. Sims, representing Charlevnix,

District Tourney Gets Underway At Petoskey

All seven teams in the Northern Michigan Class C conference have concluded their 1951-52 basketball schedules and will enter district tournament play this week.

Charlevoix's first game was against Onaway Wednesday night. The Onaway team had a record of 11 wins and 5 losses for the current season. The team is coached by Clayton Symons.

Peliston and Harbor Springs which drew byes in the first round will meet tonight in another Class C game. Pellston trimmed the Rams twice during the regular season and should have little trouble with them during the tournament play.

On Friday night the winner of the Onaway-Charlevoix game will meet Boyne City, which also drew a bye in the first round. If the winner is Charlevoix the Rayders will have an edge since they defeated the Ramblers 55-42 in their first meetiog and 58-27 later in the season. The Ramblers, however, are known as a good tournament team and can be depended on to give any rival a good scrap.

If Charlevoix and Peliston meet again in the district finals it will be the third time this season the two teams have clashed. The last time was in the game for the title last week wheo the Rayders won the league championship from the Hornets by a 50-34 score. Pellstoo, however, stinging from the defeat, will be back in full force in an effort to avenge the loss. Charlevoix defeated the Hornets 43-35 in their first meeting In January.

Snow, Wind Hit County Tuesday

The March storm which hit northern Michigan Tuesday subsided during the night and Wednesday morning found the weather cold and clear after one of Charlevoix's stormiest days in a month.

About six inches of snow which fell in a 24-hour period whipped by high winds brought traffic to a slow pace at noon Tuesday as visibility became poor and roads drifted full.

Schools closed at 2:30 and school children sent home by buses which managed to cover most of their routes.

Wednesday morning, however, the roads in the surrounding area were open and all but a few children were brought to school.

A spokesman at the Charlevoix county roads commission garage said all but a few east-west roads were open Wednesday. They expected to have those opened by noon Wednesday.

Fishermen at Ironton had quite an experience Tuesday when they were caught in the storm. Glenn Williams and his brother, Ray, at whose cabins most of them were staying, went out nn the ice on the south arm of Lake Charlevoix and brought the stranded fishermen in. Most of them had taken their cars out but were unable to drive them in because of drifts and poor visibility. Williams brought all but two cars in Tuesday. He went out Wednesday morning and brought those in. The fishermen were in fish shanties nver a four-mile long area. At times Williams, who knows the area, had difficulty finding his way back to shore.

Pentwater Youth Drowns As Local Tug Sinks in Storm

A Pentwater youth was drowned and a local fisherman narrowly escaped with his life when the 36 ft. fishing tug, Alice, went down off the Sagatuck breakwater Tuesday afternoon.

Lolyd Horton, jr., 23, of Pentwater, a member of the tug's crew was washed overboard when it was caught in the ice as it was returning to port from a fishing trip. Ralph Cross of Charlevoix, owner of the tug, escaped when he jumped to the ice and walked ashore.

Jake W. White of Charlevoix, brother-in-law of Cross, who has also been fishing out of Saugatuck, said Tuesday night in a call to his home here that Cross had gone out earlier in tha day to lift nets In Laka Michigan.

While he was out the storm became more severe and drift ice was being washed out of the channel that leads to the harbor. As the tug neared the breakwater, it pulled to one side to let the ice pass rather then try to break through it. As it stood by, a wave hit the cabin, breaking a window. The water which washed in stalled the engine and the tug floundered in the heavy sea. Another wave filled with drift ice hit the disabled boat, crushing the cabin and washing Horton overboard. The tug was being battered against the ice along the shore and Cross managed to jump off and walk ashore.

Coastguardsmen and fishermen from Holland combed the area in tha storm but wera unable to find the body of tha fisherman. There is littla hopa that it will be recovered at once.

Horton had joined Cross' crew when Cross was fishing out of Pentwater earlier in the season.

Democracy is Served

The first week of the congressional hearing on Communism in Michigan has given every citizen something to think about with utmost seriousness. Here have been raised questions that go to the very roots of our political thinking as Americans.

How far should we go, in protecting our freedoms, toward restricting freedom of operation of those who hold views against the majority? Obviously as far and only as far, as necessary to safeguard the rights of the majority without destroying the just rights of the individual.

More than 150 persons in Michigan have been named at the Detroit hearing as active Communists. They have been named by persons who have been inside the party for years as police agents.

Has the naming of them deprived those named of their deserved rights as citizens? In most cases, no. They have been given every chance to use the constitutional protection against self-incrimination. Their refusal to answer is, of course, in itself a kind of answer, raising the supposition that they would not refuse to speak unless they had something to hide. If otherwise, they have redress under the law.

The detailed accounts of the Communists' secret workings in Michigan may give rise to the question whether anyone can be trusted. Herbert Philbrick, who "led three lives" as a Boston Communist for the FBI, said that even a "close friend, brother, employe or even employer, leading citizen, trusted public servant" might be a party member.

From testimony given in Detroit this past week, it appears that this may well be true. Still, it is estimated that Communists and "fringe" followers of the party constitute less than one percent of Americans. And 99 percent loyalty surely is enough to argue against giving way to general fear and distrust toward neighbors, friends and associates. That would be just what the Communists want.

Communism operates, of course, through well disciplined minorities, even in Russia. It takes only a few saboteurs, to wreck a plant, only a few persons to poison the thinking of a group. But the need remains to deal with the particular few, not to tear down our own house. That the American people can be trusted is a primary article of faith of a democracy. It should not be forsaken now.

The Detroit hearing has made the people of Michigan sharply aware of the "clear and present danger" of the Reds among them—as, it appears, the authorities have been for some time.

That has been one of the main purposes of the hearing. Mrs. Bereniece Baldwin, who was in the Communist inner circles until less than a month ago as an informer for the FBI, made the point that this purpose was being served. "Members (of the party) fear exposure," she said, "more than anything else, because once they are exposed they are of little use to the party."

By the democratic process of making the facts known, American democracy apparently is being furthered, rather than diminished, through such hearings as the one in Detroit.

When the weather gets a little better and you're looking for someplace special to drive, how about taking a look at the new R.E.A. plant at Advance . . . We saw some pictures of it the other day and its sounds wonderful . . Out of nowhere there has risen in a few months this tremendous project . . . No doubt they'll have open house sometime this summer so don't miss it . . . They tell me there will be scads of coal barges going through too, once the plant goes into operation . . or even before . . . to supply the coal to keep it running . . .

FROM THE SOUTH a card from Mrs. George Haggard who has been visiting her mother at Coral Gables and hitting a few other places too . . . She'd seen several of our summer residents and has been enjoying the wonderful weather there . . . And from Orlande a card from Mrs. Mioa Dawson who is at the Empiro Hotel there . . . She was planning to visit other Charlevoix folk this week . . . From Mrs. William Wallace a note and a clipping . . . from the Tampa News about an R. E. THOSE OF US who follow high school sports know of the terrific school spirit here . . . Charlevoix has the best of everything . . . football team, basketball team, track team ,band . . . just about anything you want to mention . . If you don't believe it, ask the school kids . . . they'll tell you . . . from the kindergarten right on up . . . But school spirit, we find, is not something which belongs to Charlevoix alone . . . We went to the Ellsworth-Central Lake game and saw a good example of it . . . And we saw it again Friday night . . . With kids growing up with the spirit there can't be too much wrong with this youth we're always hearing about that's going to the dogs . . . but fast . . . We'll bet our money on 'em any day . . .

MAY WE ADD our congratulations to the many already given Coach Del Terrill and his Charlevoix Rayders . . . For a team that no one thought too much of last fall, they've done a bit of alright . . . Another Class C championship which in this league isn't the easiest thing to come by . . . And now it's tournament time again . . . How time does fly . . But may we add our two cents worth? . . . No? . . Well, we will anyway . . . We all want our team to win . . . We hope they will . . . But if they shouldn't, just remember this . . . they were giving their best . . . and no one wants to win more than they do . . . You've heard this before but we're going to repeat it . . . You've had a good season of good basketball . . . Games that have given you everything in the way of thrills . . . And continued wins aren't in the books . . . well, be grateful for little things . . . And to the Rayders and Coach Terrill . . . All our luck and love . . .

THEY TELL us the Children's choir at the Congregational church Sunday was really grand . . . Mrs. E. D. Hawley has been training the children who made their first appearance at the regular service Sunday . . . Youngsters from the first through the sixth grades . . . And what did they sing? Why, the "Children's Prayer" from Hansel and Gretel . . . It couldn't have been more fitting . . . The congregation is looking forward to hearing them again . . .

Ogdens and Mattsons Have Reunion in North Carolina

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—A Charlevoix-Ironton reunion took place near here last week when the Clyde Ogdens of Ironton paid a call on the Rev. and Mrs. Bernard G. Mattson, formerly of Charlevoix and tronton, at the Penland Handicraft School, high in the mountains of North Carolina.

The Mattsons will be remembered in Charlevoix for their residenee in the late twenties, when Mr. Mattson was minister of the Charlevoix and tronton Congregational Churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogden are spending the winter with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Doan R. Ogden, in Asheville.

The Penland School, where the Mattsons now live, is built on the side of a mountain overlooking a lovely pastoral valley. Founded in 1814 by two devoted teachers, it is famous for the fine craftsmen trained there and for the workmanship in weaving, pottery and other crafts those students have produced.

Mrs. Mattson was formerly on the staff of the school but is now an independent weaver, thwacking away at her looms in her own home and producing beautiful designs and colors in many media. Her specialty is cotton skirts and dresses but she is also weaving coverlets, men's and women's suiting and other items to order.

Mr. Mattson, now 87 years of age, is still mentally alert despite the handicap of failing sight. Delighted to see old friends and parishioners, he pointed out the charm of "his" valley, which spreads out before him as he sits in his favorite chair in front of what must be one of the largest and most delightful picture windows in the area.

He says that radio reception is not good in that location but he does not miss it too much since he has "talking books", the service the Library of Congress renders the blind. He showed his guests his record-player, a lifetime loan, and the books he was "reading", which turned out to be Plato's Dialogues and a volume of nature study.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogden report they have never spent such a pleasant winter. Daily temperatures in Asheville range from forty to fifty degrees but a warm seventy is not unusual. Clyde, whose artistry with gardens is well known in this vicinity, has been able to spend most of the winter roaming about outdoors and has been heard to say, though he'll probably deny it, that his loyalty to Michigan and the Lake Charlevoix country has been badly shaken by the temperate winter in North Carolina.

He and Mrs. Ogden have lived in a mountain cabin, vintage of 1825, which their son removed to his property and rebuilt. All outside construction of the cabin is hand-hewn oak beams of considerable size and so skillful was the moving and relocation that it is impossible to tell the cabin was ever disturbed. Squirrels and native birds have lived close to them on the front porch and, with the wood-smoke curling through the chimney, these longtime Michiganders have really "gone native" in North Carolina. They expect to return to their Ironton home early this month.

Ellsworth Team Defeats Central Lake By 52-32

The Ellsworth Lancers, coached by Eugene Inman, chalked up a 52-32 victory over Central Lake at the Charlevoix high school gymnasium Thursday night for their eighteenth win of the season and the Antrim county Class D league championship.

The next game for the spectacular team was against Boyne Falls in the district tournament at Petoskey at 7:30 Wednesday night. The winner of this game will meet Alanson, which drew a first round bye, in the semi-finals at 7:15 Friday night.

If Ellsworth gets to the finals they will meet one of three teams, Bellaire, Petoskey St. Francis or Central Lake. The Ellsworth squad has met and defeated all but the Petoskey squad this season. The latter was not on the Ellsworth schedule.

Ellsworth has two wins over its first tournament rival Boyne Falls. The first was a 78-28 score and the second by a 70-37 score so the Lancers should have little trouble with the Loggers in tournament play. They also have two decisive victories over Alanson to their credit.

Ellsworth remains one of the few undefeated Class D teams in the state. In 18 games they have rolled up a total of 1215 points for a game average of 67 points, while holding their opponents to 635 points or 33 per game.

Ellsworth concluded the 1951-52 season with a win over their traditional rival, Central Lake, by 52-32 score on the Charlevoix floor.

The game got off to a alow start with the quarter ending 5-2 on two field goals and a free throw for Ellsworth. Central Lake had scored two points on gift shots.

Ellsworth started to roll in the second period and tallied a total of 14 points to seven for Central Lake for a 19-9 halftime lead.

The Lancers added 16 to Central Lakes 10 for a third period score of 35-19. Both teams went on a scoring spree in the last quarter, with Ellsworth scoring 17 and Central 13 for the final score of 52-32.

Approved Plans for School Addition

The Charlevoix Board of Education last week approved plans for the new $225,000 school project here as submitted by the Warren S. Holmes Co. of Lansing, school architects.

Pictured are the floor plans for the addition to the elementary building (left) and for the new unit which will house the music and industrial arts departments.

The two-story elamantary school section will ba added to tha north of the present elementary building on tha Grant St. side.

The new high school unit will be huilt to the north of the present gymnasium and high school building and will connect with these buildings. It will be a one-story structure.

The music department will feature individual and ensemble practice rooms as well as a large rehearsal room, storage for the music library, band instruments and uniforms as well as a director's office.

The industrial arts department will have wood and metal workshops, store room and various other special rooms as well as an office for the instructor.

A feature of this department will be the balcony drafting room.

The Board of Education will advertise for bids for the buildings in the near future, Supt. Roy G. Bennett revealed this week.

The Charlevoix school district voted the bond issue for the addition and new unit at a special election in October, 1951.

Engineers Report On Hydro Plant

Norris, of Lansing, Bellaire's consulting engineer, Mayor Knight, the Council and others will be present to answer any questions regarding the proposal.

All qualified voters may vote on the proposal. Voters are reminded that March 10 is the last day one can register to vote in the April 7 general election.

Mr. Sims' letter to Mayor Knight and the Council with the results of his survey of the situation follows:

"1. Our report to you (Mayor Knight) and the council indicates that with the present manual operation of the Bellaire Hydro-electric plant, the City of Charlevoix can generate the same amount of power in the Diesel plant for a lower cost. If the City of Bellaire does not buy the Bellaire Hydro-electric plant owned by Charlevoix the expenditure of not less than $20,000.00 to change to hydro automatic operation would enable you to generate power and transmit it to Charlevoix at about the same price as the cost of Diesel generation.

"2. The value of the Bellaire hydro-electric plant would be greater to the Village of Bellaire than anyone else. We consider the offer of $60,000.00 for the Bellaire hydro-electric plant by the Village of Bellaire fair, providing they are willing, as agreed, to sell surplus power to Charlevoix (delivered to Charlevoix bus) at your Diesel engine fuel cost. Also that they are willing to maintain the 24,000 volt transmission tie line in good condition with a maximum yearly expenditure of $2,500.00 per year, the City of Charlevoix to retain ownership of the transmission line. The City of Bellaire would have some surplus power for four or six years if they purchased the plant from Charlevoix. Unfortunately, in the summer when Charlevoix needs greater quantities of power, the hydro-electric plant usually does not have as much power as desired due to restricted water conditions.

"3. Therefore, the Diesel plant at Charlevoix should be expanded, and the money from the sale of the hydro-plant used for this purpose.

"The installation of a guaranteed 750 to 1000 kw rebuilt unit of a reliable manufacture, many of which are availabla, could be made on force accounting using Charlevoix labor for $80,000.00. No new building to house a unit is needed. A few building alterations would be necessary. This would give Cherlevoix substantially more firm power, particularly in the summer when it is needed most. We recommend that you reconsider your rates, and give thought to "promotional type" rates which will encourage usage. Greater volume in your power generation will distribute overhead and result in lower production costs.

"There is a possibility of being able to buy "dump" or surplus power in the future from R.E.A. But from conversations with the manager of the R.E.A. generating Co-op of Boyne City, I draw the following conclusions: (1) It is going to be some time before power is available. (2) They will be reluctant to make long contracts for power, and then it will be "firm". By expanding your plant, giving thought to cheaper fuel, increasing volume and lowering costs, you would be in a better position to "exchange" power if desired. (3) They are not sure what their costs will be, and my estimate is that unless you can purchase sufficient power in "firm" form to enable you to shut down and abandon your Diesel plant entirely, it will be difficult to show sufficient savings to pay you to buy. You will still have standby expense and fixed charges going on.

"4 The enlargement of the existing Diesal plant should: (a). Result in more dependability and efficiancy in the existing plant, and more reserve for emergencias. (b) Put you in a better bargaining position if you should desire to deal for purchased power. (c) Enlarga a plant and continue e payroll which is equivalent in value to the community of any small industry.

"5. The experience with the last Diesel engine is exceptional in the industry, and should not be held against expansion of your plant regardless of any inherent vibration characteristics of the engine. The stabalizing and under-pinning of the foundation of the larger Rathbun-Jones engine should be done. This work can be accomplished by men accustomed to handling sheet piling, pressure grouting, and generally heavy construction work. Most of this can be done by local labor. It would not require a specialized firm necessarily, and could be let on bids based upon detailed plans and specifications. This could be done immediately or after the addition of another unit. From descriptions of the soil furnished, we believe that a foundation properly designed will be satisfactory at the present site. Existing foundations not giving trouble prove this point."

Clean, test and treat all small grain seed before planting.

Thursday the coyote hunters met with a little more difficulty than usual, Chuck Kleinhenz wounded one quite badly but before it gave up it dashed out onto the ice with the dogs right after it. The trouble was, there wasn't any ice there, just slush. Both the dog and coyote went into the water. Chuck pulled the dog out and then with a fence rail got the coyote up.

So far the kill is eleven coyote (brush wolves) and three fox. Jimmy Martin found a coyote dead on Garden Island last week.

According to the woodsmen and the hunters the coyotes are working great havoc with the deer. Within the last two weeks the remains of three deer have been found. Two of these were at Indian Point and the third at Bonner's Bluff.

Fisherman's Story Comes By The Yard

George Hallam, who resides at Adams lake, route 2, Charlevoix, is now reeling off fish stories by the yard. He has the evidence, too, and brought it to the Courier office last week. It was a 33 inch pike measuring 13 inches in girth and a likely 10 pounder.

Hallam speared the pike Tuesday morning as the big fellow glided into the hole in the ice to look over the live perch decoy he was using for a lure.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Antrim-Charlevoix ABA Names Officers

Dan Triplett of Central Lake was elected the president of the board of directors of the Antrim-Charlevoix Artificial Breeders Association at the last board meeting. Other officers are Elias Somerville, vice president of Central Lake, and Burr Blanchard, secretary-treasurer of Charlevoix. Other members of the board of directors are Nathan Carpenter of Charlevoix, Douglas Knudsen of East Jordan, Bob Arnold of Central Lake and Charles Wiesler of Charlevoix. Inseminators for this association are Bud Best and Dick Wieland both of Ellsworth.

The Antrim Charlevoix Artificial Breeders Association has been operating since 1946. For the most part, results in the herds that has been bred artificially have been very satisfactory. Breeding troubles have occurred in some herds but no more in artificial herds than they have in herds that are using natural breeding. Inseminators-managers are thoroughly trained, the semen is checked with a microscope before being used and the rest is up to the individual cow.

The dairy herd owner has a large responsibility in the successful operation of his artifical breeding association and his dairy herd. Timelyness of reporting heat symptoms to the inseminator is important but the most important thing according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, is the keeping of acurate records on each cow. Breeding calendars are furnished by the association and farmers can record there the date of calving, the first heat symptoms and the numbers of services that she needed to become settled.

The most important advantage of artificial breeding is the inheritance that farmers are obtaining in their dairy herds. It is impossible for every farmer to obtain for himself bulls with as much ability to produce high producing cows as their association has. The Holstein bulls that have proofs range from 424 pounds of butterfat up to 615 pounds of butterfat per cow. The average production of butterfat in Charlevoix county is considerably less than these figures. The proofs on the Guernsey bulls range from 394 pounds of butterfat to 542 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Vet Institute to Show Farm Films

Showing of a movie, "Research Farming", will be a feature of the Monday, March 17 meeting of the Charlevoix Veteran's Institute at the Charlevoix high school. Arrangements for showing the film here were made by Fred Willis, manager of the Charlevoix Co-operative Co., who say the picture will be both entertaining and educational to all persons interested in agriculture.

The Veterans' institute has announced that the meeting is open to the public and especially urges farmers to attend. The meeting is called for 8 p.m.

Dates Set for Two Farmers' Day Programs

Two popular entertainment programs are scheduled for farm farmilies of this area next week. Tuesday evening, the Ellsworth Farm Store will hold its annual Family party at the Ellsworth Community hall and Wednesday, starting at 10:30 a.m., Conrad Klooster will stage the annual John Deere Day at his store at Atwood.

Four stage acts plus education, travel and comedy movies will feature the Ellsworth Farm Store Family Party Tuesday evening. On the stage will be the "musical maniacs", Kahn and Depinto; Charlie McGarry presenting a hilarious animal act; Joan Starr in a unique ballet tap and soft shoe dancing act; and Johnny Wages, who offers a riot of comedy and music.

John Deere Day at Conrad Klooster's includes both a morning and afternoon program with a free lunch at noon. Entertainment will include a movie, "Galahad Jones" with a Hollywood cast, and other movies showing "what's new in farm equipment." The afternoon program will be concluded with the usual large array of door prizes.

Issue Bulletin On Land Policies

Studies of administration and management of the 30 million acres of public lands in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota have been compiled in a new bulletin, "Administration of Tax-Reverted Lands in the Lake States," issued by the Michigan Agricultural Experiment station.

Corn Planting Rate Affects Total Yield

Many farmers wonder about the rate of planting for a corn crop. They know that planting more seeds will result in a greater number of plants, but they wonder if total yields will be as high.

Some recent studies at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station shed some light on this subject, says E. C. Rossman, farm crops researcher at Michigan State College.

Results from rate of planting studies conducted for two years show that corn yields went up about 50 percent when the planting rate was doubled. Stands increased from about 9,700 plants per acre to 19,400 plants per acre.

Ears were smaller in size at the high rate of planting, Rossman said, but the larger number of ears offset the decrease in ear size.

Show Equipment For Syrup Making

An exhibit of equipment used in making maple syrup, including a model evaporator, will be held at the Boyne City library today (March 6) at 10 a.m., it is announced by Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

The exhibit is being shown by P. W. Robbins, professor of forestry at Michigan State college. He also will present a group of colored pictures showing all the steps in the making of ayrup, starting with tapping of the trees and ending with the finished product.

Firemen have a saying, " A clean building seldom burns."

Port Orford Cedar

Port Orford cedar is the best wood known for use as battery separators although Douglas fir, of which there is a much greater volume, and Alaska yellow cedar are very acceptable alternates.

Charlevoix Defeats Pellston To Take Title

Rayders Go Into Tournaments With Excellent Record

Coach Del Terrill's Charlevoix Rayders took over the top spot in the Northern Michigan Class C Conference Friday night when they defeated the Pellston Hornets 50-34, after the two teams had been tied for first place since mid-January.

The win also gave the Charlevoix team and their coach their second league championship in two years. It was Charlevoix's fifth league title in seven years.

Charlevoix ended the season with an 11 win-one loss record. The one loss was to East Jordan by a 43-41 score in mid-December. Pellston closed its season with a 10 win-two loss record. Both defeats were by Charlevoix.

With the conference championship at stake, the Charlevoix and Pellston quintets took to the floor before a capacity crowd in the Charlevoix gym.

Pellston got off to a fast start and had scored five points before Bud Barber was fouled and scored one point for the Rayders. Norm Ketchman added one more free throw and the score stood 5-2 midway in the quarter when Bill Bennett fell and slid into the ventilator grill, injuring his knee. He was replaced by Dean Davenport.

Pellston made the score 6-2 before Charles Krahnke scored Charlevoix's first field goal. Davenport and Barber added one point each and Norm Ketchman two points on a field goal when Pellston scored a field goal to tie the score 8-8. Davenport was fouled as he went to shoot and put the Rayders ahead by one point when he dropped a free throw as the period ended.

Bill Denemy was the only member of the starting line-up who had not scored.

Pellston had tallied three field goals and two foul shots .

The Rayders came back in the second quarter to outscore the visitors 13-8 for a 22-18 halftime lead.

It was in this period the Rayders managed to overcome the heighth problem and made their way in to score six field goals, with Denemy accounting for two and Davenport, Ketchman, Barber and Krahnke one each. The latter also scored on a gift shot.

Pellston had scored three field goals and two free shots.

With the league championship still in sight, despite the Rayders' six-point halftime lead, the Hornets came back in the third period to outscore Charlevoix 12-11 and cut the Rayders' lead to five points as the period ended 33-28.

High-scoring Keith Emerson had his best quarter and scored six points while his teammates scored another two field goals and two free throws.

Charlevoix settled for four points by Bennett, who had returned to the game in the third period, two points each by Krahnke, Barber and Davenport and a free shot by Denemy.

Pellston's hopes were soon shattered as the Rayders paced the game in the last period to outscore the Hornets 17-6.

Krahnke scored two field goals and Bennett, Denemy and Dean Boss one each in quick succession while Pellston's scoring was held to one field goal and two free shots. Charlevoix led 43-32.

Emerson left the game via the foul route with three minutes to go. Pellston managed only one more field goal before the game ended, while Charlevoix added three points by Krahnke on free throws, Denemy added a field goal and Ketchman a free throw to wrap up the game and the championship.

Boss was fouled as the game ended and added one point to make the final score 50-34.

Boss, who is seeing limited action since returning to the lineup after recovering from an injured arm, played during the third and fourth periods.

Charlevoix had scored 18 field goals and 14 out of 22 free throws. Pellston had tallied 11 field goals and 12 out of 19 free shots.

Emerson, who has averaged 18 points per game, was held to two field goals and 9 out of 10 free throws and Bill Drier, who has averaged 17 points per game, was held to four field goals and one free throw.

Again defense, keeping the tall Pellston players from going in to shoot, as well as fine teamwork and the ability to control the ball and pace the game were major factors in the victory.

"Give A Hoot" For Easy

Easy Roberts finally got rid of the noisy pigeons that used to whoop it up under his eaves.

He must have tried a dozen ways to scare them off. But no matter what he did, they would be right back cooing by his window the next morning.

Then Easy thought of an old stuffed owl he had in his attic. He propped it on the roof so's all the pigeons could see it. They left ... and three hoot owls have taken their place. Easy swears the hooting is even worse than the cooing of the pigeons.

From where I sit, quite often a "bright idea" will turn out to be "not so bright" after all. That's why we should never be too cocksure of our ideas and opinions—but always try to keep an open mind. I believe a refreshing glass of beer is the best thirst-quencher — you may believe differently. But who's to say one's right and the other is wrong? Let's just practice tolerance. It'll save a lot of hootin' and hollerin'.

East Jordan Third, Boyne City Fifth

Jordan led 16-13 at tha quarter 31-26 at the half and 51-40 at the third period. Don Whiteford led tha scoring with 25 points. 15 of which ware made on free throws. Johnny Holstad had 17 for tha Ironman.

The game was marked by the loss of Roman Klimkiewicz, East Jordan center, who injured his ankle as the team left the floor at half-time and by the number of fouls committed by Mancelona, which lost five men on fouls in the third and fourth periods.

Boyne City moved into fifth place following its 70-35 win over Harbor Springs. The Rams took a 14-11 advantage at the quarter but soon lost it as the Ramblers took a 33-23 halftime lead and a 53-32 third period lead. Jim Milbrandt paced the scoring with 28 points for Boyne City. Ray Swiss had 11 and Stan Pifer eight for Harbor Springs. Both left the game on fouls in the third period.

Three of the league's seven teams are entered in the district tournament at Gaylord.

Gaylord will be meeting East Jordan and Mancelona will play Grayling of the North Centrel Class C league Thursday night.

East Jordan and Gaylord split their two-gama meeting during the regular season with East Jordan winning 52-47 in their last meeting and tha Blua over-time earlier in the season. Devils winning 43-41 in an East Jordan's Roman Klimkiawicz is laid up with an injurad ankle received as ha was leaving the floor at halftime at Mancelona Friday night. If he is lost to East Jordan's line-up their chances will be slim, but if they meet Gaylord at full strength the gama will be close. The Jordanites, however, will have the edge since they finished ahead of Gaylord in regular scheduled play.

Mancelona played Grayling only once during the regular season and lost to the Vikings by a one-point margin, 51-50. If Matt Jacobson's lads have recovered from recent illnesses and are in top shape, the game could again be close.

The winners of the East Jordan-Gaylord game and of the Grayling-Mancelona game will meet in the finals at Gaylord Saturday night.

The games are toss-up and any one of the four teams could come out as district champion.

Harbor Springs, with one win in 12 starts, ended the season in last place.

Gaylord, which completed its regular schedule last week, is in fourth place with five wins and

4-H Clubs Celebrating 50th Anniversary Year

The 50th Anniversary of the 4-H Club movement was inaugurated with the release of a special postage stamp on January 15, 1952, at Springfield, Ohio. Since then the stamp has gone on sale all over the United States. Although there will be no formal celebration on a local level, there certainly will be on a National level when the Annual 4-H Encampment is held next June at the 4-H Center at Chevy Chase, Maryland.

A history of club work has also been published. This book was reviewed and autographed copies presented to delegates at the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago. Calvin Ball, jr., of Levering, northern Michigan's delegates at the Congress, has a copy of this book which is called "The 4-H Story."

According to the author, Franklin M. Reck, the first clubs of 50 years ago were called "Boys and Girls Clubs." They were started by superintendents of schools to make education a more vital factor in everyday living. Then the colleges found that these eager, energetic youths were the ones who would plant the experimental corn, and who would use the new ideas. So it came about that the program by law became a part of the work of the land grant colleges of the nation.

The four-leaf clover with H's signifying head, heart, hands, and health appeared in 1911 and by 1918 the term 4-H Clubs was generally used.

Industry foresaw a role to help build a stronger 4-H, so in 1919 there was formed "The National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work." In 1927, at the first National 4-H Camp, there was adopted the 4-H Motto — "To Make The Best Better" and the following 4-H Club Plegde.

I Pledge:
My Head to clearer thinking,
My heart to greater loyalty,
My Hands to larger service, and
My Health to better living
For My Club, My Community and My Country.

2,000,000 boys and girls active in their clubs say this pledge at every 4-H meeting.

Friday night the Blue Devils had a tough time with Cheboygan as the Chiefs led 12-10 at the quarter, 20-16 at the half and 29-26 at the third period. A bucket by Gaylord as the game ended tied the final score 34-all. Jim Schreuer pulled the game out of the fire for Gaylord in the overtime with one basket for a 36-34 win.

Schreuer had 15 points and Dale Smith 10 for Cheboygan. Gaylord played without Jerry Hopkins, who was ill.

Harbor Repair Project Step Nearer Goal

Charlevoix drew one step closer to its much-needed harbor repairs and improvements project Monday night when the city council, in regular session, voted the sum of $7,500 to match state funds expected through the Michigan Waterways Commission.

Don Campbell reported to the council that in talking to Robert Robb, chairman and director of the Waterways Commission, and other officials he had been assured that the state would contribute $7,500 for repairing yacht slips and other necessary repairs if the city would furnish an equal amount. Campbell also showed preliminary plans for the improvements, followed by the council's favorable action.

George Haggard and Clarence Meggison appeared before the council to request the hiring of an appraiser to re-appraise and readjust property valuations in the city in an effort to equalize the assessments for taxation. They stated that as members of the Board of Review they were having difficulty in arriving at up-to-date figures on assessments. The proposal was tabled for further discussion.

T. R. Millers Sue to Set Aside Trailer Park Deed Transfer

The City of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Hospital plan to file a cross-bill to defend themselves in a suit brought against them recently contesting the sale of the trailer park for the sum of one dollar for the site of the proposed new Charlevoix Hospital, spokesmen for the city and hospital said Wednesday.

The cross bill will be filed within 15 days from the time the suit was filed in the county clerk's office here.

The bill to set aside a deed was filed last Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Miller and disputes the right of the city to sell to a private corporation, the Charlevoix Hospital, the above mentioned site, the trailer park, for the sum of one dollar.

The bill contends that the disposal of the property was never submitted to the voters of the city for their approval and that the sale was a gross misuse of property belonging to the city.

It stated further that the plaintiffs, the Millers, as taxpayers, feel that the consideration of one dollar is inadequate and that the transfer of the property is not to the best interest of the community and is in derogation of the rights of the taxpayers.

The property originally was purchased from the State Bank in East Jordan for the sum of $3,000 and since then improvements have been made to increase the value of the property.

Because municipal funds were used for the purchase of the property which was dedicated to public use, the council had no authority to transfer the property to a private corporation, the plaintiffs charge.

The bill concludes by asking that the court set aside the deed given to the Charlevoix Hospital Dec. 21, 1951, by the city; that the court will order the Charlevoix Hospital to reconvey the property to the city and enjoin the Charlevoix Hospital from expending any money upon the property for improvements which would create an equity on the said property.

Announce Totals In Polio Drive

Charlevoix reports $1,770.65 contributed to the March of Dimes during its recent drive, for better than 34.8 percent of Charlevoix county's total of $5,065.66, Mrs. Walter Davis, county chairman has revealed.

The 1952 county total is $1,498.79 more than the amount contributed in 1951 when the total was $3,566.87.

The county's total contributions follow: Charlevoix, $1,770.65 which includes contributions from the entire Charlevoix area and $57.00 raised on Beaver Island; East Jordan, $1,679.49; Boyne City, $1,226.37; Walloon Lake, $162.12; Boyne Falls, $155.50; Ironton, $71.53.

Three Charlevoix county residents are now receiving advanced treatment at various polio centers. Mrs. Albert Sinclair of East Jordan and Barbara Bodley of Charlevoix are at the National Foundation at Warm Springs, Ga., and Johnny Tompkins of Boyne City is at the Mary Free Bed hospital in Grand Rapids.

In behalf of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, Mrs. Davis, county chairman, and Dallas Henry, local chairman, would like to acknowledge all the assistance given the drive in Charlevoix and throughout the county.

Unity is the Only Solution

In our first Courier editorial we stated that, "We probably will not agree with all of our readers on some issues through the years, but we hope to keep the Courier a true sounding board for Charlevoix county and surrounding territory. All of us, working together, will make the future history of Charlevoix . . . so let's make it good."

At that writing we did not realize that we had already stepped into a feeling of disunity and confusion concerning various aspects of the new hospital. The prospect of a new hospital was, naturally, one of many guiding factors in our deciding to choose Charlevoix as our new home, and we have been worried to see possibilities dim through discord.

As newcomers to the community we tried to maintain a middle ground as much as possible, giving both sides ample opportunity to express their views. However well-intentioned that idea may have been, it does not seem to have brought us any nearer to a solution to the controversy.

We have lived in other communities and they have built hospitals with solicited funds. But they have left the problems of site and construction up to the duly elected board of directors. A governing body or board of directors, elected by the members and charged with the duties of conducting the affairs of the organization to the best of their ability, is the only satisfactory way our civilization has found to operate efficiently.

The Hospital association has such a board of directors. It is not presumptuous to state that a large majority of the association members acknowledge the business ability and integrity of these directors. Neither is it presumptuous to believe that the sincerity and judgement of the directors would not be questioned today had not the spark of an unfortunate error been methodically fanned to a blaze of criticism.

Responsibility for construction of a new hospital rests with your duly-elected board. No less a responsibility rests on the shoulders of the members to aid the board in clearing away new obstructions and going forward with construction.

From what we hear and read, during the past four years there has been among you a spirit of unity to accomplish the hardest part of the project. Now, with the goal in sight, are we to lose the hospital because we have been goaded into a spirit of disunity?

We re-repeat "All of us, working together, will make the future history of Charlevoix . . . so let's make it good."

AND SPEAKING of the Ratigans, Bill, as you know, has a novel, Gangway for Tomorrow, a story of the Soo Locks, running in the magazine, The Country Gentleman . . . We had a subscription to the magazine given us so we could read the story (you can't buy the magazine on the news-stand) . . . and along comes a card saying that subscriptions will not be available for two or three months . . . When Judge Floyd Supp heard about that he was heard to remark . . . Won't Bill be surprised to hear his novel has caused such an increase in subscriptions . . ."

A HURRIED call from Mrs. Ralph Stephens the other afternoon with the question, "Does the appearance of skunks mean warm weather?" . . . We answered in the affirmative, only to hear her say . . "Well, one just came down the street and across my front porch . . . "This in the middle of the day . . . And for a witness she had with her Mrs. Staley . . .

DID YOU happen to see the planes overhead the other afternoon . . . Or rather, vapor trails behind the planes which couldn't even be seen . . . We'd heard about the trails but had never seen them until one appeared against a blue, blue sky one day last week . . . There was evidently little wind at that altitude for the trails could be seen for a long time . . . It gave one quite a start to see them forming from out of nowhere. . .

YOU PROBABLY won't believe this one but we heard it with our own ears at the tournament Saturday night . . . The usher in the bleacher section was trying to put more and more kids in to less and less space and wasn't having much success . . . In an effort to get them to move into the section allotted them he said . . . "You'll have to move over, General Admissions are coming" . . . And a little voice from the back was heard to say . . . "Who's he?" . . .

CONGRATULATIONS to Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Gibbons on the arrival of their new grandson March 6 . . . And can you imagine such time . . . the little one arrived on Mrs. Gibbons' birthday anniversary . . .

And congratulations to the Rayders and their coach, Del Terrill . . . Another district tournament title . . . and now they're on their way toward a regional victory . . . We hope they know that all of Charlevoix's behind them . . . and that we know they're in there pitchin' every minute . . . Our continued good wishes for success . . . and the hopes that it's in the cards for them to win . . .

Girl Scouts Observe 40th Anniversary

"On my honor, I will do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times and to obey the Girl Scout laws" will be heard many times in Charlevoix this week as its members observe the 40th anniversary of Girl Scouting in this country.

The movement was started in the United States March 12, 1912, by Juliette Gordon Low. In Charlevoix scouting began 16 years ago with one troop of 15 girls. Today the community boasts 11 troops of 131 girls.

These troops are guided by volunteer leaders and workers who are training the girls to lead a useful, Christian life. Girl Scouting is a program that will last many times 40 years for it is founded on the principals of democracy, Christianity and good citizenship. It is trying to put useful living within the reach of all youngsters.

In Charlevoix the Girl Scout program is supported in part by the Community Chest.

Girl Scout week in Charlevoix was formally observed Sunday with a group attendance at Sunday church services at the Methodist church. Approximately 100 Girl Scouts and their leaders attended.

The Girl Scouts of Charlevoix were the guests of the Girl Scout Council at a 40th anniversary party at the Congregotional church Tuesday afternoon.

In recognition of the Girl Scouts' birthday two windows have been decorated. Intermediate troop 8 have a special window at Mailhot's and Brownie troops 9, 10 and 11 have a window at the Polly Kay shop.

Food Port congratulates the Girl Scouts on their 40th birthday and the local Council of 175 Scouts on six years of growth and achievement.

IT HAPPENED ON . . . . BEAVER ISLAND

Mary LaFreniere

Mr. and Mrs. Bert McDonough are in Chicago visiting their daughter, Mrs. Bernard McCafferty.

Mrs. Royce Welsh and son, Bruce, were in Charlevoix this week.

Matt Melville left Wednesday after being here for the winter. He will spend a few days in Washington, D. C. before reporting to work on the Wilfred Sykes at Indiana Harbor. Matt is boatswain on the Sykes.

Russell Palmer has gone to Indiano Harbor. He will sail on the Wilfred Sykes this season.

Captain and Mrs. Forrest Pratt left Thursday for Chicago after spending a few weeks at their home here. Captain Pratt will sail the Joshua Hatfield this year. The boys from here who will sail with him are Don Burke, Francis Ricksgers, Donald and James McCafferty and Ronald and Bob O'Donnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McDonough are the parents of a daughter, born March 8 at Little Traverse Hospital. The McDonough's are now on a par with the Eddie Canters as this is their fifth daughter.

The total number of coyotes killed has gone up to 14. Three more, two were females, were killed this week. The lucky hunters are Rodgers Carlisle, Willard Pischner and Chuck Kleinhenz.

The ladies of the Altar Society held their monthly meeting Tuesday night at the high school. A revision of their constitution was started and will be finished at the next meeting.

The weather all week has been on the cold side. For this reason the ice conditions are not as favorable as they have been. Spring is in the air though as the men are starting to make their annual prophecies concerning the breaking of the ice, the first boat etc.

Charlie Martin has rigged himself up a handy vehicle to carry him back and forth between the islands. It is made of a hand sleigh that has a buzzsaw engine on it. It can really go places on the ice.

The country roads are all open. This is the first winter that the road to the airport has been open all of the time. It is also good for the country children who come into town for school. They've been able to drive in all winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Connoghan are now settled in Toledo, Ohio. Jack is going to sail on the Detroit-Edison which runs between Detroit and Toledo.

If one happened to be looking across the ice in the direction of High Island this week they would see the resemblance of a camel caravan on the desert.

The High Island horses came to town this week. Archie and Bob are now planning to hang green ribbons on them when they enter them in the Irish Sweep Stakes that will be held here on St. Patrick's Day. Everyone is remarking on the wonderful condition the horses are in after their winter of isolation. They actually are in better shape now than when they were transported to High Island. The cowboys assisting in the transfer were Bruce and Bob McDonough, Douglas and Don Burke, Pat LaFreniere, jr., Donald Cule, Joe Dillingham, Paul Kenwabikisee and Jimmy Floyd.

• Donald Herrick left recently for Los Angeles, Calif., on a business trip.

In Memorium

In loving memory of Joel Johnston who departed this life on March 24th, 1951.

Today brings sad memories, of a friend who passed away,
To a sweeter home in Heaven,
With Jesus there to stay.
Your illness was long,
Your pain severe,
But you did not know
Your death was near.
You were ready
To answer your call
And now, Dear friend
You are sadly missed by us all.

STATEMENT

A citizens suit has been entered against the City of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Hospital to determine the right of the city to transfer for one dollar the valuable piece of property known as the Charlevoix Trailer Park to the Charlevoix Hospital as a site for the new hospital.

The real issue behind the action is the moral obligation of the Charlevoix Hospital Board to decide the question of a site for the hospital by a promised vote, a method and right to which the Board gave their consent and under which funds were solicited. This the Board has had in their power to do since November 1 of last year. After public questioning the Board in the January 17 issue of the Charlevoix Courier apologized for not placing the question of the choice of a site up to a vote and gave as their reason a lack of time due to fear of placing help from Federal Funds in jeopardy. The Board has since admitted they were misled on this point.

Under signature of the Surgeon General of the United States we know that Michigan was allotted for hospital construction aid of $2,808,469 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1052. And that $2,662,047 is already allotted for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953. With Federal and State emphasis on the construction of hospitals it is a remote possibility that the Charlevoix hospital community will lose Federal aid.

The Board had obtained no alternative site definitely available so that a choice could be made by a vote. So a group of interested citizens, feeling that the Trailer Park site was not the best hospital site for Charlevoix and that a costly and irreparable mistake would be made by building it there, then offered to donate funds to buy some other site. Later the Garfield site was optioned by the group and offered as a donation to the Charlevoix Hospital. This site was approved by the State Office.

We feel that the only way to consolidate the support of the hospital community has been and is to put the choice of sites to a vote. Not as some of the Board advocate on the basis of the size of a persons contribution but on the fair and American basis of one vote to an individual.

It has been and is possible to do this very quickly by a committee formed from opposing groups thru a vote by mail with a time limit on return of the ballots.

Plans for the hospital can continue forward, as the State Office has indicated that the now established plan for a cross-shaped building will fit either site.

We ask such a vote and stand ready to accept the result.

Committee of Citizens.

Charlevoix County Farm News

Labor Is Biggest Cost Item In Maple Syrup Production

Labor is the biggest item in the production of maple ayrup, P. W. Robbins, forestry specialist of Michigan State College, said last week at a maple syrup meeting bere. It used to be that a producer could figure that ane gallon of syrup would pay the wages of one hired man for one day. This, however, is not true at the present time, since maple syrup sells for about $5.00 a gallon while farm labor costs almost $10.00 a day.

Mr. Robbins listed several ways of reducing labor. First, was to use a sap hydrometer to select the maple trees to use in the augar bush. Trees that produce sap with two percent sugar will take roughly 42 gallons of sap to make one gallon of syrup. Using the hydrometer, producers can measure the trees like a cow tester measures butterfat production on a dairy herd.

Good dry wood is the best source of fuel to heat the evaporator. Laying out your trails in the woods to gather the sap will reduce the amount of labor needed. Hanging the proper number of buckets on the trees will get the greatest amount of sap possible. A tree 10 to 16 inches in diamater should hove one bucket, 16 to 24 in. in diameter, two buckets, above 24 inches in diameter, three buckets and if the trees are aver 30 inches in diameter you could hang four buckets. Putting too many buckets on a small tree will kill the tree.

A regular tapping bit should be used to drill the holes in the tree. Drill these holes two inches deep with either a 3/8th or 7/16th inch bit. Be very careful in putting in the spile so you do not crack the camblum layer above or below the spile as this will leak sap. Mr. Robbins said farmers in this area could probably start tapping early in March to get the early run.

Good buckets are a necessity. The best at the present time are good quality galvanized sap buckets. Some of these have been used in the college sugar bush since 1914. Covers should also be used on the buckets to keep the sap clean. The plastic containers are new yet and if farmers want to try them they should do so on a small scale.

The sap should be strained through a cheese cloth when emptied into a holding tank at the sugar house. A galvanized tank is again the best holding tank. Producers who are interested in buying an evaporator should purchase one that is one size larger than they actually need so they can take care of some exceptionally good runs.

There are two ways to measure maple syrup when it is finished. One is with a thermometer and the other is with a syrup hydrometer. Maple syrup when cold must weigh eleven pounds to the gallon. When syrup has this weight its boiling point is seven degrees above the boiling point of water.

The syrup should be strained through an outing flannel strainer placed inside of a felt strainer. The purpose of the outing flannel is that it will catch 85 percent of the matial to be removed and will save on the felt strainer. The maple syrup containers should be filled in the sugar house.

Mr. Stump, forestry specialist, from Michigan State College, appeared on the program in discussing wood land management with reference to the sugar bush. A producer should plan on selecting his trees for maple syrup productions. Trees with a large crown that is wide in diameter and with plenty of leaf area makes the best maple syrup producer. Pasturing a wood lot is very harmful to maple syrup production. A recent study shows that a wood lot produced five gallons of maple syrup per acre less when it was pastured than one that was not pastured. Additional information regarding maple syrup production may be had by contacting Ed Rebman, county agrciultural agent at Boyne City.

Issue Bulletin On LP-Gas Use

Latest information on LP-gas or liquefied petroleum gas is now available to farmers. The figures on cost, performance and other vital points have been collected by W. M. Carleton, of the Michigan State College agricultural engineering department.

Carleton has put this information into printed form in extension folder, F-164. The folder is available at the county extension office or may be ordered from the bulletin office at the college in East Lansing. Farmers are finding many new uses for the product. Cooking, refrigeration, water and home heating, brooding chickens and other jobs have increased its use.

Youth Learn Tractor Maintenance

Tractor maintenance members of the Lucky Loebers led by Howard Stephens and those of Barnard led by Bill Parsons are sporting attractive shoulder patches indicating their membership in the organization, K. C. Festerling, 4-H club agent said today.

The Stephens club has been operating all winter holding meetings in the Case Implement dealer's show room. Mrs. Howard Stephens faithfully assisted the club by typing the lessons until literature was available. There are 13 members in the club.

The Barnard club is just getting underway. William Parsons, leader, has just received the last of his instruction books.

These tractor clubs study how to get the most efficient service out of the farm tractor. The lessons cover safety, cooling, lubrication, ignition, carburetion, greasing and winter storage. Throughout the course members learn about all makes of tractors. Dads like to attend the club meetings too.

These two tractor clubs are planning on making an exhibit at the annual spring 4-H Achievement Day that will be held at the Boyne City High School Auditorium on April 2 and 3. Next year's 4-H achievement day, according to the rotation schedule will be held in Charlevoix.

The picture shows Howard Stephens, 4-H tractor leader, explaining the purpose and maintenance of the air cleaner to his 4-H tractor club members, who are Jim Mort, David Clarke, Keith Mort, Kenneth Case, Bob Geer, Joe Martincheck, Bill Pardee, Tracy Curtis, Gary Curtis, Bob Bearss, Jim Bearss, Glenn Bearss and Steve Gennett.

Publish Reports On Hybrid Corn Tests

With planting time approaching. Michigan corn growers have a new aid in solving their problem of selecting the best hybrid corn for their fields.

It's a new extension folder, F-67 which gives results of hybrid corn trials that are conducted annually at several locations in Michigan to provide impartial performance records and to determine what hybrids do best under different conditions.

Hybrids offered ior sale each year in Michigan differ in their maturity, yielding ability, lodging resistance and other characteristics. The best test of a hybrid's performance is to compare it with others under equal soil and climatic conditions. The new folder "Corn Hybrids Compared," gives that information and is available at county extension offices or from the Bulletin Office, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Electric Welders Useful But Take Careful Handling

Electric welders are becoming handy tools on more and more farms. However, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, says that they can also be among the most dangerous unless care is taken in selecting, installing and using them.

Since welders draw a considerable amount of current, farm wiring must be adequate, Rebman warned. He recommends having circuits checked to see if they are heavy enough, praperly installed and safeguarded. Have all new wiring inspected immediately after installation.

He says that welders come in many different types and sizes. Some work on the ordinary rural power line, some are unsatisfatcory. The county agricultural agent recommends that farmers ask local power suppliers if the model of welder they select is acceptable for the farm concerned.

There are several precautions to be remembered in using the farm electric welder safely. Never use the welder when you're standing on wet or damp ground or floor, or while wearing wet shoes. Ground the frame of the welder to the system ground. This is done by using a three wire cable to deliver the power to the welder. The third wire is used to ground the frame.

Always use a welding shield with the proper dark filter glass. Wear protective leather clothing that covers your arms and the front of your body. Wear high top lace shoes and cuffless trousers. Never let other people watch the welding operations. If you have a helper give him the same protection.

Let us show you how good baled hay can be

The best way to judge hay quality is to examine it in the barn this time of year. Here are some things you will notice about rolled bales:

1 The hay is bright and green — just like it was baled.
2 Leaves are sealed inside the bale — almost no leaf loss during handling.
3 Bales that have been rained on are still good — they shed the showers.
4 Rolled bales handle without waste — won't buckle, break or fall apart.
5 Rolled bales are easy to feed — rolled out, cut open or fed whole.

Let us show you why hay in rolled bales is winning blue ribbons for quality at leading shows. Your livestock needs the best.

College Expert Tells of Spring Fashion Trends

Fashion dictators have been anything but dictatorial in putting together this spring's coat trend. That is the conclusion reached by Miss Marion Neiderpruem of the Michigan State college clothing and textiles staff. Both snug-waisted and moderately full silhouettes will be seen, the specialist said, and special interest is going into sleeve construction. Dropped shoulder seams, diamond and square cut armholes are prevalent, but no padding this year. Sleeve gathers and puffs add to the all-out-for feminity trend.

Materials more than cut, are the distinctive feature of the coats in stores now. "Poodle cloth", explained Miss Niederpruem, is a popular soft fabric with nubs to give a texture interest. Incidentally, "nub" and "slub" will be words we will hear often. A nubbed fabric has distinctly raised bumps while slub is made of thread with sudden thickenings in it. These raised textures are being carried over from wool to rayons, silks and even cottons, she added.

Colors are clear and sometimes startling. Vivid blues, blue-cast pinks and grays are in the fashion picture. Special emphasis has been given to the beige family that ranges from blonde to the new Benedictine to burnt sugar, a near-brown shade. The beiges are found especially in accessories.

A note of warning from Miss Niederpruem—take care that a coat is amply cut if you plan to wear it with suits.

THIS IS YOUR TICKET TO WORRY-FREE RECOVERY!

Over $222,000,000 paid out in 13 years for the benefit of Michigan people by Blue Cross - Blue Shield

The record of growth of Blue Cross - Blue Shield is an amazing one. Every year since these Plans were started has seen substantial increases both in membership and in dollar value of benefits paid. In thirteen years, for example, $222,067,156 has been paid out by the Plans in health-care benefits.

The Michigan Blue Cross Plan was started by a group of hospital officials, doctors and businessmen in 1939. Realizing the need for a prepayment health-care plan in this state, they obtained the adoption of special legislation so that Blue Cross (Michigan Hospital Service) could function as a non-profit corporation.

The Michigan Blue Shield Plan (Michigan Medical Service) was organized in 1939 by the Michigan State Medical Society as a non-profit plan designed to offer protection to the people of Michigan against the cost of surgical and medical bills. This plan was a pioneer in its field, and is credited with laying the foundation for most of the Blue Shield Plans now operating throughout the rest of the United States.

"Blue Cross has been wonderful. It was a great relief to know I was receiving the care needed to get well without worrying about the cost. When I saw the bill for $2,400 which Blue Cross paid, I realized just how fine Blue Cross service 'benefits' really are. Without Blue Cross, we would have had to sell our home to pay that kind of a bill!"—Mrs. [illegible]

"A fellow's unwise if he doesn't have Blue Cross - Blue Shield protection for the whole family. We're both young and getting started buying a home. When my wife went to the hospital recently, she got all the care needed and Blue Cross paid the bill without any red tape. It's protection every family should have!"—Mr. H. O. Newberry

HOW TO GET BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD PROTECTION

1. Ask your employer. Firms employing 5 or more may be eligible.
2. Check your Farm Bureau or Grange . . . many groups are eligible.
3. Write or call your nearest Blue Cross office (see phone book) . . . or the home office shown at the right.

Rayders Take Class 'C' District Championship

Charlevoix Licks Pellston By 47-35 To Go Into Regional

The Charlevoix Rayders, coached by Del Terrill, captured their third district championship in three years Saturday night by defeating the Pellston Hornets 47-35 in the district tournament finals at Petoskey. Coach Bernie Wilson is the Hornets mentor.

Earlier the Rayders had won over Onaway 48-39 Wednesday night and over Boyne City 65-36 Friday night to go into the finals against Pellston, which defeated Harbor Springs 58-42 Thursday night.

The Charlevoix quintet went into the regional tournament at Petoskey Wednesday evening against Manton. East Jordan met Kalkaska in the opener.

Against Pellston Saturday night the Rayders racked up five quick points on one field goal each by Bud Barber and Norm Ketchman and a free throw by Charles Krahnke, with only two minutes gone.

By the end of the quarter Bill Denemy had scored a field goal and a free throw, Dean Boss had another field goal and Krahnke a free throw for a quarter lead of 11-7.

At the half-way point in the quarter the score was tied 13-13 after Pellston had scored six points to Krahnkes two on an f.g. Bill Bennett came into the game and scored a field goal. Barber added another and Boss a free throw as the half ended 18-16.

Pellston had outscored the Rayders nine to seven to cut Charlevoix's lead to two points.

A field goal by Denemy, a free throw by Ketchman and another field goal by Bennett put Charlevoix ahead 23-16 before Pellston retaliated with two field goals to again cut the lead to 23-20.

A field goal by Krahnke, a field goal by Pellston and two free throws by Bennett gave Charlevoix a 27-22 lead with three minutes to go in the quarter. A field goal by Denemy and free throws by Bennett and Barber gave the Rayders a third quarter lead, 31-24.

Charlevoix had had its best quarter and had outscored the Hornets 13-8.

Barber left the game with five fouls to open the last period and was replaced by Dean Davenport. Pellston scored three points before Bennett dropped a field goal, the Hornets added three more and Bennett scored his second shot from the floor for a 34-30 score with 2½ minutes gone.

The Hornets made three more points for their last real scoring threat before Bennett scored two field goals for a 38-33 lead at the 4½ minute mark.

A free throw by Bennett, a field goal by Denemy, two by Krahnke and a final one by Bennett wrapped up the game as Pellston made only one field goal.

Big Keith Emerson, who had played one of the best games of his career, had again paced the scoring with 19 points. Bennett had led the scoring for Charlevoix with 17 points, 15 of them in the last half.

Defense and fine team work, as in the past, marked all the tournament games for the Rayders.

On Friday night Charlevoix avenged defeat by the Boyne City Ramblers in the regional finals last year as the Rayders held a slim 13-12 first quarter lead, went ahead 30-24 at the half and 50-37 at the third period. The final score was 65-46 as Bill Denemy and Dean Boss scored 20 points each. Krahnke accounted for 12, Ketchman six, Barber five and Davenport two. Jim Milbrandt had 13 for the Ramblers.

Against Onaway Wednesday night, the Rayders had trouble finding their stride as the Cardinals led 10-8 at the quarter.

The Rayders came back, however, for a 25-16 half-time lead and went ahead 11 points as the third period ended 39-28. The final score was 48-39. Krahnke fouled out with three minutes to go.

Denemy paced the scoring for Charlevoix with 15 points, Davenport had nine, Krahnke and Ketchman seven each, Barber six and Boss four.

In the only other Class C game played Pellston had tough going against Harbor Springs, a team they finally defeated by a 58-42 score. Pellston was ahead 15-11 at the quarter, 27-22 at the half and 38-32 at the third period. Bill Drier had fouled out in the second period.

Dick Keiser paced the game with 22 points and Stan Pifer of Harbor Springs had 13.

Cap amd Gown Parade To Claim Several Basketeers

Many basketball players in the Northern Michigan Class C conference who have become familiar to fans during their high school years will conclude their prep school athletic careers during tournament play. Some coaches are bringing up young teams and will suffer little by graduation while others will lose a large percentage of regulars.

The Charlevoix Rayders will be hardest hit by the cap and gown parade with the loss of seven of its first 13 players.

Charles Krahnke, Norm Ketchman, Bud Barber and Bill Denemy, who have been members of the starting line-up all season along with Dean Boss, who suffered a set-back early in the season with a fractured wrist and who saw only action since mid-February, Gerry Left and Frank Lagerman, regular Varsity substitutes will be missing from the ranks after this season.

Coaach Del Terrill, however, will have regular Bill Bennett and Dean Davenport who have played bang-up ball this season, Jim Lewis, Bill Mosier, Carl Foster and Jack Denemy around which to build next year's squad. All but Bennett are juniors. He is a sophomore.

Mancelona and Pellston come next with five losses by graduation. Coach Matt Jacobson will lose regulars Norm Wilks, Dick Lucas and Jerry Allen from his list of substitutes.

He will have returning such top players as Johnny Halstad and Dick Derrer, both sophomores and regulars, Harold Patrick, Vernon DeWitt, Jim Whiteford, Ken Alexander, Yesuf Jabara, all juniors, Doug Wickstrom and Earl LaDere, sophomores.

At Pellston Coach Bernie Wilson will lose most of the heighth in his squad in Keith Emerson and Bill Drier, the league's top-scorers, and Dick Keiser, all regulars, and Lloyd Cain and John Coulter, who started most games.

Returning will be Ray Andrews, Lee Archer, Fred Ball, Ron Wilson and Les Cronn, all juniors, and John Schaufler, a sophomore.

Coach Gayle Saxton will miss regulars Don Whiteford, Norm McGeorge and Roman Klimkiewicz when he starts building next year's squad at East Jordan. Also missing will be Bob Thomas and Earl Bowers. However, he will have on hand Keith Evans, Ray

Farmers, Merchants Hear About Food Problems of 1975

Feeding the population of this country in the year 1975 presents a problem to the farmers of the nation in the opinion of Waldo E. Phillips, president of the Michigan Association of Farm Co-operatives, who was guest speaker at the annual Farmer-Merchant dinner held in the Masonic hall Thursday evening. The basis for his statement is population increase rate estimated by the census bureau.

He pointed out two possible answers: 1. step up agricultural production to meet the demand or change to a cereal and vegetable diet as the Asiatics have done. While dairy production per cow has been increasing the last few years, the number of dairy cows has been decreasing, he said. The increase in beef production in the west is causing over grazing on many western ranges, thus depleting the ranges. He warns that a year of national drought will be disastrous, forcing disposal of beef herds which will eventually result in a decrease in production.

Musical entertainment was provided the 110 banquetors by C. A. Odmark, director of the high school band, and a wood-wind trio composed of Barbara Bice, Carolyn Smith, and Becky Badger.

The merchants were guests of the farmers this year. Al Smith was toastmaster.

Rod and Gun Adds 30 Acres To Property

The Charlevoix Rod and Gun club recently purchased a 30 acre tract of land adjoining its present holdings from Mrs. Edna Miles. Aquisition of the property provides an increased safety feature to the present rifle ranges, according to J. C. Marshall, president of the club.

The property lies southeast from the rifle range.

While the 200-yard rifle range now in use is adequate for the present, the club is now in a position to extend the length of the range if it seems desirable.

Plans also are underway for the construction of an indoor winter range for small calibre rifle and pistol shooting. This range is to be inside the club house with a bullet-catcher backstop at one end of the building.

A program to attract the interest of the young sportsman is the organization of the Junior Rod and Gun club. The committee carrying out this project includes Glena Rose, Lee Barker and Dr. R. W. Anderson.

Odd Fellows Win Cribbage Tourney

All players are requested to be present at a dinner Monday, March 17, at the Masonic Hall, 6:30 p.m.

"WE ARE MET ON FORM 1040"

A taxpayer's parody of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address has been going the rounds: "One score and 19 years ago, our fathers brought forth upon this nation a new tax, conceived in desperation and dedicated to the proposition that all men are fair game. Now we are engaged in a great mass of calculations, testing whether this taxpayer, or any taxpayer so confused and so impoverished, can long endure.

"We are met on Form 1040. We have come to dedicate a large portion of our income to a final resting place with those men who here spend their lives that they may spend our money. It is altogether anguish and torture that we should do this. But, in a larger sense, we cannot evade, we cannot cheat, we cannot underestimate this tax. The collectors, clever and sly, who compute here, have gone far beyond our poor power to add and substract.

"Our creditors will little note nor long remember what we pay here, but the Bureau of Internal Revenue can never forget what we report here.

"It is not for us, the taxpayers, to question the tax which the Government has thus far ignobly spent. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these vanishing dollars we take increased devotion to the few remaining—that we here highly resolve that next year will not find us in the higher income bracket, that this taxpayer, underpaid, shall figure out more deductions, and that this tax of the people, by the Congress, for the Government, shall not cause solvency to perish."

The Ralph Shetterly home on Dixon Ave. was completely destroyed by fire Wednesday evening. Fire Chief Charles Marshall stated that the fire apparently started in a fireplace and then broke outside.

Complete Plans For Carey Day Parade, Banquet

The attention of the North will be focused on Charlevoix Friday, March 28, as the town turns out to honor two of its illustrious citizens, Bob Carey, the area's first all-American football player, and his twin brother, Bill, both members of Michigan State Spartans.

Leo Berg, chairman of the ticket committee, urges all local residents to purchase tickets as soon as possible so any extra tickets may be sent out of town.

Tickets are on sale at Schroeder and Hovey, Dal's barbershop, Williams Cigar Store, Carson Lumber Co. and the Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering office. They may also be purchased at the school office.

The day, to be known as Carey Day, will feature a parade and program in the business district, climaxed by a banquet in the high school gymnasium.

Present for the festivities will be the coaching staff of Michigan State College headed by Coach Clarence "Biggie" Munn, writers from Michigan's daily and weekly newspapers, coaches from throughout the north and sports fans.

Coach Munn will be the principal speaker at the banquet and will be introduced by Dale Stafford of the Greenville Daily News and formerly of a Detroit newspaper.

Roy G. Bennett, general chairman of Carey Day, will welcome the guests and speak briefly before introducing Mr. Stafford.

During the program all guests and members of the Carey family will be presented.

John Knight, mayor of Charlevoix and an avid sports fan, will present gifts from the community to Bill and Bob, who will respond.

Invocation will be given by Rev. W. D. Wood and benediction by Rev. Carl F. Hoch of Petoskey.

The Charlevoices, Mrs. Charles Bellinger, Mrs. Clair S. Webster and Mrs. E. D. Hawley, will sing. Dinner music will be played by a trio composed of Mrs. Leonard Burns, C. A. Odmark and Clifford Riley.

Dean Davenport is chairman of the program committee whose other members are Capt. H. E. Paddock, C. A. Odmark, Gordon Freedman and Rev. Wood.

Defeat Houghton 47-42 in Quarter-Final Game at Gaylord

The Charlevoix Rayders coached by Del Terrill moved one game closer to a state basketball title Wednesday night by defeating the highly-touted Houghton quintet 47-42 in the quarter finals of the state tournament at Gaylord.

Charlevoix will meet the winner of the Holt-St. Louis game at the Lansing Boys Vocational School at 9 p.m. Friday night.

The win last night marked the first time a Charlevoix team has advanced past the quarter finals since 1948.

Showing the finesse and team work which has been a feature of this year's games, the Rayders came through to take the upper peninsula five, who went into the quarter finals after defeating the favored Escanaba St. Joe team 60-55.

First Quarter

The Rayders led off early in the quarter with a basket each by Barber and Ketchman. Carlson hit with two free throws for Houghton. Ketchman dropped one in and Carlson scored the first double counter for Houghton. Kananen scored for Houghton, tieing the score with two minutes left to play. Carlson scored twice on free throws and Denemy tied the score again with one from the floor. Kananen dropped a free throw to give Houghton a 9-8 lead as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Houghton lengthened its lead early in the second quarter, Kananen dropped a field goal and Arvo followed with two from the floor and made good on a free one, while Denemy scored two for the Rayders. Charlevoix rallied, feeding to Bennett who dropped three, closing the gap to 18-16. Kananen scored for Houghton and Arvo scored a free throw at the end of the half. Score Houghton 21, Charlevoix 16.

Third Quarter

The Rayders forged ahead gradually througnout the period, picking up a point now and then in the exchange of plays. Bennett, Denemy, Boss and Krahnke found the range and began making counters. A free throw by Bennett was the first one to count for the Rayders. Bennett ran up five, Boss 5, Denemy 2 and Krahnke 2, for a total of 12. Houghton was losing ground, scoring only 10 points. Near the close of the quarter, a field goal by Boss gave the Rayders their first lead, 30-29, since early in the first quarter only to have Carlson throw the lead back to Houghton with a field goal. Score Houghton 31, Charlevoix 30 at the end of the period.

Fourth Quarter

Wiitanen dropped a quick one for Houghton to open the period. The Rayders came back with all their fire. Krahnke scored a field goal, Denemy dropped one from the floor followed by Krahnke and Bennett. Another free throw by Bennett and then a field goal and the Rayders were leading 40-35. Houghton picked up a free throw by Kananen and Krahnke came back with two and one. Kananen dropped two more free ones and Ketchman made a bucket. Arvo and Kananen each scored twn as time was running out. A 45 second stall by the Rayders ended the game.

Friday Broadcast

Plans are being made to broadcast the Friday night game over station WMBN Petoskey or to the Charlevoix gymnasium.

Slight Damage In Tavern Fire

A short circuit in a neon sign at the tavern, The Birches, damaged the front of the building on Bridge st. Tuesday evening.

The Charlevoix fire department was called at 9:15 p.m. and found the sign which extends from the building ablaze. The fire spread into the built-up front and the attic before it could be extinguished.

Steve Dubell owns and operates the tavern.

Started at Madras Airport.

HERE IT IS 12:30 p.m. We had breakfast at 6:15 and came to the airport in a rickety old bus and ever since have been waiting for the plane to start. Apparently there are heavy storms up the coast, but, in view of the frailty of aircraft, or rather, helplessness when anything happens we are content to sit and twiddle our thumbs. The worst of it is, George is supposed to preach in Calcutta twice this evening and we could not now possibly reach there in time.

At 2:00 p.m. our plane started and in spite of a very rocky trip, at least four hours of it, we arrived in Calcutta safe and sound at 9 p.m.

We ended our last letter in Madras. From there we went off 80 miles to Vellore, three hours by train: no springs, carriages labelled "servants, "ladies", "third class," etc. We travelled second class and found our names pasted on the outside of one of the carriages.

It turned out to be a small room about 8x10 ft. with one seat across the end and one on each with and above each seat a hanging flat board. The seats and the boards were beds for six. There were two doors from the room and one lavatory.

The occupants of our room were George and me (the only female) three Hindus and one Moslem. He decided to go to bed first, so he unrolled his bed roll (everyone carries his own bed) and spread it out on his shelf, took off his fez and put on a white skull cap, took off his coat, put it in a pocket of his roll and took out a small frilled pillow and, clad in pants and vest climbed onto the shelf. What a way to travel; I guess we are used to the comforts of American Travel.

I should add that when we were all in and the train was ready to start the doors were double-bolted on the inside (the

Businessman Pinay May Put France on Her Feet

After several futile attempts to form a new government in France it looks as if the seemingly impossible job had been accomplished by the common-sense approach of an independent business man.

France's newest premier, Antoine Pinay, operates a tannery in St. Chamant, a small town south of Lyon. No politician, he entered the field only when frieds induced him to run for the chamber of deputies against the Socialist ticket of Leon Blum's government in 1936. He won a landslide vote and since then has been a leader of the middle-right wing in the assembly. During the war he supported the Petain government, but as mayor of St. Chamant he stood so firmly for the people against the Nazis that the workers of his province still stand behind him.

When, at 61, Pinay undertook to form a new government in this dangerous crisis, he presented his platform to the assembly with a fresh note of calm, businesslike common sense that faced up to the harsh realities of France's many problems. In answer the assembly, which had been broken into hysterical splinters by the efforts of previous candidates to please all factions, approved his cabinet by a 290 to 101 vote. Out of the nine major parties only the Communists voted against him. The Socialists, waiting to see the fate of forthcoming Socialist bills, abstained from voting, as did the 115 members of de Gaulle's authoritarian party.

Without some substantial blocs of these votes Pinay can't hope for a big enough majority to carry some of the crucial measures he will have to put through if his government is to stand. But his proposals have already created a split in the hitherto solid ranks of the Gaullists, who may yet rally to his support.

Whatever the outcome may be, it is to the interests of all Americans to watch the results of this struggle of a level headed business man to make order out of the chaos that threatens the stability of our strongest ally in Europe. It looks for the moment as if there were a fair chance that the much maligned "conservative" efforts of good common sense may yet bring the potentially rich land of France into the community of strong and stable nations.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

Bill Carey, home for the MSC spring recess, was on WMBM at half-time in the East Jordan-Charlevoix game Friday night . . We didn't hear him for we were at the game but we did catch him on a re-broadcast of the interview with Arnie Wolgast Monday morning . . . He spoke so very well, said grand things about both teams and that voice . . . Mmmm . . . . if some network doesn't snatch him they're crazy . . .

THE CHARLEVOIX Rayders are on their way . . . into the quarter finals at Gaylord Wednesday . . . The game will be over by the time you read this but we'd like to go on record with our best wishes for success to the team and Coach Del Terrill . . . We think we can say without argument from anyone there have been few teams that fans have enjoyed as much as they have this one . . . Everyone who has worked with them say they are the easiest bunch of kids to handle . . . It shows in their playing . . . there are no prima donnas . . . They will long be remembered as the "team" . . . They have been paid many fine compliments but the one we like best was this . . . "there are no stars on the Charlevoix team . . . they're just a team" . . . That's one of the things that make them the team they are . . . We've always wanted a first hand look at a state trophy . . . and we'd love it if these kids could bring it home . . . But just in case they don't they're still one of the best teams in the state and what more can one ask . . . Particularly of a team that lots of people said last fall wasn't going far . . . To the Rayders and their coach . . . lots of luck and love to all of you from all of us in the tough days ahead . . .

BILL BARNES was on the street Saturday with three beautiful pike he said he had caught in a little inlet past Ironton in the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix . . . And how did he catch them? . . . This we heard with our own ears, . . . There was a large hole left when the ice was harvested and he cast for them . . . You'll have to admit it makes a good story . . .

SAW WILLIAM F. SMITH on the street one day last week for the first time in ages . . . When we asked what he'd been doing with his time all winter he said he'd been hooking rugs . . . He brought one around the other day for us to see and you'd love it . . He'd used scraps of wool material and hooked a colorful rug which must have been about 30x-50 inches or so . . . It was really a work of art . . . He'd also made three others during the winter . . What a grand pastime that must be . . .

SPRING is here . . . regardless of the weather . . . Know why we know? . . . Every kid in town has a pocket full of marbles . . . And every youngster, regardless of sex, is playing the game which always seems to mark the beginning of spring . . .

BUD HEISE called us with further evidence of spring . . . a big bouquet of pussywillows he'd found along the highway south of town . . . He said he didn't remember seeing them out this early in the spring . . . Maybe we're going to hit the jackpot in good weather this year . . . It's about time if we should . . .

* * *

MANY THANKS to all those people who called and offered us their copies of the Country Gentleman so we could read Bill Ratigan's novel, Gangway for Tomorrow . . Our subscription finally came through and we're enjoying it very much . . .

IN THE MARCH 6 issue of the Journal of the House of Representatives in Lansing sent us recently by Mrs. Lucille Farmer of the Michigan Library staff was a story we thought you'd like about the cutter Mackinaw . . On hand for the meeting were Capt. Dwight H. Dexter, Willard Teare and Thomas Barrett of the U. S. Coast Guard cutter, Mackinaw, which is stationed at Cheboygan . . . Rep. Nelson addressed the House, said the day was Coast Guard Day in the House of Representatives and after speaking briefly, he introduced the Captain and members of his crew and presented them with a set of five books, the so-called Lake books, for use by the officers and men of the Mackinaw . . . Capt. Dexter then addressed the House as follows . . . and this is what we thought you'd enjoy for we hear so much about the work of the Mackinaw at this time of year: "I believe it is best to speak on a subject of which I am familiar. The best part of it is, she is a lady . . . not of the build that we believe to be a prize winner because our minds generally go right to the female species.

THIS LADY is a squat, fat, heavy ship, but a prize winner anyway. Her dimensions are 290 feet by 75 feet. By those dimensions she is almost a barge, for, as you see, she is one-fourth as wide as she is long, while most vessels or yachts on the Lakes are only about one-tenth as wide as they are long. She actually weighs 5,200 tons and has 10,000 horsepower . . . She is about the largest ice-breaker in the world and was built especially for the water around the state of Michigan at Toledo in 1943 at a cost of $10 million . . . She can't leave the Lakes and has considerable trouble getting into Lake Ontario. The life of this lady and the 120 enlisted men and 15 officers that crew her is routine: she is kept all clean and pretty during the summer and travels around visiting various ports on the Lakes to show off. During the last two summers while I have been aboard, she traveled about 12,000 miles and visited 26 ports where more than 20,000 visitors were aboard to admire her.

"IN THE WINTER she is different. She is on constant standby to help in emergency, such as 1947 when thousands of ice fishermen were adrift on the ice floes of Green Bay and Saginaw Bay. In the spring she goes out and, like a woman who is mad, throws her mighty power into ice-breaking duty. Her construction is special, in that most of her power and weight presses the ice down and breaks it in that way. She is like a mother chicken taking care of her brood which, in this case, is the ore, grain, coal, limestone and other carriers of the Great Lakes. Last winter she assisted 594 vessels between March 26 and April 28.

"MANY ASK how much ice she can break. In smooth ice she will travel about 10 miles per hour through ice three-feet thick. If it is windrowed, she will slow down and grunt and get madder and go right through. I had the pleasure of seeing her tackle and beat the h . . . out of windrows better than 30 feet thick. There is record of where she had licked a windrow 52 feet thick, nearly three times her depth. Last summer the official organ of the Lake Carriers Association published an article headed 'Big Mack repays cost every spring by opening the season earlier in the spring and keeping it open later in the fall, also by reducing the ice damage to the hulls of the ships that operate during the dangerous ice months.

"IT IS A THING of beauty to see her tackle any job she is assigned, whether it is a beauty contest in the summer or a lady wrestler's job in the spring. For the male isn't it always a revelation to watch a competent lady of special breeding and potential abilities that have never been bested tackle a job with odds against her and come out on top?" . . . That tells the story of the Mackinaw pretty well, we feel, and we thought you might enjoy it . . . Surely it is told well by a man who loves his lady . . . even if she isn't stream-lined . . .

WHEN Ishpeming and Houghton came from the upper peninsula to play in the Class B and C quarter final tournaments, Mr. and Mrs. Uno Suomela were in a slight quandry over loyalties . . . Ishpeming is Mr. Suomela's alma mater while Mrs. S. is from Houghton . . . But they assured us they'd cheer for Charlevoix.

IN THE MAIL a card from Mrs. John Zeitler, sr. who is visiting in Florida . . . She went for two weeks and is now stretching it into a month . . . She's at Miami Beach and writes: "This is a place of color such as I've never seen . . . and so much sunshine . . ."

* * *

WHO SAYS the English language isn't confusing, particularly to children . . . Saturday morning when Coach Del Terrill was hurrying around to leave for the upper peninsula to scout the Houghton-St. Joe game at Negaunee . . . his eldest off-spring, Chipper, couldn't understand the rush and asked the usual 'why". His dad answered . . . "We have to hurry to catch the ferry" and Chip came back with "Fairies?" Be sure and watch what they do so you can tell me about them" . .

Michigan Mirror

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

by Gene Alleman

A bone-weary speaker of the house looked tiredly at Michigan's mushrooming governmental costs this week and predicted a constitutional convention "in the next few years" as the only answer to the taxing problem.

Fifty-three-year-old Victor A. Knox (R-Sault Ste. Marie), now in his 16th year as representative and sixth year as speaker, said the G.O.P. controlled legislature would do all that is possible to put the state on a paying basis, but admitted frankly the lawmakers have two strikes against them before the first appropriation bill is pitched.

"The people will not tolerate new taxes every year." he said . . . a constitutional convention eventually will be necessary to revamp the whole tax structure . . . which like Topsy 'has just growed."

MEANWHILE Knox is sweating out means of meeting the $4½ millions which inflation has increased normal governmental costs before jumping into the old deficit bugaboo . . . which he estimates will hit $103 million by next July "if we follow Williams' program".

Immediate recommendations include:

1. Analyze state payrolls. Knox says the state wouldn't suffer seriously if five percent is lopped off civil service payrolls.
2. Chop personnel services and look into salary increase. The G. O. P. leader says some wages in civil service have jumped as much as $160 per month through a combination of the pay increase, reallocation of personnel and normal promotions.
3. Check institutional costs.

AND LASTLY, the speaker said, "It is my hope the committees will hold all tax bills until determination is made as to what appropriations absolutely are necessary and adjust the bills to conform."

No, the speaker said, the Republican party has NOT committed itself to a program of no new taxes.

"The Republican coordinating committee long ago went on record as advocating additional taxes to put the state on a paying level and then retire the present deficit over the next 10 or 15 years."

Then he added wearily, "but the people won't stand for it much longer. Revision of the entire tax structure is the only answer."

A CONSTITUTIONAL convention could set up a new tax action field, he pointed out, which could not be invaded by local units . . . and adversely local tax units would be independent of state taxes.

"As it stands now, the state is just a collection agency. Of the $460 million collected by the state last year $316 million is returned to local units. The state even pays collection costs. What kind of business is that?"

The total indebtedness of Michigan's local units and the state government exceeds $1 billion.

"It is impossible for the state to spend itself into prosperity," Knox rumbled. "Not an original statement, to be sure, but it fits our present situation.

THERE IS ONE expenditure which, according to experts, would see fair return . . . the straits bridge. Question now is, can the state at this time afford the $2 million needed for preliminary work, despite assurance from a traffic study firm that the money could be returned . . with interest . . . through increased tourists trade and tolls?

CHUCKLE OF THE WEEK: When the vote tabulating machine in the House of Representatives broke down . . . again . . . it showed a vote of 485 ayes, 125 nays and 3,669 not voting. There are 100 members. Quipped Ed Carey (D-Detroit), "maybe the machine has reapportioned the state for us."

Four Local Couples Enjoy Fishing In Florida Waters

Four Charlevoix couples, spending the winter in Florida, will have something to talk about for months to come following a fishing trip which netted them one of the biggest catches of the season.

In the party were the Bob Bridges, the Bill Meyers, the Ralph Hesses and the Ed Loops.

Letters from Bob Bridge and Bill Meyers tell the tale of the sailfish which must have been something.

Bob writes: "Well, we did it. Thursday we went deep-sea fishing. Not out long when I saw a big fin heading for my bait and wham! I had a sail fish on the end of the 400 or 500 feet of line. For 40 minutes I fought with him and was it something. I thought I would have to quit a few times but kept at it and finally brought him to the boat.

"Of course the fish is no good except to mount and they ask folks to release them so we let him go. Eventually I will get a trophy and certificate.

"Not bad for a fisherman like me! But it sure was fun. When Capt. Lew Barkinson of the craft, Aruba, reported the catch he said it was approximately seven ft. four in. long and weighed 40 pounds. The report also said it jumped five times, I don't remember that, but I did see him on his tail a few times.

"At the same time mine hit another hit on Maurine Loop's line but did not get on good enough and flopped off in about a minute. Don't know what would have happened with two of them flying around out there."

Bill Moyer relates his version of the story as follows:

"Obviously the folks back home think it is all play and no work for us here in Florida.

"I have never known Ethel or Bob to put in a more strenuous day.

"Bob brought his sailfish in in about 40 minutes. Five minutes more and there would have been no sailfish or Bob.

"We established some sort of record as we had four sailfish on, boated one, released one and lost two.

"Ralph Hess brought in an albacore and Ed Loop a blue runner to help make it a big day.

"All in all it was a hard day's work for the five of them while Rhea Hess, Marion Bridge and I gave them encouragement."

The catches were reported under a Boynton Beach, Fla., date line in a Florida newspaper.

Smith-Cole Vows Exchanged In Candlelight Church Service

In a candlelight service solemnized at the First Baptist church Saturday evening, Bonnie Smith of Petoskey became the bride of LaVern Cole, also of Petoskey.

The Rev. L. L. Lewis read the double ring service in the presence of more than a hundred guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Inga Smith of this city and Ernest Smith of San Diego, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cole of Charlevoix are the parents of the bridegroom.

Baskets of gladioli and lighted tapers in candlabra decorated the altar for the wedding.

Preceding the service Clara Miles sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Walker Miles, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Nels Anderson of Mancelona, the bride selected a gray suit, teal hat and black accessories for her wedding. Her corsage was of white camelias.

Carolyn Smith was her sister's only attendant. She wore a hunter green suit, yellow hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow gladioli.

Leon Pease of this city assisted the bridegroom as best man. Dwight Smith of Mt. Pleasant and Herman Shepperly of Mancelona, cousins of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Smith selected a black gown, light blue accents, black accessories and a corsage of red carnations for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Cole, mother of the bridegroom, wore a hunter green dress, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Shepperly of Mancelona were master and mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Shepperly wore a blue and white checked suit, matching accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. A tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table. Mrs. Ludwig Larsen of East Jordan, aunt of the bride, cut the cake. Mrs. Joseph Smith, aunt of the bride, and Karleen Larsen of East Jordan presided at the urns.

The couple will reside at 822 Grove st. in Petoskey after a brief wedding trip to the upper peninsula.

Guests from Farmington, Mancelona, Pontiac, East Jordan, and Petoskey attended the wedding.

Girligigs

Coming up in May there's a neat little trip you can take in 60 hours. And if anyone should ask you where you're going? Casually, . . . "O? . . . just around the world."

Betcha there are times when the Nizam of Hydorabad wishes he could go where the wild goose goes with those seventy old wives of his cluttering up the house.

Maybe no one else knows . . but the goosey himself seems to have a pretty good idea where he's headed. He's zooming overhead these days with all the determination of a jet . . . but he sounds off like engine trouble to me.

There are a few pigs in Greensburg, Pa., who are licking their OWN chops for a change. They are being fed 25.776 bottles of ketchup and 3,504 cans of sauerkraut which have been labeled sub-standard . . . so don't be surprised if your pigs' feet come already pickled.

* * *

More about pigs . . . they're healthier. There'll be no more spare-ribs on the porker who takes his medicine in the form of yet another miracle drug, Ethomid C/15.

"This little pig took Ethomid,
This little pig had none.
The first little pig soon wished he'd did
As the second little pig had done."

After that last one . . . this one makes good scents! Just 25 pennies for a sweet thought puffed out of a new perfume vending machine.

And you can also get oxygen out of a vendor if you can't find it anyplace else.

Jiggs Gets Four "Hot-Foots"

Cappy Miller's bought himself a new car. We won't be seeing his old jalopy bouncing over the back roads any more. I'm going to miss it, too.

Many a morning Cappy and I drove off in that rattletrap for a day's hunting or fishing. We'd pile rods or guns in back, and prop open the trunk compartment—so Jiggs, Cappy's pointer, could jump in and go along.

They say when Cappy brought the new car home he opened up the hood to show off the engine—and poor old Jiggs hopped right in! Figured it was the trunk. He hopped right out in a hurry, too. That cylinder head was mighty hot.

From where I sit, old habits are hard to shake, once they get a hold. Like, for instance, too many people are still in the habit of trying to run their neighbors' lives—telling them how to act, what to wear, whether or not to enjoy a refreshing glass of beer. I say that kind of thinking's outmoded . . . ought to be turned in for a new model!

windows too were heavily barred) for train robbery seems a favorite pastime, especially of the cars marked "ladies", for the women carry the family fortune in their ears and noses. They often wear jeweled studs in the side of each nostril as well as earrings.

With the aid of two young Indians in the compartment (who insisted on sitting up and talking in spite of the Moslem's frowns from his perch) we got the bolts undone and ourselves and our baggage out onto the platform, crowded with folk crouched in sitting positions, curled up sleeping, and others just watching the train come in.

Then began a weird ride, weaving our way for ten miles through sleeping cows, Buffaloes, donkeys and slowly moving buffalo carts 'till we reached Vellore Medical College for a two-day stay.

Vellore is a city of 100,000 on a hot plain surrounded by barren brown stony hills. The week before they had almost their first rain in five years. So we were in the midst of India's famine areas. River bed after river bed had nothing but yellow sand with here and there a few holes with water in them and women washing the family clothes and drying them on the sand. But what water there was was brown and stagnant.

A green field meant that a farmer had a well for irrigation. Two or three fields of vegetables meant that they were growing by the side of an open sewer.

In the midst of this area is the finest hospital in all India, known from end to end of the land for its medical skill, and a medical school for doctors and nurses whose standards equal any of our land. It was all started in 1902 by an American missionary, Mrs. Ida S. Scudder, when she set up a two-roomed hospital in her own home. Now the hospital has 525 beds; her second hospital of 40 beds is turned into an eye clinic; a leper settlement is developing, and nearly 100 doctors (men and women) are being sent to mission hospitals and villages all over India each year. And slowly from the hospital they are reaching out into the surrounding areas.

One morning we spent traveling with the roadside clinic. It parked under some trees between two villages and we watched the pathetic lines of hungry and sick folk, mothers carrying babies little more than skin and bones, small children who could hardly walk at four from undernourishment, other children with the distended tummies indicative of parasites, too many to number who had ulcers and feet raw with skin infections (India is another country where almost no one wears shoes.)

The clinic started as medical entirely, but so great is the need that it gives out powdered milk and rice. What a fine project for some Young People's Association to send pounds of rice, cans of powdered milk and even little shirts for new babies. I saw a mother going home from the hospital with her new baby naked in a filthy cloth. The hospital appeared to have nothing to give her. Of course none of the children wear clothes until they are about six but little shirts for new babies would help.

The next day we were out again, this time to travel with the health nurse to the first big attempt of the hospital to reform a village and its surrounding hamlets. They are in desperate need of one or two station wagons equipped with supplies and a projector so as to be able to extend the work to other districts. They have a resident doctor and nursing supervisor and they send five or six nurses and doctors-in-training to the center each week. There they run a dispensary and clinic and small hospital and maintain a leper center. From here they work house by house in the village and are transforming the place. We went into one particular house where the owner proudly showed us his clean well and insisted that we go into his model latrine with the date of construction on the wall.

The whole work at Vellore is so outstanding that it is now supported by people in England, Europe and America, and its influence extends all over India. With 700,000 villages of indescribable poverty it is terribly important to undergird this demonstration of what can be done, and to do it even more through education, agriculture, etc. I am very definitely getting worked up over Asia. No one country has any right to have so much as America and the majority of the rest of the world so little. But a program has to be very speedy and very dramatic to forestall communism.

Sgt. Olach's Widow Given Silver Star

"The hill was defended by the enemy in an excellently prepared position," the official citation read.

"As his platoon worked its way up the slope it was pinned down by heavy fire. Olach, an assistant squadron leader, carefully studied the enemy's line of fire and began crawling forward on his stomach.

"When within grenade range he stood up and threw a grenade into the enemy position, killing two Red soldiers. Then he rushed into the remaining soldiers' midst and with slashing bayonet, killed all three."

Later Olach began giving his buddies covering fire from his advanced position until concentrated Communist fire from high ground mortally wounded him.

Present when the citation was read and medal presented were Sgt. Olach's mother, Mrs. Edward Olach, his brother, Clement Olach of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Young, parents of Mrs. Olach and Cathy Stanhope, niece of Mrs. Olach.

Sgt. Olach, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Olach of this city, enlisted in the army immediately after graduation from the Charlevoix high school in 1944. He served in the Phillippines and after World War II went to Japan with the army of occupation. He was discharged in Nov. 1947 and the following January enrolled at Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant as a premedical student. In July, 1948 he was married to the former Dorothy Young.

He was recalled to active duty with the U. S. Army Reserves in Oct., 1950, a month after the birth of their son, Peter.

He went overseas in January, 1951 and had been fighting with the 24th Division.

He was reported missing in action in March, 1951 and a month later the news of his death came from the Defense Department.

His body was returned here last fall for funeral services Sept. 20 at St. Mary's church and burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sidorowicz of Chicago spent the weekend with his parents, Major and Mrs. Sidorowicz.

Warn Against Sale of Raw Milk in County

The large amount of raw milk and cream being sold in Antrim county has recently come to the attention of District Health department No. 3, according to Howard Houghton, district sanitarian. While no prosecutions have been instituted to curb the situation, it is pointed out by Houghton that the sale of raw milk or cream is a violation of state law, which provides penalties to the extent of both a $100 fine and 90 days imprisonment.

Use of milk or cream that has not been pasteurized is always a health threat, according to Houghton. There is always the possibility of raw milk carrying the organizisms that bring on such diseases as typhoid fever, diptheria, dysentery undulant fever and other equally serious ailments, he says.

If commercially pasteurized milk is not available he suggests the use of one of the various methods of home pasteurization. One of the simple methods is to place one or two quarts of milk in a double boiler containing a quart of vigorously boiling water and heat the milk for ten minutes to between 170 and 180 degrees then cool to 50 degrees or less as rapidly as possible. The milk should be covered during both the heating and cooling process.

There are other easy methods of satisfactory home pastuerization. Bulletins covering the subject are available through the county agricultural agent.

Proud of Betty Lou's Record

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Schoals look over Batty Lou's production of 72.3 pounds of butterfat as Don Graham, cow tester and Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, look on.

A five year old Guernsey cow owned by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Schoals of Charlevoix, produced 1390 pounds of milk and 72.3 pounds of butterfat with a test of 5.2 during the month of February, Don Graham, cow tester reported today. Mr. and Mrs. Schoals are one of the 29 dairymen in Charlevoix and Antrim counties who are members of the Charlevoix-Antrim Dairy Herd Improvement Association and have regular monthly tests made of their dairy herds.

The Schoals have 15 cows at the present time. Eight of these cows are registered Guernsey which they purchased last summer. The others are grade cows that they have raised themselves. The herd average for all the cows for the month of March was 760 pounds of milk and 34.5 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 4.54 percent.

Mr. and Mrs. Schoals own 155 acres of land south of Charlevoix. They have two children, Rose Marie, 12 and Richard, 9. The Schoals are very active in community affairs and they belong to the Farm Bureau and the Methodist church.

Farmers who are interested in belonging to the testing association should contact either Don Graham, cow tester, or Ed Rebman, county agrciultural agent. Members who belong to this association are visited once a month by the cow tester, who takes samples both night and morning and runs a test on the milk. The cow tester also weighs the feed so that at the end of the year the farmer would know what each cow's production was, what it cost to keep each cow and which cows made him some money.

MSC Looks To 100 Anniversary

East Lansing — Michigan State College will celebrate its 100th birthday in 1955.

Many national educational groups are expected to hold annual meetings at East Lansing during 1955 to join in commemorating the founding of M.S.C. First major group to make this move was the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities.

Plan Tillage Demonstration

Various methods of preparing the soil for an oat crop will be demonstrated April 29 providing a suitable 10 or 12 acre plot can be secured for the experiment, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Purpose of the plan, he states, will be to show the effects different methods of fitting the soil has upon the oat yield. The field will be divided into 10 plots and each plot prepared and planted in a different manner. The resulting yield should take much of the guess work out of future soil preparation for oats.

Plans for the tillage and planting have been made. All that is needed now is the field. Rebman is calling on farmers who have a field to loan for the project to notify him by post card. Advance study of the offered plots will be made. He says the field should be fairly level and be of uniform soil type.

Proper Milking Methods Told

Proper milking methods can increase milk production ten to twelve percent and lengthen the period of highest production, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Good methods also result in cleaner milk with lower bacteria counts, and are effective in preventing mastitis.

Rebman said that fast milking is proper milking. Start off the milking process by washing and massaging the udder with warm disinfectant solution. He recommends doing it about a minute before hooking up the milker. It will help milk flow and clean the udder at the same time. Immediately after massaging, strip two or three streams of milk into a cup to check for possible signs of mastitis. This also helps to get rid of the high bacteria count milk that is present in the teats.

Preventing udder injuries through careful operation of milking machines cannot be overemphasized, Rebman said. Fast milking, doesn't mean speeding up the milker, it means speeding up the operator.

Don't leave the milking machine on too long. Some dairymen use a timer to guard against this. After milking the cows day after day the time can usually be estimated for each cow. Experiments show that hand stripping is unnecessary on most cows and should be avoided. Machine stripping can be done by pulling down on the teat cups with one hand while massaging the udder with the other.

Ed Rebman reminds farmers that time is important to cows. They should be milked in order, taking easy milkers first and cows with udder infections last. Milk at the same time each day.

Land Prices Stay At High Levels

"Should I buy a farm or more land now? That's a typical question received by Michigan State college agricultural economists.

Farm land prices in Michigan are rising. Land prices are 16 percent above a year ago and went up 3.4 percent from March to July, 1951. This increase in land prices likely to continue through 1952, although at possibly a slower pace, and the question of whether to buy now or wait becomes a logical one.

The MSC agricultural economists at MSC answer the question this way. In the next few years, farm incomes will remain high enough to justify purchase of good land if it is operated on an efficient basis. Good management is importaint because the days of paying for a farm out of one or two year's profits probably are gone.

General livestock farms which will be operated by one man should be at least 160 acres in size. Anything less than this acreage is less apt to make enough profit for the farmer when he has to add the overhead of machinery investment, taxes, insurance, upkeep on buildings and the like.

Small-farm owners, who are unable to go ahead and make changes so they can operate more efficiently, might find it more profitable to work full time in a factory or on some other full-time job off the farm.

Buildings in good condition that need no major repairs or remodeling are more essential than ever with high labor and material costs, the agricultural economists advise prospective buyers.

Should Rotate Chick Pastures

"If you rotate your pastures for chickens and turkeys you'll have fewer problems with parasites and worms, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, said today.

With the new crop of baby chicks due to invade brooder houses in the near future, farmers should start thinking about the possibility of putting their birds on land that hasn't had chickens or turkeys on it for one and preferably two years.

Improper pasture management may result in worm infections that cause the birds to lose weight and possibly die. Birds so affected may be underweight at marketing time and bring lower prices. The best way to prevent infestation by parasites is to adopt a system of management that will protect birds from picking up worm eggs through feed and water contaminated with droppings.

Usually birds that are reared on wire or slatted porches suffer less from parasites than range-reared birds. Even this precaution or range rotation is not always enough to control parasites. Some parasites have intermediate hosts such as flies, snails, slugs, earthworms, and grasshoppers, the county agent explained.

Set Dates For 4-H Achievement Days

4-H Spring Achievement Day, the culminating event for all winter projects, has been set for April 2 and 3 at the Boyne City high school gym. Exhibits will be arranged on April 2, judging will take place that evening and then on April 3 all members will attend for a day of fun and program.

Miss Mollie Vasold of the State 4-H office will be present for judging and presentation of honors. Miss Vasold is at present in Europe visiting France, Germany, Denmark, Belgium, Italy and England. Her presence at our Achievement Day will be just a few days following her arrival from Europe. She will have an interesting story to relate regarding her observations across the sea.

Can Avoid Danger By Using Gloves

A 60-cent investment in a pair of rubber gloves to wear when handling newly-born pigs and calves is cheap insurance for farmers against the danger of undulant fever, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, said today.

He says that several Michigan farmers have run up good-sized hospital and doctor bills when they were sick with undulant fever. They traced the disease whose mothers had brucellosis. to handling young pigs or calves Often it takes years to completely recover from undulant fever.

The county agent also warned that it's much safer to call your veterinarian to treat a cow which has not cleaned properly after calving instead of trying to do the work yourself. Often the reason for the trouble is that the cow has brucellosis. In this case it's better to let someone do the job who has had experience in protecting himself against the disease.

They Will Know the Answers

Realizing that the farmer of tomorrow must be a person of many skills including the mechanics of farm machinery. Stephans Implement of Charlevoix has made its repair shop and equipment available to this group of 4-H boys, that they may get first hand maintenance and repair experience. Howard Stephans, who assists with the instruction, believes there is a promising future for agriculture in this area.

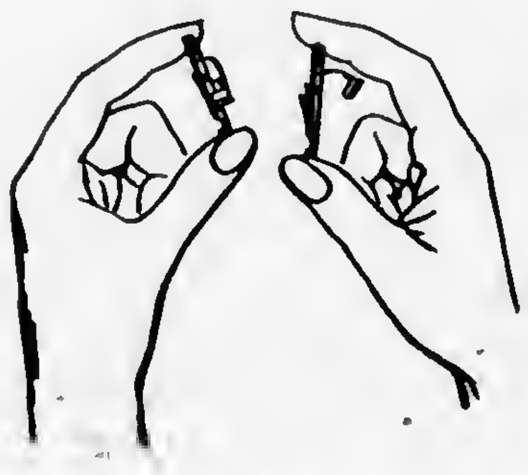
Booster feeding through plant leaves shows promise

Many plants and trees absorb food through their leaves. This discovery opens up possibilities of larger, faster-growing crops by applying additional fertilizer as a spray. Michigan State College Agricultural Experiment Station is studying ways of making leaf feeding practical to the average grower. Among plants which respond readily to nutrition through their leaves are tomato, celery and corn, as well as apple trees. Best results have been obtained by spraying relatively low concentrations of plant food during the spring and early summer. As more information is obtained, it will be available to you by calling, writing or visiting your County Agricultural Agent.



New life for old grasshoppers

To you, a grasshopper can cause damage. But, to your telephone service, a "grasshopper" prevents damage. For this is the name of a tiny fuse, so called because it looks like a grasshopper. If there's too much current, the fuse blows and saves other equipment from damage. A new "grasshopper" costs 9 cents. After it has blown, we have it repaired for 5 cents, saving 4 cents over buying a new fuse. On the millions of grasshopper fuses we use, that's a real saving ... and another way telephone efficiency helps keep down the cost of your service.

Broiler Raisers, save money by using your home-grown grain. Farm Bureau HI N-R-G BROILERMAKER concentrate is prepared for those who want to furnish their own corn (if good quality) in making a broiler mash.

Charlevoix Takes Regional from E. Jordan

Win Puts Rayders In Quarterfinals Against Houghton

The Charlevoix Rayders, guided by Coach Del Terrill, captured their first Class C regional in three years Friday night after defeating East Jordan 33-29.

The win puts the Rayders in the state-quarter finals against an upper peninsula team, Houghton, which defeated Escanaba St. Joseph 60-55 at Negaunee Saturday night.

The Charlevoix Rayders, guided by Coach Del Terrill, captured their first Class C regional in three years Friday night after defeating East Jordan 33-29.

The win puts the Rayders in the state quarter finals against an upper peninsula team, Houghton, which defeated Escanaba St. Joseph 60-55 at Negaunee Saturday night.

Ishpeming won over Ironwood 46-39 at Negaunee and Alpena Catholic Central defeated Petoskey 50-42 at Petoskey to go into the Class B quarter finals.

Copemish won over Kingsley at Traverse City and Mass upset Gwinn 76-58 at Negaunee for a berth in the Class D quarter finals.

Win Regional from East Jordan

In the Class C regional finals game at Petoskey between Charlevoix and East Jordan Friday night was touch and go all the way. The Rayders came through to win when Dean Boss scored two points with two minutes to go. Bill Bennett wrapped up the game a minute later with another basket and the Rayders went into a stall as time ran out.

Dick Freeman, scoring his only basket of the game, had tied the score 29-all at the three minute mark.

Coach Del Terrill's lads went onto the floor against East Jordan with a slight edge because of their regular season record of 11 wins and one loss. The one loss was to East Jordan in December by a 43-41 score. In their second meeting the Rayders defeated East Jordan 41-28. East Jordan had an eight win-four loss record for the season. However, their fine tournament playing had placed them on an almost even basis with the Rayders.

Both teams were playing a cautious game as they met for the third time this season.

Each team missed a shot before Bill Bennett was fouled and scored the first point of the game with two minutes gone. Whiteford came back to score for the Red Devils but Bud Barber and Bill Bennett each added a basket for a 5-2 lead. Norm McGeorge scored on a long shot to make it 5-4 before Bill Denemy collected a foul shot followed at the free throw line by Bennett who also connected after Whiteford had scored his second field goal.

The quarter ended with the Rayders ahead 7-6.

Charles Krahnke and Norm Ketchman completed Charlevoix's starting line-up.

East Jordan outscored the Rayders 12-8 in the second period after Whiteford opened the quarter by scoring two free shots. Bennett and Barber retaliated with a field goal apiece for an 11-8 lead which Jim Shepard cut short with a field goal. Krahnke came in for a field goal but Whiteford came back to collect a free shot and McGeorge added a long shot to tie the score 13-all at the 4½ minute mark.

A free throw by Whiteford and a field goal by Evans from the side of the floor put the Red Devils ahead for the first time, 16-13. Dean Boss replaced Krahnke in the line-up and came in to lay one up and cut the lead to one point. Shepard scored another field goal to give his team a three-point lead as the half ended 18-15. Dean Davenport had gone in for Barber.

In the third period Charlevoix turned the tables on East Jordan and outscored the Jordanites 12-8.

Boss opened the third quarter scoring spree with a field goal. Whiteford came back to score for the ordanites before Krahnke added a field goal and a free shot to knot the score 20-all with two minutes gone.

Charlevoix went ahead on a field goal by Boss, Shepard collected a gift shot for the Red Devils and Krahnke tallied on a pivot shot and collected a free throw. Boss and Ketchman each collected gift shots to give the Rayders a 27-21 lead. Whiteford cut it short, however, as he scored a field goal and Evans added a free throw. With time running out Whiteford threw a wild shot from the corner as the horn sounded cutting the Rayders lead to one point, 27-26.

Coach Gayle Saxton had replaced Dick Freeman with Roman Klimkiewicz for a brief time during the quarter.

As the final quarter started each team became even more cautious.

Denemy was fouled and scored one point. Evans collected a free throw with three minutes gone. The Rayders still held a one point lead. At the four minute mark McGeorge collected his fifth foul and was replaced by Klimkiewicz as Bennett stepped to the free throw line to score one point.

Freeman, who had returned to the game, went the length of the floor to lay one up and tie the score 29-all with less than three minutes to go.

At the two minute mark Boss came down the floor to score and put the Rayders ahead. Bennett scored another field goal with a minute to go and the Rayders went into a successful stall to take the game by a four point margin.

Bennett and Boss shared scoring honors with nine points each, Krahnke had eight, Barber four, Denemy two and Ketchman one. Whiteford had scored 14 for East Jordan.

The Rayders scored on 12 field goals and connected on 10 out of 16 free throws. East Jordan scored 11 field goals and seven out of 10 free throws.

Nine fouls had been called on Charlevoix and 15 on the Red Devils.

Two major factors, a tight defense and team work, were again much in evidence Friday night when the local five went up against an inspired East Jordan five which had been playing outstanding tournament ball after a mediocre season.

The fact that the Rayders held Whiteford to 14 points after he had scored 80 points in three earlier tournament games was also one of the turning points in the game.

East Jordan Wins

In Wednesday nights games the East Jordan Red Devils rolled over Kalkaska 53-30 and Charlevoix defeated Manton 54-41 which put them in the regional finals.

In the East Jordan-Kalkaska game, the first quarter was close all the way with the Jordanites holding a one-point lead as the period ended 12-11.

In the second period the Red Devils outscored Kalkaska 10-4 for a 22-15 half-time lead.

The Jordanites continued to roll in the third period for a total of 13 points to seven for the Blue Blazers and a 35-22 third period lead. Coach Geyle Saxton substituted freely in this and the last period.

East Jordan wrapped up the game in the last quarter with 18 points to go into a regional finals for the first time since 1943.

Don Whiteford scored 26 points for East Jordan to bring to 80 points his total for three tournament games. Tom Potes scored 14 points for Ed Chalker's Kalkaska team.

St. Patrick's Day Is Celebrated On Beaver Island

St. James — Beaver Island celebrated St. Patrick's Day with two fashions, even down to the running of the Irish sweepstake races.

The day was started with Fr. Joseph Herp saying mass at Holy Cross church. At 3 o'clock p.m. the horses were drawn up to the line that had been set previously. The race proved to be very thrilling. Belle of High Island came in first with Douglas Burke as jockey, Joe Sendenburg's King with Peter Green riding him took second place. Pat Kennedy rode Don Burke's Nipple and came in third.

This was followed by a series of foot races starting at the Shillelagh Inn and ending at the Shamrock Bar. The main feature of the foot race was the one won by Patsy Doney and own Chapman Ranch. Others who participated in the races were Cheif Wright of the Coast Guard, Jewell Gillespie, Archie LaFreniere and Richy O'Donnell. Richy took first place in the run off. Songs of Old Ireland could be heard where ever one went throughout the entire day.

Later in the evening the crowd gathered at Pat Kennedy's, where open house was held for all. The Kennedy's have just recently completed their first year out of Ireland.

We mention here the fact that the horse who came in first was one of those transpurted from High Island on March 5th. This certainly proves the excellant condition of these horses, who have gained much publicity during the months of hibernation on High Island.

School Children Present Program

St. James — The annual St. Patrick's Party was held Sunday at the Parish Hall. A potluck supper under the sponsorship of the Altar Society started the evening, followed by a program by the school children, under the direction of the Dominican Sisters.

The program started with several Irish songs sung by the Glee Club. The children of the Primary grades then sang "Shortenin' Bread". They were dressed for the part and acted it out perfectly. The students of the Elementary room did a square dance to the tune of "The Wearing of the Green."

The high school students had two contributions to offer. The first was a comical version of a tragic Royal romance in medieval days. Marilyn Kinney, with the assistance of the Glee Club, then sang "Clancy Lowered the Boom." A few changes were made in the words. Instead of saying Clancy they said Patsy, meaning Patsy "Doney" Gallagher. The other people who are mentioned in the song had their names changed to the names of some of the Islanders.

This was followed by Jasie Anne Lewis playing her guitar and singing several songs. Grace Palmer sang with her. Other musical selections in the program were "Rose of Tralce" by Jewell Gillespie, "Danny Boy" and "Panis Angelico" by Patricia Kinney. After the program there was daocing.

Drive Continues Red Cross Fund

der the impression that the Red Cross charges for blood it collects and a few people have said they heard of instances where servicemen were charged for blood.

In the first place no serviceman is ever charged for any care or medication. His needs are cared for by the military.

In the second place, the Red Cross could not charge for the blood which it collects. The Red Cross acts merely as the collecting agency. Once the blood is processed it is turned over to the military which transports and distributes the blood. The Red Cross has no jurisdiction over the blood once it is collected.

Once a year the Charlevoix county chapter of the Red Cross sponsors a blood procurement program. When the last one was held in Feb., 1951, whole blood was needed desperately in Korea. A part of the blood collected in the county at that time, particularly the universal type, was processed by the State Health Department whose mobile unit was sent to collect the blood and turned over to the military. Within days it was on the fighting front, taken there and administered there by the military and their personnel.

If there are further questions regarding this or other misunderstandings, the local chapter would be happy to explain them to you.

Hydro Plant Sale Will Be Explained At Meeting April 3

When Charlevoix voters visit the polls in the General Election Monday, April 7, they will find on the ballot a proposal by the city council asking for permission to sell the Bellaire hydro-electric plant to the city of Bellaire for $80,000.

In an effort to further acquaint the voters with the proposal, what its sale will mean to the city and how the council proposes to utilize the money from the sale, a public meeting will be held in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 3. At that time J. Bryan Sims of Grand Haven, consulting engineer for the city, Robert Norris of Ann Arbor, consulting enginneer for Bellaire, Mayor John Knight, members of the council and others will be present to explain the proposed sale and answer any questions.

Mr. Sims, who served the city as consulting engineer in the matter has presented additional information as why he believes the sale of the hydro-electric plant to Bellaire would be to the best interest of the community. Some of his observations follow:

An appraisal of the material value of the Bellaire hydro-electric plant was made in 1951 and was found to be $97,516, based on the estimated origioal costs and an evaluation of estimated reproduction costs with ample allowances for depreciation.

This physical, or material, value, however, does not necessarily represent the value of the plant from a satisfactory earning or power production standpoint. A thorough study of the existing conditions indicates that the value of the plant from a power production cost standpoint would be greater to the city of Bellaire than to the city of Charlevoix.

Reasons for this conclusion include the fact that the plant would be able to generate a greater portion of the total load at Bellaire than at Charlevoix and thus the present Diesel plant at Bellaire would not be needed except in emergencies. It could be maintained as a standby only or could be abandoned for a number of years.

This however, would not be the situation if Charlevoix retained the plant, for the city is compelled to operate its Diesel plant here to produce the greater portion of its power. The amount of power that will have to be generated here will increase during the next few years and the importance of the smaller plant will be less in the overall cost of its power.

Because of this, it is more difficult for Charlevoix to show savings with the hydro-electric plant than Bellaire, due to the differential between the two plants in size.

Mr. Sims went on to say that the sale of the hydro-electric plant to Bellaire with the agreement that Bellaire sell all surplus power to Charlevoix at a figure equal to actual Diesel fuel cost and to maintain the tie line with current to be metered to the Charlevoix terminal is, in bis opinion, a fair arrangement to both communities. The tie line, which would be maintained by Bellaire, is of a distinct advantage particularly in event of emergencies.

In the event the proposed sale is made, the money received should be expended in increasing the firm capacity of the Charlevoix Diesel plant, Mr. Sims advised, and gave several reasons.

Additional firm capacity is badly needed especially during the summer and also for future load growth, he explained. Operating costs would be lowered if heavy fuel could be used and ample reserve power would also be a selling point to business firms interested in locating in the community. In addition, expansion of generating facilities would eventually result in a larger "going business" institution and maintain pay rolls in the community.

Expansion of the present Diesel engine plant here, Mr. Sims be-

Council Adopts Social Security For City Employees

Action was taken Monday night by the city council to provide social security for all city employees. The plan will become operative as soon as the city officials have signed agreements provided by the state.

Completion of arrangement prior to the April 7 election will permit the newly elected officials to be included in the program when they begin their new term of office.

Council Approves Plans to Improve Harbor Facilities

Plans for improving local harbor facilities were approved by the city Council Monday night and a motion was adopted to advertise for bids on the construction work. The city has been assured of matching funds from the state to the amount of $7500 if the project is approved by the Michigan Waterways commission.

A study of harbor needs was made by the parks and Waterfront committee of the council in co-operation with a committee representing the Charlevoix Marine Club.

Recommendations of these committees includes repair to present piers and construction of two 50 foot piers and three 40 foot piers. The city has advertised for bids on the work with a view to getting the job completed before the vacation season begins.

The proposal provides for the elimination of alternate piers from the slips at East Park and raising the decking on the remaining piers to two feet above present water levels.

Two 50 foot piers, four feet wide, and 30 feet apart are proposed at the end of Mason street. This would provide dockage space for four large or eight small yachts. The proposal calls for construction of three 40 foot piers to the south of the present East park slips. These would provide dockage space for an additional seven yachts.

Merchants Plan Round Table on Retail Problems

More than 30 local merchants and businessmen met Tuesday night at the high school to formulate plans for a Retail Round Table, a new plan for retailers.

The service is for any merchant or sales person and is conducted by Howard R. Sommer of Central Michigan College Division of Field Services. The course, which runs for eight meetings is sponsored by the Michigan Retailers Association and the Michigan Board of Control for vocational education.

Purpose of the service is to develop more retail trade through better public relations, advertising, effective displays, campaigns and other methods.

Businessmen were enthusiastic about the course and plan to have the first meeting some time in June, E. D. Hawley, temporary chairman, said Wednesday. Starting next fall one meeting will be held each month.

Jack Mailhot and Joe Williams were named to assist Mr. Hawley in setting up plans for the service.

Charlevoix Set To Entertain For Careys, Guests

Charlevoix will be known as Carey-Ville Friday as the community turns out to honor two of its young men, Bob and Bill Carey, who have brought great credit to the city through their athletic prowess.

The two boys, who graduated from the Charlevoix high school where their unusual careers started, went on to attain greater heights at Michigan State College, where both played major roles in Spartan football history.

Bob became the first player from northern Michigan to gain All-American fame. His twin, Bill also played outstanding ball with the Spartans.

The twins, who are great favorites with sports fans, will be guests of the city Friday at activities which will be climaxed by a banquet at the high school gymnasium at 7 p.m.

Heading the list of guests will be Coach Clarence "Biggie" Munn who coached the boys during their years at Michigan State. He will also be the principal speaker at the banquet and present movies of games in which the twins played.

Among the others who are expected from Michigan State are Earl Edwards, Hugh 'Duffy' Doughtery, and Jack Heppinstall.

Dale Stafford of the Greenville Daily News and formerly with the Detroit Free Press, will be toastmaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carey, parents of the twins, and members of their family will be guests at the banquet and will be introduced.

Mr. Stafford as toastmaster will introduce all visiting coaches, sports writers and other guests. Aurey Strohpaul, of Grand Rapids, of the West Michigan Resort and Tourist Association, is expected to attend.

A welcome will be extended by Roy G. Bennett, general chairman of Carey Day activities. Gifts will be presented to the twins by Mayor John Knight in behalf of the city.

Rev. W. D. Wood wil give the invocation and Rev. Carl Hoch of Petoskey the benidiction.

The Charlevoices will sing and dinner music will be played by a trio composed of Mrs. Leonard Burns, C. A. Odmark and Clifford Riley.

Tentative plans are being made for a parade and other activities in the business district during the day, weather permitting, Ralph Hamilton, activities chairman said Wednesday.

The Charlevoix Kiwanis club is sponsoring the event.

A. O. Cuthbert, 55 Dies Following Long Illness

Alfred O. Cuthbert, 55, well known here as the former engineer director of the Michigan County Roads Association and a summer resident of Charlevoix county, died Saturday at his home in East Lansing.

He was past president and director of the American Institute of Local Highway Administration, past president of the Michigan Construction Equipment Dealers, and was connected with the Eddy & Cuthbert Construction Equipment dealers in Lansing, retiring in 1942 because of poor health.

He was a graduate of the University of Michigan and had resided in Lansing for 15 years.

Funeral services were held Monday in Lansing with burial in Evergreen cemetery there.

Carey Meets Carey In Local Cage Tilt

Charlevoix Independent basketteers have scheduled a game with the Michigan State All-Stars to be played at the high school gymnasium Wednesday evening April 5.

Highlighting the game will be a little family competition with Bill Carey on the All-Star line-up and Kieth and Don Carey playing for Charlevoix.

Winter Returns To Charlevoix With Vengeance

Old man winter made his last bid for recognition in the Charlevoix area over the weekend.

High winds up to 45 miles velocity hit the city late Saturday, accompanied by hail and sleet made driving hazardous during the night. The high winds also broke a wire near the light plant plunging part of the town in darkness for about 20 minutes at 10 p.m.

Road crews were out Sunday sanding highways.

At 6 a.m. snow started to fall and in three hours from three to four inches covered the Charlevoix area. An estimated eight inches fell before the day was over and driving continued to be hazardous but traffic was not halted.

School busses made regular trips.

Tuesday dawned bright and clear and crews went to work clearing away the snow.

Areas south of here had a blizzard Saturday and Sunday and fans returning from the state basketball tournament found driving difficult on their retrun.

Juniors to Give Class Play On Friday, April 4

With less than a week of rehearsals remaining, the Junior Class play cast is busy preparing for the presentation of "The Thursday Murders," at the high school auditorium Friday, April 4.

Mrs. Donna Stutt is directing the three-act mystery which is one of Craig Rice's happiest mysteries, combining wonderful action and suspense with comedy. The play was adapted by John McGreevey.

It relates the story of two youths, Bingo Riggs (Ray Sanford) and his partner, Handsome (Dean Davenport) who are Hollywood-bound when they accidently run over a turkey near Thursday, Iowa. Gussie (Betty McBride), who says she owns the turkeys, finally sells them the flock and they find themselves in the turkey business. They soon discover, however, with the appearance of Chris Halvorsen (Bill Mosier) that the turkeys didn't belong to Gussie but to Chris.

Before this deal is straightened out, a man is found murdered on their doorstep, a strange girl (Jackie Cooper) turns up looking for her long-lost father, escaped convicts (Wilfred Browe and Bob Richards) burst in on the heroes and try to kidnap the girl and the flock of turkeys disappear.

In the midst of the hectic confusioa only one thing is clear, everyone is looking for a fortune in gold hidden some years before by one of a trio of bank robbers.

Before Bingo and Handsome can get their money, Gussie is shot, a "third man" appears and everyone suspects everyone else.

Elaine Peters is student director of the play.

Deny Allegations And Request That Case Be Dismissed

The city of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Hospital, co-defendants in a case brought against them recently by Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Miller, have asked that the case be dismissed in an answer filed by their attorney, Norman D. Ance, last Thursday.

The bill of complaint started by the Millers March 5 asked that the deed to the property in the case, the Trailer Park, be set aside and gave various reasons why the sale of the property to the hospital by the city for the sum of one dollar was not to the best interest to the community.

The city deeded the property to the hospital for the site of a proposed new hospital Dec. 21, 1950, for the token sum of one dollar.

In answering the charges made by the Millers, the defendants, the city and the hospital, deny that the total consideration was one dollar and state there were additional considerations for the property.

The chief consideration, the answer stated, was a covenant by the Charlevoix Hospital to erect, maintain and operate a public hospital on the land, thereby providing the community with this most necessary service and facility for safeguarding the health of the community.

They also contend that when the resolution was adopted Nov. 20 and Dec. 18, 1950, the council deemed it expedient, advisable and in the public interest as well as necessary for promoting the public health and general welfare of the city, (and which is in value worth upwards to $150,000 to the city and many times more than adequate consideration for the interest in the property.)

The defendants also contend that proper notice was given of the special meeting for a hearing on the transter of the property Dec. 21, 1950 and that the meeting was regular and legal. After hearing all persons appearing, the council then adopted by more than a two third vote a resolution to deed the property to the hospital for a hospital site.

The conveyance of the land, according to the answer, was not an absolute, unrestricted and undefeasable conveyance but was subject to several conditions, reservations and restrictions. Among these are that the city reserves exclusive possession to the property until construction begins and reserves rights to the buildings which can be removed at any time. The property is to be used only for a public hospital and if the hospital is not started within a five year period the property will revert to the city. Also that if the hospital fails to maintain and operate a public hospital on the site after the five year period, the property will revert to the city.

In addition the Charlevoix Hospital alleges that all proceedings regarding the transfer of the property were published prior to Jan. 5, 1951, and that the plaintiffs were aware, or should bave been aware of the action and voiced no objection at that time.

The answer also brings out the point that the Charlevoix Hospital, relying on the conveyance of the property, raised funds amounting to approximately $295,000 in funds and pledges and arranged for additional federal funds to construct and equip a hospital on the Trailer park site at the cost of approximately $600,000.

In raising the funds, the hospital made representations and committments to contributors of a substantial part of the funds and pledges that the hospital would be constructed on the Trailer Park site.

It was also stated that the Charlevoix Hospital, assuming the Trailer Park site was available to them, had employed an architect who has now partly completed plans for construction of the proposed hospital, has had surveys made and otherwise expended large sums of money to enable it to let contracts for construction of the hospital by July 1952.

The hospital contends that if they are now delayed in carrying out the project, the entire project will be jeopardized all to the knowledge of the plaintiffs who, if they had any objections, should have presented them at the hearing held for that purpose.

In answer to other claims, the city admits that city funds were used to purchase and improve the property but deny the city ever dedicated it as a trailer park although it was used for that purpose.

The city and hospital also deny that it was necessary to submit to the electors for their approval the question of the sale of property and that the sale of the property was within their discretion.

They also contend that the Millers who filed the suit were not taxpayers in Charlevoix before Feb. 3, 1951, and because they were not should have no voice in a matter which was settled prior to that date.

Reading The Write-Ins

The American people are not going to let either the professional politicians or the newspaper prophets name their presidential candidates. Minnestota joins New Hampshire in emphatically recording the independence and the interest of the voters.

Much can happen before July. Senator Taft may score heavily in Wisconsin, Illinois and Ohio. The New Jersey Republicans may prove unwilling to flock behind their leaders under the Eisenhower banner. New surprises may spring out of Nebraska and Oregon that may prove as upsetting as in 1948. Withdrawal by President Truman may reshuffle the whole Democratic setup—and reshape the whole Republican strategy. But Minnesota has pretty well determined that one thing will not happen—the professionals will not continue to assume the voter can be "told".

One thing this indicates is that the "machines" won't sew things up. After the amazing write-up showing of General Eisenhower in Minnesota, Republican leaders will think twice before foreclosing the opportunity to enlist his manifest popularity in their effort to end 20 years of exile. The preference for Senator Taft, so evident hitherto in the party organization, must now take account of the manifest popularity of the general.

On the Democratic side, Senator Humphery, running reportedly as a Truman "stalking horse," easily topped the poll. He probably collected some votes which otherwise might have been write-ins for the President. But the meagerness of votes carrying Mr. Truman's name—compared to the good write-in showing of Senator Kefauver—can only add to the attractions of retirement.

The general scarcity of Democratic votes—remembering that the state has gone regularly for Roosevelt and Truman—gives that party's high command something to think about. When do they start building up a new "white hope"? Democratic weakness may encourage some Republicans to think that they can win with anybody. But that certainly is a wishful and reckless reading of these results.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

As you probably can't help but knowing, Petoskey is having a Centennial this year . . . There are beards of every description but the one we've found the most colorful is the one sported by Bob Miller . . . who lives here and works in Petoskey . . . Bob, as you know is a blonde but he had a red, red beard . . . Wish it would get to the 'flowing' stage . . . we've always wondered what one would look like in that particular color . . . If Charlevoix ever has a centennial we hope a beard won't be one of the requisites . . .

RALPH HAMILTON is our tax expert, as most of you know . . . But did you know he's written a book on the subject? . . . No? . . . Neither did we until we noticed it . . . in a tax cartoon on page 34 of the March 15 issue of Collier's . . . Quite a coincidence, we'd say . . .

WE FEEL that special recognition should be given this week to Supt. R. G. Bennett and his staff at school . . . As most of you know, a couple spectator buses took our cheering section to Lansing for the game Friday . . . It was through Mr. Bennett's efforts that the buses went and that the youngsters had places to stay when they got there . . . Not only that, but we understand he made it possible for quite a few kids to go by his generosity in other ways . . . It's nice to have such an understanding person around . . . We hope you kids appreciate what's been done for you . . . And may we add, in behalf of the parents and friends of the kids, our special thanks . .

THE COAST GUARD was called out one day last week and completed a successful rescue . . . of a hound which had fallen through the ice on the north side of Round Lake . . . Several residents on the terrace had heard the dog howling . . . had rushed to the bank while someone called the Coast Guard . . . The boat arrived, in command of Robert Ashdon . . . the dog was pulled aboard and taken back to the station . . . Earlier in the winter Tom Cox's Dalmatian was pulled from the channel by the Coast Guard.

AND SPEAKING of the Coast Guard . . . everyone sure was surprised last week to find the Woodbine in . . . It's one of the earliest visits a cutter had made into the harbor . . . Often times one has broken ice to the pier . . . Spring must be around the corner . . . Although everyone doubted it after the terrific windstorm Saturday night . . . plus the hail and the rain . . . South of here it was much worse and Sunday afternoon a blizzard was still in full swing between Clare and East Jordan . . . But storm or not . . . it's still better then the cyclones and floods . . . So old northern Michigan isn't so bad after all . . .

BEFORE the arrival of the storm Mrs. Ralph Hamilton reported a snowdrop in bloom in her back yard and Friday Mrs. Ray Faulkner told us she had crocuses in bloom . . . and had enjoyed the song of a robin earlier in the day . . . Another was reported by Mrs. Ernest Falting on RR 1 earlier in the week . . . Can't you almost smell the lilacs . . . Or are we rushing things?

THE BASKETBALL season is over . . . but the memory of a grand season will be with us for a long time . . . The Rayders went into the semi-finals at Lansing . . . and with a few breaks might have won . . . but the final score says we were short five points . . . We know the boys played their hearts out and were giving their all to be the first team to bring home a state title . . . But the fact that they gave their all is the important thing . . As Coach Terrill says . . . we'll look to the future and go back again some time and take it . . . Bitterness and thoughts of what might have been will bring nothing, but hope for the future will, so let's concentrate on that . . . And maybe another year . . . who knows? . . . But first we'd like to say to this team a million thanks for some swell basketball . . . we still swear there's no place in the state where they play like they do in this league . . Not just a single orchid but a lei of them to each of you and your coach for a grand job well done . . . Whether you realize it or not, you've had something that can't ever be taken from you . . a team in every sense of the word and the satisfaction of knowing you've done a good job . . . When you leave this year you're giving any team that follows you something mighty high to shoot at . . . All these are mere words and probably not too well put but what we mean it this . . . you're all swell . . .

AND FROM Coach Terrill to all of you his thanks for the grand cooperation shown him and the team, not only during the tournament but all season, the spirit of the fans, the telegrams sent the team and every other kindness . . . Many thanks from him and the Rayders . . .

IN THE MAIL this week a bulletin from Dr. Perry G. Holden now of East Lansing . . . Elsewhere in the Courier you'll find an account of the Corn Foundation at Michigan State . . . We happen to know of the hours and days and months of work that went into preparing his collection of material for just this . . . The Besemer family, we know, appreciates the effort but there are two other persons who aided greatly in the preparation and they must have a great feeling of pride in having a part in it . . They are Mrs. Clarence Goldstick and Mrs. John K. Reed . . . And having seen a great deal of the material in preparation, we're pretty thrilled about it too . . .

AND FROM Florida news of the Bill Ratigans at Lake Worth . . . Patsy, it seems, swims as a regular on Lake Worth high school team . . . Swam on the winning medley relay against Graham Eckes in Palm Beach and also against Coral Gables at Venetian Pool . . . More recently took second place in 50-yd. free style and third in individual medley against South Broward at Hollywood Casino . . . He also sent his best wishes to the Rayders . . . Congratulations, Pat, that's quite an accomplishment when one considers how little swimming you get in most of the year . . . And if you get a card from Bill from Whispering Palms Motel in Miami Beach, it's because his mother is in the picture on the card . . .

You can't get out of darning the hubby's sox yet, but you can just ignore the hole that may appear in your favorite dress or coat if you are careful to have it come in the shape of a banana or something. The fabulous fashion designer Adrian is putting "windows" in some of his most highly styled creations.

A white coat is your best bet for a Spring slipcover. Made out of a new synthetic fiber Orlon, which requires no pressing, you can sail shipshape through summer on suds and sunshine alone.

Spring sure fractured her date when she slipped going around the corner this week. But if this makes you feel any better . . . Cheer up! There are 235 more shopping days before Christmas!

Uh-uh . . . I wouldn't want to be in the slippers of Elizabeth II with the 690 rooms in her house to get Spring housecleaned. If her house staff of 118 is smart, it'll divvy up the situation so each member of the mop and bucket brigade will have only 5 and 18/100 rooms to polish up.

Anent the honk-happy geese I reported last week . . . they were sea gulls! I have promised myself to keep quiet when I think I've spotted Spring's first Robin . . . it would probably turn out to be a chicken.

DANGER
Lurks in the Medicine Cabinet

Medicine, unlike fine wine, does not improve with age. Instead, time often works chemical changes that may render the medicine useless or potentially dangerous. Safety suggests, therefore, that you check through your medicine cabinet regularly and remove over-age medicines, bottles with unreadable labels, and any prescriptions about which you have any uncertainty as to the nature and purpose of the medicine. And while you are at it, put external remedies on the top-most shelf —away from internal medicines. Simple precaution will prevent possible danger from lurking in your medicine cabinet.

Spraying Calendar Supplement Ready

A new 1952 supplement to the spraying calendar is now available for commercial growers of tree and small fruits, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, announced today.

The new extension bulletin 154 (Supplement) is titled, "Spraying Calendar." It includes recommendations and suggested schedules that have been brought up-to-date. It is aimed for use with the 1951 spraying calendar. Because of the expanding small-fruit industry in Michigan, suggested spraying schedules for blueberry, currant, gooseberry, blackberry, dewberry, raspberry and strawberry are included.

Rebman emphasized that the schedules suggested are merely guides. Each grower should use them to set up his own seasonal spraying schedules, based on his own specific insect and disease problems. This is necessary because pest problems vary from one fruit-growing area to another within the state, and from one orchard to another within each area.

The bulletin was written by A. E. Mitchell, Franklin Sherman III, and Donald Cation, of Michigan State College.

Map Plans for Grocers' Produce School April 1st

Dick Edwards of Edward's Food Market and George Motts from Michigan State College are shown here discussing the grocery clinics to be held next Tuesday at Charlevoix.

Retail grocers and their clerks will start a back-to-school movement on Tuesday evening, April 1 when the Michigan State College agricultural extension service opens classes in produce care and merchandising at the hot lunch room at the Charlevoix High School, county agent Ed Rebman announced today. All retailers and retail clerks in the area are invited to attend these free courses which are designed to show the latest techniques in produce trimming, handling and merchandising. The meeting will start promptly at 8:00 p.m.

George Motts, marketing specialist from Michigan State College will lead the class. Motts is well experienced in the friut and vegetable field, according to county agent Rebman, having received training from several large chain grocery organizations. Retailers who attended the Detroit Food Show will remember the produce clinics taught by Motts and Ray Higgins also of MSC. Michigan State College has presented similar produce schools in thirty cities in Michigan during the past three years.

Rebman points out that retailers attending the classes will have a real opportunity to find ways of increasing produce department profits. Resigned to increase produce sales, cut spoilage losses and improve quality of fruits and vegetables offered to consumers, the course allows full participation of those attending. Tuesday night Motts will discuss the importance of produce department, buying practices, and efficient back room handling of produce. The group will don aprons and practice proper trimming of celery, lettuce, cabbage and cauliflower under the watchful eye of Motts, the county agent reports.

The following Tuesday night, April 8, Motts will lead the group in a demonstration of proper display of produce. "Retailers can often double or triple their produce sales by following a few proven display techniques, yet only one retailer in twenty has received training in produce merchandising." Motts reports. This meeting will be held at East Jordan.

On Tuesday evening, April 15, the grocers will be shown how to compute the price of produce, and will discuss customer relations, merchandising programs, training new clerks, and advertising. A film on produce merchandising will also be shown. This meeting will be held in Boyne City.

All retailers attending the complete course will receive a 58-page produce retailing manual to supplement their training, adds Rebman.

C. A. Elzinga Joins Holstein Group

Brattleboro, Vt. — Charles A. Elzinga, Charlevoix, Michigan has been accepted as a member of The Holstein-Friesian Association of America by action of the board of directors at their recent meeting in Chicago.

The association is the world's largest dairy cattle breeders' registry organization. Membership in the organization now totals over 42,000 representing every state in the Union.

Potato Growers To Meet at Boyne City

All potato growers will meet in the basement of the Boyne City Library, Monday afternoon, March 31 at 2:00 p.m. Ed Rebman, county agent announced today. D. L. Clanahan, farm crops specialist will be present to discuss the potato situation for 1952, cultural practices and a spray program that will interest all potato growers.

Warn Against Use of Wrong Electric Fuse

An expensive electric motor may be ruined if you replace burned-out time-delay fuses with regular fuses, warn Michigan State College agricultural engineers. They suggest that you keep an extra supply of these delayed-action, motor-protection fuses on hand.

A regular fuse may be large enough to start the motor but too large to "blow" when the motor is overloaded. A burned-out motor may result.

Insure yourself of top garden yields by using varieties that are produced in your region. Adapted varieties do better.

County 4-H Groups To Exhibit Projects Achievement Day

All 4-H project work of this past winter will be on display in the Boyne City Gymnasium on the evening of April 2 and all day April 3. Well over a thousand articles will be on display. Leaders will be setting up their exhibits during the afternoon of April 2 and judging will be done during the evening. The club members will be present for the Achievement Day program together with their parents and leaders on April 3. The program will get underway at 10:00 a.m. with a free movie in the gym for all of the members. Highlight of the afternoon program will be the 4-H dress revue in which girls will model the garments they have made during this past winter.

The most popular exhibits will be those in knitting, clothing, handicraft, conservation, health and tractor maintenance. Exhibition is a part of 4-H club work and every member is encouraged to show what he or she has made. From handicraft there will be articles of furniture, farm convenience articles and craft articles of all type. The knitters all having knitted at least two articles will make quite a display and will even include sweaters into which members have knitted a pattern.

Clothing projects will range from simple aprons to complete costume and formal gowns. From the conservation project we are looking forward to an interesting sand table farm from the fifth grade of the East Jordan school and also interesting note books covering the field of conservation. Health members have been busy on a new health, manners and grooming project. All will display notebooks. Tractor maintenance clubs of East Jordan and Charlevoix will each set up an exhibit showing some phase of tractor care. Tractor maintenance note books will also be on display.

The committee in charge of the dress revue are Mrs. Bob Straw, Mrs. John Brock and Mrs. Mary Lord. They are planning a very pretty theme for the revue.

Boys work will be judged by Miss Alice Carris of Bellaire.. These folks, after looking over the array of exhibits, will announce a county honor roll. Of special interest will be the dress revue honor roll and of course everyone will be anxious to know who will be picked to attend club week at Michigan State College from Charlevoix county. The public is invited to view the exhibits on Wednesday evening, April 2 and between the hours of 9:00 and 3:00 on Thursday, April 3.

Keep cattle away from loose or peeling paint if it contains lead. It's just as dangerous as fresh paint to the cattle that lick it.

Strive for higher yields per acre this year. It's the way to higher profits. Good management practices pay off.

Corn Foundation Built Around Dr. Holden's Works

In the 1951 issue of the Michigan State College Alumni Bulletin, is a brief story on the Corn Foundation being planned at the college. In back of the movement is Dr. Perry G. Holden, until recently a resident here.

The account reads in part: "Michigan State College is striving to preserve the story of corn. Perry G. Holden initiated the movement by presenting to the college library his letters, papers and books accumulated in a busy career. Richard Crabb, author of "The Hybrid Corn Makers", fashioned the idea of a corn foundation and will present the materials he gathered.

"Plans are being made for a museum of corn, corn machinery and corn art objects exhibits, erection of historical makers at significant spots in the history of corn.

"Michigan State College is an appropriate place for a corn foundation. It is on the edge of the corn belt; corn cereal is a development of the state; and it has played a unique role in the history of hybrid corn."

Dr. Holden, who now lives in East Lansing, continues to work on the collection of material he has gathered through the years. He formerly lived here with his daughter, Mrs. Ellsworth Besemer, who now resides in Bellevue.

Calf Feeds

Calf feeding can be broken down into three periods.

FIRST PERIOD is when the calf best responds to whole milk or a real substitute. This period runs for five or six weeks. Charlevoix Co-Operative Co. offers you Calf Milk Replacer to meet this need. Over 98% of its nutrients are from milk. The rest are vitamins necessary to make Calf Milk Replacer a true replacement for milk. Feed only where you ordinarily feed whole milk.

SECOND PERIOD begins before first is over . . . probably when calf is only a couple or three weeks old. We offer you Farm Bureau Calf Meal. It is high in protein, rich in vitamins . . . and carries proper mineral balance. It comes as a meal or pellets so you can feed the way you like. Most dairymen prefer pellets and Farm Bureau offers Calf Manna pellets in addition to Calf Meal pellets. Both are high quality feeds and help develop sturdy calves. Calf Manna is especially effective where, or when, calves are out of condition or on the sick list. Follow instructions and any of these feeds will help you prosper.

THIRD PERIOD is when the calf goes onto a full diet of roughage and grain. A grain ration of 1/3 oats or barley, 1/3 corn, and 1/3 Calf Manna is a growth and health maker. Try it. Order these feeds from your dealer:

New Hybrid 125
Boosts Sugar Beet Yield 13%

Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station has developed male-sterile and normal flowering strains of sugar beets that were crossed together to increase the yield of this valuable crop. The result is the new Hybrid 125, showing an average tonnage increase of 13 per cent over ordinary commercial sugar beet varieties. Researchers used careful selection and inbreeding for several generations from varieties with valuable characteristics. Telephones in "Shirtsleeves"

All telephones are mechanically about the same. But special uses call for special "work clothes" for some telephones. Michigan Bell supplies these instruments where needed. Shown here are: (1) telephone for flour mills, gasoline storage plants, etc., with operating parts sealed so no spark can set off an explosion; (2) portable telephone with a cord that can be plugged into outlet boxes; (3) wall type, used near shelves, etc.; (4) outdoor telephone. These telephones do special jobs more efficiently—and that means better service all along the line.

Hydro Plant Sale To Be Explained

lieves, is indicated as being economically sound for the community from power production cost standpoint. It would also be very difficult, if not impossible, for any organization to sell firm power to Charlevoix for less than a properly expanded and operated Diesel power plant, even though neglecting the going business of the plant to the community.

A study of existing electric rates should be made with an off-peak water heating and other type rates established which would mean a saving to users. This can be accomplished in easy stages without disrupting the operating revenue of the property.

The rather unusual experience with the foundation difficulties experienced in the unit installed in the light plant here several years ago is exceptional in the industry and should not affect any decision to continue expansion of the Diesel generating plant, Mr. Sims said.

It is his contention that with proper methods the existing foundation can be repaired and existing difficulties would be remedied.

Voters who have any questions or are in doubt about any aspect of the proposed sale are urged to attend the general meeting at the high school auditorium, where informed persons will explain the issue.

Charlevoix Goes All Out In Honoring Carey Family

Friday was Carey Day in Charlevoix.

Visitors from throughout the north joined with the city in honoring Charlevoix's first All-American, Bob Carey, and his equally popular brother, Bill, who both played end positions on Michigan State's fine Spartan squad.

In honoring the Carey twins, however, the community was honoring more than just a symbol of success on the gridiron. They were paying tribute to American youth, that great institution, the American family, and an American success story.

It all sounds very formal but it was anything but that. Old friends of the Carey family who had known the twins since birth, joined with young fry to whom the twins are heroes to enjoy all the activities.

A parade through the business district with the twins and Coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn of Michigan State College in an open car following behind the Charlevoix high school band, followed by other visitors in other cars opened the activities at 3 p.m.

At a brief program in East Park Coach Munn, who had been named honorary mayor of Careyville for the day by Mayor John Knight, presented the keys of the city to Bob and Bill, whom everyone knows really don't need any to gain admittance to their home town.

The twins responded briefly

Meeting Tonight On Hydro Plant Sale Proposal

The proposed sale of the Bellaire hydro-electric plant to the village of Bellaire by the city of Charlevoix will be discussed at a public meeting at the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m. tonight (Thursday.)

The meeting has been called to better acquaint the voters of the city with the proposal which will appear on the ballot in the April 7 general election.

On hand to explain the proposed sale and to answer any questions will be J. Bryan Sims of Grand Haven, the city's consulting engineer, Mayor John Knight, the city council as well as members of the Bellaire village council and Robert Norris, consulting engineer for the village of Bellaire.

The Charlevoix city council earlier this year adopted a resolution to place before the voters the proposed sale of the Bellaire plant for $80,000. If the sale is completed, the council proposes to purchase a Diesel engine in an effort to enlarge the local plant and increase the city's power output.

At the present time the Bellaire hydro-electric plant can supply a maximum of 300 kwh which is used to supplement that produced in the local plant.

A Diesel engine in the local plant would supply 1000 kwh and would take care of any expansion in the city and allow for industrial growth.

Having all engines in one building would also cut the overhead and eventually the rates would be lowered. It would also be possible to set a system whereby off-peak current such as could be used for electric heaters could be arranged for customers.

The Council as well as Mr. Sims think the sale of the Bellaire hydro-electric plant is a sound business proposition. If there are any questions in the minds of the voters they would like to answer them at the public meeting at the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m. tonight.

Spring Election Will Be Held Monday, April 7

With no contest in sight in the General election April 7, Charlevoix is anticipating one of the quietest elections in recent years when the polls open at the City hall at 7 a.m. Monday.

The one issue which can bring out a large vote is the proposed sale of the Bellaire Hydro-electric plant for the sum of $80,000 to the village of Bellaire where the plant is located.

In the election Monday the Charlevoix city council will be seeking permission from the voters to sell the hydro-electric plant to Bellaire which earlier expressed a desire to purchase it at the price named above. If the voters approve, the Council intends to use the money derived from the sale to invest in a Diesel engine which will increase the output of the local electric power plant.

A story on a general meeting planned for Thursday, April 3, to acquaint the voters with the proposal will be found on this page.

Seeking election without opposition on the ballot will be the candidates nominated in the Feb. 17 Primary election. At this time no 'sticker' candidates are expected to make their bid for election although it is not necessary to file an intention to run for any office.

Names on the ballot and the office each is seeking follows: Mayor, John Knight; treasurer, Nellie A. Hammond; clerk, Hugh Mayne.

First ward: supervisor, George O. Haggard; alderman, Drew Young.

Second ward: supervisor, Arthur Bergenn; alderman, Ray L. Kipke.

Third ward: supervisor, Clarence B. Meggison; alderman, Dean Davenport.

The polls at the City hall will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Complete Plans For Harbor Improvements; Council Accepts Bids

Bids totaling $10,190.50 for the construction of new piers in the harbor and repair of existing docks were accepted at a special meeting of the city council Monday night.

The bids call for the construction of five new piers or slips off the Mason St. dock and East Park, the removal of six of the existing piers and the repair of others at East Park and the concrete re-surfacing of the Municipal Dock.

The plans and specifications for the work, which were approved earlier by the council, are subject to the approval of the Michigan Waterways Commission, which will match city funds to finance the project.

The bid of $6 380.50 submitted by the Sears Dock and Dredging Co. of Traverse City was accepted for the construction of new piers and repair of slips off East Park.

The Lake Construction Company's bid of $3,810 for the resurfacing of the Municipal dock was the second bid accepted.

Franklin Sears of the Traverse City Company left Tuesday for Detroit to consult with Robert Robb, Secretary-engineer of the Michigan Waterways Commission. If Mr. Robb and his commission approve the plans, work on the docks will begin at once and will be completed before the summer season starts.

Six of the existing thirteen 32-ft. piers between Clinton and Mason sts, will be removed by the Sears Co. to allow for better docking facilities. The remaining docks will be raised approximately two feet because of the present high water level in the Great Lakes.

The materials removed will be salvaged and used in the construction of the five new slips, thus cutting the cost of the project by several hundred dollars.

The new dock will be built south of the present piers. Two 50 ft. slips will extend from the Red Cross Fund Drive Lagging In Charlevoix

The Red Cross drive in the Charlevoix area is lagging, Mrs. Charles Bellinger, local chairman, said Wednesday. At that time she reported that to date only $600.00 had been contributed.

The goal for the city and surrounding area was set at $1,000.00.

The quota for the county was originally $3,350 but since the tornado disaster in the south the county was asked to raise an additional $260 for disaster relief.

For the first time in many years, Boyne City has reached its quota and is the first community to announce its goal.

Additional workers who have joined the drive are Mrs. Joseph Arvilla and Mrs. Earl Crandall on the north side and Mrs. George Plumm on the south side.

Archie LaFreniere has been named chairman for Beaver Island.

The Boss Bows Out

President Truman laid out the lines uf the official Democratic campaign, Saturday night, and then proceeded to remove himself from the task of carrying out the strategy as a candidate.

The world, as well as this nation, gave close ear to his words, "I shall not be a candidate for reelection . . . I will not accept renumination."

In addition to the impact at home, it means something to Russia and China and the rest of the Red ring, and to our anti-Communist allies, that Harry S. Truman is ready to step down. And our enemies and allies, as well as ourselves, will try to gauge our nation's intent and temper by the choice we make for his successor.

Senator Taft and Henry Wallace said that Mr. Truman still might be the Democratic candidate. Of course he might. The possibility of a draft — even a manipulated draft — is present. But it seems unlikely. Mr. Truman has a record of doing, politically, just about what he says he will do.

Rather, it looks as if the President had become satisfied that the next president, Republican or Democrat, would not be likely to depart from the broad pattern or existing policies. Mr. Truman clearly sets great store — as do most Americans — by the resistance to Communism which the United States has built up during his administration.

And the foremost four Republican and four Democratic contenders for the presidency — Eisenhower, Taft, Warren and Stassen, and Kefauver, Kerr, Stevenson and Russell — have indicated they would hardly try to reverse the foreign policy now being carried out.

Added to that apparent assurance, there is the realization — which must have reached Mr. Truman by now — that he would be opposed as a candidate by powerful forces within and without his own party. In view of Senator Russell's potent dissidence, it is quite possible Mr. Truman couldn't win if he did run. And it is beyond doubt that even if reelected he would have a hostile congress.

In all the conjecture, however, one thing is sure. The lid is now off the steaming kettle of presidential aspirations among the members of the President's party. The political analysts will be busy with Senator Kefauver and Governor Stevenson, with side glances for Oklahoma's oilman Kerr and Georgia's Russell, and perhaps others, not omitting Michigan's Governor Williams.

At any rate, Mr. Truman's decision has squared things between the parties. They're both wide open, with matching quartets to attract the public's interest as the race goes on to the turn at July and the finish at Nuvember.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

Don Gill, up from Holland the other day, told us this one that's really one for the books . . . When playing with Coleman's Cats basketball team some years ago he laid a Boy Scout ring on the time-keepers table in the gym . . . The ring fell through the table and at the time it was believed lost . . . Last week while here he was helping remove the table from the gym for storage . . . And what fell out of the table? . . . His Boy Scout ring which he had believed lost all this time . . . And the table had been moved countless times . . . Quite a coincidence . . .

HAVE YOU noticed all those sticky spots on the sidewalk and street? . . . In case you didn't know, it's sap falling from maple trees for it's maple syrup time . . If you drove through the rural districts you'd know it for countless farmers have more countless trees tapped and are in the midst of a sugar bush . . . Never quite knew how those words apply but one thing's for sure it's great fun . . . A fire, big pans filled with sap, sweet steam . . . people coming and going . . . And if you're a special guest, lots of hot coffee and a hand-out . . . We were invited to one once and we've never forgotten it . . . But best of all it's that maple syrup- that's so good . . . especially on waffles . . Mmmmm. . .

IF YOU'LL excuse one last reference to basketball, we'd like to say many thanks to the 36 businessmen and sports fans who made the broadcast of the Charlevoix-St. Louis game from Lansing possible . . . and also the broadcast of the quarter-finals from Gaylord . . . we know we speak in behalf of many residents of Charlevoix as well as northern Michigan when we say it was truly a community service . . After all, there were a few of us who couldn't make it to Gaylord or Lansing and it meant a lot to everyone . . . We know your thoughfullness was appreciated . .

CAREY DAY has come and gone . . . And we're sure everyone has mixed emotions about it . . . But Mrs. Carey, mother of the twins, said something which to us added up to a lot of things . . . Quite overwhelmed by all the tributes paid her sons and the family she said "I don't know why they have done all this . . . After all, we are only ordinary people" . . . The fact that they were, as she put it, 'ordinary people' is one of the things that made it all so worth-while . . . Carey Day was just a lot of ordinary people paying tribute to a couple of guys who, to them, were just ordinary kids down the block and who personified all good things about kids the country over . . . And it was being done because the people wanted to do it . . . A sports-minded town honoring two fine athletes who represent American youth at its best . . . And in recognizing this fact it was honoring the youth of the past as well as the future . . . And without American youth, where would we be?

IN THE MAIL this week a souvenir card from Pat Moran and addressed to "Carey-Voix . . Something to keep . . . And from El Centro, Calif., another card from the Lew Brants who have been into Mexico on a fishing trip . . . plus a trip to Las Vegas, Boulder Dam, Stockton, Calif., and ghost towns of the west . . . And from Carlyn Bice, who almost beat her card home, a note from Ormond, Fla., where she and her family were visiting her grandparents, the C. M. Jurgens. And speaking of the Bices, they brought greetings to everyone from the Charlevoix gang still in Florida.

THE BUD FISHERS and the Guy McPhersons of Central Lake returned recently from a two weeks trip to Dallas, Tex., New Orleans and other places of interest . . . Mrs. Fisher was telling of the French Quarters in New Orleans which must be something to see . . . But the Poor Boy Sandwich is what interested us most . . . it sounds wonderful . . . a loaf of French bread cut length-wise and full of ham and other good things . . . Sounds line a meal in itself . . . They even went to the salt mines . . . And everything was in bloom . . . Some contrast to come home to our black and white landscape . . . But we're confident it will soon be spring . . .

REMEMBER the Crowmatix of Muskegon who were here for the SPEBSQSA Labor Day Jamboree last fall? . . . They were in the north for the Bush League event at Boyne City Saturday night . . And stopped off here . . . And we happened to be in Schroeder & Hovey's Drug store . . . With a bit of coaxing from everyone (not too much) . . . the boys put on a little impromptu concert . . It was grand . . . And believe us . . . they can sing . . . They reported at the Barbershoppers headquarters, Dal's Barber shop, before leaving town we understand . . .

THE PEOPLE of the Church of God had a little reception Thursday night . . . for Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Wood and family who are leaving us for Kalamazoo . . . With the departure of Rev. Wood, Charlevoix is losing a great friend . . . for he has been more than pastor of a church . . . He has given generously of himself to everything he believed in and that was everything good . . . His work has known no boundries . . . no matter what your creed, your color or your need, he helped when he could regardless of what your problem was . . . We know we speak for many when we say we are sad at his leaving . . . but we know there are things to be done and he's the person to do them, so we wish him and his family God-speed. . .

CAMPBELL'S

The Charlevoix Hospital and The Lake Michigan Site

Three years of hard faithful endeavor to obtain a new and modern Hospital for the good and welfare of the entire community is at a standstill as a resut of litigation.

There are many reasons why the board of Directors selected the Lake Michigan site. That all donors as well as the public at large may know these reasons, they are listed below:

THE REASONS WHY—The Board of Directors of the Charlevoix Hospital voted to build the NEW HOSPITAL on the Lake Michigan site!

1. It is one of the most desirable residential districts in the city.
2. It is removed from retail or cummercial activities.
3. The location is quiet and free from heavy traffic noise.
4. It is convenient to all residential districts.
5. Is is readily accessible to all rural districts.
6. It presents a magnificent view of Lake Michigan.
7. It offers a natural setting, natural landscaping, natural beauty at little or no cost.
8. It is the site originally selected at the time plans for a new hospital were first discussed and considered.
9. The site was donated to the Board of Directors by the City of Charlevoix for the express purpose thereof of building the New Hospital, and there was no cost to the Board.
10. Other feasible, though less desirable sites under consideration would have entailed a considerable purchase cost.
11. The site is only approximately five blocks from the business section of the city.
12. The site is only four blocks from the bus station.
13. Westerly from Bridge Street, the site can be reached by ten different streets.
14. Traffic from all points south can reach the site by seven different streets or highways.
15. Traffic from the East can reach the site by four easy intersections at Bridge Street.
16. The site can be reached without the necessity of passing thru the business section of the city from North, South or East, which is very desirable in ambulance service.
17. The site is no closer to the fog signal than the present hospital and the noise factor no greater than any of the other sites under consideration.
18. Proximity to the city dump no closer than present hospital and sufficiently far removed to offer no problem of odor or health hazzard.
19. Snow removal no more serious a problem than found in any other location and as easily kept plowed as any of the principal city streets or highways.
20. Heating problem no more difficult or costly than in other contemplated locations with the modern building construction.
21. Lake winds in winter considered no unusual hazzard and certainly no worse than in any other exposed locations.
22. One of the largest and most highly rated hospital engineering firms in the United States recommended the Lake Michigan site as a preferred location. Their opinion supported by four other firms, all experienced in the erection and design of hospitals.
23. Site approved by the State of Michigan, an important consideration.
24. The site is the preferred choice of the largest donors, the contributions from whom make up the largest percentage of the total funds donated.
25. Prior to the final stage of the public campaign, all large donors understood that the New Hospital was to be built at the Lake Michigan site — and wanted it there.
26. The original model used throughout the entire campaign showed the site located on Lake Michigan. The folders which were prepared for the campaign denoted by map placement that the hospital was to be located on the Lake Michigan site.
27. The site is considered entirely adequate for building space, parking and other facilities and this opinion is concurred in by the State of Michigan and all architects who have been asked to give consideration to all sites under consideration.
28. The cost of necessary utilities was given careful consideration and the known cost thereof is well within figures generally alloted in comparison to the building cost. Bonafide bids on hand by the Board denote that the cost of sewer with sump pump installation complete will not exceed $3480.00. Water mains not to exceed $2800.00.
29. The land has been found entirely suitable for the support of the building to be erected and test borings have been made and approved in this respect.
30. The site is not dead-ended, the building being so orientated that traffic may enter the hospital parking area, or may by-pass the hospital to either side, with several ajoining streets for looping back or return as may be desired.
31. The site provides for natural soil drainage to the Lake.
32. The site is within five blocks of the city Fire Station and hence quick service in case of emergency is available.
33. The site is close and most convenient to doctors offices.
34. Traffic is lighter in the vicinity of the site than is the case in most sections of the city.
35. Entrance to hospital is so orientated, as well as parking area, as to provide protection from adverse weather conditions.
36. The site is convenient to the public bathing beach and the Coast Guard Station, permitting quick transport in case of need and providing recreational features withuut being too close for noise discomfort.
37. The site is such as to lend itself to dignity and beauty of building design and to favorably impress patients, visitors or the passing public.
38. It is the only available water-front site on either Lake Michigan, Round Lake or Lake Charlevoix, that is logically adaptable to hospital usage.
39. It is the site looked upon most favorably by the medical staff.
40. Site is on south side of River and Bridge
41. It is situated in a highly desirable residential district and surrounded by three of the finest homes in Charlevoix.
42. It is the best location for a dust free atmosphere which is highly desired by patients suffering from hay fever and athma, etc.
43. Present plans are designed for the Lake Michigan location. Any change would entail additional cost that would run into considerable money.

Nancy Jean Acker Exchanges Vows With Dr. H. P. Porter in Illinois

White stock, woodwardia ferns and palms adorned the First Presbyterian church in Alton, Ill., Saturday for the wedding of Nancy Jean Acker and Dr. Howard Park Porter, jr.

Rev. Dr. Edgar J. Vance read the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Worth Acker of Alton and a summer resident here. Dr. Portor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Porter of East Jordan.

The bride's gown was of antique ivory satin sculptured on Empress Eugenie lines with long tight sleeves, a fitted bodice, the front of which was Alencon lace with a pleated edge finishing the yoke, and a long train. A lace calot held the bride's train and modesty veils of Illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white moth orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. John C. Pritzlaff jr. of Milwaukee, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Joan Vande Steeg of Cnrona, Calif., Barbara Koch of Detroit, Elizabeth Staunton Smith and Mrs. Elvis P. Lamm III of Alton.

They wore bouffant frocks of starched chiffon over taffeta in tones of cornflower blue designed with triple tucked bodices and diagonal aprons. Mrs. Pritzlaff held deep pink camelliad and violets in a Colonial bouquet and the others, pale pink camellias and violets.

Mary Porter of East Jordan, niece of the bridegroom and junior bridesmaid, wore a soft blue starched chiffon gown with ribbon detailing. Her bouquet of camellias and violets matched the cluster in her hair.

Dr. Porter, whose home is in Grand Rapids, was assisted by his brother, William A. Porter of East Jordan, who served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Lamm III and Lucas Pfeiffenberger of Alton, Frederick Lewis of Groose Pointe, Glen Malpass of East Jordan and Dr. Samuel Oates of Grand Rapids

A reception was given at the Missouri Athletic Club.

Mrs Acker greeted her guests wearing a powder blue chiffon and lace gown and small lace hat in the same shade. Mrs. Porter was in cocoa brown chiffon and matching hat. Both wore orchids.

After a wedding trip the couple will go to Grand Rapids to live for the next two years while he completes his surgical residency at Butterworth Hospital.

Among the out of town guests in addition to members of the wedding party and parents of the bridegroom were Mr. and Mrs. John Porter of East Jordan; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Porter and daughter, Martha Porter of Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paddock of Midland and Mrs. Edward J. Edwards, Mrs. Clair S. Webster and Miss Katherine Fitch of Charlevoix.

Represent Schools At Homemakers Meet

The Charlevoix schools were represented for the first time at the annual state convention of the Future Homemakers of America held in East Lansing Thursday and Friday.

Theme of the conference held at Michigan State College was "Leadership training today makes better homemakers tomorrow."

If the crack on the tray of your child's high chair is constantly catching food particles, try pouring hot paraffin into it. The paraffin will last a long time and save much time.

Girligigs

Once upon a time there was a Lord Spencer who stood too close to the fire to warm his rear. Being penny-wise and fashion-foolish, he continued to wear his de-tailed jacket . . hence the stylish Spencer. So there IS a tale to the Spencer jacket after all.

Even being penny-wise these days we can't win . . . most of us are too pound-foolish to lose.

The other day when Margaret Truman was asked whom her preference was among the Republican presidential aspirants, she answered "BOI-I-N-G" . . . . never heard of him.

Hear in the "land of the sky blue waters" Indian brown denim will be a natural for us this summer. And it won't take too much wampum to buy heaps of chalky beads and tourquoise jewels for accent.

• •

There's a guy who sez it's a cinch to grow asparagus. Here's his recipe: First, sow seeds one inch deep; and in 4 or 5 weeks, thin to 3 or 4 inches apart. In a year, transplant 18 inches apart in a trench 12 inches wide and 15 inches deep and cover with 3 inches of top soil. In another year, spread with 2 pints fertilizer. If you measure carefully, in just two years you can be the proud parent of a bunch of asparagus . . . To me it sounds as simple as growing a coconut in a cabbage patch, and I'll leave even cabbages to Mrs. Wiggs.

Party Given for Rev. Wm. D. Wood

Members of the Charlevoix Community Church of God were joined by friends of the church Thursday evening at Fellowship hall for a farewell party for their minister, Rev. W. D. Wood, Mrs. Wood and their children, Rusty and Jean, who are leaving here this week for Kalamazoo. The Rev. Mr. Wood has accepted the pastorate of the Rose Street Church of God in Kalamazoo and will assume his new duties in mid-April.

At the close of the evening's program Rev. and Mrs. Wood were presented with a gift by Mrs. Ingma Pontious in behalf of the church and friends. In his response Rev. Wood said his years in Charlevoix had been happy ones and that he would return as often as possible.

In the program which preceeded the presentation, Rev. Joe Bekkering, president of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association, paid tribute to Rev. Wood as a generous person who had given much of himself in his years here and concluded with the wish that the new pastorate would be a happy one.

A feature of the evening was a chalk talk by the Rev. William B. Wilder of Boyne City.

A clever radio program from the church arranged by Mrs. Clarence Murray and Mrs. Charles Pontius and featuring selections by two girls' trios later moved to Fellowship Hall where original poems by Mrs. Murray and Mrs. C. C. Fiedler were read and Rev. Wood sang a 'Farewell' song.

A buffet lunch served from a table decorated with a bowl of daffodils and lighted tapers was served late in the evening. Mrs. Winifred Bambach was chairman of the refreshment committee.

More than 125 members and friends including guests from Petoskey, Boyne City and East Jordan were present for the occasion.

Pomona Grange Meets April 8

Charlevoix County Pomona Grange No. 40 will meet with South Arm on April 8 at 8:30 p. m. Potluck supper will be served following the meeting and a door prize will be given away.

Ebenezer P.T.A. Play a Success

The Ebenezer P.T.A. play "The Charming Intruder" proved a financial success as well as a good evenings entertainment. The presentations were well attended and the audience had many a laugh as well as a tear or two, which adds up to a good play.

The characters were well portrayed, with Kay Cooper as the truly charming Intruder, young wife of Martin Cunningham, ably played by Harry DeGroot, whose second marriage was not pleasing to his mother-in-law, Grandma Little, played by Mrs. Peter Timmer, or by his peppery daughter, Connie, played by Mrs. Jake DeGroot, or, his teen-age son, Dick, played as only John Elzinga could do it.

Connie's boy friend, Bruce (Ted Essenberg) and her girl friend Mary Spellman (Mrs. Merion Setzema) and Herbert Sanderson (Paul Doctor) as the father of the Charming Intruder added to the plot.

Comedy was provided by Hortense (Mrs. Peter Postmus) the maid, who would not say "Yes" to the pleas of John (Peter Postmus) the hired man, to marry him. The play ended with a burst of comedy as John leaps onto the stage hilarious with joy because after 20 years of proposing, Hortense finally say "Maybe".

IT HAPPENED ON . . . . BEAVER ISLAND

Mary LaFreniere

Mrs. John Burkholder is spending a week in Traverse City with relatives.

Bernard Schrader of Charlevoix spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon LaFreniere.

Ray Johnston of Traverse City and Mr. Hookwater of Boyne City were guests this week at the Beaver Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie LaFreniere are on a trip to Ludington, Grand Rapids and Chicago.

Mrs. Walter Wojan was in Charlevoix this week.

Don Burke, Francis Ricksgers, Donald and James McCafferty and Robert and Ronald O'Donnell left Monday for Milwaukee. They are going to sail this year on the Joshua Hatfield. Forrest Pratt, also an islander, is the captain.

Karl Keubler is a patient at the Little Traverse hospital in Petoskey.

Gene Burke has left for Milwaukee where he will go on the Henry Fieks as wheelsman.

Billy Martin has gone to Chicago to board the Berwin. His brother, Sheldon, is also going to sail this season on her.

The harbor again is completely filled with ice. The channel that the Mesquite opened was filled with drift ice during the wind storm we had last week. Sunday it rained and gave the ice a very slick look. A few more rain storms and some mild weather and we will see the last of it for another year.

Chuck Kleinhenz trapped three more beavers this week. Bruce McDonough and Vernon LaFreniere got one. The nights are still very cold, which hinders the trappers as the traps freeze. Also the beavers aren't active during cold weather and stay in their homes.

A surprise birthday party was held for Mrs. Grace Cole Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gallagher.

Now that most of the sailors have left, things are very quiet here. Preparations for the summer months are getting under way. Repair work on the docks was started this week.

Joe McPhillips has been landing on the ice the last few weeks. Friday, however, he landed at the field again.

Karl Keubler and Rodgers Carlisle drove to the lighthouse this week on the East Side road. The West Side road still has a lot of snow on it and hasn't been traveled on yet.

George Ricksgers has returned from the hospital again. His leg is still in a cast but is coming along nicely.

Pfc Roger Ricksgers who has been overseas is in East Jordan on leave visiting his father, John Ricksgers.

Charlevoix IN UNIFORM

Charlevoix's sailors are seeing a good part of the world and another has written of his experience in Jamaica. He is James G. Fiedler, SA serving aboard the USS Salem. Of particular interest is the fact that he visited former Charlevoix residents Rev. and Mrs. Charles Struthers, who are now doing missionary work at Kingston.

His letter follows in part:

Carribean Area

"This is a "shakedown" cruise and it's certainly shaking us down. Not very much time off, spending all day at battle stations and standing watches at night. This is a cruise for instruction in damage control and atomic warfare. They fire big guns every day. Noisy too. Will be glad when this is over.

The ship tied up at Kingston on March 9. I had duty Saturday so didn't get ashore until Sunday. Some 'gooks' were selling some hand-made junk at the stern of the ship and I asked them how far it was to Half-Way Tree and they said 'Five miles'.

Sunday morning a buddy from New Jersey and I got a taxi and rode out to 37 Hope Road . . . to see Florence and Charles Struthers.

Charles was in the yard cleaning the truck when we arrived. When some distance off I said "good morning, Sir" When we met said "Guess you don't know me but my name's Fiedler and I'm from Charlevoix, Michigan". He just stood with his mouth open in amazement and couldn't believe his eyes. He said he knew you well.

We went to church with them. Ninety-seven colored people out to Sunday school and the church was packed. The preacher had us stand up and be introduced by Mr. Struthers. When they were told where I was from and was the son of the woman who had sent all the packages they went wild, with gestures of welcome and thanks. When they found out I lived near Norwood, where their organ came from, another commotion arose. Some experience.

We ate dinner at the Struthers' and afterwards they showed us the island before we had to be back to the ship at 3 p.m."

A letter from Mrs. Struthers about the visit arrived here about the same time Jim's letter came. It follows in part: "Your son arrived before your very good letter did. Our first Sunday back in Jamaica the big ship came in. Just as we were leaving for church a taxi drove in with Jim and his friend. They went to church and Sunday school with us.

"Immediately after, Charles dashed them around as much as possible to show them a few things in Jamaica while I tried to see that they would not leave us half-starved. We took them back to the ship.

"Let us assure you that it was a real pleasure to have them here. It gave us an added good feeling for your family" . . .

Tracy L. Harvey, sr. Fn. who has been serving aboard the USS Porterfield in the Pacific for the past year, is expected here soon from San Francisco to visit his son, Tracy, jr., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harvey for 30 days.

Charles T. Bennett, seaman, USN, son of Mrs. Esther Bennett, was recently transferred to the staff of the Commander, Pacific Fleet Submarine Force, at Pearl Harbor, T.H. He works as a yeoman in the office of the Flag Secretary.

Before reporting for this duty, Bennett servesl aboard the submarine rescue vessel USS Greenlet for almost a year. He first entered the Navy in September of 1950, and received his recruit training at Great Lakes, Ill.

Staff Sgt. and Mrs. W. L. McGinnis have arrived home from Langley Airforce Base, Va., to spend 20 days furlough with relatives.

He has been stationed there with the Tactical Air Command. Sgt McGinnis will now go overseas for three years duty in France. He will be accompanied by Mrs. McGinnis.

Ernest and Everett Putman, who enlisted in the U. S. Navy Jan. 3, have completed boot training at Great Lakes, Ill. They are now at home spending 12-days leave with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Putman.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Herrington received a telephone call recently from their son, Tom, who is receiving boot training at the U.S.N.T.C., Great Lakes, Ill. He reports he likes the Navy and is doing well but counting the days until he will be home in May

Struthers Have Trials Reaching Jamaica Duties

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles Struthers and sons, John and Fred, who were in Michigan nn a two months leave of absence from their missionary duties in Jamaica have returned to their post in Kingston.

Mrs. Struthers has written to her mother, Mrs. John Funk, about the return trip which was made by ship from Tampa, Fla.

The account reads in part: "If we could have known the boat would not arrived until Monday we could have spent another week with you. We arrived in Tampa Saturday and it was flooded with tourists and we couldn't get a place to sleep. We finally gave up and came to the preacher's here, but couldn't wake them up so sat in the car until 7:30. Then we slept the four of us in a bed until 10:30 and dashed to bed.

We will have a room on the boat with four bunks. The voyage promises to be quite pleasant but rather long . . . three days to Cayman, three or more days thera and anothar three to Jamaica. Wa can leave our things in the car. I trust that it won't be washed overboard. Two cars are going to Jamaica And will be put on deck about two hours before leaving Tampa. Tha other belongs to a missionary family and has all their possessions in it."

A second letter from Grand Cayman March 6 aboard the boat trip follows in part:

"You can see we are rather slow about arriving in Jamaica. We sailed from Tampa on Feb. 25. By the first night we were all quite seasick and continued to stagger around or lay in our bunks most of the journey.

"We arrived in Cayman Tuesday night but had to anchor out in the stream until the customs' man could come aboard. Then we climbed down a ladder to a small boat to come ashore. They allowed us an overnight bag, saying we could get our clothes in the morning.

"However, a storm arose in the night and all the ships in port had to go back to sea. They called it a northwester but it was knocking on the door of a hurricane. For two days the waves dashed high and wild. Then the ship had to wait its turn to dock and unload and wa lost another day. We are supposed to leava for Jamaica tonight.

"We expect to get the car off in two hours. They didn't charge us extra for the things in the car so I'm glad we brought the organ if it hasn't suffered from the storm. The car was on deck, washed by the wind and salt water and sun."

Rev Struthers is the son of Mr. and Mrs John Struthers of this city.

Warns High Fire Period Is Near

LANSING—Michigan had 17 forest fires by this time last year, but conservation department firemen have yet to go into action so far this season.

With the spring high hazard period due to start any time, the department cites the burning permit law to those who insist on starting brush and grass fires which freqently turn into something bigger. Soil experts have repeatedly pointed out that spring burning destroys—not improves—soil fertility.

Starting a brush, grass or other open fire for other than domestic purposes when the ground is not covered with snow, without a permit, can result in a maximum fine of $100 and/or 90 days in jail. Besides the burner is liable for extra department suppression expenses, and he could be sued for damages should the fire spread to another person's property.

Grass and Legume Crops Helpful In Soil Management

Those who look lightly upon the value of grass and legume crops in good soil management need only to recall how the good, highly-productive prairie land soils of the United States' and other nations were formed.

Michigan State College soil scientists say our best soils are in the areas where grass was a native crop. Maintaining productivity of good soil is difficult without the use of grass and legumes in a rotation or as a cover and green manure crop.

The MSC soils authorities contend that the nitrogen put into the soil by the legumes is not the only value. Roots of the legume and grass penetrate deeply into the subsoil structure and improved aeration and drainage.

By using the right combination of "good farming with good grass" it is possible to build up the soil, reduce erosion, improve drainage and provide good livestock feed. Use of grasses and legumes in all fields at least one year out of five is important in good farming. In land with greater slope, grass and legume crops are more important and should be left for a longer period of time.

State Has Record in Farms Electrified

Michigan leads the nation in percentage of farms with electricity according to latest figures recently released by the rural electrification administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

According to the statistics quoted, 97.7 of the farms are now electrified in the Wolverine slate. Iowa ranks second with 95.8 percent and Indiana third with 95.5 percent of the farms electrified. Figures are based on complete but preliminary 1950 census information. Ohio farms are 93.9 percent electrified, the MSC agricultural engineers said.

Future Citizens Study Conservation

Jimmie Galmore is pointing to erosion on the farm that was not laid out with conservation practices to Carol Bailey, Eleanor Meyers, Carol Johnson, Nancy Bailey, Janet DeHaven and their teacher Sadie Liskum.

The fifth grade class at the East Jordan school is being taught conservation in a very unique manner by their teacher, Mrs. Sadie Liskum. The class, under the direction of their teacher and with the assistance of Bill Grimm, farm planner for the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District, have built a model farm to show what effect conservation measures have on erosion.

The class built this model farm in two sections, the right half being identical to the left half in regards to the hills, ravines, gullies, water ways and location of woodlots. The only difference is that on the right side conservation measures have been employed. Contour strips are used, the water way is left to grass and the cultivated field is not left bare. The farm on the left does not have any of these conservation measures.

About once a week or whenever the soil gets dry the class pours three quarts of water on to the farm. This is put on evenly with a sprinkling can. The class then observe the amount of erosion. This farm was constructed on February 21 and to date there is a very pronounced erosion on the part that was not laid out with conservation measures while the part that was protected by good practices shows very little erosion.

This project is carried on as a 4-H club project. The exhibit will be brought over to Boyne City at the 4-H Achievement Day on April 2 and 3, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent said.

Pomona Meets With Rock Elm Grange

Charlevoix County Pomona Grange No. 40 met with Rock Elm Grange March 11. At the business session Carl Bergmann was elected treasurer for the remainder of the year.

During the discussion period the running of the Ironton ferry and military training for 18 year old boys were questions considered. This was followed by colored movies of Charlevoix county, shown by Ed Rebman.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, April 8.

Conducts Tests to Improve Gains In Beef Cattle

Establishment of a beef cattle breeding project at Michigan State college's Lake City experiment station is aimed at improving the rate of efficiency of gains of meat animals.

Dr. Ronald Nelson, head of the MSC animal husbandry department, points out that applications of heredity principles have increased production of meat farm crops to a considerable extent. Such principles have not previously been applied rigorously to animals. Active projects to improve the important economic characteristics of beef cattle are under way in many states.

The breeding herd is located at Lake City and feeding tests for rate and efficiency of gains will be conducted on the MSC campus. The main objectives of this project are to measure individual differences in feed lot performance and find the extent to which these differences are inherited. This information will be used to develop methods of breeding that will result in the fastest improvement possible.

Eleven bull calves (eight Hereford and three Aberdeen Angus) are now feed at the college. These calves are sired by three different bulls. Four Hereford calves were sired by one of the herd sires at Hi-Point Farms, Romeo; the other four Herefords by one of the herd sires at Elmac Hills Ranch, Gaylord; and the Angus calves by a herd sire at Great Oaks Farms, Rochester.

At the completion of the feeding trail, two of the Hereford bulls will be used for breeding 15 Hereford cows each and one Angus bull for 15 Angus cows at the Lake City station. The bulls will be selected on the basis of rate of gain, economy of gain and conformation. This procedure for obtaining bulls for breeding will be repeated each year.

Dr. Nelson reports that the offspring of these bulls will be tested in the feed lot for the same things as the bulls themselves.

This will give a measure of the degree to which bulls can transmit their feedlot performance to their calves.

"This is not an experiment that is necessarily going to produce foundation breeding stock," Dr. Nelson states. "In the early years it is expected primarily to yield facts and figures that will enable us to develop methods and procedures for making more rapid progress in beef cattle improvement."

Fast Milker Speed Injurious to Cows

Some dairymen have the mistaken idea that the faster they run their milking machines, the quicker the cows are milked.

Michigan State college extention dairy specialists say that if milking time is to be reduced the operator, not the milking machine, should be speeded up. A speeded up machine may get less milk and give more chance for injury to the udder.

The manufacturer's recommendations should be followed for milking machine adjustment.

Give Pointers For Hiking 1952 Michigan Crops

Yields of field crops on each acre of land can be materially increased in 1952 and in future years if farmers will follow improved practices from seeding to storing, according to Michigan State college farm crops specialists.

Among these practices they mention buying certified seed that is high in germination, free from weed seed and disease free. Adapted, recommended varieties are listed in Extension Folders F67 and F157, available at county Extension offices.

Preparing good seed-beds, treating seed, innoculating legume seed and planting on time were also listed as important to top yields. The farm crops specialists recommend fertilizing liberally on the most responsive crops, such as legumes, small grains, sugar beets and potatoes. Control of weeds, insects and diseases during the growing season are especially important with costs of other factors of production. Then harvest and market a high quality product to round out the year's work.

They point out that high yields of hay and pasture mean higher yields of other crops. So they advise, developing a sound rotation which includes legumes, then turning under the legume sod while it is still productive.

Especially important points to remember in getting high yields of forages is to apply lime and fertilizer as soil tests indicate they are needed at planting time. Good management and top-dressing with fertilizer also will help.

Top-dressing wheat in spring will pay if the crop needs fertilizer. Fertilize oats and barley heavily at planting time. At harvest time strive for quality by properly adjusting combine. Clean and treat storage bins, store at low moisture and protect grain in storage from insects and rodents.

Plant certified seed potatoes of adapted varieties. Control insects and late blight with a complete spray program. Don't bruise potatoes at harvest time and thus avoid much storage rot.

Time Extended For Signing With PMA

Time for signing farm plans under the 1952 program has been extended to April 15, 1952. This extension should enable all farmers who wish to sign up with PMA, and have not as yet done so, to contact the committeeman in their community or come in to the office in Boyne City for assistance in planning their farm program for the coming year. Clayton Smith, vice-chairman of Charlevoix County PMA Committee, states that, since all out production is the goal for 1952, each farmer should give careful consideration to the conservation needs of his own farm in planning his program.

The county committee and office personnel are ready to assist with last minute sign-ups so that no one who wishes to sign up need be left out.

ADVANCE WARNING

There is a scarcity of hybrid seed corn this year. Our allotments have been cut. You should get your supply immediately if you want to be on the safe side.

The fertilizer situation is not presenting a problem at this time but we think it advisable to have your fertilizer supply on hand early.

Here's another important little reminder! Plan your requirements for this springs seeding right now and get that seed right in your own storage place. It will be ready when you want it and you won't have to worry about making substitutions. We think we can meet every requirement but if every one of our customers should have the same seed requirements we might find ourselves short on one kind of seed with a big surplus of another.

A Tip from Eskimos

The Eskimos know plenty about keeping warm. They understand insulation needs of coats, too, says Miss Hazel Strahan, head of the department of textiles and clothing, Michigan state college. When inside, Eskimos remove their clothes, so perspiration will not accumulate in their furs. They even bang their garments outside to freeze when they are not wearing them. The tip for us is to keep woolens and other highly absorptive fabrics well-ventilated if we want them to keep body heat in. That is the function of a coat, after all.

Charlevoix Out To Honor the Careys

and thanked everyone for the tribute being paid to them. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carey, parents of the boys, Mayor Knight and former coach Ray L. Kipke were also introduced.

Friday evening more than 400 towns people and visitors gathered at the high school gymnasium for a banquet and program.

As they entered the gymnasium they saw likenesses of the twins made by Wayne Belding over the legend "Charlevoix's All-Americans" on the curtains of the stage, with the boys numerals at Michigan State, 88 for Bob and 21 for Bill and CHS in red and white and MSC in green and white flanking the pictures.

At the head table were the twins, Bob and Bill, Coach Munn who was the principal speaker, Dale Stafford of the Greenville Daily News who was toastmaster, Mr. and Mrs. Carey, Hugh 'Duffy' Dougherty, MSC line coach, Mayor Julius Sledes of Traverse City, Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Bennett, Rev. and Mrs. Jos Bekkering and Rev Carl Hoch of Petoskey.

H. E. Bingham, high school prinicipal, presented gifts to the twins, a leather golf bag to Bill, a Masonic ring to Bob and a set of matched luggage to Mr. and Mrs. Carey. Gifts to the twins were limited by their amateur standings.

In presenting the gifts Mr. Bingham said that in honoring the twins Charlevoix, a sports-minded town, was paying tribute to all athletics.

In accepting his gift, Bill reminisced about his days at Charlevoix, how much they will always mean to him and how much he and Bob appreciated the honors of the day.

Bob said that there were many people accountable for any success they might have attained. He listed teachers they had had in the Charlevoix schools. He mentioned particularly his first coach, S. E. (Irish) Coleman, who initiated them into sports with the Coleman's Cats, Jack Gennesse, his first high school coach and Ray L. Kipke, who coached the twins for three years in high school, where their illustrious careers started. He also mentioned Coach Munn and others at Michigan State who had molded their careers while at college.

Heading the list, however, he said, was their family, four brothers and one sister and particularly their parents, whose sacrifices in their behalf had made everything possible.

He concluded by saying "This day should be for Marion and Leo . . . not Bob and Bill."

Coach Munn paid tribute to the twins . . . to Bill as a fine team man who was willing to play where he was needed and to Bob as an inspiring captain who had led his team to great heights during the 1951 season.

He went on to say "Now is not the time to de-emphasize football or any other college sport. I know there are things that must be corrected but de-emphasizing them is not the way to do it. We have to stop accepting handouts and work for what we want; therefore we must make our youth tough and what better way than on the gridiron."

He also paid tribute to the Careys as a family and said that as long as there were such fine families there would always be fine young men and women in our schools and colleges.

Mayor Sledes of Traverse City spoke briefly and said that the Carey twins were a symbol of the fine teams Charlevoix has always produced year after year and concluded by saying it is the people of the community who inspire such fine teams. He presented a gift of cherry products to Mr. and Mrs. Carey in behalf of the people of Traverse City.

Dale Stafford of the Greenville Daily News and a summer resident of the area was toastmaster. He complimented the twins on their fine work at Michigan State and said he was happy to participate in an event honoring such fine young men.

vocation and Rev. Hoch the benediction.

Movies showing the highlights of the Carey twins' college football careers were shown by Coach Munn.

During the evening Mr. Stafford introduced those at the head table and also others including Charles Carey and Mrs. Carey of Cheboygan, Keith Carey and Mrs. Carey of Midland, Don Carey of Mason, Thomas Carey and Mrs. Carey and the one Carey daughter, Mrs. S. E. Coleman and Mr. Coleman of Charlevoix.

Also former Rayder coach Ray L. Kipke and Mrs. Kipke, Coach Del Terrill and Mrs. Terrill; Jack Heppinstall, MSC trainer and Mrs. Heppinstall; Dan Devine, MSC freshmen coach; Senator Frank Andrews of Hillman.

Aurey Strohpaul of the West Michigan Resort and Tourist Association; Keith Strohpaul, and Mrs. Strohpaul now of Boyne City; Arthur Hinkley of the Petoskey Evening News; Paul Veresput of Harbor Springs' Emmet County Graphic; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Dolliver of the Charlevoix Courier; A. G. Smith of the Boyne Citizen; Mr. and Mrs. James Dougherty of Petoskey's Northern Michigan Review; Johnny Coesens of Station WMBN, Petoskey; Dean Davenport, chairman of the program committee.

All Charlevoix Rayders letter winners in football, basketball and track were present and were introduced.

Last minute ticket sales Friday caused a food shortage when Mrs. Clara Deneiny had prepared for 300 guests and 425 appeared, but during the evening she and her staff prepared extra food and although it was late most guests were accommodated.

The Carey activities were sponsored by the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club. Mr. Bennett was general chairman and was assisted by Mr. Bingham and E. K. Shanahan.

Other committee chairmen were: program, Mr. Davenport; decorations, Mr. Belding; dinner, Leonard Burns; activities, Ralph S. Hamilton; inter-community relations, C. B. Meggison; entertainment of guests, Mr. Coleman; gifts committee, Fred W. Willis; publicity, Mr. Dolliver.

Dinner music was played by a trio composed of Mrs. Leonard Burns, C. A. Odmark and Clifford Riley.

Kiwanis Club Hears District Lieut.-Governor

Harry Crawford, Lieutenant-Governor of District 15, Michigan Kiwanis, spoke at the weekly meeting of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club Monday. In his talk he emphasized the objectives of the organization and said they were based on the keynote of "We Build" in which so much stress is placed on service to the community, especially the young people of the community. Mr. Crawford is registrar at the Sault branch of the Michigan college of Mines and Technology.

Fred Bancroft, speaking in behalf of the club, presented a purse to the Rev. W. D. Wood, who with his family is leaving this community to live in Kalamazoo. He said Rev. Wood had done much in creating a niche in the affections of the people of the area. He emphasized the fact that a wider field with new opportunities will be opened to him in Kalamazoo but that he hoped he and his family would return often to renew old friendships.

Local Kiwanians have been asked to keep several dates in mind. One is May 1 at which time there will be a meeting of the Sault-Ontario club, celebrating the international implications of the Kiwanis organization. The second is May 15 when there will be a general meeting of all clubs in the district at Petoskey. At this time the Governor of the Michigan district and his secretary will be on hand to emphasize service to the state and nation.

Lenore Burns, R.N. Community school nurse of Cheboygan, spent Tuesday here with Mrs. Margaret Davenport.

State Commission Approves Plans For Harbor Improvements

The Michigan Waterways Commission has approved plans for the improvement of harbor facilities subject to certain alterations, Franklin Sears of Traverse City, reported to the city council Tuesday night.

Following his report, the council approved the alternations and work on the project is expected to start in the near future.

Sears, who was awarded one of the two contracts for the improvement, represented the city in seeking approval of the plans from the Commission.

Major alteration in the original plans will be the use of creosote-treated piling in place of untreated piling in the construction of the five new slips. This will cost an additional $2,029, half of which will be paid by the Commission.

The Commission also stated the three new 40-ft. slips must be placed 37 ft. apart and the two 50-ft. slips 40 ft. epert end that a single signal pile be placed 10 ft. from the end of each new dock. Originally the docks were to have been 30 ft. apart.

The re-surfacing of the Municipal dock was approved. The Lake Construction Co. was awarded the contract for that project.

The Commission also informed the Council that when the city decides to make lights, electricity and water available on the slips, the Commission will share the cost of installation.

In addition the Commission will share the cost of construction of e protective dock in Lake Charlevoix opposite the pumping station for the Diesel engines.

Other business at the Tuesday meeting included the approval of liquor licenses for the Beach Hotel, Townhouse, Birches and Moonlight Garden; the asking of bids on a six-foot construction or street broom to be used on the snow removal tractor; approval of the sale of a 1933 Ford dump truck for $50 and the termination of the agreement with the school for hauling clinkers for $1.50 a load.

Votes cast in the General election Monday will be canvassed Thursday night. New aldermen will take their seats at the April 21 meeting.

The participants were Becky Badger, oboe soloist, Barbara Smith, flute soloist, and Connie Paul and Connie Oleksy, flute duet. All were accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Smith at the piano.

The second division rating earned by the group is comparable to a "B" or good rating.

Garfield Site Not Available For Hospital

The dispute over the choice of a site for the proposed new Charlevoix Hospital took an unexpected turn this week when it was learned that the Garfield ave. site, offered to the hospital board by T. R. Miller and Peter Winnick, is no longer available.

The fact became known when Irving Hallett of Detroit, who owns the property, was in Charlevoix to arrange to use the property in a business deal.

According to Hellett's statement, which was verified by Fred W. Wiltis, chairman of the hospital board, the option on the property ecquired by Miller and Winnick was invalidated when the hospital board in whose name the option had been made, wrote to Hallett, informing him that the Garfield ave. site was not needed, since the hoard had already decided on a site, namely, the Treiler Park property.

Miller and Winnick have contended that the contributors should be given a vote in the choice of a hospital site and it was for this reason they acquired a 120-day option on the Garfield ave. property from Hallett in January.

The option, made out in the name of the Charlevoix Hospital, was offered to the hospital board early in February, Willis said. A few days later the hospital board met and adopted a resolution stating the choice of a site had already been made and the Garfield ave. property was therefore not needed.

Miller was notified of the action in a letter. Leter the hospital hoard in a letter to Hallett informed him of their decision. The letter relieved Hallett of any ohligations and cancelled the option.

In March, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, in an effort to force a vote on the site for the hospital, filed an injunction against the city and the hospital board contesting the action of the city in deeding the Trailer park property to the hospital board for a hospital site.

What effect the new development will have on the overall action could not immediately be determined. Willis was planning to discuss the matter at a board meeting Wednesday night. Miller could not be reached for comment.

So it's almost Easter, so it rains and snows and feels like spring and what have you . . . all in the matter of a few hours . . . The poor robins come back and get snowed out . . . But then, that's spring in northern Michigan . . . And at that, it was even worse in southern Michigan where they had lots more snow . .

SPEAKING OF spring, Mrs. Albert Edwards was telling us about the Michigan Flower and Garden Exhibition in Detroit, which she attended last week with Mr. Edwards and the Fred Willises . . . Gardens of every sort of shrub, with emphassis on the flowering varieties, tulips in full bloom, beds of African violets . . . just everything in the way of flowers . . . in perfect settings . . . It sounded so wonderful we enjoyed just hearing about it . . . Can you imagine all that in one big building . . . it would certainly be something to see . . .

ANOTHER SIGN of spring is the return of all our friends from the south . . . showing off their beautiful tans acquired in warm southern climates . . . More and more are returning . . . and among them are Galster sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Moon, Mrs. Anne Reagan and Mrs. Ed Sandlie, who spent the winter in the west . . . It will be good to see them around again . . .

WE'D LIKE to give credit where credit is due . . . The Courier has received many comments . . (all good, we might add) . . . on the choice of the title for the Carey Day picture used last week . . . As you probably noticed, it was taken by Bob Miles, who also gave it its title . . . Architects of An All-American . . We're glad you liked it . . .

WHEN YOU read the history of our country you no doubt think what truly great men there were who made our history what it is . . . But all the great men, for our money, aren't in the history books . . . Perhaps generations to come will read about them but right now we're reading about them . . . in our newspapers . . . We have in mind one whose only son was reported missing in action, General James Van Fleet . . . A blow to any parent . . . And what does he say? . . . "I expect to remain in Korea where I shall rededicate myself to a greater individual effort" . . Not world-shattering words, you'll agree, but behind them the stuff that great men are made of . . . And as long as those kind of people are around we won't worry too much . . .

THE DUTCH people of our community, and there are a lot of them, are justly proud of our latest foreign visitor, Queen Juliana of the Netherlands . . . Those of you who heard her address to Congress were no doubt surprised at her command of the English language . . . And what she said was a bit alright too . . . One can always depend on the Dutch people to carry their share of the load . . . Whether it's here or in the land of the dikes . . .

A CORRECTION . . or should we say, an addition . . . Dal Henry informed us that the Feminaires of Grand Rapids as well as a new young outfit, the Extension Chords also of Grand Rapids, paid a call at the Barbershoppers headquarters while in the north to attend the Bush League songfest in Boyne City last week . . .

* * *

SUNDAY WILL be Easter . . . a day filled with a feeling of beginning over again . . . of hope . . . renewed faith . . . of wonderful things to come . . . May you know every happiness of the season is our wish for you . . . And when you go to church Sunday won't you say an extra prayer for peace . . the peace everyone wants so much . . .

* * *

WE'D LIKE to make a little announcement . . . the arrival of three new children in our town . . No, they're not triplets . . . just three mighty nice youngsters, Geraldine, 13, Ruthie, 8, and Lennie, 7, who arrived last week from Grand Rapids to make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamilton . . . A pretty grand gesture . . opening their home to youngsters who need a home . . .

* * *

WE UNDERSTAND some thoughtful person had forced apple blossoms and they were at the Congregational church Sunday . . . They must have seemed like a real breath of spring after the rain and sleet of Saturday night . . .

LITTLE FALA, the late President Roosevelt's Scotty dog, died at Hyde Park, N. Y., over the week-end . . . Almost 12 years old he had a full life for one little pooch . . . We'll bet he didn't have any politics either . . .

TO THOSE of you in the Detroit area don't forget the Charlevoix party at the Downtown YWCA at Montcalm and Witheral in Detroit . . . It's lots of fun, a chance to renew old acquaintances and meet a lot of people who have one mutual interest . . . Charlevoix . . . It's on April 26 . . . It's a date to remember . . .

AS THIS is written the telephone strike is on . . . The strike makes it very difficult for us to call you . . . so if you have any news, try and get it to us, please . . . We would more than appreciate your efforts, leave the items at the office or mail them to us . . And another thing we'd like to mention . . . if you've had a party for your youngster or someone else, how about letting us know of it . . . We like to use those things but don't always know about them . . .

Ahead—the Nicest Miles in the World!

Well, the day has come! You have your beautiful Golden Anniversary Cadillac—and are off on that cross-country journey you've so eagerly awaited.

You're full of hope and anticipation—but almost afraid it's too good to be true. Can any car perform and handle the way people say this one does?

You come to the end of the street that opens into the crosstown thoroughfare—and the big, easy-acting brakes settle you down to the softest, smoothest stop you ever experienced in all your life.

You touch the throttle, and the great engine starts you out like the flight of an arrow—smoothly and swiftly and quietly.

Almost before you know it, a light turns red—and, once again, that easy, velvety stop. And then the green—and again that swift, eager move into action.

Stop and go—red and green . . . and pretty soon it dawns upon you that you never dreamed of driving a car that handled and performed like this.

Wonderful in city traffic—no doubt about it!

And then the cars thin out about you—the traffic lights stretch farther and farther apart—and you find yourself on the open road.

Instinctively, your foot goes down on the throttle; but, quickly, it eases up again. For you find yourself really rolling in a couple of hundred feet! So you do a little experimenting until you find the spot where the accelerator belongs for sane and sensible driving—and then you settle back and relax.

You scarcely seem to be moving at all. You handle the wheel with the weight of your hand. You're comfortable—resting—at peace with the highway! The sun rises higher and the road beckons on.

"Where did we plan on stopping tonight?

"Better take a look at the map and see what's on down the line. We're going to get a lot farther than I ever dreamed we could!"

Yes, it's true what they say about Cadillac.

Better come in and see it—and drive it—while you're in the mood!

Symbol of Faith

The Resurrection is the Divine promise that man will rise above the tribulations that beset him — that truth and light will triumph over the perfidy and darkness of the forces of evil. At Easter, all Christendom renews its faith in that promise which has been carried to the four corners of the world by men of God. And always, in the shadow of the Cross, have labored men of medicine and pharmacy performing their specialized services for the good of mankind. Together they go forward with Faith — forward to lift the oppressive weight of pain . . . of fear . . . and of ignorance from the shoulders of man.

State Officers To Speak At Two Grange Meetings

Two district Grange conferences, one at Marion Center Grange and one at Harbor Springs Grange, have been announced by George E. Smith of Charlevoix, district deputy of the Michigan State Grange. Speakers at the meetings will be Vern Stockman, State Overseer, and William Brake, state deputy.

The first meeting will be held Friday, April 11, at the Marion Center Grange hall for the benefit of all Grangers in Charlevoix county and the southern part of Emmet county. A pot-luck supper will be served at 7:30 p. m.

The second meeting, Saturday evening, April 12, will be held at Harbor Grange hall for the benefit of Grangers in the northern part of Emmet county and all of Cheboygan county.

Objective of these conferences is to discuss Grange purposes and objectives on the local, state and national levels, according to Smith. The meetings also will provide the state officers an opportunity to give the Grange membership first hand information about the work now being done by the organization, he said.

Early Spring Is Time To Check Soil Conditions

Early spring is a good time to check up on the soil conservation needs of the farm, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent said today. He said that in spite of snow cover and frozen conditions, which normally reduce erosion, heavy losses occur when water flows down slopes where the subsoil is frozen.

That's because the surface soil becomes saturated with water and the surface layer moves down the slope in the form of a mud flow. This kind of sheet erosion is extremely severe and moves large quantities of top soil in a short time. This type of erosion is common on sloping fields which were left unprotected over the winter.

R. G. Hill, Michigan State College extension soil conservationist, told county agent Rebman, that about 2 million acres of row crop land are left without much cover over the winter. A large percentage of these acres are subject to wind and water erosion. Other losses occur-too leaching losses and lost opportunity of adding organic matter and plant food from cover crops cannot be seen.

Spring season also is a good season to determine other soil conservation needs, such as the location for waterways, farm drainage and where other conservation practices are needed. The spring air is again filled with smoke from burning crop residues and organic matter which is needed to replenish the organic content of most Michigan soils.

The spring plowing, fitting and seeding program determines to a large degree whether a conservation system of farming is going to be followed for the year. It is the time when changes are made in the rotation and farmers look ahead — to better soil conserving practices, Ed Rebman hopes.

To preserve the fit of your gloves, take a tip from the glove salesperson who eases the fingers on first and then puts the thumb and palm into the glove. To remove, Michigan State College clothing authorities suggest peeling the glove off after loosening the fingers gently.

Predict Better Poultry Yield In Coming Year

Pointers for making more money with your poultry flock in 1952 were given today by Michigan State College poultry husbandmen.

They predicted that prices in the winter and spring of 1952 would be higher than this year, and urged use of an all-pullet flock. Pullets lay more eggs than old hens and a good pullet flock coming into production this fall will give you the advantage of usual good fall egg prices.

Dry quarters will mean more eggs and will prevent waste of feed, so good insulation and ventilation are important. A balanced ration will save feed. Prompt removal of birds that are not producing will save feed and increase profits. Control lice, mites and rats to improve the health of your birds.

The poultry specialists suggested four methods of saving scarce labor. They are using deep or built-up litter, installing running water in the poultry house, using community nests and dropping pits.

Using lights to provide a 13 to 14-hour working day for the hens is a cheap way to increase production.

Cancer Crusade Started To Raise $1300 In County

The Cancer Crusade to raise $1300 in Charlevoix county was started Tuesday by 25 volunteers who will make an effort to canvass every community according to Mrs. Ronald R. Scott, county commander, of East Jordan. She states that contributions may also be made by mailing them direct to her at East Jordan.

The national goal of the crusade this year is $16,000,000. Mrs. Scott points out that this fund will be used to expand programs of services to patients, carry on research into the causes and cures for cancer, and to promote public and professional education.

Clergy of all denominations have been asked to observe Sunday, April 20, by devoting a portion of their services to prayers for cancer control, Mrs. Scott announced.

"Every spring great losses are suffered as the result of grass fires that get out of hand, Mr. Marshall said. If you must burn a large area, make sure you have enough people to control the fire before you start it."

Every community has in its midst at least one person whose very presence seems to bring to mind memories of good things and happy times.

If those who have called Charlevoix home anytime in the past 45 years were to cast a vote for such a person, chances are a man by the name of George Glados would rate a place at the top of the list.

As operator of the Sugar Bowl from 1907 until 1946 he has probably initiated more children into the happy world of ice cream cones, sodas and sundaes than any one person you know. In addition, he has probably lent his ear to more youngsters' and teenagers' problems than anyone except, perhaps, Dorothy Dix.

In 1946 Mr. Glados decided the restaurant business was too much for him so he sold out to his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Merica. But he couldn't take the quiet life for long and in a short time was back in the harness . . . this time selling popcorn to the children and the grandchildren of those other youngsters of by-gone days.

Why did he go back to work

County Supervisors Discuss The Ironton Ferry, Equalization

The fate of the Ironton Ferry, the equalization of the county tax rolls and county finances, including a tentative budget, were major issues discussed Wednesday by the respective committees as the Charlevoix county board of supervisors went into the second day of the eighty-fourth annual session at the court house here.

Chairman William Sanderson and his ferry committee met during the day with representatives of the Charlevoix county road commission to determine what could be done about the ferry. The board of supervisors last fall stated it would not underwrite any debts incurred by the ferry after Dec. 31, 1951.

Since then the ferry was removed from the water and the first major repairs in 26 years made. It was returned to the water Tuesday. A decision regarding the operation of the ferry is expected later this week.

Wednesday morning petitions bearing 595 names asking that ferry service be resumed across the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix were presented to the committee by Robert Neff, representing the Charlevoix Board of Commerce.

At the opening meeting Tuesday, Claude Pearsall of Wilson township was re-elected chairman of the board for the third consecutive year. Reports by the welfare department and the county agricultural agent were heard and committees were named Tuesday afternoon.

Captains Of Our Fate

If you don't think the American farmer is soon to be the most important man in the world, here are some eye-opening figures from the Agricultural Research Administration.

By 1975, the population of the U.S. will be about 190,000,000. It will require 530,000,000 acres of cropland to feed it at the diet levels of 1935-1939 . . . and there won't be that much land! Government estimators figure that we now have 462,000,000 acres that could be put into crops, and by 1975 will have a possible maximum of 507,000,000 acres capable of production, which is still 23,000,000 short!

And maybe we'll have even more mouths to feed, since a later report from statisticians of the United Nations reports such a drop in death-rates and increase in birth-rates that nineteen nations can expect to double their population in the next 28 years.

There's been a lot of joking about our synthetic foods of the future, getting a full dinner out of a slot machine, in pill form. But the old meat-and-potatoes habit is going to be hard to break. Personally, we don't want to try. So we hope the American farmer will continue his tremendous progress in soil conservation and crop improvement. And, it's none too soon for a day of public thanksgiving and recognition to the farsighted men and women who organized and encouraged such movements as the 4-H clubs and other youth groups.

We believe it will take more than bug-a-boo statistics to frighten these young people, and that the farmers of 1975 will meet their responsibilities as fully as the farmers of 1952.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Dear Sir:

This is an open letter to the people of Charlevoix on the hot subject about which too much has been said and too little accomplished, the hospital.

Some of you people have been working on this project since 1944 and after the drive was actually under way, a great many more of you people have devoted a lot of time and effort toward it. Now that the drive has been completed and your objective has been reached, you are allowing a small group of un-civic-minded people to tear apart this ideal for which you have been striving for so long. Wake up, citizens! This is still a free land where communities may work together to reach their common goals. "United we stand, divided we fall." Let's get behind what was once a dream and is now a reality.

Some of you may be wondering why I am voicing my opinion on this, but I have been watching this community since 1948 when I moved here, working together and striving with one thought in mind, a new hospital. Now you are letting this objective stand the risk of being destroyed by a small minority who have caused pandemonium and hard feelings among the once-united majority.

Let's get back together again and work and fight as we have in the past for what we think is best for Charlevoix.

Easter 1952 will long be remembered as one of the wettest and windiest holidays in years . . In '51 it was the Easter of the big snow, you'll remember . . . Umbrellas, boots and raincoats were more in evidence than new Easter bonnets but all churches were crowded and that's the main thing . . .

But all the lovely flowers received by so many people, including us, sort of made up for the dreary weather outside . . . And there'll be plenty of other Sundays you can wear your new bonnets so don't mind . . .

THE PHONE strike was over Friday night . . . (at least last week's strike was ended) and a lot of good stories came out of it . The one we liked the best was the one about the little boy who told the operator he didn't want anything when she asked for his number . . . He didn't want a number, he told her so she asked him to put the receiver back on the hook . . . He answered that he was listening to the record and when told he shouldn't do that he came back with "But I like it" . . We're glad it served some purpose . . . Michigan Mirror

by Gene Alleman

"The big noise in Michigan is still—taxes and the possibility of a constitutional convention, those two playmates who are getting around so much these days.

But not to Governor Williams. Taxes, yes, but not a constitutional convention.

And remember, the lanky Williams, when he walks, makes very big footprints on the political battleground.

The governor admits the state's tax structure is faulty, but he says a constitutional convention would not repair that tax structure in time. The answer? His 4 percent corporation tax, of course.

But to go back to the beginning, Williams first wants reapportionment before a convention. A "con-con" provides that three delegates shall be named from each senatorial district.

"The state senate now is unrepresentative," he says, "because they have failed to conform to the present constitution, which requires reapportionment every 10 years.

"Having failed to live up to the present constitution, some legislators want to write a new one. But to hold a constitutional convention, based on the present unrepresentative senate, would be to compound an inequity.

"If the legislature sincerely wants to revise the constitution (and this certainly is in order) let it first follow the present constitution and when that is done I will have no objections.

GOVERNOR WILLIAMS points out that such a convention first must be approved by a majority ALL THOSE VOTING in the November elections, the delegates then would meet, spend many months working up a new constitution and then the document must be resubmitted to the people which would make it sometime around 1954 vefore the constitution becomes effective.

"The state's acute financial problems must be solved before any new constitution could possibly go into effect. It can't truthfully be represented as any solution to the state's problem."

In Williams first tax message of 1949 he said that he wished he could recommend a general revision of the state's patchwork tax structure, but that the state's financial condition is such that he felt there wasn't time.

And he points out now that the only thing that has changed since that time is the sales tax revenue which has increased 20 percent.

He admits the present situation is bad—but he is opposed to the basic theory of G. O. P. taxing. He says this program is based upon the recovery of funds now being returned to local units of governments and more consumer taxes.

THE GOVERNOR has pledged himself to veto any tax bills following those lines.

"The little man in Michigan already is paying 80 percent of the total revenue," he says curtly, "the national average is 60 percent."

Some local units are not using the diverted funds to good advantage, the governor ruefully agrees, but heads that "the legislature had made no distinction."

Lee Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction, says $400 million are needed to bring the school system up to date.

"As long as that condition exists," Gov. Williams says, "I will not go along with cutting diversion to the schools."

He still thinks a corporation tax will do the job without a general price increase and he points out that 33 other states have corporation taxes with no appreciable change in prices.

A corporation tax would bring in $80 million, but from that would be substracted the corporation franchise taxes which would net the state $60 million.

Williams makes the following points:

1. It would protect new business—it wouldn't have to pay the tax until it began to make money.

2. Small business corporations now pay more under the franchise tax.

3. Most small businesses are not incorporated.

And he also points out that in such cases as the automobile business in which Republicans say car prices would go up $3 per car, 85 percent of the automobiles are sold out of state.

YES, IT has been a long and bitter struggle—and the end is not in sight. Our Democratic governor will sign no Republican taxes—and he admits himself that he has no hope this legislature will go along with his corporation tax.

Meanwhile, the state's general fund is defunct.

If the Michigan legislature hews to the line and balances the budget as leaders now propose, Washington may have something to think about. Consider these facts about Federal spending by Congress:

Since 1940 national income has increased from 90 billion per year to approximately 300 billion per year, approximately 300% increase.

Now consider some departmental budgets:

Department of Commerce is up 1,709.67%.

Department of Interior is up 594.27%.

Labor Department is up 720.69%.

Justice Department is up 273.56%.

State Department is up 1,934.40%.

All this in only 13 years.

In 1947 Government expenditures ate up 22.2% of nation's income; 1953 Budget will take over 30% of Nation's income.

To Federal Government's take must be added state, local taxes, another 20 billion at least.

Think it over. The American taxpayers are footing the bill.

Track Practice Gets Underway

Sunny days and improved weather conditions have brought out 40 field and track aspirants as Coach Irish Coleman starts spring practice.

Continued cold weather, however, has prevented Coach Colemen from giving the thinclads a real workout so at this early date it is not possible to make any predictions of what the season might hold for the Northern Michigan Class C defending champions.

Returning will be only four veterans, two milers, Stan Whitley and Don Smith, and hurdlers, Ted Browe and Gerry Left. Other spots are wide open with the entire 40 making bids for regular berths on the squad.

The date of the first meet will be announced later.

George Glados Is Children's Friend

after he had decided to quit? The answer in his own words it this: "I wanted to keep in touch with people . . . especially the kids."

So, in his little shop sandwiched between the Sugar Bowl and the Palace theatre, he continues to dole out his own cheery greetings, advice and good will along with his tasty popcorn.

Recently Mr. Glados and several friends gave a dinner for the 1952 Rayders and coaching staff but athletes of other years will tell you that this was only one in a long list of dinners he has provided for all kinds of teams, football, basketball and baseball. Over the years it hasn't mattered to him whether they were good, bad or indifferent teams . . . . they've all received the best from him.

He is an avid sports fan and many is the time he's closed his store to attend a ball game. When the independent teams of the past needed a little financial aid, he was among those who could be counted on to pull them out of the red.

Time was when the Sugar Bowl was the candy capital of the town. One of the highlights of every youngster's life was to be allowed to watch him make candies . . everythink from colorful taffies and mints to hand-dipped chocolates. Many times he turned out as much as 300 pounds of home-made candy a week. The ice creams were homemade too and the choice equally as great. The Sugar Bowl in those days was truly an ice cream parlor.

It wasn't until 1930 that it was converted into a restaurant. Although it still operates as the Sugar Bowl Mr. Glados is no longer associated with the business.

In discussing Charlevoix today and as it was when he first came here, Mr. Glados thinks he liked the good old days best. "In those days", he relates, "Charlevoix was a nice place. When I first came here in 1907, the town had a population of more than 3000 people. Everyone worked and everyone had money to spend.

"Maybe you had to wade in mud ankle deep to cross the street but we had fun in those days. People didn't hurry then like they do now. They had time to visit and you got to know them. We had fun doing little things," he concluded.

The Sugar Bowl was always a hang-out for the younger set and parents never worried about their youngsters because they knew Mr. Glados would keep an eye on them and keep them in line.

Where did this man who has given so much of himself to the community come from? Greece. He was born in Athens Feb. 22, 1883, and adds that the date of his birth has nothing to do with his given name.

At the age of 15 years he got the wanderlust and sailed to Canada from his homeland "for a visit to see what it was like here" he adds. That visit has stretched into more than half a century.

His first knowledge of candy making came from his experience in a candy kitchen in Montreal. Later he went to Sault Ste. Marie and at the age of 20 years started his own candy business in Escanaba. After four years he sold out and came to Charlevoix to purchase the Sugar Bowl.

In 1910 he married the former Maude Williams of Ironton. They have two daughters, Julia, now Mrs. Merica, who lives in Spokane, Wash., and Mary Ann of Charlevoix. They also have four grandchildren.

During his years here he has never held a major political office but is considered one of the town's finest citizens. Everyone will agree that his presence has made Charlevoix a better place in which to live.

Timmer Is Named Local Postmaster

moted to this position. For some time there has been activity and legislation to provide that all postmasters be promoted from within the ranks. Notwithstanding, the fact remains that a "Service Postmaster" is an exception rather than the rule. We feel therefore that our office has been honored by having one of the first service postmasters in Northern Michigan, and it gives us a very definite sense of satisfaction and gratitude.

"For myself, I wish to say that it still seems somewhat incredulous to me, to find myself the postmaster, even after having served 10 months as acting postmaster. The credit for my receiving this honor must go, I am sure, in the first place to my faithful fellow-employees, some who have as much right, if not more to receive this position. I feel honored that after working with them these many years, in which our office has built up a reputation for efficiency and courtesy, that they have sanctioned this appointment. I must give credit too, to the local businessmen, who in reply to questionaires from the civil service commission, have given their recommendations, so that I could be approved by that commission. To you, a heartfelt 'Thank you."

"As I look back over the years of living in Charlevoix, I can say with the Psalmist of old "Truly my lines have fallen into pleasant places". I am anticipating years of pleasant associations with you, of being a help and a service to you, striving to carry out that great Christian American adage "that we can best serve, ourselves by serving others."

"The public is not permitted in the workrooms of post offices, but by appointment, it will be a pleasure for us to let you inspect and go thru the office, either singly or in small groups."

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank Drs. Grate and Saltonstall and the hospital staff for their wonderful care and consideration of me during my stay in the hospital, also friends and neighbors for their kind remembrances.

On April 3 winter displays of the 4-H club members of Charlevoix county were on display in the Boyne City Gymnasium. Exhibits were set up and judged Wednesday, April 2. Taking Soil Tests Now

Farmers Advised To Make Tests For Soil Needs Now

Soil testing may not provide all the answers to soil management problems but it helps, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, said today. The benefit derived from testing each field once every rotation fully justifies the expense. Soil testing will actually save a farmer money because it furnishes definite information as to whether lime is needed and the quantity that should be applied. It's a good plan now to test soil from fields where lime loving legumes are to be seeded this year.

Several items are needed in the way of equipment. These are (1) a clean pail, (2) a spade or shovel and trowel or a large iron spoon or tubular soil sampler and pocket knife, (3) containers — if regular sampler containers are not available wrap sample in double thickness of paraffin paper and place in paper bag and (4) pencil for labeling samples. Farmers must remember that all equipment used in sampling and all containers should be thoroughly cleaned and free from contamination.

The number of samples to be taken sometimes presents a problem. Ordinarily one to four composit top-soil samples will be enough from the average field. Sample each general soil area and problem area. Each final sample should be a composit of eight to ten samples representing the particular area.

The farmer should try to take the samples when the soil is not frozen or excessively wet. When using a shovel or spade, push the blade down to plow depth five to eight inches. Tip out this shovel full of soil and with trowel or spoon collect about one-half cup of soil from the entire depth. Place this sample in a pail. In the same general soil area and within a radius of 50 to 100 feet of the first sample take about eight additional samples. Place the samples together in a pail, mix thoroughly, then place one cup full of the composit sample in the container. Label the sample with pencil so you know where the sample was taken.

Samples when collected should be brought to the county extension office at Boyne City. They will then be sent to the laboratory at Petoskey and the results, together with lime and fertilizer recommendations, will be mailed to the farmer. For assistance in collecting samples contact either Bill Grimm, farm planner; Roy Hardy, PMA chairman; or Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

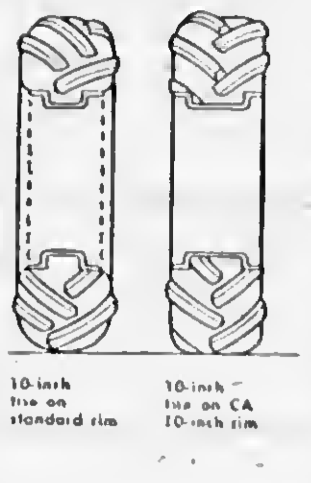
It's what happens HERE that counts



10-inch tire on standard rim
10-inch tire on CA 10-inch rim

The drawings on the left show one reason why the CA Tractor has unusually good traction. Wide-based 10-inch tires on a 10-inch rim have a broad face, using the full width of the tread to grip the earth. When properly inflated, each rear tire has approximately 17 percent more square inches of surface on the ground than with conventional rims.

Another reason is the hydraulic Traction Booster which gives the CA liveweight instead of deadweight. With mounted tools, as the load increases, the Traction Booster automatically increases weight on the rear wheels in proportion to the load.

The new CA has plowing power you've never seen before in a tractor this size. Let us prove it on your farm.

Don't miss the tillage demonstration on the Faculak Farm, April 29, 1:00 P.M. See the Allis Chalmers CA perform with two 14" plows and the Allis Chalmers WD with a five blade disc tiller. Mark this date on your calendar today.

IT HAPPENED ON ....
BEAVER ISLAND

Mary LaFreniere

Anthony and Dan Greene of Detroit spent the weekend here with their mother, Mrs. Mary Greene.

Mrs. John King of Chicago is here visiting her niece, Mrs. George Ricksgers.

George Donat and Henry Rentzel of Peru, Ind., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gatliff. Mr. Donat is a frequent visitor here and has recently purchased the Peterson cottage at the south end.

Mrs. Floyd Stormer left Thursday for various places in South Carolina, where she will visit relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers Carlisle have gone to Indianapolis, Ind. for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller and daughter, who have been living in Charlevoix, moved to the island Monday

Mr. Kenoke of Appleton, Wis., and Mr. Lou Bacon of Frankfort were guests at the Beaver Lodge this week. Mr. Kenoke is the owner of the freighter Logger that carried lumber out of here last fall. He was here buying logs.

Starting Monday the North Shore will be leaving from this side. At present she is being docked at James Gallagher's while repairs are being made on Dick LaFreniere's dock.

Mrs. Mark Cross and children of Charlevoix are spending a few days at their home here.

Monday morning the roof of Tom Gatliff's house caught on fire. The men from the village were quickly summoned and it wasn't long until the fire was extinquished. The fire didn't cover a very large area of the roof so there wasn't too much damage.

Jackie Martin, four-year-old son, of Mr. and Mrs. John Martin, was gored by a cow this week. He was taken to the Charlevoix hospital by his mother. The injuries consist of his collar bone being broken in two places. Jackie is back home again and we wish him a speedy recovery.

The Easter program that the St. Cecelia's Music Club planned for this week has been postponed indefinitely as Doctor and Mrs. Palmer are planning a trip to the mainland. Mrs. Palmer is director of the club.

To the girls of the choir a bit of praise for the beautiful singing at Easter Mass. The singing showed that a lot of hard work and practice had been applied to it. We do appreciate it.

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

If you're one of the thousands of trout fishermen who plan to take a crack at those steelhead trout before the regular opening of the trout season this year, here's a bit of advice. While many of the big streams and rivers flowing into the Great Lakes are legally open on April 12th don't expect them all to produce good fishing. Too many factors enter the picture.

High, muddy waters may harbor lots of fish, but you can't find the fish, and they can't find your lure. Successful steelhead fishermen often locate their quarry by sight, on or near spawning beds, stand well upstream, and cast so that the lure will drift across the fish. This is obviously impossible in roily waters.

Watch the Weather

When planning your fishing trip for steelhead watch the weather. If a runoff of snow or heavy rains has preceded your trip, head for a river containing a minimum of clay or mud banks. The Manistee just below Tippee Dam, the upper reaches of the Au Gres in Arenac County, and the Black in Mackinac County are typical examples of this type. These may not be the best steelhead waters, but your chances of hooking a fish under adverse conditions will be better there.

From all indications streams emptying into Lake Michigan and Lake Superior will be the best steelhead streams this year. Specifically I'll recommend the Betsie near Honor, the Pere Marquette down from Indian Bridge, and the Chocolay River below M-28 near Marquette. The Jordan in Antrim County will be heavily fished but the lamprey got there first.

Steelhead May be Doomed

While the early opening of 55 streams and lakes marks a real step forward in Michigan trout management, fishermen planning to cash in on the fun better make the most of it before it's too late. The lake-run rainbow trout or steelhead as it's commonly called, may be doomed for some time to come.

According to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service the steelhead and the sea lamprey use the same spawning grounds at almost the same time of the year. Present plans call for the installation of lamprey trapping devices on virtually all spawning streams—some 200 of them in the entire Great Lakes area—within the next few years. Weirs, electric fences or other barricades to lamprey spawning are sure to seriously deplete the number of steelhead trout in these rivers as was proven not too many years ago on the Platte, one-time producer of numerous national prize-winning fish.

So, if you like fishing for those big, scrappy, lake run rainbows better do it now, or you'll soon be hearing that familiar old alibi from the natives. "You should'a been here last year!"

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
Might As Well "Get In Key"
Last Tuesday Judge Cunningham wanted to go fishing. "Why aren't you working?" I asked.
Judge explained how his wife had gone on a trip, taken his keys by mistake—and now he couldn't get in the office. So we went fishing.
Next day, he wanted me to go again. I was surprised those keys hadn't shown up yet. "The little woman phoned to say she mailed them," the Judge explained. "They're now in the office, under the mail slot. I'd get 'em if I could just open that door." He grinned and picked up his fishing rod.
"Great little woman, the wife. You can always count on her. Let's go!"
From where I sit, we can use tolerance like the Judge shows for his wife's absent-mindedness . . . and she shows for his habit of lighting out for the fishing hole at every opportunity. He can't see why she likes tea, and she doesn't share his taste for a glass of beer. But they get along fine! Learning to respect other people's ways will "open the door" to happier living.

F.H.A. State Convention Is Inspiration To Local Delegates

The Charlevoix high school F. H. A. club representatives, Carolyn Vanderwall and Lucy Himebauch and their faculty advisor, Grayde Patterson, have returned recently from the state convention of the Future Homemakers of America in East Lansing.

In reporting the event the girls said: It was one of the most enjoyable and educational trips we have ever had. We returned very enthusiastic and proud of the fact that we are members of such a large and helpful girls club.

Each minute was filled with something interesting and exciting.

We made the trip to southern Michigan with representatives of the Petoskey club.

We registered shortly after arriving Thursday and were assigned to a Quonset hut on the MSC campus, where we had a wonderful time getting acquainted. We were even allowed a midnight snack before going to bed.

Thursday morning we went to the Fairchild theatre for the first convention session, which was attended by 750 girls. After lunch at Shaw Hall we returned for the afternoon session, where we saw a skit, "F. H. A. Chapter at Work." It was presented by the Marshall chapter.

Also on the program was a talk by Harold Sponberg of Michigan State college titled, "Leadership and Parliamentary Procedure", and a demonstration by Francis Rosier, Home Service district Co-ordinator of the Detroit-Edison Co. called "Let's entertain our Mothers this spring." She showed us the proper table settings for a formal dinner and a spring tea and prepared the food for each.

The sixth annual birthday of the F. H. A. was celebrated at a dinner and talent show at Shaw hall that night.

Friday was the final day and we attended a panel discussion in which Mrs. G. Mennen Williams participated and which we enjoyed, as well as a state association business meeting with the opening and closing rituals.

After lunch at Shaw hall we said good-bye to our new friends and started for home. We missed a tour of the new Kellogg Center but we still had a good time.

We met many nice girls learned many new things and also saw Michigan State college.

Thanks to Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bingham for promoting our club work, we were able to attend the state convention for the first time.

We are anxious to improve our club and make it active, wide-awake and helpful to our community, state and nation. We say: Let us show our appreciation by being better members.

Kiwanis Hears Of U.S.-Canadian Peace History

The United States-Canada Good Will Week is from April 21-28. In keeping with the theme of the week, C. M. Bice, a former Canadian citizen, and now county prosecutor, spoke on the treaty between the two countries, known as the Rush-Bagot Agreement.

In discussing the treaty Mr. Bice gave the history of it and said "Since the war of 1812-14 peace has been possible between the two countries which have a common border of approximately 2500 miles prehaps through the fact that the war was so closely contested that both sides were able to claim victories. It depends on which history book one reads as to which country really won."

He went on to say that the agreement between the two countries is a splendid example of what is possible. The agreement is printed on one sheet of paper and is a simple formula by which Canada and the United States reduce lake armament in very brief terms.

President James Monroe was able to proclaim the settlement in 1817 and since that date well over a century ago the two nations have been on excellent terms. Some conditions as exist within Canada, such as that between Quebec and Ontario are more noticable than those between the United States and Canada.

This week Mr. and Mrs. John Nasson, pioneer residents, will reach a milestone in their lives together achieved by few couples . . . their sixty-first wedding anniversary.

Local Schools To Hold Open House Tonight

The second "Open House" of the present school year will be held at the Charlevoix public schools Thursday evening.

As in the past a visitation period will be held from 7 until 8 p.m. to allow parents and friends to visit the school rooms, view the work displayed by the pupils and consult with the teachers. The period will also give parents an opportunity to make appointments for further individual consultation if the parents feel this is necessary.

A program in the high school auditorium will follow at 8 p.m. and will feature a talk entitled "Understanding Our Children" by John Sibilo, director of the Child Guidance Clinic in Petoskey, which serves both Emmet and Charlevoix counties; and a second speech, "Parents-Teacher Cooperation Today" by Mrs. R. E. Todd of Petoskey.

A question and answer period "Our Needs", will follow with members of the faculty and board of education present to answer questions asked from the floor or written questions submitted earlier to members of the committee.

Mrs. Charles Bleha, a member of the committee planning the program, will welcome the visitors. Group singing directed by C. A. Odmark will open the program. Mrs. Leonard Burns will play the piano for the group singing.

Henry Block, 83 Dies Following Long Illness

ELLSWORTH — Henry Block, 83, retired Banks Township Dairy farmer, passed away early Thursday morning, April 17 at Meadow Brook Hospital after being in failing health for several years.

He was born in Scotland, Oct. 28, 1868 and came with his parents to Canada when he was five years old. The following year they moved to this area and settled on a farm in Marion township.

June 10, 1908 he was united in marriage to Miss Kittie Eastcott. In 1913 they moved to their present home. He leaves besides his wife three sons and one daughter, Doyle of Whitewater, Wis., Glenn of Traverse City, Burton of Menominee and Ella Mae (Mrs. Louis Lamb) of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.

Mr and Mrs. John Nasson, pioneer residents of Eveline township, will observe their sixty-first wedding anniversary Saturday, April 26, at their home at 208 Antrim street.

No formal observance of the occasion is being planned because of the couple's health.

Both are natives of Denmark and both were born in the province of Schleswig-Holstein which was lost to Prussia in 1864. It was Germanized during the next 50 years but a plebiscite following World War I returned a section of it to Denmark.

Mrs. Nasson is the former Annie Hansen. She was born May 5, 1867, and came to Michigan as a young woman of 18 years. She was one of a party who came here with the late Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Skow of Ellsworth who had returned to Denmark for a visit. She lived briefly with a Mrs. Mears on a farm near Ellsworth and later with Mrs. Mears' brother-in-law and sister, the late Mr. and Mrs. Willard Smith of Charlevoix who published the Charlevoix Sentinel for many years.

Mr. Nasson was born April 27, 1860, and left his native province as he approached manhood and lived in Denmark so he would not be conscripted into the Prussian Army. He

Squash Suit To Set Aside Deed To Trailer Park Site

Judge Howard L. Campbell of Cadillac Wednesday heard a bill of complaint filed against the city of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Hospital by Mr and Mrs T R. Miller. He also heard an intervening bill of complaint filed Wednesday by Peter Winnick, stating that he had contributed to the Hospital Building Fund but had not been given a chance to vote on the choice of a site for the new building.

Judge Campbell dismissed both bills of complaint and stated that a decree will be filed later in the week in favor of the co-defendants, the City of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Hospital.

The bill of complaint started by Millers March 5 asked that the deed to the property in the case, the Trailer Park, be set aside and gave various reasons why, in their opinion, the sale of the property to the hospital by the city for the sum of one dollar was not in the best interest of the city.

Miller, in a statement to the Courier said, "We are considering carrying the case to a higher court unless the Hospital Board will settle the issue by a vote of the donors on a site. We still have the old hospital grounds, a very desirable site for a two-[illegible] building."

Supervisors Raise Valuation; Agree To Share Ferry Deficit

The Charlevoix county board of Supervisors adjourned here late Tuesday after seven days of hard work and heated discussions during which several major decisions were reached.

Topics receiving most attention were the Ironton ferry, equalization of the tax roll, adoption of a tentative budget and social security.

The most controversial issue to come before the board at this meeting was the Ironton ferry.

The Board late Monday agreed to pay 50 percent of an estimated deficit of $4,896 for 1952 if the Road Commission would agree to pay the other 50 percent.

At a special meeting Wednesday afternoon the Charlevoix County Road Commission voted to pay 50 percent of the operating deficit of the Ironton Ferry for 1952

Sam Rogers, chairman of the Road Commission, called a meeting of the Commission for 3 p.m. Wednesday to discuss the proposal.

If the Commission should decide to go along with the Board of Supervisors in footing the bill, it would be some time before the ferry could start running.

According to T. B. Reynolds, road commission engineer, new ramps must be built on each side of the South Arm because of the high water level in the lakes. If the work were started at once it would be several days before the ferry, which earlier underwent major repairs, could be placed in operation.

The ferry, which normally starts the run across the 620-foot channel as soon as the ice leaves the South Arm, is still tied up awaiting a decision on the matter. It was returned to the water last week after receiving major repairs during the winter months.

The ferry became a hot issue last fall after the Board of Supervisors passed a resolution stating it would not underwrite any deficit on the ferry after Dec. 31, 1951. It did at that time, however, agree to pay a deficit of $6,966 incurred during the 1951 season.

Ferry tolls will be increased when and if the ferry is operated this season. Henceforth, the toll for passenger cars and pick-up trucks will be 25 cents and 35 cents for trucks. There will be a slight reduction on the price of books of toll tickets but season tickets priced at $35 will no longer be available.

The toll rates were formerly 15 and 25 cents.

Prior to 1949 the ferry was operated toll-free with the Board of Supervisors paying the entire cost of operation.

After several days discussion, the equalization committee reached a decision on the matter of increasing the county's equalized valuation. The figure was finally set at $17,963,745 or approximately 71 percent of the state equalized valuation of $25,138,426 set by the state tax commission last fall. At that time it was suggested the county raise its equalized valuation to approximately 70 per cent of the state figure.

The tentative budget, which is always set at the spring meeting, is approximately $1000 less than the 1953 budget adopted last October. The tentative budget for '53 is $139,875 as compared to the '52 budget of $140,851.

The board also voted to bring county officials and employees under Social Security retroactive to Jan. 1, 1951. This includes all county employees with the exception of those of the road commission, which already has a retirement plan.

A resolution asking the state highway department to extend M-75 from Boyne City west to M-66 at Ironton and from Boyne Falls east to the Otsego county line, where it would join with US 27 was also adopted. M-75 now connects US-131 at Boyne Falls with Boyne City.

Claims totaling $52 were also ordered paid.

Two newly elected alderman, Ray L. Kipke of the second ward and Dean Davenport of the third ward, assumed their duties as the city council met for its regular business meeting Monday night.

Mr. Gebeau was named mayor pro tem by a four to one vote.

Mayor Knight opened the meeting by naming committees for the year. They are as follows with the first named serving as chairman. The State Highway Commission was granted a five-foot right of way on city-owned property on US-31 north of Charlevoix for grading purposes. The grading will be done prior to the construction of a new highway.

The bid submitted by the Telford Equipment Co. of Lansing for a six-foot broom to be used on the small city tractor was accepted. The bid was for $825.00 F. O. B. Charlevoix, $165 less

Tax Allocation Board Re-Elects Lillis Flanders

Lillis Flanders, county treasurer, was reelected chairman of the Charlevoix county Tax Allocation Board at its organization meeting at the court house Monday.

A second meeting of the board has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday, April 28, when the tentative tax rate will be set.

Because the board of supervisors was still in session and had not announced the equalized valuation on which the tax allocations are based, the meeting was adjourned until next Monday.

Members of the board are: A. G. Rogers of East Jordan; Clarence Healey of South Arm township and William G. Korthase, sr. of Boyne City who are appointed to the board by Probate Judge Floyd A. Supp; Howard C. Stevens as chairman of the finance committee of the board of supervisors; Mrs. Catherine C. Bergman; Fenton R. Bulow, county [illegible] of the board.

John Knight Will Run For Legislature

John Knight, who is serving his third term as mayor of Charlevoix, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the state legislature from the Charlevoix district, which is composed of Charlevoix, Benzie and Leelanau counties.

In announcing his candidacy Knight said, "I have a lot of respect for Mr. Anderson but I think he has held the job long enough. Last Debate Nears On St. Lawrence Seaway

The St. Lawrence seaway is now closer to realization than it has been at any other time. The project is almost beyond the reach of the forces that have blocked it through the 55 years since it was first proposed.

Within a few days the senate foreign relations committee — headed by lame duck Tom Connally of Texas, bitter foe of the seaway — is to vote on legislation that would authorize the United States to participate in the construction. A similar measure has been shelved by a house committee.

If congress turns down the plan this time, the debates will at last be stilled. The issue will be out of the hands of the United States.

The Canadian parliament, by an overwhelming vote early this year, resolved to go ahead alone with the deep waterway project if the United States would not make it a joint undertaking.

As a part of that plan, it was necessary for Canada to get permission to build a shore-to-shore power dam across the International rapids near Massena N. Y. Just this past week President Truman told Canada's Foreign Minister Pearson that he would join with the Canadian government in asking approval from the International Joint Commission. The commission was set up in 1906 to deal with a variety of questions concerning the two countries, such as this.

The expected approval from that body will clear the way for Canada to go it alone if it has to. Then it is expected that the New York state power authority will ask the federal power commission for permission to put up and operate the hydro-electric plant on the American side of the river Governor Dewey said recently "The state of New York is ready, willing and able to proceed with these great developments for cheap power without cost to any taxpayer, state or federal."

It is still possible that some action, perhaps by congress, might yet delay the seaway and power project. But the long-sought goal of deep water shipping from the Atlantic to the Great Lakes does appear at last near at hand.

With Labrador ore becoming increasingly important to the United States' vast steel industry, with more electrical power needed in the northeastern industrial area, it can be argued that the nearness of the goal is a good thing for this area's continued industrial prosperity.

It will not be a good thing, however, if Canada builds the seaway alone and American shipping must forever after pay the bulk of the tolls by which the undertaking is financed. That is a question for congress to decide.

ODDS 'N ENDS

There are those people in town who pride themselves on knowing where all the streets in town are . . . We thought we knew where most of them were until someone asked us where Hawthorne, Longfellow, Bryant, Whittier, Simpson, Baxter and Riverside plus Central, and others named for trees and First through Fifth avenues are . . . Now we're asking you . . . And if you don't know we'll tell you next week . .

AS YOU probably noticed in last week's Courier the fire department was called out several times in one day to extinguish grass fires . . . With everything as dry as it is be careful where you toss a match or a cigarette . . it doesn't take much, this time of the year, to start a fire which destroys trees, shrubs and even buildings when it gets out of control and with a little wind to fan the fire it doesn't take long . . . so be careful . . .

THE ROY G. BENNETTS have a special message for some former residents . . . While visiting at Mt. Vernon Easter Sunday, someone spotted the Bennetts' car with its PW license plate and Charlevoix sticker and left a note on it, even though they didn't know whose car it was . . . And the former residents? . . . The George Roffs now of Cortland, N. Y., where Mr. Roff is taking special training for the U. S. Fisheries . . .

A LOCAL Brownie troop made a trip to Petoskey via train last week . . . It was the first train ride for many of them and they were asking questions galore . . . But the one we liked was the little girl who asked who one of the men was . . . She was told he was the brakeman . . . After thinking about it briefly she came back with still another question: What does he do? Break up fights? . . .

IN CASE you didn't find out what the construction project in the middle of Antrim street opposite the postoffice was last week . . . the city crew was repairing a broken sewer . . . Like everyone else we had to look the situation over and found that a sewer had broken and had undermined the street which caved in earlier in the week . . . We discovered that 15 feet straight up isn't far but 15 feet straight down, as that was, is a mighty long way . . .

DON'T FORGET the Charlevoix party in Detroit this week . . It's at the Downtown YMCA at Montcalm and Witherall and we promise you one thing . . . a good time with lots of fun . . . refreshments, dancing and reminiscing . . . Everyone who attends always tells us it's the best party of the year so don't miss it . . .

YOU'VE HEARD of the pussy cat in the nursery rhyme who went to London to visit the queen . . . Charlevoix has its own youngster who went to Detroit . . to see the Tigers play . . . and while there saw the Queen . . . Juliana . . . who was also at the game . . . The youngster is Jimmy VerWys, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe VerWys who won a trip to the game through a contest for subscribers to a downstate newspaper . . . As far as we know he's the only local youngster who got to see the Queen, who visited several Michigan cities recently . . . Jimmy also saw Gov. Williams and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands . . . plus the Capitol building in Lansing . . . and many other things of interest to a youngster who was on his first major trip away from home . . . He left here for Grand Rapids, spent the night at the Y there, made the trip with other youngsters to Detroit via chartered bus, saw the game and spent the second night in Grand Rapids before returning home Thursday . . . quite an adventure . . .

WITH THE Special rainbow trout season on we expected to hear of just scads of the wonderful fish being caught . . . But Dr. Bob Anderson is the only one we've heard about . . . Seems he caught a two pounder in the Jordan River one day last week . . . But Saturday the regular season will open and everyone will be out . . . How about telling us about the catches you make . . . There probably isn't a sport that has more participants than fishing . . . but no one ever hears of the scores . . . So from now on we're going to give everyone a chance . . . We'll take all comers . . . all we want is the name of the fisherman, his catch, including the size and number of fish and where they were caught . . . If you get enough we'll try to make it a regular feature of the paper . . . But we need your help . . .

IN THE MAIL this week a card from the Andrew Fultons of Detroit, who with Mrs. Fulton's mother, Mrs. Eva Black are spending some time in St. Petersburg, Fla. . . . This seems like a favorite time to go south . . . We also hear from one of our 'spotters' in Florida that the Bob Bridges are enroute north at a leisurely pace and should be here about May 1 . . . We also hear Bob proved himself quite a fisherman, catching not only dolphin and sailfish but everything from water-logged birds to mating turtles in the Gulf Stream . . .

WE HEAR that one of our residents, now in the South, had an article in the April issue of Vogue, no less . . . It's Eleanor Ratigan, arguing, in a humorous essay, that women, although not as logical as the opposite sex, are much more sensible . . . Now there's grounds for a good argument . . . We haven't read it but have the offer of the magazine and will take a look-see . . . We also understand, speaking of the Ratigans, that, co-incidental with the publication of the third installment of Bill's novel, Gangway for Tomorrow, Country Gentleman changed its subscription-only policy and the magazine is now available on the newsstand . . . That's for those of you who haven't managed a subscription . .

1952's challenger wins Grand Sweepstakes Prize against all entries!

Mercury's done it again . . . captured the coveted grand prize in this "world series" for automobiles.

And this isn't the first time! Just look at the record: three out of three times winner in its price class; two out of three times Sweepstakes winner against all cars in every class!

The Mobilgas Economy Run is a punishing, 1,415-mile run open to all cars of every make. Unlike old-time stock-car classics, it tests on-the-road economy rather than speed.

Every car is a stock car, selected at random by the A.A.A. To assure an equal chance for all, regardless of size and weight, ton-miles-per-gallon performance* determines the winner.

The results are now in the record book. A 1952 Mercury Monterey Special Custom Sedan with optional overdrive, swept the field with a 59.7188 ton-miles-per-gallon mark, averaging 25.4093 miles per gallon. And the engine that did it is Mercury's famous V-8.

That's something to think about when you buy a new car.

Right now, in our showroom, is a 1952 Mercury* similar to the one that won this official, impartial test. Why not step around and give it a try? No obligation, of course.

*Ton-miles-per-gallon equals the car weight, with passengers, multiplied by miles traveled, divided by gallons of gasoline used.

Dubey-Robbins Vows Exchanged In Candlelight Church Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony solemnized at the First Methodist church Thursday evening, Geraldine Dubey became the bride of Kenneth Robbins.

The Rev. George E. Whitten read the double ring service in the presence of one hundred guests before an altar decorated with spring flowers and lighted tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edna Howe and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Robbins of Buchanan.

Preceding the service Dr. C. O. Whitten sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. A. C. Belding, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Corp. Leonard Dubey, of Indiantown Gap, Pa., the bride chose a white satin gown for her wedding. It was styled with a sweetheart neckline, long tapering sleeves and train. Her fingertip veil fell from a band of white flowers and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

Nancy Swanson, her only attendant, wore a light blue satin gown styled with a net overskirt, a matching blue headband and a corsage of white carnations and daffodils.

Allan Marschke of Berrien Springs assisted the bridegroom as best man. John Robbins of Buchanan, brother of the bridegroom, and Larry Swanson seated the guests.

Mrs. Howe selected an aqua gabardine dress and black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Robbins wore a navy blue crepe gown and matching accessories. Both had corsages of red and white carnations.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held at the Rod and Gun club. A tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table.

The couple will reside at 100 West Lincoln ave. after a wedding trip to Niagara Fall, N. Y. For traveling the bride wore a gray suit and pink accessories.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Michigan State College, is an instructor at the Veterans Institute here.

Among those from away who attended the wedding were Dr. William Robbins and daughter, Shari of Lennox, Iowa; Louis Ludloss and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Methner of Berrien Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCardle, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lamb, Rosemary Dault, and Alphonse Glomski of Rogers City; Mrs. Richard Nowak, Mrs. Bernard Rocnowski and family, Mrs. Frank Sadler of Alpena; Earl Hart, Peter Lundy, Theda Hart, Ruth Ann Nemecek and Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Nachazel of East Jordan.

LOWERING THE COST of BETTER HEALTH

Rare and costly drugs of a few years ago are today plentiful and inexpensive — thanks to the never-ending efforts of medical science and the American genius for mass production. The drug industry of America spends over $100 Million annually for research and development — programs designed to provide better health for all at a cost within the means of all. An indication of the tremendous progress made in this field is the fact that 80% of the drugs in use today were unknown a decade ago — and in that time, the cost of certain "miracle" drugs has fallen from over $20 a dose to less than a dollar.

They brought some of the pelts back with them and are planning to put them on display in the business places in the village.

Word was received this week from Bill "King of the Beavers" Whalen that the Chicago-Mackinaw race will start this year on July 19th. The fleet is expected to arrive here on the 24th for their annual Yachtsmen's Jamboree. They plan on spending about four days here before returning to Chicago.

Sister Agnes O.P. and Sister Ronald O.P., who teach at St. Mary's School in Charlevoix were guests this week at Holy Cross Convent.

Spring must surely be here. The weather all week has been so warm and beautiful that we would hate to see it change. Throughout the country one can see the farmer busy at the plowing. In the village everyone is busy working on their lawns and getting their flower gardens ready for planting. We've been seeing flocks of birds that are coming back to their summer homes.

Every evening all week the men have been gathering at the ball diamond to practice up on their baseball. The climax came Sunday afternoon when the married men played against the single men. The score was 19 to 5 in favor of the single men.

BEVERAGE

Dick Fochtman of Charlevoix Oil Co. delivers new two-ton Chevrolet truck with specially built beverage rack to Russell Lewis of the Charlevoix Beverage Co.

Two Charlevoix veterans, Clarence Goldstick and Russell Lewis, have announced plans for a new business venture, the Charlevoix Beverage Company.

The company will feature soft drinks, namely, the Nehi Products, Royal Crown Cola, Partipak, an orange drink and several other related products. The company now has a franchise for the products in four northern Michigan counties, Emmet, Cheboy[illegible] and Charlevoix.

Headquarters for the new business will be at the Carson Lumber Co. on South Bridge st. which will serve as an office and warehouse for the present.

Deliveries will be made throughout the north in a new two-ton Chevrolet truck delivered by the Charlevoix Oil Co. and equipped with a special-built body made by the Herman Body Co. of St. Louis, Mo., where it was installed recently. The body is made to carry 250 cases of soft drinks.

The colorful lettering on the truck was done by Herman Thiery.

Russell will be the driver and salesman for the present. He opened his route last week.

The two young men opening the business are natives of Charlevoix.

Goldstick is a veteran of 4½ years service in the army, 2½ years of which were spent in the Pacific during World War II. Since his return he has married Rosalyn Lieberman of Atchison, Kans. They have two children. He is employed at the Carson Lumber Co. and plans to continue in his job for the present.

Lewis is also a veteran, having served 18 months in the army in 1945-46 with the army of occupation in Europe. He is now married to the former Lois Lane of Boyne City. They have three children. Until recently he was employed at Maxbauer Creamery and Meggison's Auto Service.

Good Pastures Save Young Pigs

Spring pasture season is just around the corner, and with that in mind, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, points out that good pastures can save as much as 15 percent on the feed bill and also help control parasites in the young pigs.

After young pigs are away to a good start and the sow is back on full feed, about a week or ten days after farrowing, they should be moved from the farrowing pen to a clean pasture lot. At this stage the sow may be self-fed on a ration containing plenty of protein and mineral nutrients to assure good milk flow. The sow needs about twice as much feed when suckling pigs as during pregnancy.

A creep should be made for the small pigs where they can eat undisturbed by the mother. Such feeds as shelled corn, rolled oats, a good quality protein supplement, skimmilk, if available, will give the young pigs a good start. The sow's peak of milk production is reached when the pigs are about 3 weeks old, then starts declining.

The little pigs start eating supplement feeds at this time. By weaning age the pigs learned to eat well.

Local All-Stars Defeat MSC In Fast Game, 66-65

In a game which saw the lead change countless times in the last half, the Charlevoix All-Stars took a close one from the Michigan State All-Stars 66-65 at the high school gymnasium Saturday night.

[illegible] fans saw a lot of good ball handling and plenty of scoring as the 1951-52 season was officially closed.

The score was tied at 13 all as the two teams met in the first period. The local five took a three-point lead as the half ended 27-23 but during the third period the lead changed as first one team and then the other scored. The Charlevoix five still held a one point 44-43 lead as the third quarter ended and in a fast last period took the game by one point.

Ed Katlarzyck, Indian River coach, paced the scoring with 27 points for the local team. But King had 13 and Al Dorow 12 points for the Michigan State squad.

Both teams were minus some of their key players but each had enough players to give the crowd a fine exhibition of basketball.

Female Turtles

Female sea turtles lay their eggs at night in holes they scoop out in sunwarmed sand a short distance inland from high tides. They may deposit 200 or more eggs of golf-ball size with leathery shells. With the laying, their responsibility ends. Man is but one of many predators that hunt out the eggs for food, or feast on the newly hatched young

Polio Player

For eight years, a Chicago boy with a polio-crippled body was told his case was hopeless. The boy begged his parents for an organ. He not only developed his limbs, but Joe Scotti, now 13, is making professional appearances, playing the organ

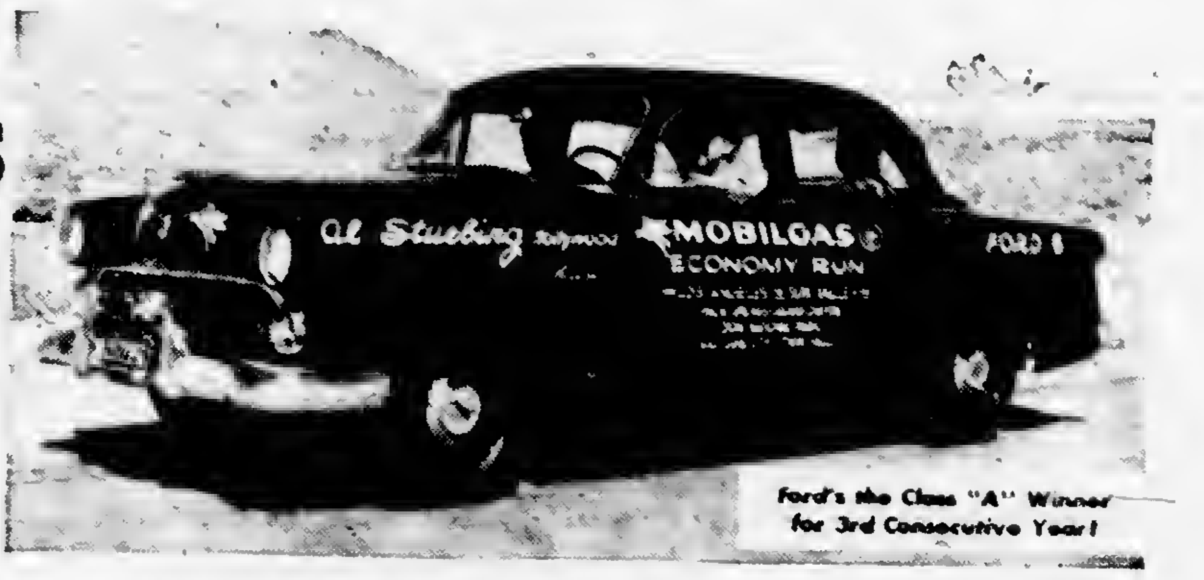
FORD WINS AGAIN!

TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A"

IN THE 1952 Mobilgas Economy Run



Ford's the Class "A" Winner for 3rd Consecutive Year!

New Ford Mileage Maker SIX Thriftiest in its Field!

Again this year . . . as in the past two years . . . Ford was first in gas economy over all other cars in its price class in the Mobilgas Economy Run. In this toughest test, a stock model Ford Six equipped with Overdrive (optional at extra cost) averaged 53.855 ton-miles per gallon and 25.463 actual miles per gallon.

This was a very special triumph for Ford's All-New Mileage Maker high-compression Six. For now, with its new design providing 101-horsepower and free-turning overhead valves, Ford is definitely pound-for-pound the most economical low-priced car to run! Yes . . . Ford's thrift was clearly proved by the 1,415-mile grind from Los Angeles to Sun Valley. And a very important factor contributing to this victory is Ford's Automatic Power Pilot which squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas.

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to assure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles traveled, divided by number of gallons consumed.

Proper Signals Help Eliminate Auto Accidents

Justice H. E. Paddock today announced that his court is cooperating with the Michigan State Safety Commission on the April-May campaign against traffic accidents caused by dangerous turns.

He stated that he is displaying a copy of the official poster in his Court whilh reads "Signal When You Turn".

According to Justice Paddock the driver who turns either right or left at an intersection has a greater responsibility to be careful than a driver who goes straight through the intersection. This is because the turning driver cuts across the legal paths of other motorists and pedestrians, he added.

Justice Paddock said, "A motorist brought into my court charged with making an illegal turn leaves the court no alternative but to impose a penalty if the facts are correct. No dirver can get a driver's license without knowing the law on turns and passing an examination. Furthermore, the newspapers and radio stations are cooperating on the program and practically all motorists know about this safety program."

In concluding his interview Mr. Paddocl pointed out that the process of reducing traffic accidents follows the sequence of public education, followed by the police apprehending those who will not cooperate, followed by the court assessing a penalty on violators as a forceful reminder not to violate in the future.

H. E. Paddock is justice of the peace and all traffic violations are heard in his court.

Rule of thumb for hosiery buying: "Denier" means thickness of the thread and the lower the denier number, the sheerer the hose; "Gauge" means number of stitches per inch and a half of fabric and the higher the number of stitches the finer, sheerer the stocking.

Oats Tillage Demonstration Set for Tuesday

Should I plow for oats? That is the question that is frequently asked Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, about this time of the year. To supply the answer a tillage demonstration on oats has been set for next Tuesday afternoon, April 29 starting promptly at 1:00 p.m. This tillage demonstration will be held at the farm of Charles and Tony Faculak, eight miles south of Charlevoix on US 31.

The field that will be used for this demonstration produced wheat last year and has some June grass in the field. It is between 8 and 10 acres and lays right next to the buildings.

There will be ten plots that will be seeded differently. The first plot will be (1) Conventional with a brillon seeder. The others are as follows: (2) Chisel-type Plow. (3) Conventional-Grain drill (4) Disc Harrow (5) Plow-Clodbuster (6) Disc Plow (7) TNT Plow (8) Field Cultivator (9) Plow-Mulcher (10) Disc Tiller.

The seven machinery companies in the area are co-operating with the Extension Service in sponsoring this demonstration. They will have new tillage equipment to demonstrate such as the disk plow, the disk tiller, TNT Plow and others.

Keeping farm records, like brushing one's teeth, should become a daily habit, MSC agricultural economists recommend.

It's Twins Again

Four sets of twin calves in two years is a record made at the Charles and Bob Reidel farm near Boyne City, Ed Rebman, county agent, reported today. The first set of twins born this year arrived on March 26. They were a pair of heifer calves and weighed about 90 pounds each. Molly was 3½ years of age and it was her second lactation. These heifer calves are from a Holstein bull, Triumph, from the Artificial Breeders association. Triumph, is a USDA proven bull and his record shows that in six daughter-dam comparisons the dams averaged 476 pounds of butterfat while the daughters averaged 549 pounds of butterfat.

The mother of the cow who had the set of twins mentioned above also had a set of twins on March 29. Polly was seven years of age and it was her fifth lactation. Polly's twins were one bull and one heifer calf. These calves were from a Holstein bull, Pluto, also from the Artificial Breeders association. Pluto has a USDA proof of five daughter-dam comparisons. The dams show 485 pounds of butterfat while the daughters averaged 581 pounds of butterfat.

Polly, last year, was also one of the cows that had a set of twins. Her calves last year were both heifer calves. The other set of twins in 1951 however, were heifer and bull calves.

Bob Reidel, who operates the farm with his dad, Charles, is secretary and treasurer of the Boyne City Artificial Breeders association. They are also cooperating in the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District and have their farm practically all contour striped.

Extra Nitrogen Increases Yield Of Rye, Wheat

If you would like to increase your wheat yield by three to 14 bushels to the acre with a cash outlay of not more than $3.50, you'll be interested in this tip from E. D. Longnecker, extension soil scientist at Michigan State College.

Longnecker points out that fall-seeded wheat and rye frequently need extra nitrogen in early spring. Until the soil becomes thoroughly warmed, neither the organic matter of the soil nor the complete fertilizer applied at seeding time may be able to furnish all the nitrogen needed by the growing plants.

When extra nitrogen is needed 20 pounds of actual nitrogen to the acre is about the right amount. This can be supplied by 100 pounds of ammonium sulfate, by 65 pounds of ammonium nitrate or 50 pounds of urea, Uramon or NuGreen.

Although early applications made as soon as the ground is firm have proven most successful, applications made the first week of May have resulted in profitable increases in yield. The fertilizer may be applied, with a cyclone-type spreader or by hand. It can be spread and left on the surface since it will dissolve with a couple of heavy dews or a light rain.

Longnecker says you can spot a shortage of nitrogen in the grain crop by a lack of adequate stooling or tillering and a light green leaf color. Later leaves turn yellow and growth is slow and unsatisfactory. You can confirm a lack of nitrogen by a "tissue test." Materials and instructions for making the nitrogen tissue test may be obtained from your county agricultural agent.

If an application of manure was made to the field before planting or used as a winter topdressing extra nitrogen won't be needed now. Likewise, if a good clover or alfalfa sod was plowed down for the fall-seeded grain, or if grain in a particular field has had a tendency to lodge in past years, do not topdress with nitrogen this spring.

Farmers now have more than five times as much money invested in Machinery as they had 10 years ago.

Issue Warnings As Anthrax Hits Michigan Farms

Michigan State College veterinarians this week issued warnings to farmers to be on the lookout for anthrax, a livestock disease which has invaded Michigan, E. Rebman, county agent, reported.

They told farmers not to work with or open animals that have died from the disease. They also warned farmers to call their local veterinarian if they suspect the disease as a cause for livestock death on their place. The double warning came because anthrax is communicable to humans and if it gets a foothold on a farm without proper sanitary measures it may be years before the soil is free of the disease spores.

The disease, which is believed to have come into Michigan from a shipment of imported bone meal, attacks animals so fast that the first noticeable symptom usually is sudden death. If you suspect the disease, contact your local veterinarian or state disease regulatory officials immediately. If you try to post the animal or work with the carcass without advice you may contact the disease yourself.

Animals which have died from the disease should be buried deeply or burned completely, along with manure and straw contaminated by the diseased animal. Anthrax affects all farm animals. It can be controlled if it is diagnosed before it strikes widely. If the disease breaks out in your community all dogs should be tied up, and traffic between farms of any kind eliminated as much as possible to avoid further spread of the disease.

Test Seed Oats Before Planting

The wise farmer will have his seed oats tested for germination before he goes into the field this spring. Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, said today that germination rates vary a great deal this year with percentages being either good or bad, with very few rating medium. Poor germinating oats may be planted in case of emergency, but the rate of seeding should be increased to make up for the grains that won't grow.

Poor germination may be the result of quick heating in the bins from frequent rains during the harvest season or too-early harvesting. Also, a little dew-moistened grain from harvesting a small section of the field too early in the morning may have spoiled the whole granary of oats for seed purposes.

Good Repair Lumber

A farmer who doesn't keep a stack of home-grown, custom-sawn boards often pays a high price for good repair lumber. Usually cheaper boards would serve the purpose and save him money. The man who cuts his low grade logs and hauls them to the mill for custom sawing gets his repair lumber for about one-third of the cash cost of the same lumber purchased outright. He adds that there are few wet weather jobs around the farm that will pay more money.

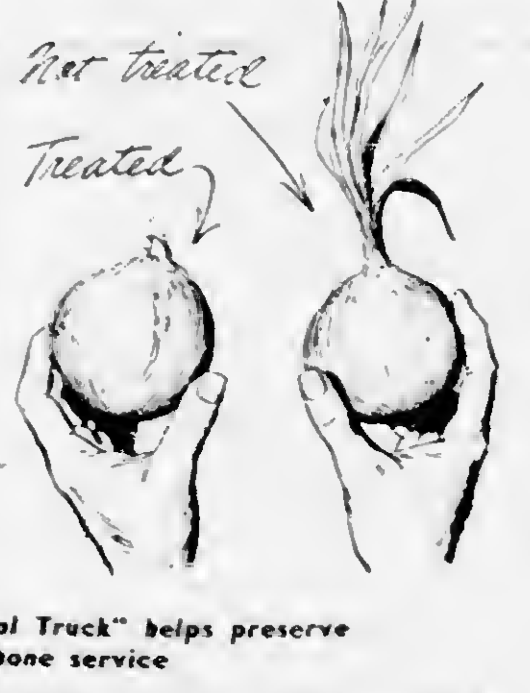
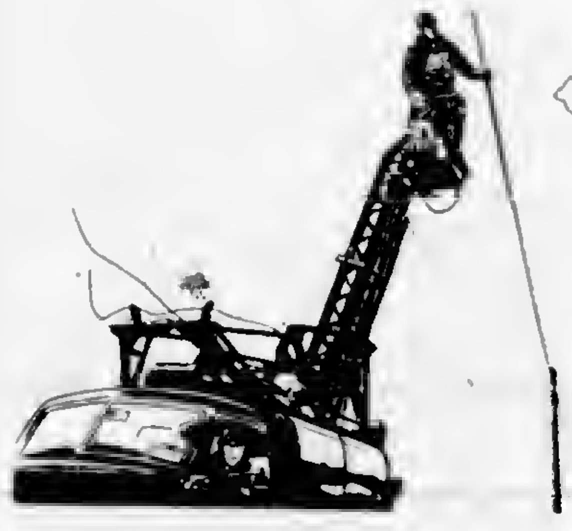
Sprouting and storage losses of root crops controlled with maleic hydrazide

A new growth regulator, maleic hydrazide, has reduced or prevented sprouting of stored onions, potatoes, sugar beets and vegetable root crops in experiments conducted by Michigan State College Agricultural Experiment Station. Sprayed on plant leaves at specified times before harvesting, maleic hydrazide has lengthened the storage life of onions, even perishable hybrids. Treated potatoes have been kept up to 12 months without sprouting. Storage losses of carrots, beets and other vegetable root crops have been greatly reduced. For full information call, write or visit your County Agricultural Agent.





"Visual Truck" helps preserve telephone service

Telephone wires and cables exposed to weather get periodic inspection to make sure they are in good condition. A big time-saver on such a job is a special ladder truck, with an aerial platform that can be shifted in a complete circle 21 feet above the ground. Michigan Bell is making more and more use of this truck, because it gives inspectors free use of both hands, and enables them to inspect wires over parked cars and trucks. It's another of many modern methods which Michigan Bell uses to preserve dependability and quality of telephone service.
